ITU Election Fight Looms At Convention

Randolph Attacked In Fund Dispute

ATLANTA, Aug. 21 (AP)—Printers' union president Woodruff Randolph today was accused of lowering an "iron curtain" about $16,444,683.

The accusation loomed as the major political issue in the forthcoming election by the International Typographical Union, now holding its 93rd convention here.

Earlier, the convention heard one of the top political experts of the American Federation of Labor, Joseph Keenan, declare that labor was uncommitted to any party as yet in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Keenan, director of labor's league for political education, said the support would "depend upon the candidate."

Attacks T-H Law

At the same time Keenan's attacks upon the Taft-Hartley labor law indicated that Sen. Taft (R-O) would not receive AFL support if he were nominated for the presidency by the Republicans.

This indication was reinforced by AFL President William Green's description of Taft as an "organizer for Communism" earlier in the convention.

Later, in an interview, Keenan observed that President Truman in his opinion would have no opposition to renomination if he chose to run, save possibly from the south.

The attack on Randolph followed the establishment of a caucus room here by the independent party within the ITU headed by Charles D. Tucker of Indianapolis. Randolph heads the progressive party.

Tucker's secretary, Alfred J. Whittle of New York City, in making the attack also announced that the independent party had named a slate of candidates for the referendum on officers.

Strike Issue Noted

C. G. Sparkman, president of the Detroit local, was elected to fight it out with Randolph for the presidency in 1952.

Tucker had no comment on the issues in the campaign, but Whittle declared the fight would be over "Unitypo, the squandering of union funds and failure of Randolph to submit a detailed accounting."

Randolph has said in the past that to give the membership a detailed financial report would play into the hands of anti-union publishers.

Unitypo is a separate corporation set up by the ITU to operate newspapers. There are nine such papers now in existence.

Whittle said another issue would be the failure to win strikes. He noted that there were now in progress some 57 strikes involving the ITU.

Gas Restrictions Effective Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Restrictions on new users of natural gas will go into effect tomorrow throughout much of the eastern part of the nation.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) has sought to prohibit, in 15 states and the District of Columbia, the extension of natural gas to new large-volume industrial consumers or to new central home heaters, except in a few specified circumstances.

But states affected by the order have power to discard it and set up their own regulations.

C. Pratt Rather, assistant deputy administrator, told a reporter only three states in the area have indicated that they will take over natural gas regulation.

Rather said Maryland is issuing an order almost identical with that of PAD.

Ohio plans a restrictive order but has not announced its details. Indications are that there will be a separate order for each major distributing company.

Virginia also has certified that it will exercise its authority. Indications are that an order identical to PAD's will be in effect in the Lynchburg area where shortages are anticipated.

Boy Catches Arm In Mail Box

SOUTHEND ENGLAND, Aug. 21 (AP)—Kevin Finnigan, aged nine, went to the mail box and posted (1) a letter and (2) his right arm.

Firmly wedged in the slot by the elbow, Kevin yelled.

Crowds of people came. A carful of policemen arrived. Somebody called the fire department.

A fireman finally got Kevin his arm back by greasing the elbow and giving a firm tug.

Union Shop Pact Without Election Passed By Senate To Validate Old Agreements

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate today passed a bill authorizing the signing of union shop agreements without a shop election, and validating union shop agreements which the Supreme Court recently declared invalid.

The measure was passed by a voice vote. It now goes back to the House, which had passed it in different version, for consideration of the Senate amendments.

Surprise Move

A union shop agreement allows the employer to hire non-union employes, but requires them to join the union after a stated time. The Taft-Hartley Law now provides that a union shop can only be set up after employes vote for it in an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) called the measure up for a vote in a surprise move. He said one purpose of the bill was to uphold the validity of union shop agreements signed before union officials had taken oaths of non-communist affiliation as required by the Taft-Hartley Act.

He said the Supreme Court had invalidated such agreements, and that without the act "several thousand union shop agreements would be invalidated, and the National Labor Relations Board would have to hold new elections" to set up new agreements. The result, he said, would be "costly disruption."

He said the Senate Labor Committee had unanimously approved the measure.

Groups Endorse It

Senator Nixon (R-Calif) told the Senate employer and employee groups both have endorsed it.

Humphrey emphasized that the measure would "not prejudge" pending cases involving contracts signed by unions whose officials had not signed non-Communist oaths. It validates such contracts only if they were made by the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) prior to Dec. 22, 1949, or by the American Federation of Labor prior to Nov. 7, 1947.

Skyrocket Blast Hurts Small Boy

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—Two little negro boys somehow got hold a sky rocket or some such piece of fireworks and one of them was almost killed today when it exploded.

Mitchell Nathaniel Lee, 10, was badly mangled and attendants at Cambridge hospital did not expect him to live. His older brother was not hurt.

The woodshed in which they were playing was reduced to splinters and the explosion was heard all over town.

Benny Lee, father of the boys, said he did not know how they happened to have the explosive.

Fireworks are illegal in Maryland except for licensed public displays. Cambridge had a community fireworks program on the Fourth of July and a Fair recently shot off some during its stay here. Firemen said maybe the two youngsters came across a dud from one of these shows.

Farmer Wounds Wife, Kills Self

FREDONIA, Kas., Aug. 21 (AP)—A middle aged farmer broke up a divorce conference with gunfire today, seriously wounding his wife, killing her lawyer and ending his own life.

The lawyer, Larry McSpadden, also was county attorney of this southeast Kansas county.

Sheriff Bill Chamberlain said that the farmer, Johnnie Jones, about 40, climaxed an argument in McSpadden's office by whipping out an automatic, firing five shots into the lawyer, shooting his wife, Essie, twice and then firing a final shot through his own head.

Tampico Ready For Hurricane Expected Today

Army Takes Over Cars And Trucks

TAMPICO, Mexico, Aug. 21 (AP)—The army took over all cars and trucks here today in preparation for a terrific hurricane whirling across the Gulf of Mexico toward this oil port and some of Mexico's richest oil fields.

Authorities estimated the number of persons to be moved to the center of the city on higher ground at "thousands."

The big storm is expected to hit this city of 100,000 population tomorrow before noon.

Center Is On Hill

The center of Tampico is built on a hill, but the outlying districts are on low ground subject to flooding. The refugees will be lodged in schools and the municipal palace.

News of the approach of the hurricane which swept across Jamaica last week, taking 155 lives, caused wide-spread alarm here.

Householders went to work tying down their roofs and reinforcing windows and doors against the wind.

The government oil company called out all extra workmen to throw up dikes around the oil installations on low ground. These have suffered severely in previous storms.

Ships in the port doubled their lines and called back their crewmen on shore. Small fishing craft, warned of the approaching storm by radio, streamed into port during the day.

All Ships Safe

Tampico is on the River Panuco five miles up from the coast. Rising tides on the seacoast today already had destroyed summer houses on the beach.

The port captain said all ships in the Tampico area are safe in port and he forbade any to leave until the big blow was over.

The hurricane, dubbed "Charlie" by the weather bureau, was born six days ago when it moved into the Caribbean from the Atlantic.

It has wreaked its greatest havoc so far on the British Island of Jamaica in the Caribbean. It raked the island Friday, taking 155 lives and causing $56,000,000 damage.

Committee Okays "Voice" Budget Of $63,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee voted $63,000,000 today to run the Voice of America this year. The sum is little more than half the $115,000,000 President Truman had asked and far below the $85,000,000 the House had allowed.

The allotment, however, is $7,000,000 more than a Senate subcommittee had voted. Sponsors of the subcommittee cut agreed to that rise but fought off a move to go up to the House figure.

The decision on the fund for the international news and propaganda broadcasts cleared out the last roadblock and the committee proceeded to approve a $1,022,000,000 appropriation for operation of the state, commerce, and justice departments in the year which began July 1.

Two Heart Patients Return To Normal After Operations

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Aug. 21 (AP)—Two heart patients released after rare operations today are e-turning to normal living after years of invalidism.

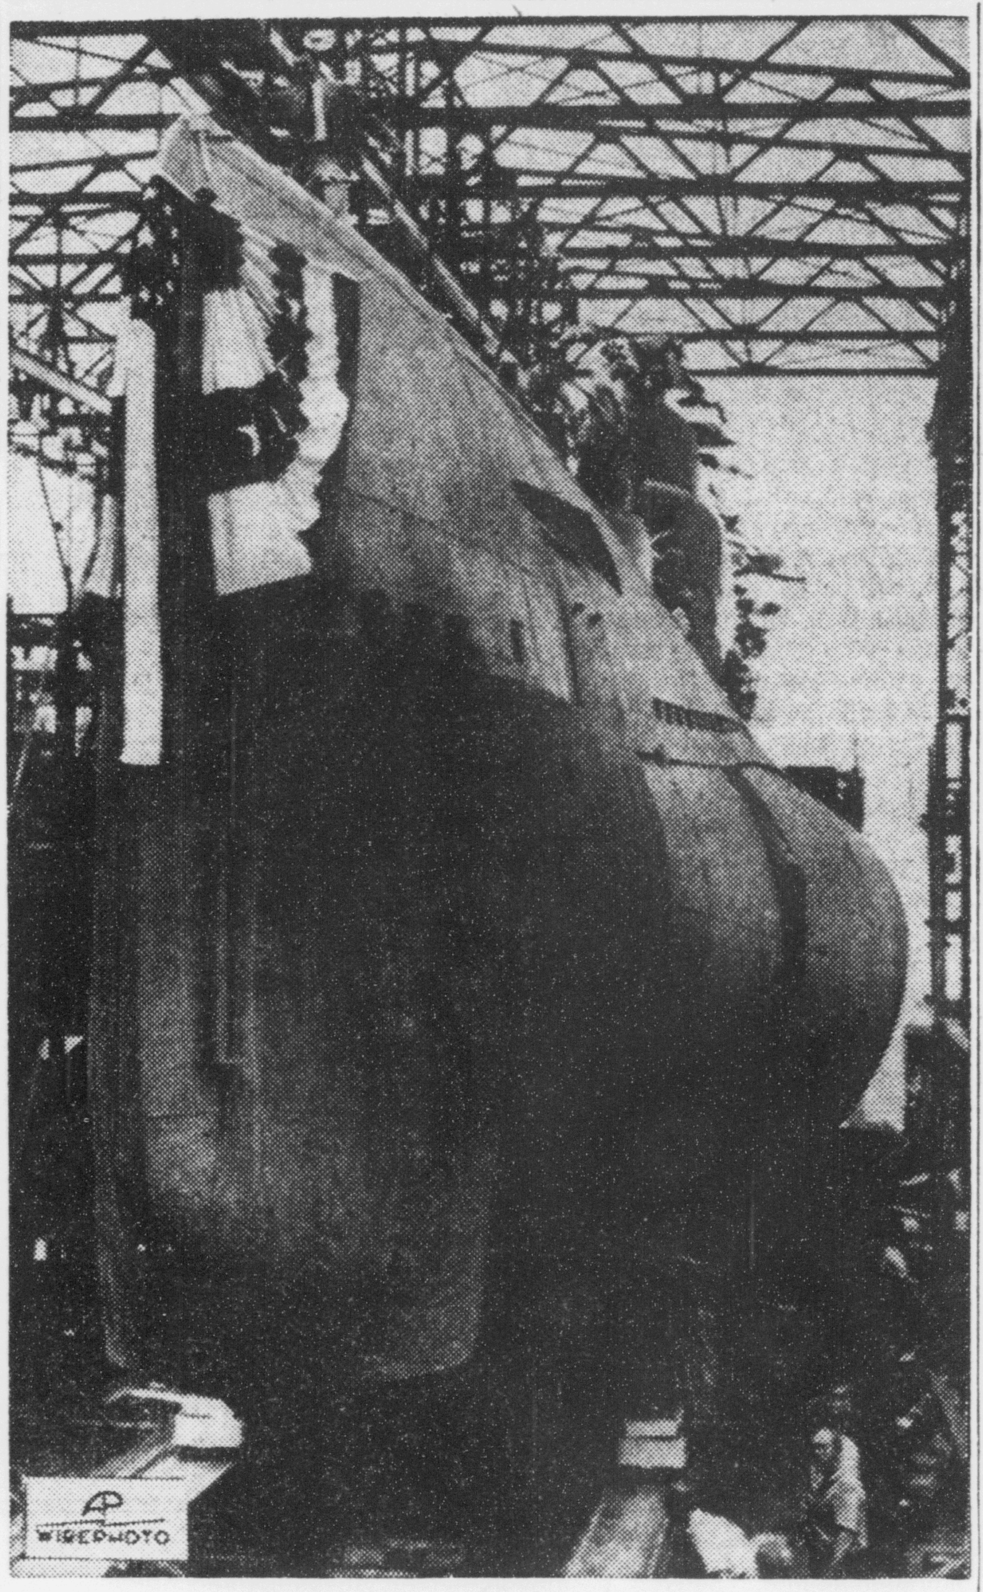
Kern County General Hospital disclosed the story of the operations performed by Dr. Bert H. Cotton of Pasadena, Calif. In each case, he said, scar tissue from early rheumatic fever had caused partial closure of the heart valves. It was necessary to remove the heart, excise the scar tissue and replace the organ.

One patient, Mrs. Joyce Lee Owen, 24, wife of Everett Owen, a ranch hand near here, has returned to the ranch. She was operated on July 17 and left the hospital last Friday. She had been ill for 16 years and bedridden the last three or four years.

The other patient, Peter L. Pereida, 40, of Bakersfield, father of four children, was a tool-maker in a Detroit automobile plant for 10 years before coming here with his family in 1947. He had been unable to work except at odd jobs since then, his wife helping to support the family. He was operated on Aug. 3 and released yesterday.

"Mr. Pereida was particularly elated," Dr. Cotton said at his Beverly Hills, Calif., office today. "He is planning immediately to get going in the automobile repair business.

"It will take longer for Mrs. Owen to effect complete recovery, but I see no reason why both can not live normally now."



Sub Launched

The USS Trout, third of a new class of six fast attack submarines being built for the Navy, is launched at Groton, Conn. The 1,600-ton craft is designed to travel at greater speed underwater than on the surface. The Tang and Trigger, two others in the class, were launched in June. The Trout was sponsored by Mrs. Mary Crane Clark, Monterey, Calif., widow of Lt. Comdr. Albert H. Clark who was lost when an earlier Trout went down during action off the China coast in 1944.

Stormy Protests Greet Possible New Fight For Price Controls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—President Truman touched off stormy protests on Capitol Hill today by indicating he will soon reopen the fight to obtain stronger price control powers from Congress.

Mr. Truman has denounced the present controls law — now about three weeks old—as inadequate to combat inflation under the rising pressure of multi-billion-dollar defense spending.

News ticker reports that Mr. Truman plans to renew his demands for greater authority over the nation's economy roused some lawmakers to quick wrath.

Challenges President

On the Senate floor, Senator Capehart (R-Ind) shouted:

"I challenge the President of the United States to send down his ideas of (any new) legislation. Let's have this thing out, once and for all."

The Indiana Senator boomed that "some people" apparently favor a "Marxist philosophy, a Socialist philosophy" in the pattern now being pursued in England.

Capehart also declared that none of the administration's controls chiefs had "courtesy enough" to sit down with members of Congress and point out what they thought were mistakes or weaknesses in the new controls law.

Joining in Capehart's protest, Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Banking Committee told the Senate that officials who are supposed to administer the new law are publicly criticizing it "even before the ink on it is dry."

Maybank said he was willing to listen to any proposals, but declared it was "only fair" to give the present law a fair trial.

Then, alluding to administration predictions that the new law may lead to higher prices, Maybank commented:

Defends New Act

"It does no good to tell the American people that prices are going up 10 per cent."

Capehart said price-control officials have practically "invited" the auto industry and other manufacturers to demand higher price ceilings.

"Of course we're going to have increases if the administrators say prices are going up," he said.

Capehart named Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and Price Director Michael V. DiSalle as "trying their case in the newspapers" without consulting Congress.

He defended the new act as "a good law that will prevent runaway inflation" if properly administered.

Army Private, Walking Post, Falls In Pool

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 21 (AP)—Pvt. John E. Cox, of Hodgenville, Ky., takes that army rule about walking a guard post "in a military manner" with reservations from now on.

It cost him a ducking last night at the military reservation here.

Cox was on guard duty at a swimming pool, walking his post with head erect and eyes straight ahead. He made a flank turn — and stepped into the pool.

A call to the corporal of the guard brought help. Fished out of the pool, the soaked private went back to walking his post.

Quake Causes Much Damage

KAILUA, Hawaii, Aug. 21 (AP)—One of Hawaii's most violent earthquakes today wrecked or damaged scores of homes on the famous Kona Coast, opened cracks in roads and sent giant boulders plunging into the sea.

Yet a preliminary survey of the sleepy resort district on the Island of Hawaii showed none injured seriously. The shock ran through the coast in the pre-dawn darkness and caught many in their frame homes. Only two residents were injured slightly, police reports said.

The plunging boulders in two big earthslides from Kona's cliffs churned up heavy surf. Frightened onlookers took to the hills, fearing a tidal wave. The surf quickly subsided.

First police reports listed 10 homes as destroyed and "several hundred" others suffering varying degrees of damage, mostly minor. Unofficial damage estimates ran as high as $150,000.

Three villages were hard hit. A serious water shortage threatened with from 50 to 60 wooden storage tanks destroyed and others damaged.

A frame school building and a store at the village of Honaunau were flattened. Villagers there and at Napoopoo took to the hills when the earthslides rumbled down. The third village damaged was Kealakekua.

Composer Dies

LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Constant Lambert, British composer, conductor, music critic and poet, died today after a short illness. He would have been 46 on Thursday.

Earl Succumbs

LUTON, Eng., Aug. 21 (AP)—The Earl of Orkney, Edmond Walter Fitzmaurice, died today. He was 84.

The aged peer had injured his thigh in a fall at his home in nearby Buckinghamshire July 23.

Senate Group Approves New Personal Tax

Measure Lightens Load Of House Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee wrote a new formula today for a personal income tax increase of $2,435,000,000. It lightens considerably the load the House's $2,847,000,000 plan would lay on bigger incomes, and committeemen said it hits a little lighter even in the lowest brackets.

In effect the new formula would apply the increase to what the taxpayer has left after paying the present levies. That cuts down the proportion of income affected in the higher brackets where the current rates already take away a big percentage.

First Senate Decision

It was the Senate committee's first decision on the $7,200,000,000 tax booster passed by the House. Action is yet to come on such sections as those on corporate taxes and excises. The reduction in personal income boosts seemed to bear out committeemen's predictions that the Senate committee would produce a smaller tax increase measure than the House passed.

Here is the committee's process for figuring higher levies on incomes:

Compute you tax as under present law.

Then subtract the amount of tax from your surtax net income, which is what you have left after exemptions and deductions.

Figure an additional defense tax of 3 per cent on that portion of the remainder up to $2,000 and 4 per cent on the portion above $2,000.

Add those defense taxes to the first figure, which is the amount you would pay under present law, and the result is your new tax liability.

Illustration Given

The committee staff gave an example to illustrate:

A single man with $5,000 gross income would have a surtax net income of $3,900 after taking out exemptions and deductions. On that amount his tax under present law would be $818.

Subsracting the $818 from the $3,900 he would have $3,082 subject to the extra defense tax.

He would pay 3 per cent, or $60 on the first $2,000. On the remaining $1,082 he would pay 4 per cent, or $43.28.

Thus his additional levy would be $103.28.

Lightning Kills Elderly Woman

ELKTON, Md., Aug. 21 (AP) — Lightning killed a 54-year-old woman tonight during a brief but violent hail storm that struck the Elkton area, felling trees and knocking out electric service for more than two hours.

Unofficial estimates were that the wind reached gusts of over 50 miles an hour.

Two automobiles and a half-ton panel truck were blown off U. S. Route 40. The truck was flipped over on its side.

Mrs. Emory Van Sant, 54, of Wilmington, Del., was struck by lightning and killed while lowering windows at the farm home of her brother-in-law, P. C. Van Sant, just north of here.

Relatives said lightning struck a big tree which fell against the chimney and crashed into the kitchen of the Van Sant home.

Mrs. Van Sant, visiting at the home, was in the kitchen closing the windows against hailstones.

She apparently was struck by the same bolt that struck the tree. She was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital here.

Chicago Woman Expects Birth Of Six Babies

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Chicago Herald-American today said "a Chicago area woman is about to make medical history by giving birth to five or six babies, according to obstetricians."

The newspaper said it had agreed not to use the name of the expectant mother or her physician.

"Top men in their profession honestly disagree on the number," the story set forth. Some, using stethoscopes, have detected heart beats from six babies. All have easily detected five heart beats.

"The babies are expected to be born late this month or early in September."

China Air Force General Ordered Back To Formosa

Dereliction Of Duty Charged By Nationals

TAIPEH, Formosa, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Chinese Nationalists today accused their Air Force representative in Washington of failing to account for $19,440,000 and ordered him and an aid eto come home.

A government spokesman said the funds entrusted to its representative, Lt. Gen. Mao Pang-Chu, was to buy equipment for the Nationalist Air Force and to train its personnel.

Shortly after this announcement, the Air Force reported the dismissal of Mao's executive assistant, Col. Hsiang Wei-Hsian. It ordered him home to face charges of dereliction of duty, corruption and suspicion of being a Communist agent.

It was doubtful if either would return to Formosa. They were expected to seek political asylum in the United States. The Nationalist government in that case may try to expedite them.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in a mandate accused Mao of "dereliction of duty and disobedience of orders." Mao also was deputy commander-in-chief of the Nationalist Air Force and was a delegate to the United Nations military staff committee. He has been stationed in Washington since the spring of 1943.

The government spokesman, Shehn Chang-Huan, said these five charges were levelled at Mao:

Lack of a clear statement of funds used for buying military equipment; dereliction of duties, impeding the air force's fighting power; espousing the cause of "disloyal" staff members; refusal to hand over public funds, and undermining the government's prestige by spreading rumors.

The spokesman said that after the Chinese Reds overran the mainland Mao's delays in buying equipment and gasoline hampered the training and the fighting power of the air force on Formosa.

Baseball Salaries Limit Is Proposed

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP) — A Federal salary stabilizer said today he favors letting organized baseball decide what its stars are worth.

There were suggestions, however, that any such free hand be coupled with a limit on baseball salaries—but on an overall league basis rather than man by man.

"We are dealing with a very responsible industry," Dr. Raymond B. Allen told a three-man government wage panel looking into professional sport salaries.

Dr. Allen, chairman of the Salary Stabilization Board, was against anyone in Washington setting salaries on a player-by-player basis.

"We're not that smart," he said.

Instead, he favored letting "the gentlemen who know their business determine what individual baseball salaries shall be."

Explorers Find Sudan Gold Field--But You Can Have It

LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Bearded John Goddard of Los Angeles, Calif., hit London today with news of gold down in the Sudan—but he is not worried about starting a big gold rush.

Goddard, going home after a 10-month exploring junket from the source of the Nile River to its mouth, says it is anybody's gold field so far as he's concerned.

He never wants to see it again.

All you have to do down there, he said, is get used to temperatures around 140 degrees, clouds of mosquitoes and other biting insects, flotillas of crocodiles, hostile natives who take anything in your camp that is not nailed down, and occasional sand storms.

The spot he described is 300 miles south of Egyptian-Sudanese border. The gold-bearing rock he picked up was along the Nile banks and up to two miles inland.

The 26-year-old Californian plans to sail for home tomorrow on the Queen Elizabeth.

His trip down the Nile was made with two French explorers, Andre Davy and Jean La Porte, in Eskimo kayaks. They gathered scientific data on rivers, animals, peoples and plants during the 4,000-mile trip.

Theirs, they claim, was the first complete exploration of the Nile from one end to the other.

The journey was sponsored by the French Explorers' Society, the French Geographical Society and the French Museum of Natural History.

Send Second Complaint To Allied Group

Truce Delegates Leave For Kaesong

MUNSAN, Korea, Wednesday, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Communists Tuesday rejected in advance the United Nations finding on an alleged neutrality zone shooting and fired a second complaint even before the first was fully answered.

An Allied spokesman struck back hard at the stubborn Red stand which threatened once more to upset the faltering Korean armistice talks.

Nevertheless, the Allied truce subcommittee left by helicopter for today's 11 a. m. session at Kaesong—the sixth attempt to break the deadlock on where to draw a buffer zone across Korea.

Today's U. N. delegates were Major Generals Henry I. Hodes and Lawrence C. Craigie.

Crisis Is Deepened

The continuing deadlock and the new Red charges deepened the crisis.

Resumption of full-scale war across Korea hung on the outcome. Peiping radio hinted at such a grim prospect and called the alleged shooting "murder."

The Red Pyongyang radio Tuesday night announced that the Communist top negotiator, Lt. Gen. Nam Il was "not satisfied" with a preliminary reply he had received from the Allies on a shooting incident Sunday.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, the chief U. N. negotiator, had informed Nam earlier that preliminary investigation "does not substantiate" the Communist charge that Allied troops ambushed a Red patrol leader inside the five mile neutrality zone.

Joy told Nam: "I will reply fully to you when I have received a complete report of the investigation."

It was this message that Nam brusquely turned down with a demand for "severe punishment of the violators of the neutral zone and a guarantee of the non-recurrence of such incidents."

The wording and phraseology of Nam's message was quite similar to the stinging rebuke Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway handed the Reds two weeks ago.

The U. N. commander was "not satisfied" then with the Red effort to minimize the presence of Red combat troops at Kaesong in full battle dress and carrying mortars and machine-guns.

Allies Called "Treacherous"

Nam's rejection was accompanied by loud North Korean and Red Chinese propaganda outbursts which called the Americans and South Koreans "enemies of peace," "treacherous," "ferocious" and "utterly shameless."

One Red truce delegate, Lt. Gen. Tung Hua, was quoted by the Red radio as saying:

"If we cannot win peace through negotiations, then we must win it by continued struggle against aggression."

In a new complaint, the Com-

Union Shop Pact Without Election Passed By Senate To Validate Old Agreements

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate today passed a bill authorizing the signing of union shop agreements without a shop election, and validating union shop agreements which the Supreme Court recently declared invalid.

The measure was passed by a voice vote. It now goes back to the House, which had passed it in different version, for consideration of the Senate amendments.

The woodshed in which they were playing was reduced to splinters and the explosion was heard all over town.

Benny Lee, father of the boys, said he did not know how they happened to have the explosive.

Fireworks are illegal in Maryland except for licensed public displays. Cambridge had a community fireworks program on the Fourth of July and a Fair recently shot off some during its stay here. Firemen said maybe the two youngsters came across a dud from one of these shows.

Farmer Wounds Wife, Kills Self

FREDONIA, Kas., Aug. 21 (AP)—A middle aged farmer broke up a divorce conference with gunfire today, seriously wounding his wife, killing her lawyer and ending his own life.

The lawyer, Larry McSpadden, also was county attorney of this southeast Kansas county.

Sheriff Bill Chamberlain said that the farmer, Johnnie Jones, about 40, climaxed an argument in McSpadden's office by whipping out an automatic, firing five shots into the lawyer, shooting his wife, Essie, twice and then firing a final shot through his own head.

Tampico Ready For Hurricane Expected Today

Army Takes Over Cars And Trucks

TAMPICO, Mexico, Aug. 21 (AP)—The army took over all cars and trucks here today in preparation for a terrific hurricane whirling across the Gulf of Mexico toward this oil port and some of Mexico's richest oil fields.

Authorities estimated the number of persons to be moved to the center of the city on higher ground at "thousands."

The big storm is expected to hit this city of 100,000 population tomorrow before noon.

Center Is On Hill

The center of Tampico is built on a hill, but the outlying districts are on low ground subject to flooding. The refugees will be lodged in schools and the municipal palace.

News of the approach of the hurricane which swept across Jamaica last week, taking 155 lives, caused wide-spread alarm here.

Householders went to work tying down their roofs and reinforcing windows and doors against the wind.

The government oil company called out all extra workmen to throw up dikes around the oil installations on low ground. These have suffered severely in previous storms.

Ships in the port doubled their lines and called back their crewmen on shore. Small fishing craft, warned of the approaching storm by radio, streamed into port during the day.

All Ships Safe

Tampico is on the River Panuco five miles up from the coast. Rising tides on the seacoast today already had destroyed summer houses on the beach.

The port captain said all ships in the Tampico area are safe in port and he forbade any to leave until the big blow was over.

The hurricane, dubbed "Charlie" by the weather bureau, was born six days ago when it moved into the Caribbean from the Atlantic.

It has wreaked its greatest havoc so far on the British Island of Jamaica in the Caribbean. It raked the island Friday, taking 155 lives and causing $56,000,000 damage.

Committee Okays "Voice" Budget Of $63,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee voted $63,000,000 today to run the Voice of America this year. The sum is little more than half the $115,000,000 President Truman had asked and far below the $85,000,000 the House had allowed.

The allotment, however, is $7,000,000 more than a Senate subcommittee had voted. Sponsors of the subcommittee cut agreed to that rise but fought off a move to go up to the House figure.

The decision on the fund for the international news and propaganda broadcasts cleared out the last roadblock and the committee proceeded to approve a $1,022,000,000 appropriation for operation of the state, commerce, and justice departments in the year which began July 1.

Two Heart Patients Return To Normal After Operations

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Aug. 21 (AP)—Two heart patients released after rare operations today are eturning to normal living after years of invalidism.

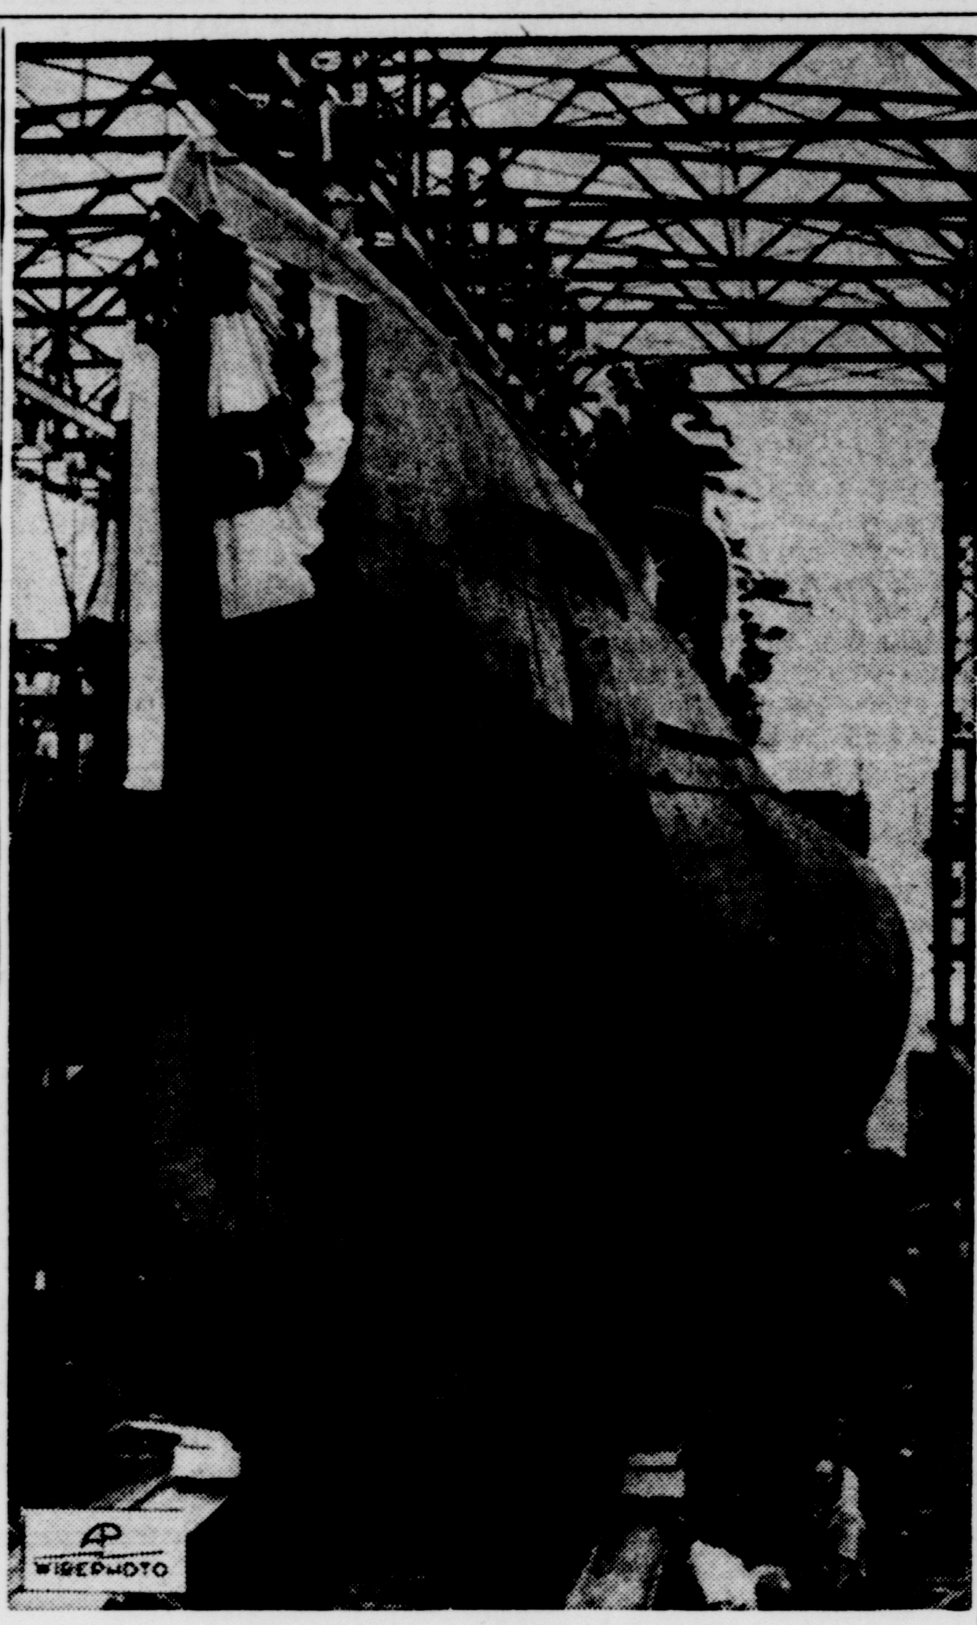
Kern County General Hospital disclosed the story of the operations performed by Dr. Bert H. Cotton of Pasadena, Calif. In each case, he said, scar tissue from early rheumatic fever had caused partial closure of the heart valves. It was necessary to remove the heart, excise the scar tissue and replace the organ.

One patient, Mrs. Joyce Lee Owen, 24, wife of Everett Owen, a ranch hand near here, has returned to the ranch. She was operated on July 17 and left the hospital last Friday. She had been ill for 16 years and bedridden the last three or four years.

The other patient, Peter L. Pereida, 40, of Bakersfield, father of four children, was a tool-maker in a Detroit automobile plant for 10 years before coming here with his family in 1947. He had been unable to work except at odd jobs since then, his wife helping to support the family. He was operated on Aug. 3 and released yesterday.

"Mr. Pereida was particularly elated," Dr. Cotton said at his Beverly Hills, Calif., office today. "He is planning immediately to get going in the automobile repair business.

"It will take longer for Mrs. Owen to effect complete recovery, but I see no reason why both can not live normally now."



Sub Launched

The USS Trout, third of a new class of six fast attack submarines being built for the Navy, is launched at Groton, Conn. The 1,600-ton craft is designed to travel at greater speed underwater than on the surface. The Tang and Trigger, two others in the class, were launched in June. The Trout was sponsored by Mrs. Mary Crane Clark, Monterey, Calif., widow of Lt. Comdr. Albert H. Clark who was lost when an earlier Trout went down during action off the China coast in 1944.

Stormy Protests Greet Possible New Fight For Price Controls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — President Truman touched off stormy protests on Capitol Hill today by indicating he will soon reopen the fight to obtain stronger price control powers from Congress.

Mr. Truman has denounced the present controls law — now about three weeks old—as inadequate to combat inflation under the rising pressure of multi-billion-dollar defense spending.

News ticker reports that Mr. Truman plans to renew his demands for greater authority over the nation's economy roused some lawmakers to quick wrath.

Challenges President

On the Senate floor, Senator Capehart (R-Ind) shouted:

"I challenge the President of the United States to send down his ideas of (any new) legislation. Let's have this thing out, once and for all."

The Indiana Senator boomed that "some people" apparently favor a "Marxist philosophy, a Socialist philosophy" in the pattern now being pursued in England.

Capehart also declared that none of the administration's controls chiefs had "courtesy enough" to sit down with members of Congress and point out what they thought were mistakes or weaknesses in the new controls law.

Joining in Capehart's protest, Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Banking Committee told the Senate that officials who are supposed to administer the new law are publicly criticizing it "even before the ink on it is dry."

Maybank said he was willing to listen to any proposals, but declared it was "only fair" to give the present law a fair trial.

Then, alluding to administration predictions that the new law may lead to higher prices, Maybank commented:

Defends New Act

"It does no good to tell the American people that prices are going up 10 per cent."

Capehart said price-control officials have practically "invited" the auto industry and other manufacturers to demand higher price ceilings.

"Of course we're going to have increases if the administrators say prices are going up," he said.

Capehart named Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and Price Director Michael V. DiSalle as "trying their case in the newspapers" without consulting Congress.

He defended the new act as "a good law that will prevent runaway inflation" if properly administered.

Army Private, Walking Post, Falls In Pool

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 21 (AP)—Pvt. John E. Cox, of Hodgenville, Ky., takes that army rule about walking a guard post "in a military manner" with reservations from now on.

It cost him a ducking last night at the military reservation here.

Cox was on guard duty at a swimming pool, walking his post with head erect and eyes straight ahead. He made a flank turn — and stepped into the pool.

A call to the corporal of the guard brought help. Fished out of the pool, the soaked private went back to walking his post.

Quake Causes Much Damage

KAILUA, Hawaii, Aug. 21 (AP)—One of Hawaii's most violent earthquakes today wrecked or damaged scores of homes on the famous Kona Coast, opened cracks in roads and sent giant boulders plunging into the sea.

Yet a preliminary survey of the sleepy resort district on the Island of Hawaii showed none injured seriously. The shock ran through the coast in the pre-dawn darkness and caught many in their frame homes. Only two residents were injured slightly, police reports said.

The plunging boulders in two big earthslides from Kona's cliffs churned up heavy surf. Frightened onlookers took to the hills, fearing a tidal wave. The surf quickly subsided.

First police reports listed 10 homes as destroyed and "several hundred" others suffering varying degrees of damage, mostly minor. Unofficial damage estimates ran as high as $150,000.

Three villages were hard hit. A serious water shortage threatened with from 50 to 60 wooden storage tanks destroyed and others damaged.

A frame school building and a store at the village of Honaunau were flattened. Villagers there and at Napoopoo took to the hills when the earthslides rumbled down. The third village damaged was Kealakekua.

Composer Dies

LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Constant Lambert, British composer, conductor, music critic and poet, died today after a short illness. He would have been 46 on Thursday.

Earl Succumbs

LUTON, Eng., Aug. 21 (AP)—The Earl of Orkney, Edmond Walter Fitzmaurice, died today. He was 84.

The aged peer had injured his thigh in a fall at his home in nearby Buckinghamshire July 23.

Senate Group Approves New Personal Tax

Measure Lightens Load Of House Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee wrote a new formula today for a personal income tax increase of $2,435,000,000. It lightens considerably the load the House's $2,847,000,000 plan would lay on bigger incomes, and committeemen said it hits a little lighter even in the lowest brackets.

In effect the new formula would apply the increase to what the taxpayer has left after paying the present levies. That cuts down the proportion of income affected in the higher brackets where the current rates already take away a big percentage.

First Senate Decision

It was the Senate committee's first decision on the $7,200,000,000 tax booster passed by the House. Action is yet to come on such sections as those on corporate taxes and excises. The reduction in personal income boosts seemed to bear out committeemen's predictions that the Senate committee would produce a smaller tax increase measure than the House passed.

Here is the committee's process for figuring higher levies on incomes:

Compute you tax as under present law.

Then subtract the amount of tax from your surtax net income, which is what you have left after exemptions and deductions.

Figure an additional defense tax of 3 per cent on that portion of the remainder up to $2,000 and 4 per cent on the portion above $2,000.

Add those defense taxes to the first figure, which is the amount you would pay under present law, and the result is your new tax liability.

Illustration Given

The committee staff gave an example to illustrate:

A single man with $5,000 gross income would have a surtax net income of $3,900 after taking out exemptions and deductions. On that amount his tax under present law would be $818.

Subsracting the $818 from the $3,900 he would have $3,082 subject to the extra defense tax.

He would pay 3 per cent, or $60 on the first $2,000. On the remaining $1,082 he would pay 4 per cent, or $43.28.

Thus his additional levy would be $103.28.

Lightning Kills Elderly Woman

ELKTON, Md., Aug. 21 (AP) — Lightning killed a 54-year-old woman tonight during a brief but violent hail storm that struck the Elkton area, felling trees and knocking out electric service for more than two hours.

Unofficial estimates were that the wind reached gusts of over 50 miles an hour.

Two automobiles and a half-ton panel truck were blown off U. S. Route 40. The truck was flipped over on its side.

Mrs. Emory Van Sant, 54, of Wilmington, Del., was struck by lightning and killed while lowering windows at the farm home of her brother-in-law, P. C. Van Sant, just north of here.

Relatives said lightning struck a big tree which fell against the chimney and crashed into the kitchen of the Van Sant home.

Mrs. Van Sant, visiting at the home, was in the kitchen closing the windows against hailstones.

She apparently was struck by the same bolt that struck the tree. She was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital here.

Chicago Woman Expects Birth Of Six Babies

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Chicago Herald-American today said "a Chicago area woman is about to make medical history by giving birth to five or six babies, according to obstetricians."

The newspaper said it had agreed not to use the name of the expectant mother or her physician.

"Top men in their profession honestly disagree on the number," the story set forth. Some, using stethoscopes, have detected heart beats from six babies. All have easily detected five heart beats.

"The babies are expected to be born late this month or early in September."

China Air Force General Ordered Back To Formosa

Dereliction Of Duty Charged By Nationals

TAIPEH, Formosa, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Chinese Nationalists today accused their Air Force representative in Washington of failing to account for $19,440,000 and ordered him and an aid eto come home.

A government spokesman said the funds entrusted to its representative, Lt. Gen. Mao Pang-Chu, was to buy equipment for the Nationalist Air Force and to train its personnel.

Shortly after this announcement, the Air Force reported the dismissal of Mao's executive assistant, Col. Hsiang Wei-Hsian. It ordered him home to face charges of dereliction of duty, corruption and suspicion of being a Communist agent.

It was doubtful if either would return to Formosa. They were expected to seek political asylum in the United States. The Nationalist government in that case may try to expedite them.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in a mandate accused Mao of "dereliction of duty and disobedience of orders." Mao also was deputy commander-in-chief of the Nationalist Air Force and was a delegate to the United Nations military staff committee. He has been stationed in Washington since the spring of 1943.

The government spokesman, Shehn Chang-Huan, said these five charges were levelled at Mao:

Lack of a clear statement of funds used for buying military equipment; dereliction of duties, impeding the air force's fighting power; espousing the cause of "disloyal" staff members; refusal to hand over public funds, and undermining the government's prestige by spreading rumors.

The spokesman said that after the Chinese Reds overran the mainland Mao's delays in buying equipment and gasoline hampered the training and the fighting power of the air force on Formosa.

Baseball Salaries Limit Is Proposed

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP) — A Federal salary stabilizer said today he favors letting organized baseball decide what its stars are worth.

There were suggestions, however, that any such free hand be coupled with a limit on baseball salaries—but on an overall league basis rather than man by man.

"We are dealing with a very responsible industry," Dr. Raymond B. Allen told a three-man government wage panel looking into professional sport salaries.

Dr. Allen, chairman of the Salary Stabilization Board, was against anyone in Washington setting salaries on a player-by-player basis.

"We're not that smart," he said.

Instead, he favored letting "the gentlemen who know their business determine what individual baseball salaries shall be."

Explorers Find Sudan Gold Field--But You Can Have It

LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Bearded John Goddard of Los Angeles, Calif., hit London today with news of gold down in the Sudan—but he is not worried about starting a big gold rush.

Goddard, going home after a 10-month exploring junket from the source of the Nile River to its mouth, says it is anybody's gold field so far as he's concerned.

He never wants to see it again.

All you have to do down there, he said, is get used to temperatures around 140 degrees, clouds of mosquitoes and other biting insects, flotillas of crocodiles, hostile natives who take anything in your camp that is not nailed down, and occasional sand storms.

The spot he described is 300 miles south of Egyptian-Sudanese border. The gold-bearing rock he picked up was along the Nile banks and up to two miles inland.

The 26-year-old Californian plans to sail for home tomorrow on the Queen Elizabeth.

His trip down the Nile was made with two French explorers, Andre Davy and Jean La Porte, in Eskimo kayaks. They gathered scientific data on rivers, animals, peoples and plants during the 4,000-mile trip.

Theirs, they claim, was the first complete exploration of the Nile from one end to the other.

The journey was sponsored by the French Explorers' Society, the French Geographical Society and the French Museum of Natural History.

Send Second Complaint To Allied Group

Truce Delegates Leave For Kaesong

MUNSAN, Korea, Wednesday, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Communists Tuesday rejected in advance the United Nations finding on an alleged neutrality zone shooting and fired a second complaint even before the first was fully answered.

An Allied spokesman struck back hard at the stubborn Red stand which threatened once more to upset the faltering Korean armistice talks.

Nevertheless, the Allied truce subcommittee left by helicopter for today's 11 a. m. session at Kaesong—the sixth attempt to break the deadlock on where to draw a buffer zone across Korea.

Today's U. N. delegates were Major Generals Henry I. Hodes and Lawrence C. Craigie.

Crisis Is Deepened

The continuing deadlock and the new Red charges deepened the crisis.

Resumption of full-scale war across Korea hung on the outcome. Peiping radio hinted at such a grim prospect and called the alleged shooting "murder."

The Red Pyongyang radio Tuesday night announced that the Communist top negotiator, Lt. Gen. Nam Il was "not satisfied" with a preliminary reply he had received from the Allies on a shooting incident Sunday.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, the chief U. N. negotiator, had informed Nam earlier that preliminary investigation "does not substantiate" the Communist charge that Allied troops ambushed a Red patrol leader inside the five mile neutrality zone.

Joy told Nam: "I will reply fully to you when I have received a complete report of the investigation."

It was this message that Nam brusquely turned down with a demand for "severe punishment of the violators of the neutral zone and a guarantee of the non-recurrence of such incidents."

The wording and phraseology of Nam's message was quite similar to the stinging rebuke Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway handed the Reds two weeks ago.

The U. N. commander was "not satisfied" then with the Red effort to minimize the presence of Red combat troops at Kaesong in full battle dress and carrying mortars and machine-guns.

Allies Called "Treacherous"

Nam's rejection was accompanied by loud North Korean and Red Chinese propaganda outbursts which called the Americans and South Koreans "enemies of peace," "treacherous," "ferocious" and "utterly shameless."

One Red truce delegate, Lt. Gen. Tung Hua, was quoted by the Red radio as saying:

"If we cannot win peace through negotiations, then we must win it by continued struggle against aggression."

In a new complaint, the Com-

Bootleg Outsells Legal Whisky, Newspaper Says

NEW YORK—(AP)—Bootleg is outselling legal whisky and more moonshine is being produced today than during the peak of prohibition, the Herald Tribune says.

The newspaper reached its conclusions from records collected by Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., an association of major liquor producers.

The Herald Tribune presents these figures:

A total of 19,644 stills were seized by authorities last year. They had a capacity of 677,179 gallons a day or —if they had operated on a five-day a week basis—176,066,540 gallons a year.

Last year, production by licensed distilleries amounted to 477,986 gallons a day, or 199,193 gallons less than the illegal output.

The high point of prohibition moonshining was only 170,000,000 gallons a year.

But, the Herald Tribune adds, most bootleggers work their stills round-the-clock, so that they could have turned out 247,170,335 gallons of illegal booze.

It adds that seizures of stills this year indicate a bootleg output of 20 per cent above last year's

The newspaper says the bulk of the moonshine is being sold in a growing number of present-day speakeasies, known as "bottle clubs."

MARK ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. William Browning, Flintstone, who celebrated the 61st anniversary of their wedding Monday, are seen reading a few of the messages of congratulations they received. Mr. Browning will be 82 on August 28 and Mrs. Browning the same age October 24. They were married at the Stonestreet Brothers farm on Murley's Branch by Rev. E. F. Pascoe, pastor of Flintstone Methodist Church August 20, 1890 and operated a farm on Murley's Branch Road until 1945, when they retired and moved to Flintstone. They are the parents of two children, Leslie Browning, who died some years ago, and Mrs. Louis Littlefield, Flintstone, and have two grandchildren, Mrs. Guy Stonestreet and Dorothy Browning, and a great grandson, Guy Stonestreet, Jr. Mrs. Browning, the former Delia Brotemarkle, is the only remaining member of a family of nine. Her husband has one sister, Mrs. Minnie Twigg. Browning still works in his garden and Mrs. Browning does all of her own work and occasionally pitches in to help her neighbors in time of need. She still keeps her reputation for fine quilting and fancy work.

Russians Also 'Pass The Buck'

MOSCOW—(AP)—Occupants of a Kiev apartment house, who have been trying vainly for six months to get their sewerage system repaired, have been taken for a "merry go round" ride, says Ukrainian Pravda.

The American term for such a situation presumably would be "passing the buck."

The Kiev paper said the breakdown is making the apartments unlivable. Not only the occupants but also their neighbors are suffering.

The paper, organ of the Communist Party in the Ukraine, described the procedure followed to correct the situation:

The complaint went to the house administration, district housing administration, state sanitary inspection authorities, chief state inspector, chief surgeon at the city sanitary and epidemic station, district sanitary station, district housing administration and back to the apartment building management. There it was filed wtihout action.

Another complaint went through the same channels, except that when it got back to the house management it was hidden in a desk. A third complaint is now being prepared.

Without his knowledge or consent, Patrick Henry was proposed as a dictator of Virginia.

A dependable source of high grade pulp

At Prince Rupert, in British Columbia, only a few miles south of the southernmost tip of Alaska and nearly 5,000 miles from Cumberland, Celanese Corporation of America has invested millions of dollars in a new pulp mill and "forest farm" operation.

The project is important to the Tri-State area, because it was designed to overcome the shortage of wood pulp that contributed to curtailments of production and furloughs at Amcelle and other Celanese plants.

We're in a fast growing business, and other manufacturers of chemical fibers have, like Celanese, been using increased amounts of wood pulp. So have paper and box-board manufacturers. World suppliers of wood pulp have been unable to keep up with the increasing demand.

The Prince Rupert operation will provide a substantial part of our cellulose requirements. Like the chemicals plant at Bishop, Texas, it is an example of long range planning to ensure adequate supplies of basic raw materials for Celanese plants.

The Prince Rupert project is a good example of financial and industrial teamwork in action. By investing money in far-off British Columbia, Celanese Corporation of America is helping to make Amcelle operations steadier and the jobs of its employees more secure. There's this to remember however . . .

Only the company that makes a profit can invest in the facilities, equipment and machines its employees need to meet the competition of other workers in the industry. That's why profit is just as important to employees, customers, and communities as it is to the company itself.

81 Cadets Banished

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 21 (AP) —Three more cadets left West Point today, bringing to 81 the number banished thus far for academic cheating.

MARK ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. William Browning, Flintstone, who celebrated the 61st anniversary of their wedding Monday, are seen reading a few of the messages of congratulations they received. Mr. Browning will be 82 on August 28 and Mrs. Browning the same age October 24. They were married at the Stonestreet Brothers farm on Murley's Branch by Rev. E. F. Pascoe, pastor of Flintstone Methodist Church August 20, 1890 and operated a farm on Murley's Branch Road until 1945, when they retired and moved to Flintstone. They are the parents of two children, Leslie Browning, who died some years ago, and Mrs. Louis Littlefield, Flintstone, and have two grandchildren, Mrs. Guy Stonestreet and Dorothy Browning, and a great grandson, Guy Stonestreet, Jr. Mrs. Browning, the former Delia Brotemarkle, is the only remaining member of a family of nine. Her husband has one sister, Mrs. Minnie Twigg. Browning still works in his garden and Mrs. Browning does all of her own work and occasionally pitches in to help her neighbors in time of need. She still keeps her reputation for fine quilting and fancy work.

Russians Also 'Pass The Buck'

MOSCOW—(AP)—Occupants of a Kiev apartment house, who have been trying vainly for six months to get their sewerage system repaired, have been taken for a "merry go round" ride, says Ukrainian Pravda.

The American term for such a situation presumably would be "passing the buck."

The Kiev paper said the breakdown is making the apartments unlivable. Not only the occupants but also their neighbors are suffering.

The paper, organ of the Communist Party in the Ukraine, described the procedure followed to correct the situation:

The complaint went to the house administration, district housing administration, state sanitary inspection authorities, chief state inspector, chief surgeon at the city sanitary and epidemic station, district sanitary station, district housing administration and back to the apartment building management. There it was filed wtihout action.

Another complaint went through the same channels, except that when it got back to the house management it was hidden in a desk. A third complaint is now being prepared.

A dependable source of high grade pulp

At Prince Rupert, in British Columbia, only a few miles south of the southernmost tip of Alaska and nearly 5,000 miles from Cumberland, Celanese Corporation of America has invested millions of dollars in a new pulp mill and "forest farm" operation.

The project is important to the Tri-State area, because it was designed to overcome the shortage of wood pulp that contributed to curtailments of production and furloughs at Amcelle and other Celanese plants.

We're in a fast growing business, and other manufacturers of chemical fibers have, like Celanese, been using increased amounts of wood pulp. So have paper and box-board manufacturers. World suppliers of wood pulp have been unable to keep up with the increasing demand.

The Prince Rupert operation will provide a substantial part of our cellulose requirements. Like the chemicals plant at Bishop, Texas, it is an example of long range planning to ensure adequate supplies of basic raw materials for Celanese plants.

The Prince Rupert project is a good example of financial and industrial teamwork in action. By investing money in far-off British Columbia, Celanese Corporation of America is helping to make Amcelle operations steadier and the jobs of its employees more secure. There's this to remember however . . .

Only the company that makes a profit can invest in the facilities, equipment and machines its employees need to meet the competition of other workers in the industry. That's why profit is just as important to employees, customers, and communities as it is to the company itself.

American Boy Scouts Show World Value Of Cleanliness

BAD ISCHAL, Austria—(AP)—European boys are marvelling at the standards of American health and cleanliness maintained at the recent seventh World Boy Scout Jamboree and at the lack of flies and mosquitoes at the camp.

Credit for the absence of insects and the fact that the jamboree escaped any serious epidemic goes to the Boy Scouts of America, the U. S. Public Health Service and the U. S. Army.

The high American health standards on which the American Boy Scouts insisted for the 629 boys who came here from the United States, worked for the benefit of all 15,000 Scouts attending the jamboree.

During the 10-day jamboree not a single American boy was hospitalized for sickness or treated for major injuries.

On the other hand, an average of 200 boys a day from other lands were treated in the camp dispensary—run largely by the U. S. Army—for sickness and injuries.

This figure might well have been more had it not been for the presence of American medical officers.

When Ray Bryan, Greenvale, Long Island, a member of the American Boy Scouts' executive staff, was sent here to make arrangements for the arrival of American scouts, he asked the U. S. Army to make sure the water supply was clean.

The Army set up a hydro-chlorinator at the source of the camp's water, so that the 350,000 gallons a day pumped into the camp was cleaned for the benefit, not only for American Scouts, but for all.

Bryan was followed by Alton M. Brown, Spartenburg, S. C., attached to the U. S. Public Health Service in Greece. Brown was loaned to the Scouts by the U. S. government to ensure adequate sanitation for the Americans.

Latrines and showers had been built only a few yards from the tents of many delegations, including the American. The Austrians, lacking supplies of modern disinfectants, had planned to use chloride of lime.

Considering this inadequate, Brown and the American Scout leaders placed at Austrian disposal large quantities of DDT and chlorodame. Brown made it his daily business to see that not only latrines, but water outlets and showers were kept from becoming breeding areas for infectious disease carriers.

"The Austrian public health people and hundreds of boys" Brown said, "told us it was the first time they had ever seen a camp without flies."

Margaret Rose Is 21

Margaret Rose, the younger of Britain's two "fairy-tale princesses" of yesteryear, was 21 years old on Tuesday. Her sister Elizabeth now is 25 and has two children. Margaret is the only member of the royal family who lacks a private income. On turning 21 she will be entitled to draw on the annual allowance of $16,800 voted to her by Parliament last month.

One of the surprises, to Americans at least, of Labor government in Britain has been the almost complete absence of attacks on the monarchy by Labor party left-wingers. True, a Scottish laborite moved in Commons to cut Margaret's allowance in half, but he explained that he was merely registering the will of his constituency.

Latest reports of Margaret are that she looks with particular favor on 24-year-old William Wallace, stepson of Herbert Agar, former editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. Young Wallace is sole heir to a $2,800,000 fortune left him by his father, a former British Minister of Transport. London newspapers report speculation in court circles that Margaret's engagement to Wallace will be announced soon after her 21st birthday.

Until Margaret reaches 25 she cannot be married without the approval of her father, the King. After 25, under an old British law which regulates these matters, she can marry without the royal assent, provided one year's notice has been given and the marriage has not been disapproved by both houses of Parliament.

Eyes On Mississippi

The runoff for governor in Mississippi on Monday is by all odds the most interesting electoral contest of the off-year 1951. The candidates are former Gov. Hugh L. White, an outstanding states-righter, and Paul B. Johnson, a warm supporter of the Truman Fair Deal.

White sees the issue as "States Rights Democracy vs. Trumanism." He led the Mississippi delegation out of the 1948 Democratic convention after the Truman civil rights program had been put in the party platform.

Johnson, son of a former governor, says the leading issue is social welfare and particularly the welfare of the state's older citizens. He advocates state pensions of $50 a month for all persons in Mississippi who have passed their 65th birthdays.

At present Mississippi's average old-age assistance payment is about $18.40 a month and the maximum that may be paid under state law is $30 a month. The national average payment is about $43.20. Mississippi has about 430 out of each 1,000 of its old folks on the assistance rolls, compared with a national average of about 225 per 1,000.

The response of Mississippi voters to Johnson's pensions-for-all program will be weighed with care by national party leaders. In recent Senate debate Democratic Leader McFarland said he believed all citizens should get federal pensions on reaching age 65, whether in need or not.

As long as two years ago Republican Leader Taft asked a Finance Committee study of the feasibility of a universal pension system. He doubted that the national economy could stand it, but thought there might be some merit in substituting flat-rate pensions without contribution for the present old-age insurance system.

Right To A Passport?

Paul Robeson, Negro singer, was an American delegate to a Communist-sponsored "peace congress" in Paris in April, 1949. When he wanted to go to another such conference in August, 1950, his passport was withdrawn. Now he is suing in the U. S. Court of Appeals to compel the State Department to give him a new passport for travel in Europe.

Robeson contends that he is being deprived of a constitutional right because the government disapproves of his political views. The Supreme Court has never passed on the question whether there is any such constitutional right as he claims.

Attorney Genral Knox said 50 years ago that there was "no law which gives a citizen a right to a passport" and that remains the case today. As long ago as 1869 Attorney General Hoar ruled that the State Department had full discretion in granting or withholding passports.

Hoar wrote: "Circumstances are conceivable which would make it most inexpedient for the public interest of this country to grant a passport to a citizen of the United States. For example, if . . . an avowed anarchist . . . were to make such application, the public interests might require that his application be denied."

In 1948 a left-wing member of Congress was refused a passport to attend a Paris conference of supporters of the guerrillas in Greece. The State Department said it was obvious that "the issuance of a passport for the purpose stated is not in the interest of the Government of the United States."

In Session Long Enough

The American people join the Senate and House Democratic leaders in the hope that Congress will be able to adjourn by October 1. It is difficult for anyone to think of a good reason why this goal cannot be attained. It is true that important bills are still to be enacted into law, but it is likewise the fact that Fair Deal proposals which stirred the most bitter controversy in the past — civil rights, Taft-Hartley repeal, etc. — are not on this session's agenda.

As was to have been expected, Vice President Barkley, Majority Leader McFarland of the Senate and Speaker Rayburn and Representative McCormack of the House deny that this has been a do-nothing Congress. Nevertheless, there are certain facts in the situation that cannot be washed away.

As of this moment only one of the 13 regular appropriation bills has been signed by the President. Most government agencies and departments, therefore, are operating on a stop-gap spending basis.

That is not unprecedented and not necessarily bad. If it means, as Senator McFarland says, that Congress is scrutinizing prospective expenditures more carefully than ever before, it can actually redound to the public interest. But if these bills are rushed through in the final hour in a reckless, helter-skelter manner, the country stands a good chance of running into an era of more governmental extravagance.

In any event, Congress has been in session long enough for this year. If it will now get down to business and forget the next election, it ought to be able to complete its work in the next six weeks.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Food Laxatives

Are you in need of a laxative? If so, two of the best are to be found in the kitchen or pantry—canned figs and plums. These items are tasty and inexpensive and can be used as a breakfast fruit or dessert.

Figs and plums are only two of the many foods that produce bulk. Dried prunes and apricots do the same, as well as most fresh fruits and vegetables, cereals, and whole wheat bread. However, the colon is likely to become used to one bulk producer after a few weeks or months and when it no longer responds, switching to another will provide a new stimulous.

On the first day that the individual takes prunes instead of figs, the stool will be bulky; by the second day it will be less so. Gradually, bulkiness disappears and stools become normal. The same thing happens with bulk producing medicines containing methylcellulose; they work well for a while and then seem to lose their efficiency. There are exceptions, however. Some persons have stayed with their old reliable for years and continue to keep regulated. Whether these substances retain their laxative effect or the bowel habit remains established is immaterial so long as the practice is harmless. But if a product like sauerkraut juice is employed it is advisable to take two or three glasses of water with it to help dilute the salt content. An alternative is to drink a glass of normal salt solution, made by adding one-third teaspoonful of ordinary table salt to a glass of water.

Other simple aids include suppositories and oil retention enemas. For the latter, one to three ounces of oil can be inserted into the rectum with a baby syringe before bedtime. This is reatined all night and expelled in the morning.

If knowledge of how the bowel functions were general, there would be less constipation. The stomach empties in from two to seven hours and digestion in the small bowel takes place in from two to four hours. The undigested residue enters the large intestine in a liquid state and during the remainder of the journey thru the intestinal tract, fluid is absorbed. This takes between one and five days. Exceptions are coarse foods such as corn, nuts, and seeds. They pass thru quickly without being digested.

When the material goes thru the body too rapidly the outcome is diarrhea; if too slowly, constipation. With the majority the process is normal tho occasional disturbances are not uncommon. If there is no movement on Tuesday, for example, undoubtedly regularity will be re-established on Wednesday; but if a drug is used to clean out the colon, several days may elapse before the normal cycle returns. If another cathartic is taken, nature is not given a chance. A few weeks of such practices will place the individual on the road to constipation. The best plan is to eat sensibly by incorporating bulk producing foods in the diet. (For additional suggestions on an anti-constipation regimen, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Pain From Tonic

H. B. writes: I would like to know what is wrong. When I put on hair tonic that has a sweet smell I get a headache and pain in the neck.

REPLY

Your discomfort may follow applying the preparation too vigorously or twisting and turning the head to follow the scent.

Heart Symptoms

M. Y. writes: Could indigestion cause irregular heart beat? When I have digestive symptoms my heart misses a beat every now and then.

REPLY

Yes, but why not have the cause of your symptoms investigated? There are many types of irregularities. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on palpitation, extra beat of the heart, and rapid pulse.

Active Sleeper

H. J. writes: My roommate tells me I disturb her rest by talking in my sleep every night. I'm in good health and not nervous. What can I do about it?

REPLY

Little can be done unless your roommate wishes to use ear plugs or move elsewhere. You, in turn, might live alone or find a girl who sleeps so soundly that nothing arouses her.

Arm Pain

G. O. writes: Does pain in the arm, starting at the shoulder and going all the way down, always mean heart trouble?

REPLY

Not necessarily. Many structures in the arm, such as bursae and nerves, are capable of producing these symptoms. When arm pain stems from the heart it is usually accompanied by a somewhat similar type of distress in chest and neck and is not altered by movements of the shoulder or arm.

Infection And Cancer

W. K. writes: Can diseased tonsils cause cancer of the throat?

REPLY

In my opinion, this would be a remote possobility, even tho we do not know the cause of cancer.

High Commissioner McCloy Has No Influence In Handling Russian Escapees Anxious To Help U. S.; Counter-Intelligence Agents Alienate Them

EN ROUTE THROUGH EUROPE —Here are some spot observations gathered in various parts of Germany regarding one of the most important problems we face either in preventing war or winning a war after it gets started:

FRANKFORT — High Commissioner Jack McCloy, who is performing a remarkably fine job, is supposed to be the top man in Germany. He can and does set aside German court decrees. He can give or withhold American money, the life blood of Europe. He can order the American army to get out of this area or into that.

But when it comes to Russians escaped from behind the iron curtain, High Commissioner McCloy has as much influence with the American Army as a Communist youth demonstrator in the East zone of Germany. The American military flouts his orders and thumbs its nose at McCloy much like the above Communist youth-demonstrator at the West German police.

Perhaps because of this, the young socialite Central Intelligence agents of Gen. Bedell Smith and the amateur detectives in counter-intelligence do such a successful job of alienating these Russian escapees that a lot of them decide Soviet Russia is better than the much-vaunted West and return home.

Just outside Frankfort is a Russian refugee camp. Its name, its exact location, the number of Russians in it are supposed to be top secret. Not even McCloy knows how many Russians are in it. Nor has he ever visited it. If the Army is ordered by McCloy to let anyone into this camp, the Army says no.

In this camp at one time were about 2,000 Russian officers, who, disgusted with the Red Army, had fled to the American zone of Germany anxious to help the U.S.A. But for months they simply sat, ate, and were interviewed by young counterintelligence agents—ate, sat, and were interviewed; ate, slept, and were interviewed.

Some were flown to the United States amid a flurry of excitement to reoprt on conditions inside Russia to higher-ups in the Pentagon. Some were promised haven in the U.S.A. In the end all were reduced to sitting, waiting, and going to seed—thanks to the sterility, inefficiency and lack of imagination of the Army and Gen. Bedell Smith's amateur Dick Tracys.

Restless Red Army

BERLIN — Across the invisible iron curtain in the East zone of Germany are about 300,000 members of the Red Army. Living in Germany, a country with which they all too recently fought a bitter war, these troops long had to camp behind barbed wire.

This was not to keep the German population away from them, but to keep the Russians from deserting. Even so, many of them did desert—and more would desert if given encouragement or any kind of favorable treatment after their arrival in the West.

Obviously Moscow knows that these troops, living near the West and with no tight border control between East and West, constitute one of the potential weaknesses of the Red Army. It also knows that the same thing is true in Austria where Russian troops also live near the West and temptation is strong to drift over and sample Western glamor.

Undoutedly Moscow also remembers what many Americans have forgotten — that it was not the Kaiser's army that defeated the Czar in 1917, but the shrewdness of the German Staff in sending Trotsky and Lenin in a sealed train from Switzerland into Russia. Moscow certainly should remember it, for that was what started the Bolshevik revolution and put Stalin where he is today.

And remember it, Stalin certainly doesn't want it to happen—in reverse—again.

But the dapper young counterintelligence agents and Gen. Bedell Smith's cloak-and-dagger dicks are either too young or too dense to remember it.

Kerensky Unites

MUNICH—Dining in Munich the other night I discussed some of these things with gnarled, spritely Alexander Kerensky, father of the first Russian revolution, who, if not upset by Lenin, Trotsky and the German General Staff, might have saved Russia and the world the scourge of communism.

Kerensky had come to Munich to do a job that has needed doing for years—wrapping all the diverse Russian exile groups into one close-knit body in order to do to Stalin what Lenin and Trotsky once did to Kerensky.

In Munich with Kerensky were three other top Russians from the U.S.A.—Vladamir Zenzinov, Prof. I. Kurganov and Boris Nikolayevsky; also the League of Struggle for National Freedom, the National Labor Alliance, the Russian National Movement, the Union of Soldiers of the Liberation Movement, and the Union for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia.

These groups and leaders are about as diverse and as difficult to get along with as some of the groups within the heterogeneous Union of Soviet Russia; and some, such as the Ukraines, want to solve all "New Russia's" problems even before the New Russia is created.

However, it seemed to me that this meeting of Russian factions in Munich is the most encouraging thing that has happened for a long time. For if and when they get together, they can do two things:

1. Beam propaganda into Russia that comes from Russians, not from Americans who have an ax to grind.

2. Work out a system for screening recent Russian escapees and getting them settled where they can help in the future; instead of going to seed in refugee camps under the amateur cross-examination of CIA and CIC boys.

NOTE — At present there is no more cooperation between Counter-intelligence and Russians of the Kerensky type than there is between McCloy and Counterintelligence.

PREDICTION — If the United States arranged with Brazil, Paraguay, Kenya, South Africa and other unpopulated countries to set up a system for handling Russian refugees, and if word of this were broadcast to the Red Army in East Germany and Austria, I predict that it would be impossible for the Kremlin to keep an army in these two vital countries. Such a refugee resettlement plan could be a point four program which might save the peace of the world.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Someone might well offer a prize for a new name for the U. S. Navy.

Maybe the name should be the "U. S. Air Navy." For the latest announcement from the Navy Department reveals that hereafter even submarines will engage in aerial warfare.

Unfortunately, the Navy has been laboring under a handicap in post-war years. Members of Congress and some commentators still think of the Navy as primarily a ferry service or a patrol to guard the transportation of troops across the seas or just as a means of hunting down enemy submarines.

Actually the Navy today is set up to conduct offensive as well as defensive warfare by the use of the latest type of bombers and fighter planes. The Navy has just revealed, for example, that three more aircraft carriers will be modernized so as to handle bombing planes capable of delivering the atomic bomb.

For several months now it has been the policy of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to allow every one of the three armed services to use atomic energy for its weapons—each service adapting these to its own special purposes.

Hinges On Aerial Combat

The aircraft carrier, however, with its floating base is not the only ship that will engage in aerial warfare. Guided missiles will be fired from the decks of cruisers and battleships. The time is near when even a submarine will run close to an enemy shore and, coming to the surface, will discharge guided missiles which will do damage several hundred miles inland.

The so-called "carrier task force" is built around aerial warfare. The aircraft carrier of today gets a ring of protection from battleships, cruisers and destroyers, and all are equipped with rapid-fire antiaircraft guns. The whole concept of a modern navy turns primarily on aerial combat.

Before the Korean War broke out, the Navy had a hard time convincing its critics in other services that lots of aircraft carriers should remain in commission and not be put in "mothballs." In fact, money for modernizing aircraft carriers was withheld because of the belief that there wouldn't be much use for the navy's air arm as long as intercontinental strategic bombers could do the same job.

During the first weeks of the Korean war, fortunately, the aircraft carriers of the Navy transported some of the U. S. Air Force's fighter planes across the Pacific. This is because a fighter plane, as distinguished from a long-range bomber, cannot fly across long stretches of water.

Thus, not only was the aircraft carrier's use as a ferry in an emergency confirmed but an awakening took place at the same time as to the true power of naval aviation as an offensive force. The navy's fighters and bombers ranged up and down both coasts of Korea and its planes regularly gave close air support to ground troops, especially when fields in Korea were not available.

Has Become Air Navy

More and more, therefore, the U. S. Navy has become an air navy. There are very few officers today who think of the battleship and the cruiser as the backbone of the fleet any more. As the late Admiral Sherman used to say, the modern aircraft carrier is the new "ship of the line."

Incidentally, the Navy is happy about the evolution of its new large-sized carrier known as the "James V. Forrestal." A sister ship is likely to be planned soon. Louis Johnson, who was secretary of defense in 1950, revealed recently at Senate Armed Services hearings that he had promised Admiral Sherman there would be two new large-sized carriers. While this hasn't been brought before the Joint Chiefs as yet, it probably will be in due course. It is believed the new carrier will be named the "Forrest P. Sherman." Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee approves of the idea.

But, speaking of names, Congress has specifically recognized "naval aviation" in its statutes. Yet the "naval air arm" is no longer an adjunct by itself. With guided missiles and atomic bombs fired from all manner of naval vessels, the name "U. S. Air Navy" would now, as a term of identification, embrace the entire naval establishment.

These Days

Protecting The Middle Class

It is of importance that the income tax law which recognizes obsolescence in machinery and plant be revised to recognize obsolescence in human beings. In other words, those groups in our population who earn their livings as professional men and women, such as doctors, lawyers, architects, writers, etc., and who are their own employers and cannot benefit by pension funds, need the right to set aside a share of their earnings, untaxed, for the day when the eye grows dim and the hand shaky.

But here comes Irving Ives of New York with a proposal that is very bad. He is for setting aside untaxed savings, but he wants the last independent individuals in the country to be forced by advantage into the controlled proletariat which is so characteristic of our totalitarian-minded age.

Senator Ive's amendment to the 1951 Internal Revenue Act would require such self-employed professional men to pay a portion of their earnings, not exceeding 10 per cent of their yearly net income and not more than $7,500, into a restricted retirement fund, organized by a professional group to which they belong. In a word, to protect his old age, a writer or composer or doctor would have to join a union of his profession.

Why should this be necessary? Suppose he does not wish to join such a union or to be bound by its policities, why should he feel that he would have to? Furthermore, the Ives Amendment makes this a postponably taxable amount, which means that if he gets it at the age of 60, it can then be taxed when he may need it most.

What is required is not a postponed tax but an obsolescence arrangement, a reserve fund, similar to that allowed corporations for plant and equipment. For instance, if a man spends 10 years preparing for a professional service, a system should be devised to amortize that preparation. Doctors can amortize equipment, but what can a writer, who spends five years on a book, amortize? His knowledge, experience, wisdom?

This strikes me as one of those political acts which please the officers of various professional associations and gives to the politician whatever kudos that is worth. As many of these associations are situated in New York City, it is natural that some of them should have reached Senator Ives with this impractical and wrong proposal.

This is not merely a questi of money. The middle class, t self-employed people are bei squeezed to the wall by taxes a high prices. Most of them are situated that it is difficult, if impossible, for them to raise the fees. Doctors, for instance, a the last to be paid and often gi as many hours to free service hospitals and clinics as they do their paying patients. They a having, as a group, a difficult tim We hear a good deal about t high cost of specialists, but ve little of the general practition who still has to accept what thinks the traffic will bear, whic is often little enough.

The same is true of other pr fessional and self-employed person The income tax law may produ the social revolution of forcing all to work for corporations whic have pension funds as the only wa to save for old age or to provi for our families after we die. Sena tor Ives's alternative is to join professional union and to save paying into a postponed taxab fund.

In the Communist manifesto. Karl Marx offers the income tax as one of the most effective means for destroying the capitalist system. How right he was in 1848 is so clear today when we witness how this tax is destroying the capacity to save and thereby to develop new reservoirs of capital. The income tax is not only being used to raise revenue, but to redistribute wealth and to eliminate the self-employed elements in the population. It can produce a corporate state such as Mussolini fixed upon Italy and from which that country has not yet recovered.

It is the elimination of the middl class, with its capacity to devel intellectual leadership, that pav the way everywhere for such mov ments as communism, fascis nazism, and so on. The resistan to these movements is stronge among self-employed, home-ownin thrifty, investing people. This ha proved so true universally that an contradiction is outside experien and must be attributed to som self-serving motive.

Spiral Advancing

By MARK SULLIVAN

A preponderance of the evidence, and a preponderance of the major forces at work, suggests that an advance in the wage-price spiral may be getting under way. The advance is made likely by official administration actions. The principal recent action is an order by the Wage Stabilization Board, made effective last week, raising the ceiling over wages which it had decreed seven months before. The order itself made an advance of the wage-price spiral extremely likely. The way it came about raises a disquieting question as to whether the Administration earnestly intends to arrest the wage-price spiral and inflation.

The part the Administration has in the wage-price spiral is illustrated by the way last week's new wage policy came about. Some months ago, the Administration, creating agencies to check inflation, set up among others a Wage Stabilization Board composed of 12 members, four each to represent labor, industry and the public. This board last January decreed a general ceiling over wages. The ceiling, with some qualifications, was 10 per cent above the level of the year before, January 15, 1950.

This ceiling was vigorously protested by organized labor. The four labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board withdrew. As a broader protest, a "Labor Policy Committee," composed of high officers of the large national labor organizations, formally protested the Administration's mobilization policy and set-up as a whole, declaring that labor was not sufficiently represented on the agencies composing the set-up.

Stated By Johnston

President Truman yeilded, Among other appeasements he appointed a new and larger Wage Stabilization Board. This board has now issued an order declaring a new policy and practice about wage ceilings. The new order permits wage raises under varying conditions, the total effect of which is estimated to be a raise of two to four per cent above the former 10 per cent standard ceiling which labor had protested. The new wage ceiling is a result of pressure by organized labor on the Administration and yielding by the Administration.

The effect of a general wage raise, the part it has in the wage price spiral, is stated by Economi Stabilization Administrator Eri Johnston, in a statement he mad in connection with the new wag policy: "We all know that wage in creases are reflected in price in creases and that price increase lead to wage increases." That is clear and exact statement of fundamental economic truth. Gras of that truth is a step toward understanding the whole subject o the wage-price spiral and inflation

An overall feature of the ne wage policy sanctions are in general "escalator clauses" in wag contracts between employers an unions. The escalator clause tie wages to cost of living, under i wages go up automatically in proportion as cost of living goes up Theoretically, wages also go dow with cost of living, but who that has ever ridden in a literal escalator has seen it go downward? True an escalator clause in a contract between General Motors and a union of its workers once resulted in a slight reduction of wages. But the overwhelming probability is that the effect of escalator clauses in contracts is likely to be made as a result of the new wage policy will be upward—upward in wages and upward in cost of living.

Automatic Mechanism

In short, the escalator clause is an automatic mechanism of inflation. As "The New York Herald Tribune" put it, "the government is deliberately building into the industrial economy and inflationary force which cannot be controlled."

The escalator clause is added to a built-in automatic mechanism of inflation that already existed. In the mechanism the active forces, working mutually and reciprocally, are wages and government price support of farm crops. As wages rise and prices of manufactured goods follow upward, the Department of Agriculture fixes higher prices at which it supports prices of farm crops.

Price support of farm crops is embodied in law and operated by the Administration. The escalator clause is wage contracts is authorized by an Administration agency. Both work as an advantage to large groups and are thereby supposed to appeal to large numbers of voters. Neither is likely to be terminated voluntarily by an Administration in office on the eve of an election year; the most that could be expected, and this not very confidently, would be some modification. Any effective check of the automatic mechanism of inflation, which the two compose depends upon the immense class to whom inflation works hardship, the consumers.

Margaret Rose Is 21

Margaret Rose, the younger of Britain's two "fairy-tale princesses" of yesteryear, was 21 years old on Tuesday. Her sister Elizabeth now is 25 and has two children. Margaret is the only member of the royal family who lacks a private income. On turning 21 she will be entitled to draw on the annual allowance of $16,800 voted to her by Parliament last month.

One of the surprises, to Americans at least, of Labor government in Britain has been the almost complete absence of attacks on the monarchy by Labor party left-wingers. True, a Scottish laborite moved in Commons to cut Margaret's allowance in half, but he explained that he was merely registering the will of his constituency.

Latest reports of Margaret are that she looks with particular favor on 24-year-old William Wallace, stepson of Herbert Agar, former editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. Young Wallace is sole heir to a $2,800,000 fortune left him by his father, a former British Minister of Transport. London newspapers report speculation in court circles that Margaret's engagement to Wallace will be announced soon after her 21st birthday.

Until Margaret reaches 25 she cannot be married without the approval of her father, the King. After 25, under an old British law which regulates these matters, she can marry without the royal assent, provided one year's notice has been given and the marriage has not been disapproved by both houses of Parliament.

Eyes On Mississippi

The runoff for governor in Mississippi on Monday is by all odds the most interesting electoral contest of the off-year 1951. The candidates are former Gov. Hugh L. White, an outstanding states-righter, and Paul B. Johnson, a warm supporter of the Truman Fair Deal.

White sees the issue as "States Rights Democracy vs. Trumanism." He led the Mississippi delegation out of the 1948 Democratic convention after the Truman civil rights program had been put in the party platform.

Johnson, son of a former governor, says the leading issue is social welfare and particularly the welfare of the state's older citizens. He advocates state pensions of $50 a month for all persons in Mississippi who have passed their 65th birthdays.

At present Mississippi's average old-age assistance payment is about $18.40 a month and the maximum that may be paid under state law is $30 a month. The national average payment is about $43.20. Mississippi has about 430 out of each 1,000 of its old folks on the assistance rolls, compared with a national average of about 225 per 1,000.

The response of Mississippi voters to Johnson's pensions-for-all program will be weighed with care by national party leaders. In recent Senate debate Democratic Leader McFarland said he believed all citizens should get federal pensions on reaching age 65, whether in need or not.

As long as two years ago Republican Leader Taft asked a Finance Committee study of the feasibility of a universal pension system. He doubted that the national economy could stand it, but thought there might be some merit in substituting flat-rate pensions without contribution for the present old-age insurance system.

Right To A Passport?

Paul Robeson, Negro singer, was an American delegate to a Communist-sponsored "peace congress" in Paris in April, 1949. When he wanted to go to another such conference in August, 1950, his passport was withdrawn. Now he is suing in the U. S. Court of Appeals to compel the State Department to give him a new passport for travel in Europe.

Robeson contends that he is being deprived of a constitutional right because the government disapproves of his political views. The Supreme Court has never passed on the question whether there is any such constitutional right as he claims.

Attorney Genral Knox said 50 years ago that there was "no law which gives a citizen a right to a passport" and that remains the case today. As long ago as 1869 Attorney General Hoar ruled that the State Department had full discretion in granting or withholding passports.

Hoar wrote: "Circumstances are conceivable which would make it most inexpedient for the public interest of this country to grant a passport to a citizen of the United States. For example, if . . . an avowed anarchist . . . were to make such application, the public interests might require that his application be denied."

In 1948 a left-wing member of Congress was refused a passport to attend a Paris conference of supporters of the guerrillas in Greece. The State Department said it was obvious that "the issuance of a passport for the purpose stated is not in the interest of the Government of the United States."

In Session Long Enough

The American people join the Senate and House Democratic leaders in the hope that Congress will be able to adjourn by October 1. It is difficult for anyone to think of a good reason why this goal cannot be attained. It is true that important bills are still to be enacted into law, but it is likewise the fact that Fair Deal proposals which stirred the most bitter controversy in the past — civil rights, Taft-Hartley repeal, etc. — are not on this session's agenda.

As was to have been expected, Vice President Barkley, Majority Leader McFarland of the Senate and Speaker Rayburn and Representative McCormack of the House deny that this has been a do-nothing Congress. Nevertheless, there are certain facts in the situation that cannot be washed away.

As of this moment only one of the 13 regular appropriation bills has been signed by the President. Most government agencies and departments, therefore, are operating on a stop-gap spending basis.

That is not unprecedented and not necessarily bad. If it means, as Senator McFarland says, that Congress is scrutinizing prospective expenditures more carefully than ever before, it can actually redound to the public interest. But if these bills are rushed through in the final hour in a reckless, helter-skelter manner, the country stands a good chance of running into an era of more governmental extravagance.

In any event, Congress has been in session long enough for this year. If it will now get down to business and forget the next election, it ought to be able to complete its work in the next six weeks.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Food Laxatives

Are you in need of a laxative? If so, two of the best are to be found in the kitchen or pantry—canned figs and plums. These items are tasty and inexpensive and can be used as a breakfast fruit or dessert.

Figs and plums are only two of the many foods that produce bulk. Dried prunes and apricots do the same, as well as most fresh fruits and vegetables, cereals, and whole wheat bread. However, the colon is likely to become used to one bulk producer after a few weeks or months and when it no longer responds, switching to another will provide a new stimulous.

On the first day that the individual takes prunes instead of figs, the stool will be bulky; by the second day it will be less so. Gradually, bulkiness disappears and stools become normal. The same thing happens with bulk producing medicines containing methylcellulose; they work well for a while and then seem to lose their efficiency. There are exceptions, however. Some persons have stayed with their old reliable for years and continue to keep regulated. Whether these substances retain their laxative effect or the bowel habit remains established is immaterial so long as the practice is harmless. But if a product like sauerkraut juice is employed it is advisable to take two or three glasses of water with it to help dilute the salt content. An alternative is to drink a glass of normal salt solution, made by adding one-third teaspoonful of ordinary table salt to a glass of water.

Other simple aids include suppositories and oil retention enemas. For the latter, one to three ounces of oil can be inserted into the rectum with a baby syringe before bedtime. This is reatined all night and expelled in the morning.

If knowledge of how the bowel functions were general, there would be less constipation. The stomach empties in from two to seven hours and digestion in the small bowel takes place in from two to four hours. The undigested residue enters the large intestine in a liquid state and during the remainder of the journey thru the intestinal tract, fluid is absorbed. This takes between one and five days. Exceptions are coarse foods such as corn, nuts, and seeds. They pass thru quickly without being digested.

When the material goes thru the body too rapidly the outcome is diarrhea; if too slowly, constipation. With the majority the process is normal tho occasional disturbances are not uncommon. If there is no movement on Tuesday, for example, undoubtedly regularity will be re-established on Wednesday; but if a drug is used to clean out the colon, several days may elapse before the normal cycle returns. If another cathartic is taken, nature is not given a chance. A few weeks of such practices will place the individual on the road to constipation. The best plan is to eat sensibly by incorporating bulk producing foods in the diet. (For additional suggestions on an anti-constipation regimen, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

This was not to keep the German population away from them, but to keep the Russians from deserting. Even so, many of them did desert—and more would desert if given encouragement or any kind of favorable treatment after their arrival in the West.

Obviously Moscow knows that these troops, living near the West and with no tight border control between East and West, constitute one of the potential weaknesses of the Red Army. It also knows that the same thing is true in Austria where Russian troops also live near the West and temptation is strong to drift over and sample Western glamor.

Undoutedly Moscow also remembers what many Americans have forgotten — that it was not the Kaiser's army that defeated the Czar in 1917, but the shrewdness of the German Staff in sending Trotsky and Lenin in a sealed train from Switzerland into Russia. Moscow certainly should remember it, for that was what started the Bolshevik revolution and put Stalin where he is today.

And remember it, Stalin certainly doesn't want it to happen—in reverse—again.

But the dapper young counterintelligence agents and Gen. Bedell Smith's cloak-and-dagger dicks are either too young or too dense to remember it.

Kerensky Unites

MUNICH—Dining in Munich the other night I discussed some of these things with gnarled, spritely Alexander Kerensky, father of the first Russian revolution, who, if not upset by Lenin, Trotsky and the German General Staff, might have saved Russia and the world the scourge of communism.

Kerensky had come to Munich to do a job that has needed doing for years—wrapping all the diverse Russian exile groups into one close-knit body in order to do to Stalin what Lenin and Trotsky once did to Kerensky.

In Munich with Kerensky were three other top Russians from the U.S.A.—Vladamir Zenzinov, Prof. I. Kurganov and Boris Nikolayevsky; also the League of Struggle for National Freedom, the National Labor Alliance, the Russian National Movement, the Union of Soldiers of the Liberation Movement, and the Union for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia.

These groups and leaders are about as diverse and as difficult to get along with as some of the groups within the heterogeneous Union of Soviet Russia; and some, such as the Ukraines, want to solve all "New Russia's" problems even before the New Russia is created.

However, it seemed to me that this meeting of Russian factions in Munich is the most encouraging thing that has happened for a long time. For if and when they get together, they can do two things:

1. Beam propaganda into Russia that comes from Russians, not from Americans who have an ax to grind.
2. Work out a system for screening recent Russian escapees and getting them settled where they can help in the future; instead of going to seed in refugee camps under the amateur cross-examination of CIA and CIC boys.

NOTE — At present there is no more cooperation between Counter-intelligence and Russians of the Kerensky type than there is between McCloy and Counterintelligence.

PREDICTION — If the United States arranged with Brazil, Paraguay, Kenya, South Africa and other unpopulated countries to set up a system for handling Russian refugees, and if word of this were broadcast to the Red Army in East Germany and Austria, I predict that it would be impossible for the Kremlin to keep an army in these two vital countries. Such a refugee resettlement plan could be a point four program which might save the peace of the world.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Someone might well offer a prize for a new name for the U. S. Navy.

Maybe the name should be the "U. S. Air Navy." For the latest announcement from the Navy Department reveals that hereafter even submarines will engage in aerial warfare.

Unfortunately, the Navy has been laboring under a handicap in post-war years. Members of Congress and some commentators still think of the Navy as primarily a ferry service or a patrol to guard the transportation of troops across the seas or just as a means of hunting down enemy submarines.

Actually the Navy today is set up to conduct offensive as well as defensive warfare by the use of the latest type of bombers and fighter planes. The Navy has just revealed, for example, that three more aircraft carriers will be modernized so as to handle bombing planes capable of delivering the atomic bomb.

For several months now it has been the policy of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to allow every one of the three armed services to use atomic energy for its weapons—each service adapting these to its own special purposes.

Hinges On Aerial Combat

The aircraft carrier, however, with its floating base is not the only ship that will engage in aerial warfare. Guided missiles will be fired from the decks of cruisers and battleships. The time is near when even a submarine will run close to an enemy shore and, coming to the surface, will discharge guided missiles which will do damage several hundred miles inland.

The so-called "carrier task force" is built around aerial warfare. The aircraft carrier of today gets a ring of protection from battleships, cruisers and destroyers, and all are equipped with rapid-fire antiaircraft guns. The whole concept of a modern navy turns primarily on aerial combat.

Before the Korean War broke out, the Navy had a hard time convincing its critics in other services that lots of aircraft carriers should remain in commission and not be put in "mothballs." In fact, money for modernizing aircraft carriers was withheld because of the belief that there wouldn't be much use for the navy's air arm as long as intercontinental strategic bombers could do the same job.

During the first weeks of the Korean war, fortunately, the aircraft carriers of the Navy transported some of the U. S. Air Force's fighter planes across the Pacific. This is because a fighter plane, as distinguished from a long-range bomber, cannot fly across long stretches of water.

Thus, not only was the aircraft carrier's use as a ferry in an emergency confirmed but an awakening took place at the same time as to the true power of naval aviation as an offensive force. The navy's fighters and bombers ranged up and down both coasts of Korea and its planes regularly gave close air support to ground troops, especially when fields in Korea were not available.

Has Become Air Navy

More and more, therefore, the U. S. Navy has become an air navy. There are very few officers today who think of the battleship and the cruiser as the backbone of the fleet any more. As the late Admiral Sherman used to say, the modern aircraft carrier is the new "ship of the line."

Incidentally, the Navy is happy about the evolution of its new large-sized carrier known as the "James V. Forrestal." A sister ship is likely to be planned soon. Louis Johnson, who was secretary of defense in 1950, revealed recently at Senate Armed Services hearings that he had promised Admiral Sherman there would be two new large-sized carriers. While this hasn't been brought before the Joint Chiefs as yet, it probably will be in due course. It is believed the new carrier will be named the "Forrest P. Sherman." Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee approves of the idea.

But, speaking of names, Congress has specifically recognized "naval aviation" in its statutes. Yet the "naval air arm" is no longer an adjunct by itself. With guided missiles and atomic bombs fired from all manner of naval vessels, the name "U. S. Air Navy" would now, as a term of identification, embrace the entire naval establishment.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSK

Frotecting The Middle Class

It is of importance that the income tax law which recognizes obsolescence in machinery and plant be revised to recognize obsolescence in human beings. In other words, those groups in our population who earn their livings as professional men and women, such as doctors, lawyers, architects, writers, etc., and who are their own employers and cannot benefit by pension funds, need the right to set aside a share of their earnings, untaxed, for the day when the eye grows dim and the hand shaky.

But here comes Irving Ives of New York with a proposal that is very bad. He is for setting aside untaxed savings, but he wants the last independent individuals in the country to be forced by advantage into the controlled proletariat which is so characteristic of our totalitarian-minded age.

Senator Ive's amendment to the 1951 Internal Revenue Act would require such self-employed professional men to pay a portion of their earnings, not exceeding 10 per cent of their yearly net income and not more than $7,500, into a restricted retirement fund, organized by a professional group to which they belong. In a word, to protect his old age, a writer or composer or doctor would have to join a union of his profession.

Why should this be necessary? Suppose he does not wish to join such a union or to be bound by its policities, why should he feel that he would have to? Furthermore, the Ives Amendment makes this a postponably taxable amount, which means that if he gets it at the age of 60, it can then be taxed when he may need it most.

What is required is not a postponed tax but an obsolescence arrangement, a reserve fund, similar to that allowed corporations for plant and equipment. For instance, if a man spends 10 years preparing for a professional service, a system should be devised to amortize that preparation. Doctors can amortize equipment, but what can a writer, who spends five years on a book, amortize? His knowledge, experience, wisdom?

This strikes me as one of those political acts which please the officers of various professional associations and gives to the politician whatever kudos that is worth. As many of these associations are situated in New York City, it is natural that some of them should have reached Senator Ives with this impractical and wrong proposal.

This is not merely a questi of money. The middle class, t self-employed people are bei squeezed to the wall by taxes a high prices. Most of them are situated that it is difficult, if impossible, for them to raise the fees. Doctors, for instance, a the last to be paid and often gi as many hours to free service hospitals and clinics as they do their paying patients. They a having, as a group, a difficult tim We hear a good deal about t high cost of specialists, but ve little of the general practition who still has to accept what thinks the traffic will bear, whic is often little enough.

The same is true of other pr fessional and self-employed person The income tax law may produ the social revolution of forcing all to work for corporations whic have pension funds as the only wa to save for old age or to provi for our families after we die. Senator Ives's alternative is to join professional union and to save paying into a postponed taxab fund.

In the Communist manifesto. Karl Marx offers the income tax as one of the most effective means for destroying the capitalist system. How right he was in 1848 is so clear today when we witness how this tax is destroying the capacity to save and thereby to develop new reservoirs of capital. The income tax is not only being used to raise revenue, but to redistribute wealth and to eliminate the self-employed elements in the population. It can produce a corporate state such as Mussolini fixed upon Italy and from which that country has not yet recovered.

It is the elimination of the middl class, with its capacity to develo intellectual leadership, that pav the way everywhere for such move ments as communism, fascism nazism, and so on. The resistanc to these movements is stronge among self-employed, home-ownin thrifty, investing people. This ha proved so true universally that an contradiction is outside experienc and must be attributed to som self-serving motive.

Spiral Advancing

By MARK SULLIVAN

A preponderance of the evidence, and a preponderance of the major forces at work, suggests that an advance in the wage-price spiral may be getting under way. The advance is made likely by official administration actions. The principal recent action is an order by the Wage Stabilization Board, made effective last week, raising the ceiling over wages which it had decreed seven months before. The order itself made an advance of the wage-price spiral extremely likely. The way it came about raises a disquieting question as to whether the Administration earnestly intends to arrest the wage-price spiral and inflation.

The part the Administration has in the wage-price spiral is illustrated by the way last week's new wage policy came about. Some months ago, the Administration, creating agencies to check inflation, set up among others a Wage Stabilization Board composed of 12 members, four each to represent labor, industry and the public. This board last January decreed a general ceiling over wages. The ceiling, with some qualifications, was 10 per cent above the level of the year before, January 15, 1950.

This ceiling was vigorously protested by organized labor. The four labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board withdrew. As a broader protest, a "Labor Policy Committee," composed of high officers of the large national labor organizations, formally protested the Administration's mobilization policy and set-up as a whole, declaring that labor was not sufficiently represented on the agencies composing the set-up.

Stated By Johnston

President Truman yeilded, Among other appeasements he appointed a new and larger Wage Stabilization Board. This board has now issued an order declaring a new policy and practice about wage ceilings. The new order permits wage raises under varying conditions, the total effect of which is estimated to be a raise of two to four per cent above the former 10 per cent standard ceiling which labor had protested. The new wage ceiling is a result of pressure by organized labor on the Administration and yielding by the Administration.

The effect of a general wage raise, the part it has in the wage price spiral, is stated by Economi Stabilization Administrator Eri Johnston, in a statement he mad in connection with the new wag policy: "We all know that wage increases are reflected in price increases and that price increase lead to wage increases." That is a clear and exact statement of a fundamental economic truth. Grasp of that truth is a step toward understanding the whole subject o the wage-price spiral and inflation.

An overall feature of the new wage policy sanctions are in general "escalator clauses" in wag contracts between employers and unions. The escalator clause ties wages to cost of living, under it wages go up automatically in proportion as cost of living goes up. Theoretically, wages also go down with cost of living, but who that has ever ridden in a literal escalator has seen it go downward? True, an escalator clause in a contract between General Motors and a union of its workers once resulted in a slight reduction of wages. But the overwhelming probability is that the effect of escalator clauses in contracts is likely to be made as a result of the new wage policy will be upward—upward in wages and upward in cost of living.

Automatic Mechanism

In short, the escalator clause is an automatic mechanism of inflation. As "The New York Herald Tribune" put it, "the government is deliberately building into the industrial economy and inflationary force which cannot be controlled."

The escalator clause is added to a built-in automatic mechanism of inflation that already existed. In the mechanism the active forces, working mutually and reciprocally, are wages and government price support of farm crops. As wages rise and prices of manufactured goods follow upward, the Department of Agriculture fixes higher prices at which it supports prices of farm crops.

Price support of farm crops is embodied in law and operated by the Administration. The escalator clause is wage contracts is authorized by an Administration agency. Both work as an advantage to large groups and are thereby supposed to appeal to large numbers of voters. Neither is likely to be terminated voluntarily by an Administration in office on the eve of an election year; the most that could be expected, and this not very confidently, would be some modification. Any effective check of the automatic mechanism of inflation, which the two compose depends upon the immense class to whom inflation works hardship, the consumers.

Progressive Party Leaders Split Over Outlook For Labor Support

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—A split over prospects for labor support of the Progressive Party in 1952 elections appeared today in the party's top ranks.

Vito Marcantonio, former New York congressman and a member of the Progressives' national committee, predicted at a news conference there would be a swing to the party in 1952, led by labor and negroes.

However, Elmer A. Benson, national chairman of the party indicated labor leaders are giving a cold shoulder to the party.

In a brief talk during a party-sponsored rally, Benson said, "I'm not as optimistic for the immediate present as other members of the national committee.

"I have absolutely no confidence in the present leadership of farm organizations and labor organizations," he asserted.

Benson added, however, "my thinking hasn't changed," and said he was certain for success "in the long pull."

Asked at the news conference to elaborate on his statement, Benson said:

"I can walk into the two biggest banks in Minnesota and get a better reception from the presidents or vice presidents than from labor leaders."

Marcantonio interrupted Benson and said it was only the "phoney labor leaders" who did not favor the Progressive Party program.

Benson did not comment further.

Benson is the former Farmer-Labor Party governor of Minnesota. He is now a farmer at Appleton, Minn.

"The rank and file of labor are going to be with us in '52," Marcantonio declared.

He predicted a "disintegration" of the Democratic Party would begin in 1952 and that out of this breakup "a stronger Progressive Party will arise."

A "statement of policy" on next year's elections said "despite the 'misleaders' of labor and farmers, the American people are finding their own ways for expressing their profound dissatisfaction with and opposition to the war program and its effects. x x x

"But the sentiment for peace, for civil liberties, for equal rights for the negro people and for a welfare economy can be effective only if given political expression."

The party's national committee, which held a two-day meeting here, said in the statement, "we shall at once strengthen our party organizations and take all necessary steps to prepare to run Progressive Party candidates for president and vice president.

"At the same time, we shall continue to work for and do everything in our power to bring about the organzation of an independent ticket, supported by a coalition of all groups and individuals who stand for a genuine policy of peace."

This four-point "minimum program" as a basis for such a coalition ticket was suggested:

1. An end to the war in Korea; United States initiative for good faith negotiations among the five great powers for the peaceful settlement of outstanding differences.

2. A return to a peacetime economy; a deep cut in armaments spending; genuine price and profit controls; an end to the wage freeze and an adequate welfare budget.

3. An end to discrimination against the negro people, with full legislative guarantees of civil rights

4. An end to "McCarthyism, McCarranism, McGrathism and Taft-Hartleyism;" repeal of the Smith Act and return to the Bill of Rights.

Two Damage Suits Filed For $6000

Two damage suits in which $6,000 is asked were filed in Circuit Court yesterday.

William D. Lambert filed suit for $3,000 damages from John W. Lang for the loss of his care and services of his wife, who was injured as a result of a highway crash May 20 on McMullen Highway at a point known as Burke's Hill.

Lang is charged with operating his machine negligently and crashing into Lambert's car.

Mrs. June O. Lambert, his wife, docketed suit for $3,000 for injuries suffered in the collision. Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., is attorney for the Lamberts.

The "Honor Code"

There used to be a gambler around the Tenderloin in New York named Honest John Kelly who looked profound and wore an iron hat, but would skin you on any bet if he could since that was his business. He resembled somewhat a prosperous mortician. A few of the boys at Jack Doyle's billiard parlor got to arguing one day about how he acquired his sobriquet. Said one authority,

John Wheeler

"He had a friend with a glass eye who got tight one night and lost it. Kelly found it in the saloon sawdust, washed it up, put it in his pocket, and returned the property to the man next day, because the gambler, with two good eyes, had no use for it. Ever since, he has been known as 'Honest John'."

"No, you're all wrong," volunteered another. "When a young man, he went into a room with a red hot stove in it one winter's day. He didn't steal the stove. That's how he got it."

Around New York, we have had a good deal of discussion of the honor code lately, since the West Point cadets gave it a lot of publicity, and by and large most of the debaters have a better reputation than the character described above. However, the question of expense accounts was one item on the agenda, and some of the moralists blushed when these were mentioned.

We had an auditor on the old New York Herald who would examine any bills rendered with a microscope and then ask you for vouchers. I guess he had never heard of the honor code or, at least, was not interested in it. As a result of his attitude, it became a game between him and the reporters to see what they could pull over. My eyes were opened the first time I was sent to Philadelphia on an assignment with an old hand who spent more time on his expense account than he did on the story.

Hype Igoe, now dead, went to Milwaukee to cover a fight for the New York World and decided about 2 o'clock one morning it was a good idea to buy a Shetland pony to expedite his progress to the camps which were located on the outskirts of town. He paid the man, who said he owned him, $50, including the halter and proudly led his new possession around to several saloons, showing him off. At last, he had to go to bed and brought the animal back to his hotel where he gave an accommodating horse holder $5 to take care of him while he went to the desk to consult the clerk. He explained his predicament and asked,

"If I give you $10 can I take a pony up to my room?"

"For $10 you can escort an elephant up," answered the man behind the desk.

Mr. Igoe went outside to find both his pet and the holder had disappeared without a trace. On his return to New York, he put the pony and contingent expenditures on his account, saying he needed the animal for transportation.

"Yeah," answered the editor in a not unfriendly tons, "and where is he? We could possibly use him hauling a delivery cart."

Hype shortly thereafter transferred his services to the Evening Journal, hoping for a more liberal attitude. A well-known correspondent started off for the last war with an advance of $25,000. When the magazine editor asked him for an accounting, he got a cabled reply as follows,

"Out of funds. Please send another $25,000."

Mr. and Mrs. Fayman are entertaining with a wedding reception for their daughter and her bridegroom at their home, August 31.

For the present the bride is residing at the home of her parents.

Sub-District Picnic Rally Is Tomorrow

The August rally of the Sub-District Methodist Youth Fellowship is to be held Thursday in Constitution Park, Grove 2.

This rally is to be in the form of a picnic with each member bringing their own lunch. A soft drink will be furnished by the sub-district.

Schedule for the day begins with swimming and games from 2 until 5:30 o'clock. There will be an assembly from 5:30 until 6; and one and one half hours will be allowed for supper.

Group singing and a worship period will be held at 7:30.

Members having horse shoes, ball and bats are asked to bring them.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Miss Patricia O'Donnell and Miss Patricia Carney entertained with a surprise miscellaneous shower in compliment to Miss Eileen Carey, recently at the home of Miss O'Donnell, Stewart Avenue.

Miss Carey is the fiancee of Cpl. Thomas Carroll. Their wedding is to be performed September 8 in St. Mary's Catholic Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Carey, 14 Race Street. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon K. Carroll, 703 Montgomery Avenue.

A yellow and white color scheme was carried out in the flowers and shower umbrella. Canasta was played and prizes won by Mrs. Carey and Miss Theresa Malachowski.

Cousins Are Baptized

Two young cousins were baptized in Park Place Methodist Church, August 20, with Rev. L. W. Burton officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Kinser, Baltimore had their infant son baptized David William. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Riley, Green Point, named their son, Craig Armond.

Also attending the ceremony were Mrs. John Riley, the grandmother of little Craig; and the great grandmother of David William; and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dorsey, grandparents of David William.

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

In her 10 years as society editor on local papers, author of a nationally syndicated column, free lance magazine writer, and recently assisting in the running of Ted Mack's "Original Amateur Hour," Hope Miller still hasn't lost the enthusiasm of a school teacher from Texas, which she used to be. . . . Like the inside of her own pocketbook, she knows Washington and all its famous folk. . . . She's a piquant blonde with a heart as big as her home state. —AUSTINE

By HOPE RIDINGS MILLER

Cached away in one of my miscellaneous files is a parcel of notes about Washington notables who collect something besides photographs, newspaper clippings, experience, and fame. No better time than now to take it out, bring it up to date, and work it into a guest column.

Some Capitalists are born collectors, some seduously acquire collections, and some have collections thrust upon them. Vice President Barkley belongs in the first class. "I just naturally like to accumulate antiques," he said.

HOPE MILLER

His old Kentucky home is a veritable storehouse of early American furniture. His Washington apartment contains an extra-ordinary assortment of Meissen china. He owns a choice selection of canes, sent to him from all over the world. And gavels? Of course. Both he and Speaker Rayburn treasure a number of gavels, used to keep their houses in order on outstanding occasions.

Speaker Rayburn's favorite collection, however, is a smaller one—photographs of Robert E. Lee. They are hard to find.

Elephants—big and little; glass, wooden, china and bronze—are scattered all over the office of House Minority Leader Joseph Martin. About 30 in all . . . and all gifts from Republican friends. But the most spectacular elephant herd in Washington belongs to Mrs. William E. Borah, who lost count of the number when it reached 1,500.

She recalls that 30 years ago she had only one elephant—a teakwood specimen that stood on her mantel. Returning from an Idaho vacation one summer, she found a smaller one by its side. Shortly afterward, Mrs. Borah had a visitor—one of the parolees from St. Elizabeth's who frequently called on her. He asked if anything unusual happened during her absence.

"Yes," she said, "my elephant had a baby." The parolee looked at the newcomer; then at pint-sized Mrs. Borah, and dryly observed, "Hm . . . looks like his mother!"

Incidentally, "Little Borah" doesn't hold with the superstition that elephants with lowered trunks are unlucky. Years ago, in the Orient, a Chinese sage set her right on that. "A trunk down means the elephant is placid and companionable," he said. "A trunk aloft denotes anger and disturbance —a bad omen." But Mrs. Borah believes all elephants are lucky, and her collection includes every conceivable type. From Egypt came her latest and smallest acquisition. It is ivory, inclosed in a seed the size of a thumbnail; and its carvings can be traced only with aid of a magnifying glass.

Senator Edward Martin, of Pennsylvania, goes in for Currier and Ives prints; while Mrs. Martin acquires pitchers. She has thousands of them; more than you will find in any museum.

A choice selection of china—Dresden, Meissen, Sevres, and Chelsea—attests the exquisite taste of Mrs. John McClellan, wife of the Arkansas senator. Mrs. Eugene Cox is another inveterate china collector; and her husband, the Georgia representative, haunts antique shops and auction sales for unusual silver. Mrs. John Joseph Hearne, wife of the Irish ambassador, dotes on assembling silver, too. But only 18th Century Irish silver.

Senator Theodore Francis Green collects Chinese paintings; J. Edgar Hoover, bronze antiques; Senator John J. Sparkman, stamps; Cyrus Ching, pipes; and Justice William O. Douglas, mountain flora. Mrs. Floyd Ferris, naval captain's wife, owns 130 authentic foreign dolls. Mrs. Harold M. Stephens' library of Bible lore is a scholarly achievement. It includes a vast number of Bible histories, commentaries, and archaeological treatises.

Good manners are easy if you stick to those that are basic and skip those that are passing fancies!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Thumbing through an old etiquette book, a guide to manners published in 1848, I came across this little gem: "A gentleman always keeps his gloves on in a theatre." Judged by this standard, do you think you'd be able to find a single gentleman in a movie theater today?

But in the same book, I found this bit that time has not withered: "When addressing anyone, always look directly at him."

What's Polite

Why is it that one custom becomes outmoded while another prevails throughout the years? If more young people were taught the answer, there would be fewer irritated parents and fewer socially-awkward children.

True courtesy never changes because it is based on the eternal principle of consideration for others. But the fashions and foibles and manners are altered or disappear entirely with the passing of an era because they are superficial and become ridiculous and incongruous in changed settings.

The teen who keeps these facts in mind will avoid the pitfalls of both over-formality and over-casualness in everyday social situations such as introductions, punctuality, table manners or graciousness toward older people. It is not modern or good manners to be either stiff or careless in these matters. Those you know who follow either line are uninformed or unpoised.

For the easy approach that is admired alike by the gang and the grown-ups, see how you rate in the short quiz that follows:

The Courteous Thing

1. Do you introduce the younger to the older, the woman to the man? 2. How late can you be for an appointment—family dinner, a date, a meeting? 3. Should you begin eating before everyone is served? 4. When should you stand in the presence of older people?

If you are even slightly uncertain about any of the answers to the above, it's your cue to fill in the chinks in your social armor before the fall whirl begins. Go to your local library and check the answers in the etiquette book which you are sure to find there, if you haven't one at home. The chances are that you'll become so interested in the smooth way of dealing with people that you'll go right through the whole book. Then, watch your popularity-rating soar!

Reds Build Up Major Incident In Ambush-Death

Reasons Speculated By U. N. Observers

TOKYO, Wednesday, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Communist propaganda machine is working full blast to pump the death of a Chinese platoon leader near Kaesong last Sunday into a major incident.

It remains to be seen whether the Reds want to denounce the Kaesong armistice talks, blame the Americans and resume the war—or whether they are only trying to exert pressure on the U. N. command to yield on some of the deadlocked truce issues.

There is also a third possibility, The Reds may be making all the noise to cover some slip-up—or more sinister act—that caused the death of the young officer, 22-year-old Yao Ching-Hsiang.

But whatever the reason, Asia's air waves were filled for more than ten hours with passionate Communist cries against "American murderers" and vows that the dead man will be avenged.

Typical was this statement attributed to the deputy commander of Yao's company, Chia Wen Feng:

"If American imperialism continues with its arbitrary actions to break up the peace talks it will bear the responsibility."

A Communist delegate to the cease-fire meetings, Maj. Gen. Teng Hua, said:

"If we cannot win peace through negotiations, then we must win it by continued struggle against aggression."

Simultaneously, some Reds opened another full-scale propaganda offensive blasting at Japan. Radio Peiping told Japan that a separate Japanese peace treaty "without China and Soviet Union means a declaration of war against these two countries."

Russia will attend the San Francisco conference but is not expected to sign the treaty. Neither Communist China nor the Nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-Shek on Formosa was invited to the San Francisco meeting.

House Votes Recess For Three Weeks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The House arranged today to take a three-week recess starting Thursday but the Senate—farther behind in its work—is not due for a breather until fall.

The representatives shouted approval of a resolution to quit Thursday and not come back until Sept. 12. Shortly afterward the Senate okayed the House vacation unanimously. Senate approval was necessary.

The Senate spent a good part of today debating how to finish up "must" jobs in time to quit for the year Oct. 1.

Charges Against Printer Probed

BALTIMORE, Aug. 21 (AP)—State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro declared today the Baltimore Grand Jury could find no ground on which to bring criminal charges against William C. Fedder, a Baltimore printer.

The prosecutor's statement was in answer to charges made in Washington yesterday by Senator McCarthy (R-Wisc).

McCarthy accused Fedder of swindling Senator Butler (R-Md) and his campaign organization in last fall's bitter Maryland Senatorial election in which Butler defeated Millard E. Tydings, veteran Democrat. McCarthy also accused Fedder of perjury.

"It is passing strange," McCarthy said, that the Baltimore prosecutor did not investigate Fedder. He said he wondered why Sodaro never found time to look into the matter.

Sodaro pointed out today that the Baltimore Grand Jury studied a transcript of the testimony taken by a Senatorial committee that investigated the Senatorial campaign.

"It was not a matter of time," Sodaro said. "The grand jury read the testimony and brought no charges against anyone but Jon M. Jonkel, the Butler campaign manager.

munists also charged that Allied warplanes Monday bombed and destroyed a liaison jeep bearing white flags.

A fifth session of the Communist and U. N. subcommittees failed Tuesday to make any headway on the stalled armistice talks.

The two-man subcommittees met around a tea table and pored over maps for two hours and four minutes Tuesday. There was no hint of progress on drawing a buffer zone across war-torn Korea.

Their talks were wrapped in strictest secrecy.

Contract Is Let For First Atom-Powered Submarine

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Navy announced today that a contract for the first atom-powered submarine—sometimes hailed as the answer to Russia's dread "Snorkel" subs—has been awarded to the Electric Boat Company at Groton, Conn.

The Navy's terse announcement gave no details.

A naval informant said, however, that research has obviously reached such a stage that actual construction of an atomic submarine is considered practical.

Experts said that theoretically such an underseas craft would be capable of cruising vast distances at speeds unknown to present-day submarines.

An inkling that an atomic engine may be nearly ready to go into the hull of a specially built submarine came recently from Sumner T. Pike, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Pike said in a speech at the University of Rochester last February that "the design of two practical (atomic) devices for submarine propulsion is practically completed, and one of them is partly built."

Reports circulated on Capitol Hill as long ago as July, 1950, that the Electric Boat Co. was already building the hull for an atomic submarine at Groton.

At that time, Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) of the joint Senate-House Atomic Committee, told newsmen that a group of AEC commissioners and high naval officers planned to inspect the hull for an atomic-powered submarine being built by the Electric Boat Co.

The company denied last Jan. 19, however, that it was building such a hull "at present."

In talking with newsmen, McMahon also commented that the "atomic submarine project" was significant because of its "immense military implications."

Whle work on the submarine is being pressed, the Air Force and Atomic Energy Commission are also laboring on another project of far-reaching implications—an attempt to achieve an atom-powered airplane.

10 Killed When Train Jumps Track

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 21 (AP)—A passenger train bound from Belgrade to the Hungarian border jumped the tracks tonight, killing 10 persons and injuring 30.

The Belgrade newspaper Borba said the accident was attributed to the train's high speed. The engine and five cars left the tracks, it said.

Oil Compact Again Renewed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The House completed Congressional action today on a resolution consenting to a four-year renewal and extension of the interstate oil compact, in effect since 1935.

Eighteen states now have subscribed to the compact, aimed at conserving oil and natural gas by preventing waste.

The compact has been renewed and extended five times previously with the consent of Congress. The new extension carries it to Sept. 1, 1955.

Members of the compact are Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia.

The House rejected, 58 to 6, a proposed amendment which would have instructed the Attorney General to make a continuing study of actions taken under the compact, reporting to congress at least once a year.

That would bring him out just above the levy under the House plan.

The House process consists of adding 12½ per cent to whatever the taxpayer now pays.

The increase in the $818 tax of the man in the example figures out at $102.25.

Ousted Cadets May Go To ND

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 21 (AP)—Any or all of the 90 recently expelled West Point Cadets can attend Notre Dame University with expenses paid, if they avoid all varsity athletics.

This offer, disclosed today by Notre Dame, was made by an anonymous person. He was quoted as saying he made it because:

"I feel with millions that in the American tradition a man who makes a mistake should have a reasonable chance to rehabilitate himself."

Notre Dame called the offer "in keeping with good christianity."

Among the 90 cadets dismissed from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point were almost all members of the Army football team. Army and Notre Dame, longtime gridiron rivals, haven't met since 1947.

The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame, announced the offer. in Addition to barring those who accept it from engaging in any varsity athletics at Notre Dame, it requires that they need the financial help.

Flame Thrower Burns Civilian Army Worker

ABERDEEN, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—A civilian employe from Baltimore was severely burned at the Army's Aberdeen proving ground today when a flame thrower went awry and its fire engulfed him.

Carl L. Onesti was testing the flame thrower when something went wrong.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Defense Department today announced eight additional casualties of the Korean War. The list (No. 381) included one killed, six wounded and one missing.

Bay Bridge Contracts Awarded By SRC

BALTIMORE, Aug. 21 (AP)—The State Roads Commission today awarded the final contracts for the Eastern approaches to Maryland's big Chesapeake Bay bridge.

Included was $275,596 project for repairing storm damage last winter to the causeway leading out from the Eastern Shore and for installing steel piling designed to keep it from happening again.

When the storm damage first became apparent, some critics of the bridge design estimated it would cost almost a million dollars to repair.

An officer of the J. E. Greiner Company, the engineering firm which is supervising the construction, said after hearing today's awards that the actual repairs would cost about $12,000 and rest of the money was for the protective measures.

The repair job went to Baltimore Contractors, Inc.

Jap Prime Minister Approves Peace Pact

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida has sent his thanks to the American people for the spirit and terms of the Japanese peace treaty soon to be signed at San Francisco.

In a letter to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander in Tokyo, Yoshida expressed on behalf of the Japanese government a "profound sense of gratification and gratitude" on learning of the terms proposed for bringing peace to the Pacific.

The exchange of letters between Ridgway and Yoshida was made public by the State Department. At the same time the department announced that 42 countries have indicated thus far they will send delegates to the treaty conference opening in two weeks, thirty-three out of the 51 invited have sent formal acceptances and nine others have indicated that they will attend.

$100.00 REWARD!
The State Roads Commission of Maryland will pay the sum of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) reward to anyone furnishing information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons who removes, damages or defaces any road signs, signals or markers erected in Allegany County, Maryland. Information should be furnished to the Sheriff, the Maryland State Police or the State's Attorney's Office.

Reds Build Up Major Incident In Ambush-Death

Reasons Speculated By U. N. Observers

TOKYO, Wednesday, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Communist propaganda machine is working full blast to pump the death of a Chinese platoon leader near Kaesong last Sunday into a major incident.

It remains to be seen whether the Reds want to denounce the Kaesong armistice talks, blame the Americans and resume the war—or whether they are only trying to exert pressure on the U. N. command to yield on some of the deadlocked truce issues.

There is also a third possibility, The Reds may be making all the noise to cover some slip-up—or more sinister act—that caused the death of the young officer, 22-year-old Yao Ching-Hsiang.

But whatever the reason, Asia's air waves were filled for more than ten hours with passionate Communist cries against "American murderers" and vows that the dead man will be avenged.

Typical was this statement attributed to the deputy commander of Yao's company, Chia Wen Feng:

"If American imperialism continues with its arbitrary actions to break up the peace talks it will bear the responsibility."

A Communist delegate to the cease-fire meetings, Maj. Gen. Teng Hua, said:

"If we cannot win peace through negotiations, then we must win it by continued struggle against aggression."

Simultaneously, some Reds opened another full-scale propaganda offensive blasting at Japan. Radio Peiping told Japan that a separate Japanese peace treaty "without China and Soviet Union means a declaration of war against these two countries."

Russia will attend the San Francisco conference but is not expected to sign the treaty. Neither Communist China nor the Nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-Shek on Formosa was invited to the San Francisco meeting.

House Votes Recess For Three Weeks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The House arranged today to take a three-week recess starting Thursday but the Senate—farther behind in its work—is not due for a breather until fall.

The representatives shouted approval of a resolution to quit Thursday and not come back until Sept. 12. Shortly afterward the Senate okayed the House vacation unanimously. Senate approval was necessary.

The Senate spent a good part of today debating how to finish up "must" jobs in time to quit for the year Oct. 1.

Charges Against Printer Probed

BALTIMORE, Aug. 21 (AP)—State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro declared today the Baltimore Grand Jury could find no ground on which to bring criminal charges against William C. Fedder, a Baltimore printer.

The prosecutor's statement was in answer to charges made in Washington yesterday by Senator McCarthy (R-Wisc).

McCarthy accused Fedder of swindling Senator Butler (R-Md) and his campaign organization in last fall's bitter Maryland Senatorial election in which Butler defeated Millard E. Tydings, veteran Democrat. McCarthy also accused Fedder of perjury.

"It is passing strange," McCarthy said, that the Baltimore prosecutor did not investigate Fedder. He said he wondered why Sodaro never found time to look into the matter.

Sodaro pointed out today that the Baltimore Grand Jury studied a transcript of the testimony taken by a Senatorial committee that investigated the Senatorial campaign.

"It was not a matter of time," Sodaro said. "The grand jury read the testimony and brought no charges against anyone but Jon M. Jonkel, the Butler campaign manager.

munists also charged that Allied warplanes Monday bombed and destroyed a liaison jeep bearing white flags.

A fifth session of the Communist and U. N. subcommittees failed Tuesday to make any headway on the stalled armistice talks.

The two-man subcommittees met around a tea table and pored over maps for two hours and four minutes Tuesday. There was no hint of progress on drawing a buffer zone across war-torn Korea.

Their talks were wrapped in strictest secrecy.

Contract Is Let For First Atom-Powered Submarine

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Navy announced today that a contract for the first atom-powered submarine—sometimes hailed as the answer to Russia's dread "Snorkel" subs—has been awarded to the Electric Boat Company at Groton, Conn.

The Navy's terse announcement gave no details.

A naval informant said, however, that research has obviously reached such a stage that actual construction of an atomic submarine is considered practical.

Experts said that theoretically such an underseas craft would be capable of cruising vast distances at speeds unknown to present-day submarines.

An inkling that an atomic engine may be nearly ready to go into the hull of a specially built submarine came recently from Sumner T. Pike, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Pike said in a speech at the University of Rochester last February that "the design of two practical (atomic) devices for submarine propulsion is practically completed, and one of them is partly built."

Reports circulated on Capitol Hill as long ago as July, 1950, that the Electric Boat Co. was already building the hull for an atomic submarine at Groton.

At that time, Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) of the joint Senate-House Atomic Committee, told newsmen that a group of AEC commissioners and high naval officers planned to inspect the hull for an atomic-powered submarine being built by the Electric Boat Co.

The company denied last Jan. 19, however, that it was building such a hull "at present."

In talking with newsmen, McMahon also commented that the "atomic submarine project" was significant because of its "immense military implications."

Whle work on the submarine is being pressed, the Air Force and Atomic Energy Commission are also laboring on another project of far-reaching implications—an attempt to achieve an atom-powered airplane.

10 Killed When Train Jumps Track

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 21 (AP)—A passenger train bound from Belgrade to the Hungarian border jumped the tracks tonight, killing 10 persons and injuring 30.

The Belgrade newspaper Borba said the accident was attributed to the train's high speed. The engine and five cars left the tracks, it said.

Oil Compact Again Renewed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The House completed Congressional action today on a resolution consenting to a four-year renewal and extension of the interstate oil compact, in effect since 1935.

Eighteen states now have subscribed to the compact, aimed at conserving oil and natural gas by preventing waste.

The compact has been renewed and extended five times previously with the consent of Congress. The new extension carries it to Sept. 1, 1955.

Members of the compact are Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia.

The House rejected, 58 to 6, a proposed amendment which would have instructed the Attorney General to make a continuing study of actions taken under the compact, reporting to congress at least once a year.

Guard Company Sets Plans For Fall Recruiting Drive

A chicken dinner Friday at 6:30 p.m. at the State Armory will start members of Company C, local National Guard unit on an intensified fall recruiting campaign, according to First Lt. John R. Jackle, commanding officer.

Lt. Jackle stated that 100 additional members are needed to bring the present 48-man First Battalion outfit up to authorized federal strength.

Vacancies exist for qualified personnel from master sergeant down to corporal. Privates, he added, have ample room for rapid advancement.

The toastmaster for the dinner will be Thomas B. Finan, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, who was once a private in Company G. He rose to the rank of major during World War II.

Other invited guests, Lt. Jackle reported, are Associate Judge George Henderson; Col. Randolph Millholland, commanding officer of the 115th Regiment of which the company is a part; Lt. Col. Arthur Calhoun, of Silver Spring, commanding officer of the First Battalion, and Major Robert Matlick, executive officer of the battalion, all of whom spent years in National Guard activities here.

Also invited is the company's former commanding officer, Capt. William Vogle, a patient in an Army hospital at Phoenixville, Pa.

Lt. Jackle stated that the rifle company has adequate supplies of the latest equipment. As the unit's strength increases, up to 12 jeeps can be requisitioned for the motor pool, which now consists of two vehicles.

Those qualifying for the National Guard are released from regulations of the Selective Service, Lt. Jackle pointed out.

Present members of the company will receive cash bonuses for the recruits they bring in, the company commander concluded.

Sgt. G. E. Nixon Is Commended

Sgt. Glendon E. Nixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Nixon, 304 Crawford Street, has been awarded the Army commendation ribbon with metal pendant for meritorious service in Korea.

An Air Force veteran of World War II, he reentered the service from Washington.

The award was presented for duty with Company F, Ninth Regiment, Second Infantry Division from August 8 to November 2, 1950.

Teamsters Union Get Drivers Wage Hike

Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL, has negotiated a new contract with the Central Trucking Division of the Celanese Corporation of America providing for an increase in the rate of pay of 45 drivers affected.

C. E. Stutzman, union business agent, said the rate for drivers has been raised from 4.25 cents per mile to 4.40 cents per mile. This was the limit under the Wage Stabilization Board's wage formula, he pointed out.

A rate of 6.25 cents per mile has been set up for a new category. This includes drivers who operate trucks on relay runs. Stutzman explained these relay runs will be in trucks with only one driver. The lower rate is for trucks which have a two-man crew and go through non-stop runs from Celanese plant to various shipping destinations.

James Bruce Advanced To Lieut.-Commander

James Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., 224 Fayette Street, has been promoted to lieutenant commander in the Navy. He is stationed at the Norfolk Naval Base.

Softball games and horseshoe pitching contests are scheduled in the various age groups.

Major Mewshaw Named To Engineer Post

STUTTGART, Germany — Major Charles T. Mewshaw, son of Mrs. H. D. Schmidt, 814 Camden Avenue, Cumberland, Md., has been assigned to Headquarters Seventh Army here and been named chief of the administration branch of the Engineer section. He came to the section from the 54th Combat Engineer battalion where he was plans and training officer.

A veteran of six major battle campaigns in the European Theater, Major Mewshaw is now a Regular Army officer. He was graduated from Johns Hopkins University in 1938, and in service is a graduate of the Advanced Engineering course at Fort Belvoir, Va. He was an instructor at the school after the war after completing his course there with high honors.

His wife, the former Miss Geraldine R. Ray, daughter of T. J. Ray, 1514 Potomac Avenue, Washington, is with him in Germany. They have five children, Judith, 12, Mary, 5, Charles, 3, Deborah, 2, and Michael Mewshaw one-year-old, all of whom are living in the American community of Sindelfingen-Stuttgart.

Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL, has negotiated a new contract with the Central Trucking Division of the Celanese Corporation of America providing for an increase in the rate of pay of 45 drivers affected.

C. E. Stutzman, union business agent, said the rate for drivers has been raised from 4.25 cents per mile to 4.40 cents per mile. This was the limit under the Wage Stabilization Board's wage formula, he pointed out.

A rate of 6.25 cents per mile has been set up for a new category. This includes drivers who operate trucks on relay runs. Stutzman explained these relay runs will be in trucks with only one driver. The lower rate is for trucks which have a two-man crew and go through non-stop runs from Celanese plant to various shipping destinations.

James Bruce Advanced To Lieut.-Commander

James Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., 224 Fayette Street, has been promoted to lieutenant commander in the Navy. He is stationed at the Norfolk Naval Base.

He is a veteran of World War II and was recalled to active duty about two years ago. His brother, Major Oliver H. Bruce, 3rd, is serving with the Army in the United States after several years duty in Japan.

Run-Off Election To Begin Today

Balloting in a run-off election to name a vice president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), is slated today and tomorrow.

The run-off is between Howard "Red" Bush and Melvin Harris. Votes may be cast tonight from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock and tomorrow from 10 a. m. to noon at the union hall, according to Charles E. Jones, chairman of the election committee.

Class To Be Initiated

The Women of the Moose, Lodge No. 914, will initiate a new class of candidates tomorrow at the Moose home.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wrachford, Moosehart Alumni chairman, will be in charge of the entertainment. A social hour will conclude the evening and refreshments served.

The Coliseum of Rome accommodated 100,000 persons, but 13,000 of them could not find seats.

Liquor Dealers In County Complain Of Law Violations

Observance of the liquor laws by clubs and other licensees in Cumberland is almost 100 per cent in compliance with all regulations but in the Georges Creek section violations are common, according to statements to the Board of License Commissioners of Allegany County yesterday.

The statements were made during a discussion between a committee the Allegany County Liquor Dealers' Associaton and the commissioners. The liquor dealers had written to the board asking for a meeting so that mutual problems could be discussed in an effort to alleviate conditions affecting business in the county.

The dealers said they were satisfied with progress made so far, but there is still quite a large amount of whisky selling by operators of establishments which have only beer and wine licenses. There was mention also made of selling of intoxicants to teen-agers and the sales of intoxicants after hou..

Cite Westernport Clubs

In the discussion pertaining to the George Creek section it was stated that teen-agers were sold intoxicants, and that various clubs —especially in the Westernport section—constituted "unfair competition" to other liquor dealers due to the manner in which they are operating.

Walter C. Capper, chairman of the commissioners, said the board would act upon information furnished to the board or its inspectors.

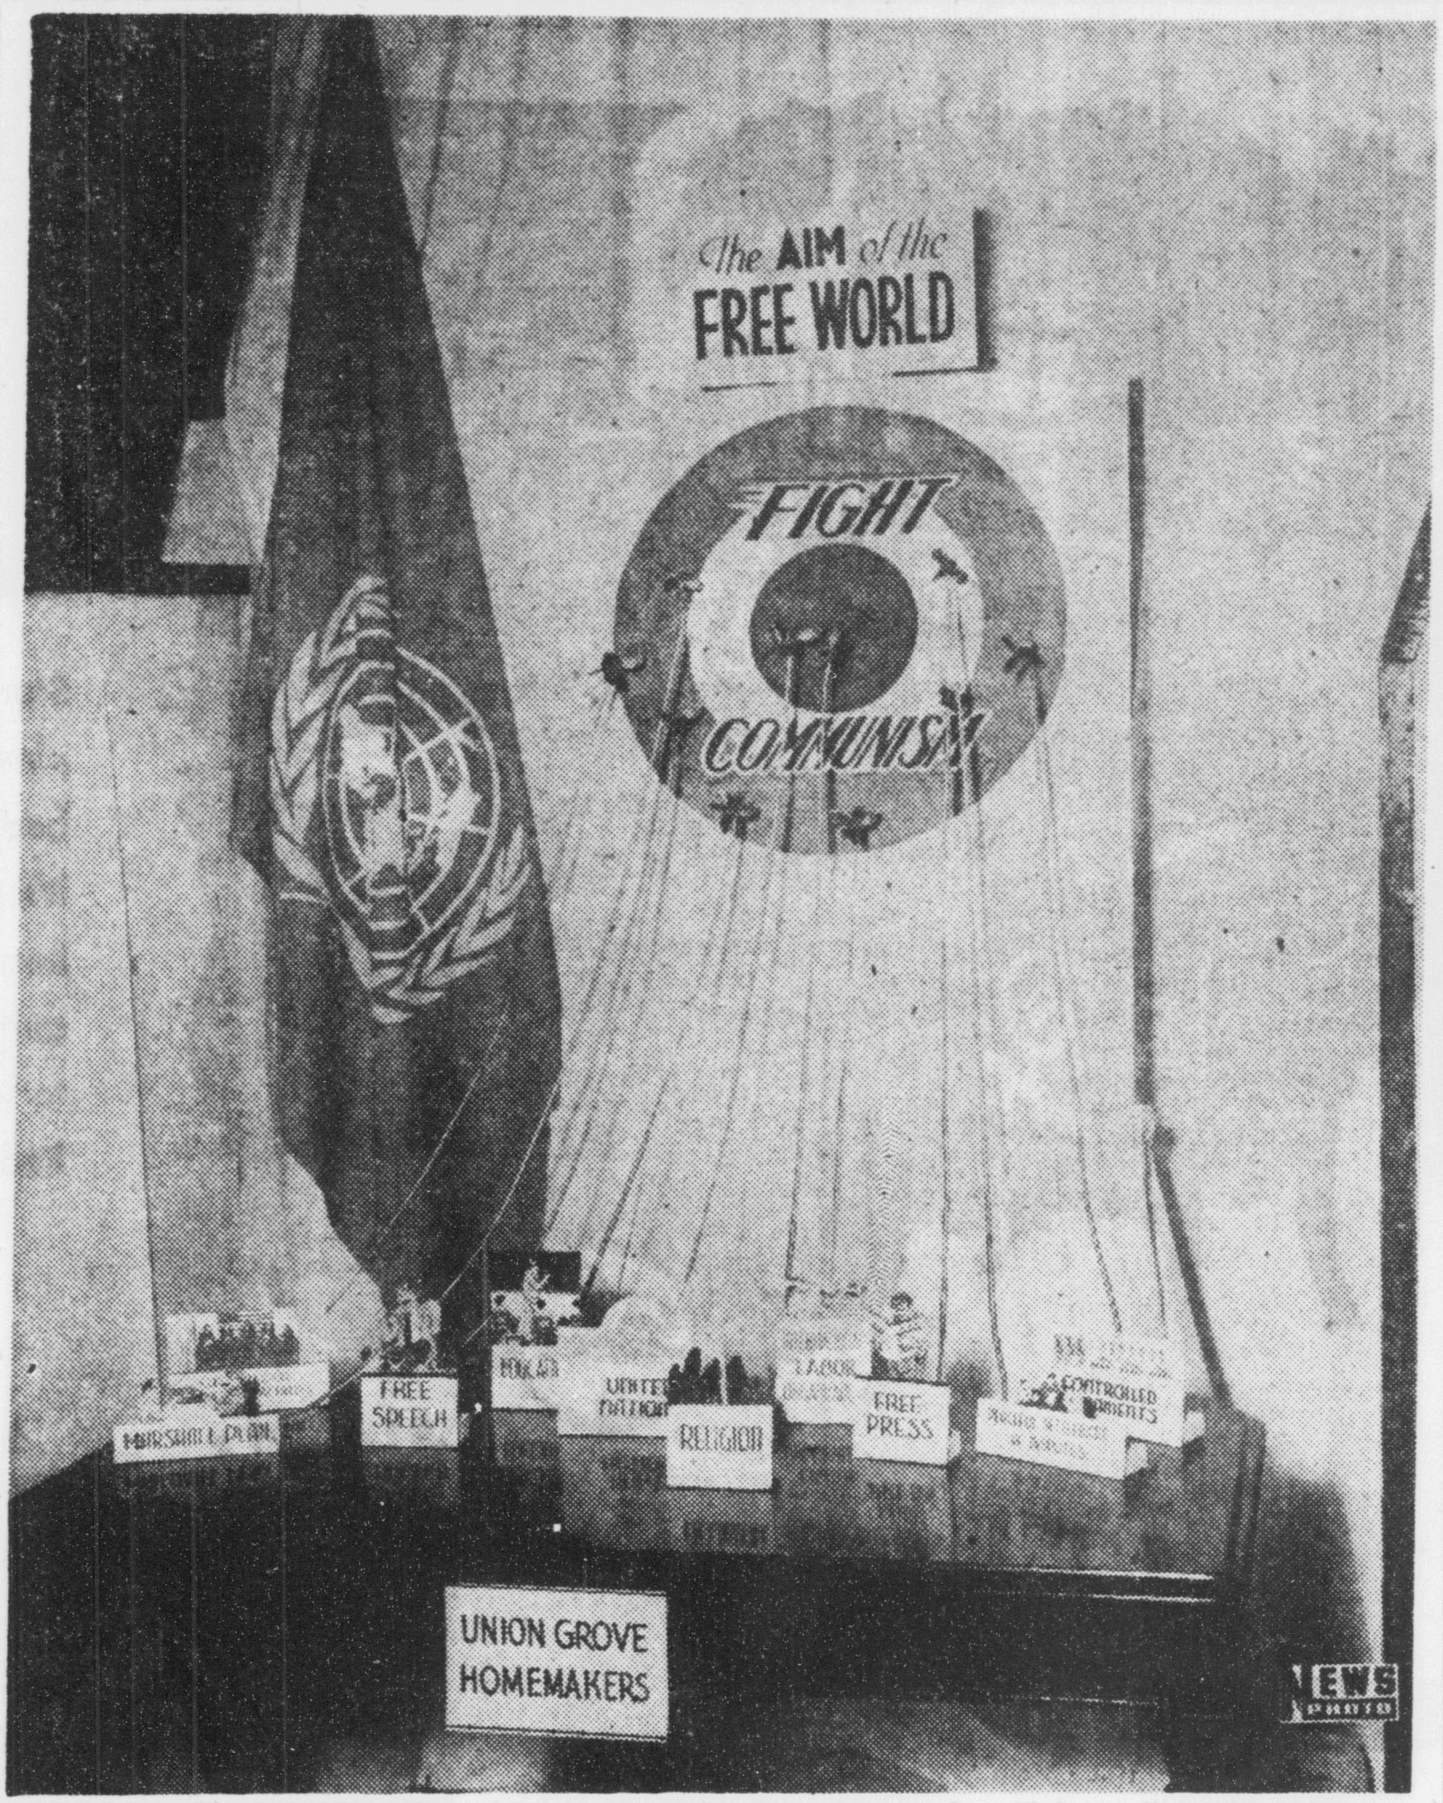
The Liquor Dealers also commented that their observations of the Kimble amendments to the liquor law regarding the drinking of whisky on premises of establishments which have only beer licenses is slowly having its effect on roadside taverns. Frequent visits of the inspectors of the board has resulted in general improvements in conditions at these establishments, the dealers said.

Check To Be Made

The board informed the dealers they would have their inspectors check closely on clubs in the Georges Creek section to determine if there is any foundation for conditions listed by the dealers.

Clubs in Cumberland were given a "clean bill of health" by the Liquor Dealers who said that as far as they could ascertain observance of the law is "100 percent good."

The board informed the Liquor Dealers that the small booklets of rules and regulations compiled by the commissioners and mailed to each licensee should be followed closely. If that is done the operator will be in full compliance with the law, according to the commissioners.



THEME BOOTH WINNER—This exhibit by the Union Grove Homemakers Club won first prize of $25 yesterday in the theme booth competition with 23 other Homemakers' Clubs in Allegany County at the Cumberland Fair. The simple display's effective message is that "The Aim of the Free World is to Fight Communism." Attached to each of the ten cards on the table is a ribbon leading to a dart which has been inserted in the target representing Communism. The cards list such institutions and programs as Committee on Un-American Activities, Marshall Plan, Free Speech, Education, United Nations, Religion, International Labor Organization, Free Press, Controlled Armaments and Peaceful Settlement of Disputes. Second prize of $22 was awarded to the Potomac Valley Progressive Young Homemakers for their display emphasizing the theme "Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God." The $20 third prize was received by the Mapleside Homemakers for their booth which emphasized the way that Allegany County has led all other counties in Maryland in support of the Rural Women's Short Course at College Park.

WAC Officer Assigned Here For Three Days

Women interested in joining the WAC or WAF can be interviewed today and tomorrow at the local Army and Air Force recruiting office in the Post Office Building by Capt. Jane L. Harrison of the Martinsburg, W. Va., main recruiting center.

The Army is also showing movies at its display at the Cumberland Fair this week. Sgt. George W. Goff, of the Martinsburg center, is in charge.

M-Sgt. Clarence Biehn, local recruiter, announced that the office is being inspected by First Lt. George E. Kenny, also from Martinsburg.

County Distributes Funds For Municipal Street Work

22 Fire Companies Also Get Checks

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday passed orders for the allocation of funds to incorporated communities for the maintenance of former county roads located within the towns.

A total of $19,174 was allocated to the communities. The City of Cumberland will received $7,630, Frostburg, $2,660; Lonaconing, $2,884; Westernport $2,020; Barton, $1,240; Luke, $1,190; and Midland, $840.

Commissioner James Holmes, who has served in his present office since early in the 1930's said the funds are levied each year under terms of legislation passed years ago when the various communities incorporated.

Prior to the incorporation of the communities, the county maintained the various roads which were bona fide county thoroughfares. When the towns incorporated they were to be paid on the basis of the mileage of the county roads within the confines of the community at the time.

The Loyal Order of Moose clinched a fourth place playoff spot in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday by winning a doubleheader from the Knights of Columbus at East Side Field. The scores were 6-5 and 2-0.

In the opener the Moose held a 6-0 lead until the fifth frame when the Knights jumped on "Fats" Weltman for five tallies and had the tying run on third base with one out. Russ Minnicks stopped the Knights in their tracks when he forced Palmer to hit into a double play.

Harry Minnicks smacked a pair of doubles to lead the Moose hitters while Jim Browning pounded a homer and double and LaNeve rapped two singles for the K. of C.

Claude Comer's first inning homer won the abbreviated nightcap. Harry Minnicks and "Buddy" Young of the Moose and Shaffer of the Knights had two hits each.

Sheetz Blanks Amvets

Al Sheetz marked up his 16th consecutive win of the season against no losses when he turned back the Amvets at East Side, 11-0.

Sheetz celebrated the arrival of a baby boy in his family by notching his 8th shutout triumph of the campaign. He issued only four hits, fanned five and extended his string of scoreless innings to 32—four full games and four innings.

Al passed out the cigars before the game then passed out goose eggs to the Amvets.

"Chug" Aman and Collins banged a double and single each while Elmer Lashley garnered three singles to head the Eagles' 15-hit assault. Lou Retina of the Amvets and "Doc" Summers, Eagles' third baseman, starred afield.

Underdonk Cops 17th

Bill Underdonk notched win No. 17 as the B. P. O. Elks took the measure of the Outdoor Club at Campobello, 5-3.

Jim Wilkinson was the game's hitting star. He batted in all of the Elks' runs with a homer and triple. Van Roby and Bob Pence had two hits apiece for the Elks and Aman larruped a double and single for the losers. Scores:

Lawrence Tech Changes Mind On Basketball

DETROIT, Aug. 21 (AP)—Little Lawrence Tech will play basketball this year, after all.

The school announced yesterday abandonment of intercollegiate basketball for next season.

But tonight President E. George Lawrence said, "I guess I blew a fast whistle."

"We are reinstating basketball at our college and will play a full schedule this season," he said.

Elbin Hangs Up Record

By C. V. BURNS

The management of the Savoy Bowling and Billiard Parlor is reconditioning its six alleys on the second floor of the Baltimore Street establishment and when the lanes are reopened next month the Brunswick unit control Tel-E-Foul will be included among the many improvements.

Tele-E-Foul is an "electric eye" that automatically signals whenever a bowler steps over the foul line.

A light beam is directed along the foul line from the light source floor unit to the photo cell floor unit.

When a bowler interrupts this light beam, the unit control Tele-E-Foul is activated, causing the foul bell to ring and the foul indicator to light up.

Each Tele-E-Foul is timed in such a manner that a slowly rolling ball will not activate the foul bell and foul light when passing through the light beam.

The Savoy is believed to be the first bowling alley establishment to introduce Tele-E-Foul in Western Maryland.

Pershing Rohrer, LaSalle High School alumnus, sports editor of the LaSalle Torch in his school days, former member of the old Daily News staff and last but not least manager of the Cumberland Dragons basketball team of bygone days, is now assistant sports editor of the Courier-News of Plainfield, N. J.

Before moving to New Jersey, Rohrer was sports editor of the Athens (Ohio) Messenger for five years. He also had newspaper experience at Morgantown, W. Va., and Suffolk, Va.

Pershing also had the distinction of serving as secretary for two sessions to Charles M. See, of Cumberland, first blind man to be elected to the Maryland House of Delegates. First elected in 1939, See still is a member of the House.

Miss Prime, the grand old mare that ran many races at Charles Town, W. Va., Fairgo and other Maryland minor tracks in recent years, has been retired permanently after bowing a tendon.

Miss Prime is owned by J. N. Barnes and was trained by Mrs. G. A. Saportas, Jr., Monkton, Md., champion thoroughbred conditioner.

The classy mare won 10 races on the minor ovals in 1950, including the opening day features at Fairgo.

Chicago Retains Phil Cavarretta

Signs To Manage Cubs Next Season

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (AP) — Phil Cavarretta, praised by the Chicago Cubs high command as "a natural born leader," signed today to manage the team in 1952.

The 35-year-old outfielder-first baseman had proved to the Cubs management in one short month that their "snap judgment" selection of Cavarretta was no fluke.

On July 21, and also in Philadelphia, Frank Frisch stepped out as manager of the Cubs.

Wid C. Matthews, director of player personnel, said today, "that was at 5:30 and we had to have a manager for the next day. So we called Phil and asked him if he'd take over for the rest of the season."

"He has proved to our satisfaction," Matthews said today, "that he is a first rate manager. He has done a swell job since he took over."

Under Cavarretta they have played .471 ball, winning 16 and losing 18 to boost their percentage this morning to .447 on a 51-63 record for the season. The team is in seventh place, a notch above the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Cavarretta has spent his entire major league career with the Cubs, breaking in at the age of 17 in 1934. In 1945, when the Cubs last won the National League flag, Cavarretta led the circuit in batting with .355.

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 21—Petersburg's Merchants retained their two game lead over Medium Security Prison in the Alleghany Baseball League by taking both ends of a doubleheader from Bartow on Sunday. The scores were 9-2 and 8-0 and extended Bartow's losing streak to 15 games.

Waldo Eaton got credit for both wins and his season's record is now 8-1. He struck out nine in the opener and Dolly poled a homer in the 4th frame.

Marshall Combs, who pitched the last three innings of the nightcap after Eaton had assumed a 5-0 lead, rapped three hits in four trips, including a two run triple in the 5th.

Elkins registered a double victory over Parsons at Elkins by scores of 6-4 and 3-0. In the opener Earlie Godwin struck out six Parsons batsmen and notched his 5th consecutive triumph. Isner homered for Elkins in the third. Stalnaker pitched a four-hitter in the second contest.

Franklin suffered a 9-2 beating at the hands of M.S.P. at Huttonsville. The winners collected 13 hits, including Willie Jones' homer with two aboard in the 7th stanza.

The regular schedule winds up Sunday with Bartow at Franklin, Elkins at Petersburg and M.S.P. at Parsons, but the campaign will be extended another week due to postponed games. The league's Shaughnessy playoffs get under way Sept. 9. Sunday's scores:

Hart, Fry Take Doubles Crown

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 21 (AP)—Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., became the women's national doubles tennis champions while playing through a drizzle today at Longwood.

But when the moisture rapidly developed into a steady rain, the All-Australian men's final involving Davis Cup aces Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor with Mervyn Rose and Don Candy drew a second postponement until tomorrow.

Miss Hart and Miss Fry, runners-up here for the past two years, added the national crowns to their doubles string that includes the Wimbledon and French championships, by breezing for a 6-4, 6-2 win over Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Calif., and Nancy Chaffee of Ventura, Cal.

Giants Edge Yankees In Frostburg League

FROSTBURG, Aug. 21 — The Giants nosed out the Yankees in a Frostburg Little League game today by the score of 3-2 at State Teachers' College Field.

Pete Wilson of the Yankees struck out nine while Jack Fisher, Giants' hurler, whiffed eight.

Fisher homered for the Giants in the third inning. Groves pounded a double and single to pace the Yankee swatsmiths.

The final game of the second half race will be staged Thursday between the Pirates and Red Sox. The score:

Joey Maxim Risks Title Against Murphy Tonight

10,000 May Witness Light-Heavy Match In New York Garden

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Joey Maxim risks his light heavyweight title for the first time tomorrow night against powerful Irish Bob Murphy and the odds are 5 to 7 the champion will become the sixth boxing king to lose his crown this year.

Rising support for the strong, hard-hitting challenger may boost the price favoring the California redhead to 1 to 2 by the time their 15-round scrap starts at 9 p. m. (EST) in Madison Square Garden.

When the fight was first made Maxim was a big favorite. But that was before the tall Clevelander absorbed a thorough shellacking from Ezzard Charles May 30.

This is Joey's first outing since and he hasn't showed much improvement. He has looked very slow afoot in his camp drills and fast footwork is a must for the defensive-minded, counter-punching 175-pound boss. He'll need all his elusiveness to evade the bull-like rushes of the free-swinging San Diego sailor who has knocked out 55 of his 65 opponents.

10,000 May See Bout

Although the bout shapes up as a natural with the boxer meeting the puncher, only about 10,000 fans are expected to pay.

One reason for the probable small gathering is that the fight will be broadcast and telecast over the CBS networks. Another is the fanfare over Randy Turpin, British holder of the middleweight title who meets Sugar Ray Robinson in a return bout here Sept. 12.

Turpin arrived only yesterday but there has been enough spontaneous chatter about the coming return fray that it has completely overshadowed the light heavy contest.

Maxim won the crown by knocking out England's Freddie Mills in London Jan. 24, 1950. He's put the crown jewels in a vault since then despite numerous threats by the various boxing commissions to declare the title vacant.

Thus Maxim may lose his title in his first defense just as welterweight Johnny Bratton and Robinson did this year. Lightweight Ike Williams, middleweight Jake La Motta and heavyweight Charles were the others to be dethroned in '51.

Bob Is Busy Warrior

Maxim has had only two fights this year. He stopped Hubert Hood in three heats in January and was beaten by Charles.

Murphy, on the other hand, has been active as a windmill in a gale. The socking southpaw has fought ten times, winning eight by kayos. He dropped a ten rounder to Harry Matthews and lost on a foul to Joe Rindone. He stopped Rindone in five in a return.

He's confident about adding Maxim to his list.

"I'm going to knock him out within seven rounds with a left hook to the body," said Murphy.

Win or lose, the champion will be getting a fat paycheck. In addition to collecting 40 per cent of the net of a gross gate expected to hit $50,000, he will cut in for the same percentage of the $100,000 fee for radio and televsion. Murphy gets 20 per cent.

Giants Score 10th Straight Win Over Reds

Wes Westrum's 17th Homer Decides, 7-4

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—The red-hot New York Giants got the game tieing and game-winning home runs with two out in the eighth inning today and went on to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 7-4, and stretch their winning streak to 11 straight games. The winning streak is the longest for the Giants since Leo Durocher became manager.

Coming from behind for the second straight game, the Giants exploded for three home runs in the eighth inning with Wes Westrum capping the rally with a three-run wallop into the upper left field stands. The blow came after Whitey Lockman had tied the game by lofting a circuit drive against the face of the upper right field stands with Monte Irvin on first.

Knuckleballer Willie Ramsdell of the Reds, was breezing along with a tidy three-hitter and a 4-1 lead when Eddie Stanky opened the eighth with his 13th home run of the year. Apparently undisturbed, Ramsdell disposed of the next two batters, but Irvin singled and Lockman followed with his 10th circuit clout of the year.

That was enough for Ramsdell and Frank Smith, Cincinnati's sidearm relief ace, replaced him. Willie Mays beat out an infield hit, Bobby Thomson walked and, for the second time in a week, Westrum won it with a roundtripper. It was his 17th of the year and first since he beat the Dodgers 3-1 last Wednesday.

The Reds also walloped three home runs. Bobby Adams and Connie Ryan hit successive homers to open the fourth inning and send the Reds ahead, 2-1. It was Adams' fifth and Ryan's 14th of the year. Johnny Pramesa sent the margin to 4-1 in the next inning when he clouted his fifth of the year with Virgil Stallcup on base. Box:

Lions Trounce Times-News By Score Of 13-1

B'nai B'rith Loses 3-2 Tilt; Senators, Phillies Play Today

The Lions Club trounced the Times-News by the score of 13-1 and the Optimist Club nosed out B'nai B'rith by the score of 3-2 in the opening games of the Hot Stove Baseball League playoffs yesterday at Penn Avenue Field.

In the opener of the twin bill, the Lions slugged three Times-News pitchers for 11 hits and the winners had two big innings, the second and the 6th, in which they scored 11 of their tallies.

Trailing 2-1, the Optimists rallied for two runs in the final stanza to eke out a decision over B'nai B'rith.

Lewis Bests Conroy

Joe Conroy and Bobby Lewis hooked up in a pitchers' duel in the nightcap and both pitchers yielded only two hits in five innings.

The first run of the game was a homer by Bobby Lewis in the second inning. B'nai B'rith, however, took the lead at 2-1 in the 3rd when Kline tripled to right after Eaton and McKenzie drew passes.

In the 6th Bobby Lewis led off with an infield hit to third. Billy Fair pushed a perfect bunt toward third and Lewis raced to third on the play and sprinted home with the tying run on an overthrow. Kelly singled over second, advancing Fair to third and the latter scored the winning marker as the ball hopped over the centerfielder's shoulder.

Lewis yielded two hits and Conroy gave up four. Lewis fanned 13 and Conroy mowed down eight.

Dawson Whiffs Ten

Bobby Dawson scattered seven hits and struck out 10 Times-News batsmen. Widdows, Landis and Rohe headed the Lions' attack with six of their team's 11 hits. Widdows got a two-bagger and Landis rapped a triple. Hudson, Page and Johnson shared six of the Times-News seven safeties.

The second games of the best-of-three series will be played Thursday at Penn Avenue. The Optimists meet B'nai B'rith at 6:15 while the Lions and Times-News tangle at 7:45.

Phillies Play Senators

Today at 6:15 at Penn Avenue, the Little League's round robin series resumes with the Phillies meeting the Senators. A loss would put the Phillies out of the series as they dropped the opener on Monday to the Dodgers by a 4-2 count.

The fifth and deciding game of the Queens Softball League championship series will be staged today at 6 p. m. at East Side Field. Yesterday's results:

The Loyal Order of Moose clinched a fourth place playoff spot in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday by winning a doubleheader from the Knights of Columbus at East Side Field. The scores were 6-5 and 2-0.

In the opener the Moose held a 6-0 lead until the fifth frame when the Knights jumped on "Fats" Weltman for five tallies and had the tying run on third base with one out. Russ Minnicks stopped the Knights in their tracks when he forced Palmer to hit into a double play.

Harry Minnicks smacked a pair of doubles to lead the Moose hitters while Jim Browning pounded a homer and double and LaNeve rapped two singles for the K. of C.

Claude Comer's first inning homer won the abbreviated nightcap. Harry Minnicks and "Buddy" Young of the Moose and Shaffer of the Knights had two hits each.

Sheetz Blanks Amvets

Al Sheetz marked up his 16th consecutive win of the season against no losses when he turned back the Amvets at East Side, 11-0.

Sheetz celebrated the arrival of a baby boy in his family by notching his 8th shutout triumph of the campaign. He issued only four hits, fanned five and extended his string of scoreless innings to 32—four full games and four innings.

Al passed out the cigars before the game then passed out goose eggs to the Amvets.

"Chug" Aman and Collins banged a double and single each while Elmer Lashley garnered three singles to head the Eagles' 15-hit assault. Lou Retina of the Amvets and "Doc" Summers, Eagles' third baseman, starred afield.

Underdonk Cops 17th

Bill Underdonk notched win No. 17 as the B. P. O. Elks took the measure of the Outdoor Club at Campobello, 5-3.

Jim Wilkinson was the game's hitting star. He batted in all of the Elks' runs with a homer and triple. Van Roby and Bob Pence had two hits apiece for the Elks and Aman larruped a double and single for the losers. Scores:

Lawrence Tech Changes Mind On Basketball

DETROIT, Aug. 21 (AP)—Little Lawrence Tech will play basketball this year, after all.

The school announced yesterday abandonment of intercollegiate basketball for next season.

But tonight President E. George Lawrence said, "I guess I blew a fast whistle."

"We are reinstating basketball at our college and will play a full schedule this season," he said.

Elbin Hangs Up Record

By C. V. BURNS

The management of the Savoy Bowling and Billiard Parlor is reconditioning its six alleys on the second floor of the Baltimore Street establishment and when the lanes are reopened next month the Brunswick unit control Tel-E-Foul will be included among the many improvements.

Tele-E-Foul is an "electric eye" that automatically signals whenever a bowler steps over the foul line.

A light beam is directed along the foul line from the light source floor unit to the photo cell floor unit.

When a bowler interrupts this light beam, the unit control Tele-E-Foul is activated, causing the foul bell to ring and the foul indicator to light up.

Each Tele-E-Foul is timed in such a manner that a slowly rolling ball will not activate the foul bell and foul light when passing through the light beam.

The Savoy is believed to be the first bowling alley establishment to introduce Tele-E-Foul in Western Maryland.

Chicago Retains Phil Cavarretta

Signs To Manage Cubs Next Season

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (AP) — Phil Cavarretta, praised by the Chicago Cubs high command as "a natural born leader," signed today to manage the team in 1952.

The 35-year-old outfielder-first baseman had proved to the Cubs management in one short month that their "snap judgment" selection of Cavarretta was no fluke.

On July 21, and also in Philadelphia, Frank Frisch stepped out as manager of the Cubs.

Wid C. Matthews, director of player personnel, said today, "that was at 5:30 and we had to have a manager for the next day. So we called Phil and asked him if he'd take over for the rest of the season."

"He has proved to our satisfaction," Matthews said today, "that he is a first rate manager. He has done a swell job since he took over."

Under Cavarretta they have played .471 ball, winning 16 and losing 18 to boost their percentage this morning to .447 on a 51-63 record for the season. The team is in seventh place, a notch above the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Cavarretta has spent his entire major league career with the Cubs, breaking in at the age of 17 in 1934. In 1945, when the Cubs last won the National League flag, Cavarretta led the circuit in batting with .355.

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 21—Petersburg's Merchants retained their two game lead over Medium Security Prison in the Alleghany Baseball League by taking both ends of a doubleheader from Bartow on Sunday. The scores were 9-2 and 8-0 and extended Bartow's losing streak to 15 games.

Waldo Eaton got credit for both wins and his season's record is now 8-1. He struck out nine in the opener and Dolly poled a homer in the 4th frame.

Marshall Combs, who pitched the last three innings of the nightcap after Eaton had assumed a 5-0 lead, rapped three hits in four trips, including a two run triple in the 5th.

Elkins registered a double victory over Parsons at Elkins by scores of 6-4 and 3-0. In the opener Earlie Godwin struck out six Parsons batsmen and notched his 5th consecutive triumph. Isner homered for Elkins in the third. Stalnaker pitched a four-hitter in the second contest.

Franklin suffered a 9-2 beating at the hands of M.S.P. at Huttonsville. The winners collected 13 hits, including Willie Jones' homer with two aboard in the 7th stanza.

The regular schedule winds up Sunday with Bartow at Franklin, Elkins at Petersburg and M.S.P. at Parsons, but the campaign will be extended another week due to postponed games. The league's Shaughnessy playoffs get under way Sept. 9. Sunday's scores:

Hart, Fry Take Doubles Crown

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 21 (AP)—Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., became the women's national doubles tennis champions while playing through a drizzle today at Longwood.

But when the moisture rapidly developed into a steady rain, the All-Australian men's final involving Davis Cup aces Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor with Mervyn Rose and Don Candy drew a second postponement until tomorrow.

Miss Hart and Miss Fry, runners-up here for the past two years, added the national crowns to their doubles string that includes the Wimbledon and French championships, by breezing for a 6-4, 6-2 win over Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Calif., and Nancy Chaffee of Ventura, Cal.

Giants Edge Yankees In Frostburg League

FROSTBURG, Aug. 21 — The Giants nosed out the Yankees in a Frostburg Little League game today by the score of 3-2 at State Teachers' College Field.

10,000 May Witness Light-Heavy Match In New York Garden

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Joey Maxim risks his light heavyweight title for the first time tomorrow night against powerful Irish Bob Murphy and the odds are 5 to 7 the champion will become the sixth boxing king to lose his crown this year.

Rising support for the strong, hard-hitting challenger may boost the price favoring the California redhead to 1 to 2 by the time their 15-round scrap starts at 9 p. m. (EST) in Madison Square Garden.

When the fight was first made Maxim was a big favorite. But that was before the tall Clevelander absorbed a thorough shellacking from Ezzard Charles May 30.

This is Joey's first outing since and he hasn't showed much improvement. He has looked very slow afoot in his camp drills and fast footwork is a must for the defensive-minded, counter-punching 175-pound boss. He'll need all his elusiveness to evade the bull-like rushes of the free-swinging San Diego sailor who has knocked out 55 of his 65 opponents.

10,000 May See Bout

Although the bout shapes up as a natural with the boxer meeting the puncher, only about 10,000 fans are expected to pay.

One reason for the probable small gathering is that the fight will be broadcast and telecast over the CBS networks. Another is the fanfare over Randy Turpin, British hoider of the middleweight title who meets Sugar Ray Robinson in a return bout here Sept. 12.

Turpin arrived only yesterday but there has been enough spontaneous chatter about the coming return fray that it has completely overshadowed the light heavy contest.

Maxim won the crown by knocking out England's Freddie Mills in London Jan. 24, 1950. He's put the crown jewels in a vault since then despite numerous threats by the various boxing commissions to declare the title vacant.

Thus Maxim may lose his title in his first defense just as welterweight Johnny Bratton and Robinson did this year. Lightweight Ike Williams, middleweight Jake La Motta and heavyweight Charles were the others to be dethroned in '51.

Bob Is Busy Warrior

Maxim has had only two fights this year. He stopped Hubert Hood in three heats in January and was beaten by Charles.

Murphy, on the other hand, has been active as a windmill in a gale. The socking southpaw has fought ten times, winning eight by kayos. He dropped a ten rounder to Harry Matthews and lost on a foul to Joe Rindone. He stopped Rindone in five in a return.

He's confident about adding Maxim to his list.

"I'm going to knock him out within seven rounds with a left hook to the body," said Murphy.

Win or lose, the champion will be getting a fat paycheck. In addition to collecting 40 per cent of the net of a gross gate expected to hit $50,000, he will cut in for the same percentage of the $100,000 fee for radio and televsion. Murphy gets 20 per cent.

50 Golfers Qualify In Men's Tournament

Fifty men golfers have qualified for the annual fall golf tournament at the Cumberland Country Club.

Others have until Sunday to qualify.

The third match of the series between the CCC team and the Fountain Head Country Club, Hagerstown, will be played here Sunday.

Mrs. W. D. Smith Wins CCC Golf Tournament

Mrs. W. Donald Smith won the odd hole tournament held yesterday by the Women's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club with a net score of 31.

Mrs. Smith's odd hole total was 47 and her half handicap was 16.

Thirty players participated.

Chet Adams Quits

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21 (AP)—Chet Adams has quit pro football to take a job as salesman for the athletic goods company.

For many years, Adams was a tackle for the Cleveland Browns and the old Cleveland Rams. He also played for the Green Bay Packers, the Buffalo Bills and, last year the New York Yankees.

Boxer Loses Eggs

LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP)—A Ten-man American amateur boxing team arrived here today minus two dozen eggs.

Light heavyweight John Boultilier of Roxbury, Mass., nursed the eggs from New York to Southampton aboard the Queen Elizabeth, but he lost the box somewhere on the boat train between Southampton and London.

Eggs are rationed in England and scarce on hotel menus.

Giants Score 10th Straight Win Over Reds

Wes Westrum's 17th Homer Decides, 7-4

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—The red-hot New York Giants got the game tieing and game-winning home runs with two out in the eighth inning today and went on to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 7-4, and stretch their winning streak to 11 straight games. The winning streak is the longest for the Giants since Leo Durocher became manager.

Coming from behind for the second straight game, the Giants exploded for three home runs in the eighth inning with Wes Westrum capping the rally with a three-run wallop into the upper left field stands. The blow came after Whitey Lockman had tied the game by lofting a circuit drive against the face of the upper right field stands with Monte Irvin on first.

Knuckleballer Willie Ramsdell of the Reds, was breezing along with a tidy three-hitter and a 4-1 lead when Eddie Stanky opened the eighth with his 13th home run of the year. Apparently undisturbed, Ramsdell disposed of the next two batters, but Irvin singled and Lockman followed with his 10th circuit clout of the year.

That was enough for Ramsdell and Frank Smith, Cincinnati's side-arm relief ace, replaced him. Willie Mays beat out an infield hit, Bobby Thomson walked and, for the second time in a week, Westrum won it with a roundtripper. It was his 17th of the year and first since he beat the Dodgers 3-1 last Wednesday.

The Reds also walloped three home runs. Bobby Adams and Connie Ryan hit successive homers to open the fourth inning and send the Reds ahead, 2-1. It was Adams' fifth and Ryan's 14th of the year. Johnny Pramesa sent the margin to 4-1 in the next inning when he clouted his fifth of the year with Virgil Stallcup on base. Box:

Lions Trounce Times-News By Score Of 13-1

B'nai B'rith Loses 3-2 Tilt; Senators, Phillies Play Today

The Lions Club trounced the Times-News by the score of 13-1 and the Optimist Club nosed out B'nai B'rith by the score of 3-2 in the opening games of the Hot Stove Baseball League playoffs yesterday at Penn Avenue Field.

In the opener of the twin bill, the Lions slugged three Times-News pitchers for 11 hits and the winners had two big innings, the second and the 6th, in which they scored 11 of their tallies.

Trailing 2-1, the Optimists rallied for two runs in the final stanza to eke out a decision over B'nai B'rith.

Lewis Bests Conroy

Joe Conroy and Bobby Lewis hooked up in a pitchers' duel in the nightcap and both pitchers yielded only two hits in five innings.

The first run of the game was a homer by Bobby Lewis in the second inning. B'nai B'rith, however, took the lead at 2-1 in the 3rd when Kline tripled to right after Eaton and McKenzie drew passes.

In the 6th Bobby Lewis led off with an infield hit to third. Billy Fair pushed a perfect bunt toward third and Lewis raced to third on the play and sprinted home with the tying run on an overthrow. Kelly singled over second, advancing Fair to third and the latter scored the winning marker as the ball hopped over the centerfielder's shoulder.

Lewis yielded two hits and Conroy gave up four. Lewis fanned 13 and Conroy mowed down eight.

Dawson Whiffs Ten

Bobby Dawson scattered seven hits and struck out 10 Times-News batsmen. Widdows, Landis and Rohe headed the Lions' attack with six of their team's 11 hits. Widdows got a two-bagger and Landis rapped a triple. Hudson, Page and Johnson shared six of the Times-News seven safeties.

The second games of the best-of-three series will be played Thursday at Penn Avenue. The Optimists meet B'nai B'rith at 6:15 while the Lions and Times-News tangle at 7:45.

Phillies Play Senators

Today at 6:15 at Penn Avenue, the Little League's round robin series resumes with the Phillies meeting the Senators. A loss would put the Phillies out of the series as they dropped the opener on Monday to the Dodgers by a 4-2 count.

The fifth and deciding game of the Queens Softball League championship series will be staged today at 6 p. m. at East Side Field. Yesterday's results:

Turpin Expects To Repeat Win Over Robinson

British Negro Here For Fight Sept. 12

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Randy Turpin said today he wasn't surprised when he beat Ray Robinson the first time and he expects to do it again at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 12.

He didn't say it in a boasting fashion. He was shy but confident. Newsmen, at a series of press conferences from the time the Queen Mary landed and through an afternoon session, had to prod him to say more than a few words at a time.

"I intend to be 100 per cent fit and I have every intention of winning," said the broad-shouldered, 23-year old British negro.

"Robinson is very dangerous and I shall be prepared for him," he said as hot Kleig lights were turned on for the television and newsreel cameras covering the scene in the international boxing club offices.

A reporter told Turpin that Robinson planned to go after him from the opening bell and knock him out quickly

"It takes two to make a bargain," said Randy with a smile. "We shall see."

Asked whether he intended to press Robinson as he did in their first meeting in London July 10, Randy said, "I'll make my fight when I get in the ring. Robinson may change his style and I can change mine, too."

Turpin, who scored the biggest boxing upset in 25 years when he outpointed Robinson, said he now weighs 164 pounds, four over the middleweight limit, and "feels fine. I worked out on the ship and I'm in good condition.

The questioning and the hot lights made him a little nervous. He had been answering questions since newsmen on a cutter met the boat at 6 a. m.

"Going through these interviews is a lot tougher than fighting," he said with a rueful grin.

In discussing the London fight, American newsmen who had seen movies of the bout, said it appeared that Turpin had used the rabbit punch (behind the neck) in the clinches. That rabbit punch is illegal in the U. S.

"No, I didn't hit him in the neck," said Turpin. "I hit him on the side of his face."

Injured Jockey Dies

VANCOUVER, Aug. 21 (AP) — Jockey Terry Sullivan, 24, who suffered a broken neck in a spill here, died Monday in a hospital.

The English-born jockey was injured Saturday when his mount Alice Walker stumbled in the back stretch during the sixth race, throwing him to the track.

Sullivan came to Canada two years ago. The widow and one child survive.

Midgets Banned By Major League

Harridge Refuses Contract To Gaedel

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP) — The American League today banned playing midgets.

Will Harridge, president of the league, ruled that the St. Louis Browns could not use the three-foot, 7 inch Eddie Gaedel in future games. The 50-pound mite was inserted into the Browns' lineup as a "pinch batter" again the Detroit Tigers at St. Louis last Sunday.

Harridge did not approve Gaedel's contract for the best interests of baseball.

In St. Louis owner Bill Veeck of the Browns said he was "grieved" by the ruling but that he would not make a protest — although he was "baffled by all of these rules."

Added Veeck: "I assume they feel that Gaedel provided unfair competition. I might humbly suggest that Ted Williams also provides unfair competition as far as St. Louis is concerned.

"I presumed that ball clubs tried to win the best way they could, provided they stayed within the rules. There are no rules on height and weight."

Veeck concluded that Gaedel's professional baseball career was short-lived but that the midget would not soon be forgotten.

In his appearance, Gaedel, 26, was given a base on balls as the first batter in the first inning for the Browns. He was given a base on balls by Detroit pitcher Bob Cain. The midget was immediately replaced on the base lines by Jim Delsing as a pinch runner. But Cain got the side out without a run and the Tigers won, 6-2.

Club Owners Hope To Name Commissioner On Sept. 20

Candidates' List Whittled To Five

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP)—Major league club owners whittled the list of candidates for commissioner of baseball to five today and said they hoped to pick their man at a joint meeting in Chicago, Sept. 20.

"Every one of the five men has told us he is available," said Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees and chairman of the group of owners who met in an all-day screening session at the Waldorf Astoria.

He declined to identify any of the remaining candidates but it is believed Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former superintendent of West Point, are high on the list.

Asked if he expected a successor to A. B. (Happy) Chandler to be named at the Chicago meeting, Webb, spokesman for the club owners, said: "that's our purpose."

He said the executive council would send out notices tonight to all club owners to be represented at the Sept. 20 meeting. This is routine.

A joint meeting, requiring a 30-day notice, is necessary for formal action on a new commissioner.

"This should be it," Webb added. "Our other meetings have been exploratory strictly. This one should get the job done—at least, we all hope so."

The "big five" who merged from today's minute screening session were all included in the 11 names presented after a meeting of owners here Aug. 7.

Lou Perini of the Boston Braves said some of the candidates in the original list of 11 eliminated themselves.

Gens. Dwight Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur are believed among those who asked that they not be considered. Former Postmaster General Jim Farley and George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, are also out of the picture, according to information received by the Associated Press.

In the original list and possibly still in the running are Ford Frick, president of the National League; Gen. Clifton B. Cates, Marine Corps commandant; and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, commanding general of the air force.

Bob Elliott, Boston Braves All-Star third baseman, made the 1941 All-Star squad as an outfielder. He was with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Turpin Expects To Repeat Win Over Robinson

British Negro Here For Fight Sept. 12

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Randy Turpin said today he wasn't surprised when he beat Ray Robinson the first time and he expects to do it again at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 12.

He didn't say it in a boasting fashion. He was shy but confident. Newsmen, at a series of press conferences from the time the Queen Mary landed and through an afternoon session, had to prod him to say more than a few words at a time.

"I intend to be 100 per cent fit and I have every intention of winning," said the broad-shouldered, 23-year old British negro.

"Robinson is very dangerous and I shall be prepared for him," he said as hot Kleig lights were turned on for the television and newsreel cameras covering the scene in the international boxing club offices.

A reporter told Turpin that Robinson planned to go after him from the opening bell and knock him out quickly

"It takes two to make a bargain," said Randy with a smile. "We shall see."

Asked whether he intended to press Robinson as he did in their first meeting in London July 10, Randy said, "I'll make my fight when I get in the ring. Robinson may change his style and I can change mine, too."

Turpin, who scored the biggest boxing upset in 25 years when he outpointed Robinson, said he now weighs 164 pounds, four over the middleweight limit, and "feels fine. I worked out on the ship and I'm in good condition.

The questioning and the hot lights made him a little nervous. He had been answering questions since newsmen on a cutter met the boat at 6 a. m.

"Going through these interviews is a lot tougher than fighting," he said with a rueful grin.

In discussing the London fight, American newsmen who had seen movies of the bout, said it appeared that Turpin had used the rabbit punch (behind the neck) in the clinches. That rabbit punch is illegal in the U. S.

"No, I didn't hit him in the neck," said Turpin. "I hit him on the side of his face."

Injured Jockey Dies

VANCOUVER, Aug. 21 (AP) — Jockey Terry Sullivan, 24, who suffered a broken neck in a spill here, died Monday in a hospital.

The English-born jockey was injured Saturday when his mount Alice Walker stumbled in the back stretch during the sixth race, throwing him to the track.

Sullivan came to Canada two years ago. The widow and one child survive.

Midgets Banned By Major League

Harridge Refuses Contract To Gaedel

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP) — The American League today banned playing midgets.

Will Harridge, president of the league, ruled that the St. Louis Browns could not use the three-foot, 7 inch Eddie Gaedel in future games. The 50-pound mite was inserted into the Browns' lineup as a "pinch batter" again the Detroit Tigers at St. Louis last Sunday.

Harridge did not approve Gaedel's contract for the best interests of baseball.

In St. Louis owner Bill Veeck of the Browns said he was "grieved" by the ruling but that he would not make a protest — although he was "baffled by all of these rules."

Added Veeck: "I assume they feel that Gaedel provided unfair competition. I might humbly suggest that Ted Williams also provides unfair competition as far as St. Louis is concerned.

"I presumed that ball clubs tried to win the best way they could, provided they stayed within the rules. There are no rules on height and weight."

Veeck concluded that Gaedel's professional baseball career was short-lived but that the midget would not soon be forgotten.

In his appearance, Gaedel, 26, was given a base on balls as the first batter in the first inning for the Browns. He was given a base on balls by Detroit pitcher Bob Cain. The midget was immediately replaced on the base lines by Jim Delsing as a pinch runner. But Cain got the side out without a run and the Tigers won, 6-2.

Club Owners Hope To Name Commissioner On Sept. 20

Candidates' List Whittled To Five

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP)—Major league club owners whittled the list of candidates for commissioner of baseball to five today and said they hoped to pick their man at a joint meeting in Chicago, Sept. 20.

"Every one of the five men has told us he is available," said Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees and chairman of the group of owners who met in an all-day screening session at the Waldorf Astoria.

He declined to identify any of the remaining candidates but it is believed Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former superintendent of West Point, are high on the list.

Asked if he expected a successor to A. B. (Happy) Chandler to be named at the Chicago meeting, Webb, spokesman for the club owners, said: "that's our purpose."

He said the executive council would send out notices tonight to all club owners to be represented at the Sept. 20 meeting. This is routine.

A joint meeting, requiring a 30-day notice, is necessary for formal action on a new commissioner.

"This should be it," Webb added. "Our other meetings have been exploratory strictly. This one should get the job done—at least, we all hope so."

The "big five" who merged from today's minute screening session were all included in the 11 names presented after a meeting of owners here Aug. 7.

Lou Perini of the Boston Braves said some of the candidates in the original list of 11 eliminated themselves.

Gens. Dwight Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur are believed among those who asked that they not be considered. Former Postmaster General Jim Farley and George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, are also out of the picture, according to information received by the Associated Press.

In the original list and possibly still in the running are Ford Frick, president of the National League; Gen. Clifton B. Cates, Marine Corps commandant; and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, commanding general of the air force.

Bob Elliott, Boston Braves All-Star third baseman, made the 1941 All-Star squad as an outfielder. He was with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Frostburg Plans To Resurface Several Streets

Hourly Workers To Punch Time Clocks

FROSTBURG—Meeting in official session Monday evening, the Mayor and City Council decided to resurface several streets in addition to those for which contracts have already been let.

City Attorney Edward J. Ryan was instructed to draft an ordinance for the resurfacing of Water Street from West Main to Ormond Street, and Broadway from Steyer to Mechanic Street.

An ordinance was also approved for the resurfacing of Lemmerts Alley from West Main Street to Centennial Street.

City Clerk Alex. G. Close reported that while the contractors are engaged in the resurfacing of Center and High Streets, they will be asked to submit an estimate on the cost of patching Mechanic Street from Broadway to Maple Street, and Green Street from Washington to the corporate limits near Hanna's Service Station.

The Mayor and Council instructed City Clerk Close to order 500 feet of heavy duty four-inch cast iron pipe which, with 300 feet on hand in the city warehouse, will be used to replace smaller water mains beneath the streets to be resurfaced. The pipe will be ordered from an Altoona firm which can make immediate delivery.

Following a suggestion of Mayor Jesse Jacobs, the city decided to install a daily time card system for city employes who are paid by the hour, effective September 1, in the city water and street departments. Each hourly employe will be required to sign a daily time-card, which must be also signed by Street Supervisor Rees Bevan, who will deliver the cards to City Clerk Close every Saturday morning. Each employe must report the location of his work and time spent on each job.

The Mayor and Commissioners also discussed a proposal by Commissioner Arthur Thomas to have larger water mains laid from the Savage River Pumping Station to the reservoirs on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain.

Mayor Jacobs said he believed that a larger line from the Savage Mountain reservoirs to the city's distribution system might be of greater importance, especially in time of drought and in the event of a big fire in the town. No action was taken.

City Clerk Alex G. Close reported that water was pumped into the city water system 10 days in July and that pumping from the same source was started again August 15.

Reed To Head Water, Street Departments

Succeeds Glass In Westernport Post

WESTERNPORT—William Burt Reed was appointed water and street superintendent of the Town of Westernport at the regular meeting of Mayor George P. Kight and City Commissioners Monday afternoon.

Reed is now a street employe. His appointment becomes effective September 1 at a salary of $230 per month. He succeeds Francis D. Glass, who resigned August 1 to take a position at Savage River Dam.

James Grove, who was appointed temporarily August 6 to fill Glass' vacancy, will continue in that capacity to September 1.

Percy White and George Elias asked that Morrison Street be improved. The Mayor and Council inspected the street after the meeting.

A letter from John J. Long, director of plant personnel at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, stating that Monday, September 10, would be suitable to show a motion picture in the Westernport Library at 7:30 p. m. was red by Mrs. Katherine G. Dailey, city clerk. Long was advised the date would be agreeable.

The next meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners will be held Tuesday, September 4, because of Labor Day.

Tri-County Fair Is Scheduled In Petersburg

Parade Planned During Exhibition

The 31st annual Tri-County Fair, largest yearly event in the South Branch Valley, will swing open at Petersburg, W. Va on Wednesday, September 12, for a four-day stand—an innovation in the exposition, which heretofore has been held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Officials of the fair have announced that hundreds of premium catalogues have been mailed out to exhibitors and farmers throughout the area, and early indications are that this year's event will surpass any of the past.

The W. J. Ranch rodeo has been booked for the fair, and will give afternoon and night performances on Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday afternoons and nights. Friday afternoon and night will see the riding horses stealing the spotlight and some of the finest thoroughbreds of the east are expected to be shown in front of the big grandstand.

Another innovation this year will be a mammoth parade on Friday evening at 6 o'clock, when fire companies, veterans organizations, marching groups, floats and commercial and private entries will parade through Petersburg's main streets as a semi-climax to the big four-day holiday. All organizations in the area have been invited to attend and take part in the parade, and liberal cash prizes will be awarded by those judging the event. The best appearing fire apparatus, best appearing drill team, outfit coming the longest distance, best band in the parade, and the best drum and bugle corps will each receive $25, and the best ladies' auxiliary will be awarded a cash prize of $20. Friday has been designated as Firemen's day at the fair, and fireaters from all points of the compass are expected to be on hand for the parade, which will be sponsored by the Petersburg, Franklin and Moorefield companies as the host outfit.

Wednesday has been designated as children's day at the fair, and as usual, a holiday will be declared by school authorities so that children can attend free as guests of the fair association. All children under 10 years of age will be admitted free when accompanied by a responsible adult, and will be admitted free to the grandstand for the big afternoon rodeo show.

St. John's Academy Alumni Reunion Held In Petersburg

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — The Alumni of St. John's Academy held its annual reunion Sunday at Petersburg High School.

Clarence Hott, president, presided. The program included devotions, led by Hott; special music, included a selection by a trio consisting of Dr. Eva Teter Beaver, W. Va., former music teacher at the Academy; Mrs. Mary Spangler, Romney, and Hott, accompanied by Mrs. Carmen Huffman.

Olive Shaffer read a poem and Chester Shaffer, Winter Haven, Fla., gave reminiscences of school days at St. John's.

The academy, a Lutheran Church school had its beginning in 1921 with 28 students and four teachers. Five of those original students were present at the reunion, Ralph Ours and Elton Hiser, Petersburg; Marion Rexrode, Franklin; Chester Shaffer, Winter Haven, Fla., and Miss Ruth White, Brecksville, O.

Also in attendance were Reginald Krause, M. D.: Ph. D., who is head of the Bio-Chemistry Department at West Virginia University and his mother, Mrs. A. E. Krause, widow of Dr. A. E. Krause, a former teacher at St. John's.

Officers elected were Bardon Harper, Mouth of Seneca, President and Joy Adamson, Onego, secretary-treasurer.

Others from out of town attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ison Kimble, Springfield, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shaffer and family, Middletown, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sites, Silver Spring, Md.; Miss Ellen Brady and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snyder, Washington, D. C.; Mr. Joe Dasher, Peru; Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Barr, Mrs. Sam L. Harper Jr., and Mrs. Nola Pratt, Moorefield, W. Va. and Mrs. Eleanor Krause, Romney.

Midland Baseball Team See Pirates

MIDLAND — The Dapper Dan Little League baseball team saw the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates play in Pittsburgh Saturday.

The trip from Midland, made by 60 children and 14 adults, was sponsored by Mayor Verd Ash, members of the Ground Hog Club, Post No. 169 American Legion, Lefty Grove, Lonaconing; Midland Fire Company and president of the Little League.

Little Joe Monahan received a thrill when he shook hands with A. K. "Rosey" Rowswell, baseball announcer, and presented him with a baseball autographed by Mayor Ash.

Piedmont Pool Proceeds Reach $2,000 For Year

State Tax Group Okays New Levy

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—Admissions at Piedmont Swimming Pool this season totaled $2,000, Mayor Allen Hill told the City Council at a meeting Monday afternoon.

The figure includes $400 carried over from June, which fell in the last fiscal year. Salaries totaled $350.

Mayor Hill also reported the State Tax Commission has approved the 1951-52 budget and levy.

Parking meter receipts in the past two weeks totaled $172.32, Hill declared.

The Council ordered Mrs. Lilyan Cole, city clerk, to write a letter to C. T. Williams, Cumberland Division superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, to protest unnecessary train noises.

Mayor Hill said several residents have complained that engineers blew their whistles or diesel horns longer than is necessary while passing through the town.

The Council authorized Hill to appoint an extra policeman while Chief of Police James Harrison is on vacation September 3-9.

Lafayette Lodge No. 3, Knights of Pythias, was granted a permit to alter a building on Ashfield Street occupied by the Style Shop and Tri-Towns Flower Shop.

Tri-County Fair Is Scheduled In Petersburg

Parade Planned During Exhibition

The 31st annual Tri-County Fair, largest yearly event in the South Branch Valley, will swing open at Petersburg, W. Va. on Wednesday, September 12, for a four-day stand —an innovation in the exposition, which heretofore has been held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Officials of the fair have announced that hundreds of premium catalogues have been mailed out to exhibitors and farmers throughout the area, and early indications are that this year's event will surpass any of the past.

The W. J. Ranch rodeo has been booked for the fair, and will give afternoon and night performances on Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday afternoons and nights. Friday afternoon and night will see the riding horses stealing the spotlight and some of the finest thoroughbreds of the east are expected to be shown in front of the big grandstand.

Another innovation this year will be a mammoth parade on Friday evening at 6 o'clock, when fire companies, veterans organizations, marching groups, floats and commercial and private entries will parade through Petersburg's main streets as a semi-climax to the big four-day holiday. All organizations in the area have been invited to attend and take part in the parade, and liberal cash prizes will be awarded by those judging the event. The best appearing fire apparatus, best appearing drill team, outfit coming the longest distance, best band in the parade, and the best drum and bugle corps will each receive $25, and the best ladies' auxiliary will be awarded a cash prize of $20. Friday has been designated as Firemen's day at the fair, and fireaters from all points of the compass are expected to be on hand for the parade, which will be sponsored by the Petersburg, Franklin and Moorefield companies as the host outfit.

Wednesday has been designated as children's day at the fair, and as usual, a holiday will be declared by school authorities so that children can attend free as guests of the fair association. All children under 10 years of age will be admitted free when accompanied by a responsible adult, and will be admitted free to the grandstand for the big afternoon rodeo show.

St. John's Academy Alumni Reunion Held In Petersburg

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — The Alumni of St. John's Academy held its annual reunion Sunday at Petersburg High School.

Clarence Hott, president, presided. The program included devotions, led by Hott; special music, included a selection by a trio consisting of Dr. Eva Teter Beaver, W. Va., former music teacher at the Academy; Mrs. Mary Spangler, Romney, and Hott, accompanied by Mrs. Carmen Huffman.

Olive Shaffer read a poem and Chester Shaffer, Winter Haven, Fla., gave reminiscences of school days at St. John's.

The academy, a Lutheran Church school had its beginning in 1921 with 28 students and four teachers. Five of those original students were present at the reunion, Ralph Ours and Elton Hiser, Petersburg; Marion Rexrode, Franklin; Chester Shaffer, Winter Haven, Fla., and Miss Ruth White, Brecksville, O.

Also in attendance were Reginald Krause, M. D.: Ph. D., who is head of the Bio-Chemistry Department at West Virginia University and his mother, Mrs. A. E. Krause, widow of Dr. A. E. Krause, a former teacher at St. John's.

Officers elected were Bardon Harper, Mouth of Seneca, President and Joy Adamson, Onego, secretary-treasurer.

Others from out of town attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ison Kimble, Springfield, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shaffer and family, Middletown, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sites, Silver Spring, Md.; Miss Ellen Brady and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Snyder, Washington, D. C.; Mr. Joe Dasher, Peru; Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Barr, Mrs. Sam L. Harper Jr., and Mrs. Nola Pratt, Moorefield, W. Va. and Mrs. Eleanor Krause, Romney.

Midland Baseball Team See Pirates

MIDLAND — The Dapper Dan Little League baseball team saw the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates play in Pittsburgh Saturday.

The trip from Midland, made by 60 children and 14 adults, was sponsored by Mayor Verd Ash, members of the Ground Hog Club, Post No. 169 American Legion, Lefty Grove, Lonaconing; Midland Fire Company and president of the Little League.

Little Joe Monahan received a thrill when he shook hands with A. K. "Rosey" Rowswell, baseball announcer, and presented him with a baseball autographed by Mayor Ash.

Piedmont Pool Proceeds Reach $2,000 For Year

State Tax Group Okays New Levy

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—Admissions at Piedmont Swimming Pool this season totaled $2,000, Mayor Allen Hill told the City Council at a meeting Monday afternoon.

The figure includes $400 carried over from June, which fell in the last fiscal year. Salaries totaled $350.

Mayor Hill also reported the State Tax Commission has approved the 1951-52 budget and levy.

Parking meter receipts in the past two weeks totaled $172.32, Hill declared.

The Council ordered Mrs. Lilyan Cole, city clerk, to write a letter to C. T. Williams, Cumberland Division superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, to protest unnecessary train noises.

Mayor Hill said several residents have complained that engineers blew their whistles or diesel horns longer than is necessary while passing through the town.

The Council authorized Hill to appoint an extra policeman while Chief of Police James Harrison is on vacation September 3-9.

Lafayette Lodge No. 3, Knights of Pythias, was granted a permit to alter a building on Ashfield Street occupied by the Style Shop and Tri-Towns Flower Shop.

Judge Harris Will Announce Verdict

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris said yesterday that he will announce his verdict at 10 a. m. today in Allegany County Circuit Court in the case of Robert Duckworth, 31, Keyser, W. Va., charged with assault.

Duckworth was tried last Friday before Judge Harris on a charge of assaulting Cecelia Eversole, 65-year old Keyser widow, near Westernport. At that time Judge Harris withheld his decision to give him an opportunity to investigate the background of both parties.

However, Judge Harris last Friday did issue a strongly worded warning against further acts of violence in Allegany County.

Miss Nancy McGreevy First 18-Year-Old WAVE Recruit

NANCY M. McGREEVY

The first 18-year-old girl from this area to enlist in the WAVEs since the change in the age requirement, was sworn into the service in Baltimore yesterday.

Miss Nancy Marie McGreevy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Owen McGreevy, 240 North Mechanic Street, will go to the WAVE Recruit School, Great Lakes, Ill., for training.

A graduate of Girls Central High School, Miss McGreevy is a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. One of her brothers, Pfc. Robert McGreevy, is listed as missing in the Korean war. He was fighting with the 1st Infantry Division, 3rd Army. Pfc. McGreevy enlisted in the U. S. Army in May 1950, and was listed as missing November 2, 1950.

Miss McGreevy has three other brothers who were in the armed forces during World War II. Eugene McGreevy served three years in Europe with the U. S. Army. He is now employed at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Paul McGreevy served about two years with the U. S. Marine Corps, and was assigned for a time in London and Scotland. Edward McGreevy was in the U. S. Navy during the war and served for more than one year. Both are now living in Jeannette, Pa., where they are employed by a railroad company.

The young woman also has three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Haywood, Westernport; Mrs. Agnes Kienhofer, this city; and Miss Helen McGreevy, at home. Helen will continue to attend Girls Central High School next month.

Miss McGreevy's father is a barber, located on North Mechanic Street.

Research Farm Tests Grasses

Field Day Is Held Near College Park

During the Field Day at the University of Maryland Plant Research Farm near College Park on August 16, farmers had an opportunity to see new varieties of grasses and legumes that were tested, according to Dr. A. O. Kuhn, head of the Agronomy Department.

Maryland agronomists determined which varieties of birdsfoot trefoil, red clover, alfalfa, Ladino clover, orchard grass, timothy, and brome grass make the best yield in this area.

In these tests all birdsfoot trefoil varieties have proved disappointing, Williamsburg and Atlantic alfalfa have looked quite promising, southern types of brome grass have been superior to northern types, and the Kenland and Pennscott varieties of red clover have been most productive.

Many of these promising varieties have not yet been grown by farmers in the State. Seed of several will be available in the near future. A visit to the Plant Research Farm on August 16 offered farmers an opportunity to make actual comparisons and to judge which may suit the individual's particular need.

Seven Area Servicemen Return From Overseas

Seven area servicemen have arrived or are scheduled to arrive in California today from the Korean fighting front. Aboard the J. C. Breckenridge which docked at San Francisco yesterday are Cpl. Carl J. Beckman, Oakland, Pvt. John J. Cole, Frostburg and Sgt. Walker T. Wills, 28 State Street, here.

Among those returning on the USS Montrose at San Diego is Cpl. James T. Barnhart, 205 Fairfax Street. The USS Sylvester Antola due in California today will have the following aboard, Sgt. Billy E. Hanlin, RFD No. 2, Oakland, Cpl. Melvin H. Smith, 912 Yale Street, and Cpl. Frank J. Spataro, Frostburg.

City Dinner Club Lists Speakers For New Season

Six Monthly Programs Set

Programs of the Cumberland National Dinner Club have been completed, according to Ivan C. Diehl, president.

The monthly dinner meetings, starting in October and continuing until April, are held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club and will include such programs as Latin America, Africa, psychology of oneself, humor, illustrating and music.

Diehl said the first meeting will be held Tuesday, October 9 at 7 p. m. All meetings are generally held on Tuesdays. However, this year in order to include two entertaining personalities, two meetings will be held on different evenings—one on a Saturday and the other on a Friday.

Don Bolt Comes First

The Cumberland Club is affiliated with Associated Clubs, Inc., a clearing house for platform personalities.

The speaker lineup as announced by the local club includes: Tuesday, October 9—DON BOLT, whose topic will be "Latin America, The Powerful Unknown." Bolt, an authority on Latin America, spent years as a newspaperman in the section. He is a former Chicago commentator for NBC.

Saturday, December 8—GEORGE BAILEY, "The Man With The Photographic Mind," presents four acts in his show. He'll pay $5 to any member of the local club whose name he fails to remember and he will pay any lady member $5 whose first as well as last name he cannot remember. Bailey's show includes beside his memory act, magic, musical glasses and a violin concert, a la Jack Benny.

Movie On Africa

Tuesday, January 15—JAMES T. MONESMITH will present "Action in Africa." An all-color motion picture with up-to-the-minute scenes and commentary will be offered. Monesmith returned from his latest expedition to Africa in August, 1950. Members of the local club will have a seat alongside Monesmith in the cabin of the truck as he films through the windshield the chase and capture of many animals. Monesmith is a professional hunter and conductor of tourists through African game fields.

Tuesday, February 5—ED STEVENSON, "From Fables to Funnies." He is a cartoonist, illustrator and lecturer who draws as he talks. He takes a fresh sheet of newsprint spread on a 9 by 3-foot easel and with chalk in his hand, presents an evening of entertainment. Known for his wildlife and outdoor magazine illustration, Stevenson has been called "one of New York's most versatile artists" because his work has led him into many diverse channels of illustration and painting. Formerly the artist for a King Features syndicated page called "Ted Towers," a jungle adventure color feature by Frank Buck, Stevenson is currently doing the newspaper cartoon feature, "Dog Oddities." A serious artist as well as cartoonist, his illustrations have appeared in Liberty Magazine, Outdoor Life and other national magazines. He served with Navy in both world wars and in the second one commanded a minesweeper in the South Pacific and a big sea-going tug in the Caribbean.

Dr. Fishbein To Speak

Friday, March 7—DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN on "Doctors and Specialists." He was editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association for 25 years. At present he is Professor of Medical History at the University of Chicago and the University of Illinois. He lectures but three weeks each year and is considered by many as the "best platform humorist in America."

Tuesday, April 15—GEORGE FARNHAM discusses "Psychology of Self-Discovery." He approaches this age-old subject from a slightly different angle. His remarks are said to be timely and witty. He served four years in the Connecticut legislature and is author of "Fifty Years a Fool" and "Beginning at the Beginning." He is the founder of the John Mason Country School for Boys.

Other officers of the Club besides Diehl, are Lewis J. Ort, vice-president; Winfield H. Adam, secretary-treasurer; and Robert Little Ebert, Mrs. Douglas Smith, and Mrs. Harry Teter, directors.

Kiwanis To Hear Ballistics Expert

Richard Winer, head of the ballistics section at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Pinto, will address the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA. He will speak on guided missiles.

Green Spring Briefs And Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Allen and children and Mrs. Herman Rawlings and daughter spent the weekend in Frederick with Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rawlings.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Allen and daughters, of Texas, and Mrs. Lillian Allen spent Sunday with Mrs. Mary Kline in Corriganville.

Roy Whetzel is a patient in a Grafton, W. Va., hospital.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Allen Sunday were Rev. Petry and family, Miss Fawn Whisner, Great Cacapon, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bell, Jr., and daughters and Miss Nellie Faye.

An open-air meeting will be held Thursday at 7:45 p. m. at Frye's Store.

City Water Officials Attend Conference

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, are attending the 24th annual conference of the Pennsylvania Water Works Association.

The three-day meeting at State College, Pa., which ends today, included discussions on water supplies and atomic bombing and operation of water plants.

The body of Marie Antoinette was buried in a pine coffin that cost 7 francs.

Mapleside Group To Meet

A special meeting of the Mapleside Playground Association is being held at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Mapleside Methodist Church.

Plans will be completed for the Fall Festival, August 30.

Movie On Africa

Tuesday, January 15—JAMES T. MONESMITH will present "Action in Africa." An all-color motion picture with up-to-the-minute scenes and commentary will be offered. Monesmith returned from his latest expedition to Africa in August, 1950. Members of the local club will have a seat alongside Monesmith in the cabin of the truck as he films through the windshield the chase and capture of many animals. Monesmith is a professional hunter and conductor of tourists through African game fields.

Tuesday, February 5—ED STEVENSON, "From Fables to Funnies." He is a cartoonist, illustrator and lecturer who draws as he talks. He takes a fresh sheet of newsprint spread on a 9 by 3-foot easel and with chalk in his hand, presents an evening of entertainment. Known for his wildlife and outdoor magazine illustration, Stevenson has been called "one of New York's most versatile artists" because his work has led him into many diverse channels of illustration and painting. Formerly the artist for a King Features syndicated page called "Ted Towers," a jungle adventure color feature by Frank Buck, Stevenson is currently doing the newspaper cartoon feature, "Dog Oddities." A serious artist as well as cartoonist, his illustrations have appeared in Liberty Magazine, Outdoor Life and other national magazines. He served with Navy in both world wars and in the second one commanded a minesweeper in the South Pacific and a big sea-going tug in the Caribbean.

Dr. Fishbein To Speak

Friday, March 7—DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN on "Doctors and Specialists." He was editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association for 25 years. At present he is Professor of Medical History at the University of Chicago and the University of Illinois. He lectures but three weeks each year and is considered by many as the "best platform humorist in America."

Tuesday, April 15—GEORGE FARNHAM discusses "Psychology of Self-Discovery." He approaches this age-old subject from a slightly different angle. His remarks are said to be timely and witty. He served four years in the Connecticut legislature and is author of "Fifty Years a Fool" and "Beginning at the Beginning." He is the founder of the John Mason Country School for Boys.

Other officers of the Club besides Diehl, are Lewis J. Ort, vice-president; Winfield H. Adam, secretary-treasurer; and Robert Little Ebert, Mrs. Douglas Smith, and Mrs. Harry Teter, directors.

Kiwanis To Hear Ballistics Expert

Richard Winer, head of the ballistics section at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Pinto, will address the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA. He will speak on guided missiles.

Green Spring Briefs And Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Allen and children and Mrs. Herman Rawlings and daughter spent the weekend in Frederick with Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rawlings.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Allen and daughters, of Texas, and Mrs. Lillian Allen spent Sunday with Mrs. Mary Kline in Corriganville.

Roy Whetzel is a patient in a Grafton, W. Va., hospital.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Allen Sunday were Rev. Petry and family, Miss Fawn Whisner, Great Cacapon, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bell, Jr., and daughters and Miss Nellie Faye.

An open-air meeting will be held Thursday at 7:45 p. m. at Frye's Store.

City Water Officials Attend Conference

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, are attending the 24th annual conference of the Pennsylvania Water Works Association.

The three-day meeting at State College, Pa., which ends today, included discussions on water supplies and atomic bombing and operation of water plants.

The body of Marie Antoinette was buried in a pine coffin that cost 7 francs.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21 (INS) — If you read the national magazine story about Ursula Thiess, beautiful German model, it will be of particular interest to learn she has been signed for "Monsoon," Forrest Judd's thriller to be filmed in Bombay.

For the past 12 weeks, Ursula has been in Hollywood on an RKO contract learning English from Drama Coach Florence Enright. Before Howard Hughes puts her in a picture, she'll do this loan for Judd.

Even if you have not heard the German beauty's story — it is a fascinating one:

At 15, as all German girls were forced to do, she spent a year at compulsory farm labor required by Hitler's Nazi government. Returning to Hamburg, she was bombed out of her home and in May, 1945, fled from advancing Russian troops in North Germany. When "peace" came — Ursula became a model, the most gorgeous in Germany.

The welcome the fans gave Robert Mitchum and Jane Russell in Chicago was a thrill. But, Bob got more of a thrill just before he left Hollywood. RK0 renewed his option and his salary now jumps into a bracket which should delight the Treasury Department.

When Bob and Jane complete their personal appearance with "His Kind Of Woman," he leaves immediately for Colorado Springs to begin "The Korean Story" for Eddie Grainger.

Chatter in Hollywood:

What's with Dan Dailey and Irene Wrightsman? They have dated several times — which is more than she's accepted from any other escort since her long time romance with Kirk Douglas chilled.

The other night, Dan and Irene were leaving the Captain's Table (a cafe, not a table) when Steven Crane drove his new Munta Jet (an automobile, not a plane) up under the awning and parked on the sidewalk. That's how small it is.

Irene and Dan were so enthused about the midget motor that Steve gave them a ride down the sidewalk for a block or so.

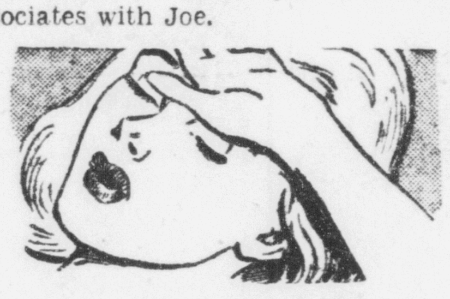
Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

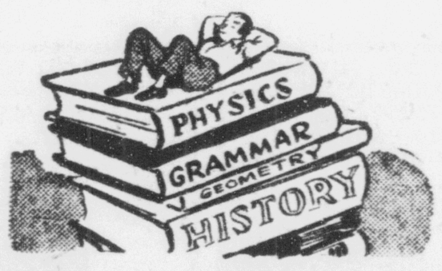
May you tell the same friends the same story?

Answer: Yes. One of the most brilliant early students of psychiatry in the United States, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Sr. tells how he caught himself on several occasions making a certain humorous remark to people to whom he had made it before, though he had not used it elsewhere. He rightly explains this by the force of "association," through which being with certain people tended to bring back the train of thought which he had previously followed in their presence. You're always a little more apt to tell Bill the same story that you told him the last time you saw him than one which your mind associates with Joe.



Can mental suffering make you unconscious?

Answer: Yes, though in a slightly different sense from that in which physical pain does. Extreme physical pain may cause you to "black out" entirely, while with mental suffering like fear or shame only the source of pain—or part of it—is bloted out so that you cannot recognize it. The process is what is called repression, and is what makes the unconscious mind unconscious. In the relatively simple instance of a phobia, for example, you are able to endure the knowledge that you dare not go out alone, but could not bear the shame of recognizing your desire for the "temptations" this might involve.



Will education raise your I. Q.?

Answer: Psychologists are still arguing this question. Intelligence tests of nearly 1,000 Danish army recruits made by Dr. G. Rasch showed that young men from the upper socio-economic levels usually had considerably higher I.Q.'s, which he believed was due to their having had more education. But Dr. S. A. Tordrup replies that tests of fifth grade school children in Copenhagen show in advance which ones are ligely to go on to high school and college, and this cannot be attributed to education which they have not yet had. I suspect that you will find the highest I.Q.s in children of well-adjusted parents.

Salisbury Cleans Up After Flash Storm

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Residents of Salisbury yesterday cleaned up the debris left by a flash storm which tore down television antennas, felled trees and disrupted telephone and power service.

The storm, lasting about an hour Monday, dumped .8 inches of rain on the city and brought hail and winds of 40 miles per hour.

Between 300 and 400 local telephones were knocked out of commission and long distance service to Baltimore and Washington was out for about an hour and a half.

At the height of the storm, firemen from both Salisbury companies were called out to battle a fire in a warehouse on the east side of the city.

It is a bad habit when playing poker to hold a side card when drawing to a pair. It lessens the chance of making three of a kind.

County Distributes

The commissioners also ordered a total of $15,675 paid to the 22 volunteer fire companies in the county. Each of the companies is allocated a portion of the total fund for its services to their respective communities.

During the discussion on allocating funds to several organizations, such as the Red Cross, Allegany County League for Crippled Children, Cumberland Community Chest, Allegany County Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Allegany County Cancer Control Fund and Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association, it was brought out that at the last session of the Legislature a bill was passed permitting an increase of the donations total from $5,000 to $6,000.

Law Covers Contributions

Commissioner Holmes raised a question of the distribution when the amounts for each organization were read.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, checked into the matter and found the law provides that the total amount to be $6,000 with not less than $600 to be paid to the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association. The balance of the extra $1,000 in the legislation is to be donated to other agencies at the discretion of the commissioners.

The Red Cross is given $250 annually, and it is apportioned among various units in the county. The Allegany County League for Crippled Children gets $1,000 as provided by law, and the balance of the monies is then distributed among the other agencies.

There was some talk that the Community Chest appropriation of $3,000 for this year would probably have to be cut next year in order to give some of the other agencies more money.

The Red Cross was listed as not getting enough in view of the increase in the requests for assistance for servicemen and their families.

The Charm of The Hayeses and The Tonsils Of Mel Torme

The charm of Peter Lind Hayes and his wife Mary Healy has captivated a lot of people in New York, Hollywood, Las Vegas, Detroit and—well, pick any city where they have played the night-club circuit. I'm among the victims. I'm also a friend of the Hayeses, so you can regard the rest of this critique with some suspicion if you like.

John Crosby

Their three prior ventures into television — "Inside U. S. A.", the "Stork Club Show" and "The Peter and Mary Show" — were not entirely happy ventures, generally due to circumstances beyond their control. Their newest program, "Star of the Family," has a few kinks in it, but it seems to me the most fortunate enterprise so far, chiefly because the Hayeses can relax and be themselves. The gimmick in this show — there has to be a gimmick, junior, or how would we manage?—is that the Hayeses interview a member of the family of some entertainer, digging out pertinent information about how, say, Mel Torme got that way.

• — • — •

In the case of Mr. Torme, it was the wife who was interviewed and, bless me, if she didn't bring along an X-ray shot of his tonsils. You see Mr. Torme had his tonsils removed but they half grew back. And that half-tonsil, neighbors, is what created a voice which has been widely admired as "the velvet fog." That is the gimmick on this show and it's a good one. It could lead to all sorts of fascinating revelations about famous people. I, for one, would love to see an X-ray of Frank Sinatra, the whole Frank Sinatra, to see if he has any bones at all. The fan magazines never probe into the really significant parts of an actor's background like a man's tonsils and how they influenced his life. I was flattened by a tonsil operation myself once, and it was while I was lying there, waiting for them to half grow back, that I decided that I'd better not be a crooner anyhow (there was already one Crosby doing pretty well at it) and decided just to write about crooners. Been doing it ever since, a horrible mistake.

Let's get back to business. After Mrs. Torme, a very pretty girl, explained about the origin of the velvet fog, the fog itself appeared and demonstrated how that half-tonsil worked on a song called "Behold How My Lover Loves Me." Worked fine. But I don't think Torme's voice is entirely to be blamed on that tonsil. He's a good craftsman and has learned a lot about singing in the last couple of years.

• — • — •

Between guests, Peter and Mary contribute my own favorite portions of the show, generally singing duets of a satiric nature. A scene, for example, from all the Jeanette McDonald and Nelson Eddy pictures which, I thought, summed up that pair as expertly as possible. I'm also rather fond of another of their songs, "A Peony Bush In My Garden," a delicately malicious study of all the songs of that genre. At various other times, they have transformed themselves into Ethel Merman and Russell Nype in the duet from "Call Me Madam," a song that may just possibly be a little overworked, and into Mario Lanza and Judy Holliday engaged in the most improbable duet of our times.

The guests with a few exceptions have been pretty wonderful, especially Joe Frisco. Mr. Frisco unburdened himself of his lament for horseplayers. For your real horseplayer, this is the funniest comic routine in the world — the funniest and also the most tragic, since it may easily be the story of their lives.

• — • — •

I have a few small complaints as usual. Some of the guests, notably a comic named Gene Boyles, are not exactly out of the top drawer. The member of the family in his case was his sister-in-law, who explained that all the members of his family kept telling him how funny he was, that he should be a professional comedian, he really should. Well, I don't know. I sort of wish they hadn't urged him so hard. Also, the Hayeses' wisecracks about their own marriage sometimes reach a degree of archness wihch is trying.

Incidentally, the production and lighting (especially the lighting) are extremely handsome. Sometime, I think they know more about lighting at CBS than at all the other networks put together.

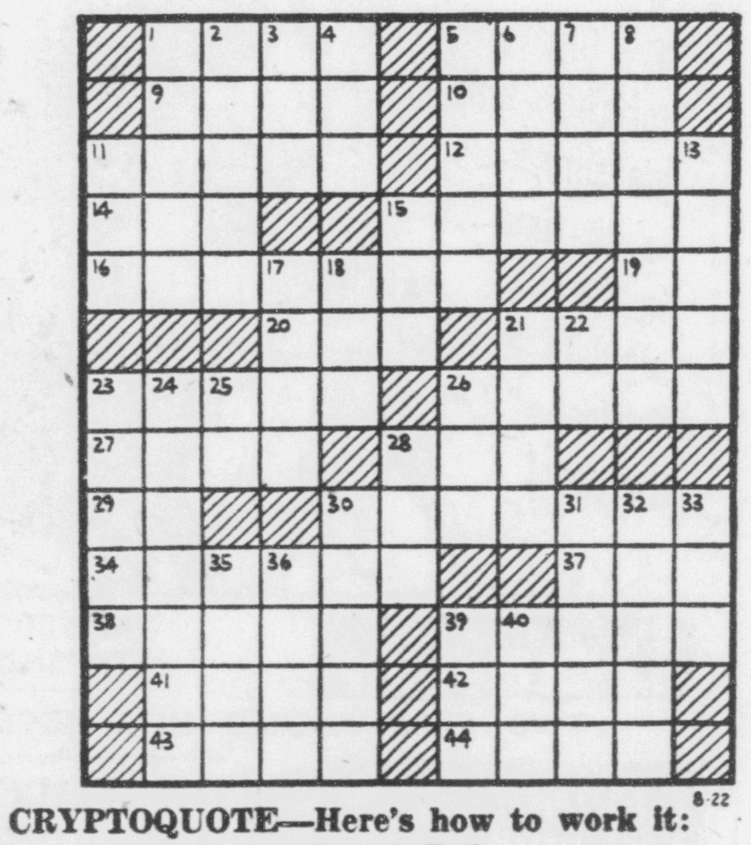
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

8-22

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

P R E H N Q Q L C V P T C Z L V J P Q Q C E
O B C J T L Z C V N H H P O C.—D N D C.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: A PLACE THERE BE FOR SOULS WITHOUT A STAIN, WHERE PEACE IS PERFECT.—SWINBURNE.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Ammie E. Howser, who departed this life 7 years ago, August 22, 1944.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Mother,
We do not think of you.
Peaceful be thy rest, dear Mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.

Sadly missed by the Children

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Ammie E. Howser, who departed this life 7 years ago, August 22, 1944.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Mother,
We do not think of you.
Peaceful be thy rest, dear Mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Sadly missed by the Children

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

EVERYTHING JUST RIGHT

EVERYTHING has to be done just right in order for certain contracts to be made. At the very beginning of play, your opponent must make a particular lead—or at least not a particular other lead, which would ruin you. Then his partner must ruff a particular trick and be over-ruffed. You then must immediately lay down the ace of trumps. Shortly afterward you must take the top two cards of a side suit before ruffing any of it in the dummy. Change any of these and you are licked.

You can readily see North's purpose in using 5-Clubs as his mild slam invitation—not only to disclose his 5-5 length of suits, but to inhibit a club lead, perhaps causing a heart. It succeeded in the latter purpose, since West opened the heart 8.

Then the declarer, not only one of New York's most brilliant advertising men, but one of the famous Cavendish Club's most capable all-round bridge players, Charles H. Whitebrook, made the best possible use of his good fortune. He won the opener with the heart Q, took in the A and led the K. East ruffed with the spade 10 and was over-ruffed by the Q. Now the first key play was the spade 2 to the A, which killed the K. The heart 10 brought a discard of the club K, the club 3 was ruffed by the spade 3 for entry, the diamond A and K scored, the diamond 4 ruffed by the spade 6, club 5 by the spade 5, diamond 7 by the spade 9 and with the contract safely home, the last two tricks were conceded to West's spade 8 and J.

The main points, as Mr Whitebrook points out, were to "play one round of trumps after over-ruffing East's 10, or the hand cannot be made, as West will have two spade tricks at the end and cashing the diamond A-K before the cross-ruff. Of course, if West cashes the club A on the opening lead, I can make it only if the defense goes to sleep. But it's pretty tough to lead the club A after North's two club bids." Truly a cute hand.

Bar Association Hits Plan To End Federal Court Here

The Allegany County Bar Association went on record Monday opposing the suggestion by U. S. Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor (D-Md.) that sessions of the federal court be discontinued in Cumberland.

Earlier this month Senator O'Conor, fourth ranking member of the Judiciary Committee, said he may ask the senate to change laws which require federal judges to hold regular court terms here and at Denton, Md.

Requirement Long Ignored

Actually, the Maryland Federal Court has ignored this statutory requirement and for years has limited its sessions to Baltimore.

Investigation has shown that "only on a few occasions has there been any need for the Federal court convening in either Western Maryland or on the Eastern Shore," Senator O'Conor said.

He noted also that "some years ago, a committee of the judicial conference of the United States recommended that authority be vested in the judges to abolish such requirements."

He added that "no facilities have been provided on the Eastern Shore for the holding of judicial sessions."

Senator O'Conor made it known that his opposition to the proposal for an additional judge for Maryland was based on the need for economy and on the advice of members of the bench, bar-association officials and practicing attorneys.

It was the consensus "that there is no need for additional district judges," he stated. (The State has two Federal judges.)

Nineteen Judgeships

Under proposed legislation, nineteen additional judgeships will be created, comprising one circut judge and eighteen district judges. A circuit judgeship will be added to the Court of Appeals of the Fifth Circuit, increasing the number from six to seven, and judgeships will be provided for the following states:

Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Nevada, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington and Alaska.

Colleagues serving on the judiciary committee invariably respect the wishes of a senator concerning his own state, according to official sources.

Albert A. Doub, president of the Allegany County Bar Association, emphasized last night that the group voted unanimously in opposition to Senator O'Conor's plan.

"The association believes that such a move is false economy," the president explained. "We already have a Federal courtroom here in Cumberland that is quite modern and adequate and one of the best Federal law libraries in the section, all of which is paid for. The cost of maintaining a clerk here is a nominal expense in view of the convenience to lawyers of this area in being able to file suits here. It would benefit not only Allegany County, but all of Western Maryland."

Vo-Ag Students Seek Fair Prizes

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—The Vo-Ag class of Petersburg High School will have the entries at the State Fair at Lewisburg, W. Va. this week.

They include 12 pigs, 10 exhibits of corn, 10 of potatoes, two of barley, three of wheat, two of oats and three of eggs.

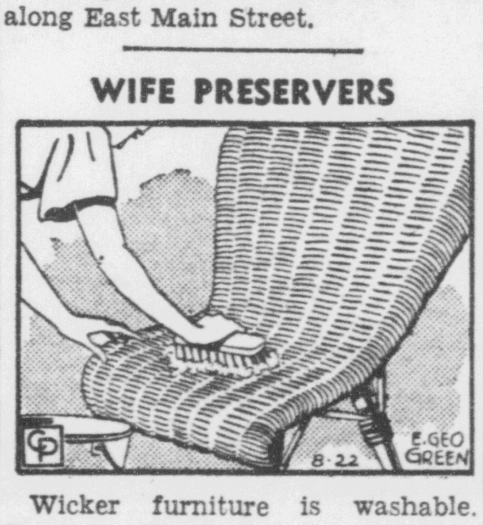
Junior Stark left by truck Sunday, taking the exhibits and L. G. Stark, vo-ag teacher, and 20 of his students will go to Lewisburg today and stay until after the judging is completed.

Lonaconing Continues Battle On Dogs

LONACONING — The Mayor and Council made provisions at their meeting Monday evening to employ a dog catcher to pick up stray and unlicensed dogs in the town. Notices have been posted throughout the town warning that stray and unlicensed dogs will be picked up and if not called for in a period of time, will be destroyed.

The council also made plans to have repairs made to the creek wall along East Main Street.

WIFE PRESERVERS



Wicker furniture is washable. Scrub it with thick, warm soapsuds, working into the crevices with a stiff brush. Rinse with a fine spray of water and set in the sun to dry.

Kiwanis Club Begins Drive

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — The Petersburg Kiwanis Club is beginning its third annual National Kids Day Fund Drive. The drive was originated by Jimmie Fidler, who presented the idea to Kiwanis International three years ago.

They accepted the plan and funds derived from this drive have been able to accomplish much for the "kids."

Fidler is a member of the Hollywood Kiwanis and international chairman of the National Kids Day Fund Drive. The drive closes September 22, and the local Kiwanis club is putting forth every effort to make this drive a success.

T. G. Sites, president of the club, named the following committee for the drive, R. P. Thompson, chairman; Herbert Newman and Dr. L. M. Hutson.

Petticoat-Pants Game Will Be Continued

KEYSER, W. Va.—The Petticoat-Pants baseball game, played by the women and men of the East End Playground on Armstrong Street Extended last Tuesday, will be resumed Friday evening at the same place.

The game was suspended due to darkness last week with the score 14-14 in the fourth inning. A highlight of last week's game was a grand slam home run by Miss Jean [illegible], scoring four runs.

Roy Hartman, captain of the men's team, wore a yellow street length dress with a foundation garment underneath and a brown shoulder bag, necklace, earrings, black hat and hose, at last week's game. There may be some other surprises Friday.

Midland Veteran Home On Leave

MIDLAND—Pfc. Vincent F. Monahan, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Monahan, is spending a 30-day furlough from Korea here. He is scheduled to return to Fort George G. Meade for re-assignment September 6.

Pfc. Monahan has served in Korea with the U. S. Army for the past 29 months. During his leave, he will spend a week with his mother, Mrs. John Dretched, in Pittsburgh. His father was the late Michael Monahan.

Midland Briefs And Personals

Mr. and Mrs. William MacMillan and son, of Weirton, W. Va., visited Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Monahan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dretchel and son, Herman, and Michell Monahan returned to Pittsburgh after visiting at the Monahan home.

Mrs. Raymond Bampton and daughters, Dorothy and Susan, returned from Johnstown, Pa., after vacationing with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis for several weeks.

The Midland W.S.C.S. will sponsor the annual ham supper to be held September 12 in the firemen's hall, Railroad Street.

Frostburg Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Simons, Baltimore, announce the birth of a son, John Oliver Simons, Jr., August 17, in University Hospital, Baltimore. Mr. Simons is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Simons, South Water Street, and Mrs. Simons is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Elvin, Frost Avenue.

Frostburg Chapter 221, Women of the Moose, will hold their regular meeting tomorrow night, with Senior Regent Gladys Warnick, presiding. Betty Winebrenner and her committee will observe their chapter night. There will be an initiation of candidates and Senior Regent Warnick has requested all officers, escorts, and committee to wear street length white dresses. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Frances L. Howard vs. Robert Howard, No. 22326 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce, divorcing the Plaintiff from the Defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married on the 13th. day of December, 1948. That the defendant deserted your oratrix on the 15th. day of January 1950, without just cause or reason and that such desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since that date and is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of any reconciliation; that the Plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County, for more than two years and that the defendant is a non resident of the State of Maryland, and his present whereabouts is unknown to your oratrix.

It is thereupon this 14th day of August 1951, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 15th day of September 1951, giving notice to the non resident defendant of the object of this suit warning him to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 1st day of October 1951, to show cause if any he may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

EVERYTHING JUST RIGHT

EVERYTHING has to be done just right in order for certain contracts to be made. At the very beginning of play, your opponent must make a particular lead—or at least not a particular other lead, which would ruin you. Then his partner must ruff a particular trick and be over-ruffed. You then must immediately lay down the ace of trumps. Shortly afterward you must take the top two cards of a side suit before ruffing any of it in the dummy. Change any of these and you are licked.

You can readily see North's purpose in using 5-Clubs as his mild slam invitation—not only to disclose his 5-5 length of suits, but to inhibit a club lead, perhaps causing a heart. It succeeded in the latter purpose, since West opened the heart 8.

Then the declarer, not only one of New York's most brilliant advertising men, but one of the famous Cavendish Club's most capable all-round bridge players, Charles H. Whitebrook, made the best possible use of his good fortune. He won the opener with the heart Q, took in the A and led the K. East ruffed with the spade 10 and was over-ruffed by the Q. Now the first key play was the spade 2 to the A, which killed the K. The heart 10 brought a discard of the club K, the club 3 was ruffed by the spade 3 for entry, the diamond A and K scored, the diamond 4 ruffed by the spade 6, club 5 by the spade 5, diamond 7 by the spade 9 and with the contract safely home, the last two tricks were conceded to West's spade 8 and J.

The main points, as Mr Whitebrook points out, were to "play one round of trumps after over-ruffing East's 10, or the hand cannot be made, as West will have two spade tricks at the end and cashing the diamond A-K before the cross-ruff. Of course, if West cashes the club A on the opening lead, I can make it only if the defense goes to sleep. But it's pretty tough to lead the club A after North's two club bids." Truly a cute hand.

Bar Association Hits Plan To End Federal Court Here

The Allegany County Bar Association went on record Monday opposing the suggestion by U. S. Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor (D-Md.) that sessions of the federal court be discontinued in Cumberland.

Earlier this month Senator O'Conor, fourth ranking member of the Judiciary Committee, said he may ask the senate to change laws which require federal judges to hold regular court terms here and at Denton, Md.

Requirement Long Ignored

Actually, the Maryland Federal Court has ignored this statutory requirement and for years has limited its sessions to Baltimore.

Investigation has shown that "only on a few occasions has there been any need for the Federal court convening in either Western Maryland or on the Eastern Shore," Senator O'Conor said.

He noted also that "some years ago, a committee of the judicial conference of the United States recommended that authority be vested in the judges to abolish such requirements."

He added that "no facilities have been provided on the Eastern Shore for the holding of judicial sessions."

Senator O'Conor made it known that his opposition to the proposal for an additional judge for Maryland was based on the need for economy and on the advice of members of the bench, bar-association officials and practicing attorneys.

It was the consensus "that there is no need for additional district judges," he stated. (The State has two Federal judges.)

Nineteen Judgeships

Under proposed legislation, nineteen additional judgeships will be created, comprising one circut judge and eighteen district judges. A circuit judgeship will be added to the Court of Appeals of the Fifth Circuit, increasing the number from six to seven, and judgeships will be provided for the following states:

Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Nevada, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington and Alaska.

Colleagues serving on the judiciary committee invariably respect the wishes of a senator concerning his own state, according to official sources.

Albert A. Doub, president of the Allegany County Bar Association, emphasized last night that the group voted unanimously in opposition to Senator O'Conor's plan.

"The association believes that such a move is false economy," the president explained. "We already have a Federal courtroom here in Cumberland that is quite modern and adequate and one of the best Federal law libraries in the section, all of which is paid for. The cost of maintaining a clerk here is a nominal expense in view of the convenience to lawyers of this area in being able to file suits here. It would benefit not only Allegany County, but all of Western Maryland."

Vo-Ag Students Seek Fair Prizes

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—The Vo-Ag class of Petersburg High School will have the entries at the State Fair at Lewisburg, W. Va. this week.

They include 12 pigs, 10 exhibits of corn, 10 of potatoes, two of barley, three of wheat, two of oats and three of eggs.

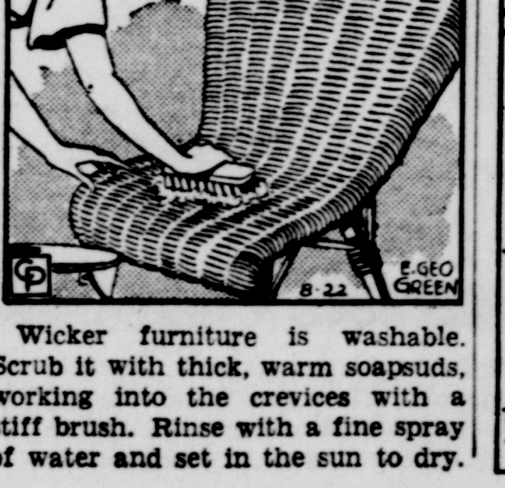
Junior Stark left by truck Sunday, taking the exhibits and L. G. Stark, vo-ag teacher, and 20 of his students will go to Lewisburg today and stay until after the judging is completed.

Lonaconing Continues Battle On Dogs

LONACONING — The Mayor and Council made provisions at their meeting Monday evening to employ a dog catcher to pick up stray and unlicensed dogs in the town. Notices have been posted throughout the town warning that stray and unlicensed dogs will be picked up and if not called for in a period of time, will be destroyed.

The council also made plans to have repairs made to the creek wall along East Main Street.

WIFE PRESERVERS



Wicker furniture is washable. Scrub it with thick, warm soapsuds, working into the crevices with a stiff brush. Rinse with a fine spray of water and set in the sun to dry.

Kiwanis Club Begins Drive

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — The Petersburg Kiwanis Club is beginning its third annual National Kids Day Fund Drive. The drive was originated by Jimmie Fidler, who presented the idea to Kiwanis International three years ago.

They accepted the plan and funds derived from this drive have been able to accomplish much for the "kids."

Fidler is a member of the Hollywood Kiwanis and international chairman of the National Kids Day Fund Drive. The drive closes September 22, and the local Kiwanis club is putting forth every effort to make this drive a success.

T. G. Sites, president of the club, named the following committee for the drive, R. P. Thompson, chairman; Herbert Newman and Dr. L. M. Hutson.

Petticoat-Pants Game Will Be Continued

KEYSER, W. Va.—The Petticoat-Pants baseball game, played by the women and men of the East End Playground on Armstrong Street Extended last Tuesday, will be resumed Friday evening at the same place.

The game was suspended due to darkness last week with the score 14-14 in the fourth inning. A high-[illegible] of last week's game was a [illegible] slam home run by Miss Jean [illegible], scoring four runs.

Roy Hartman, captain of the men's team, wore a yellow street length dress with a foundation garment underneath and a brown shoulder bag, necklace, earrings, black hat and hose, at last week's game. There may be some other surprises Friday.

Midland Veteran Home On Leave

MIDLAND—Pfc. Vincent F. Monahan, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Monahan, is spending a 30-day furlough from Korea here. He is scheduled to return to Fort George G. Meade for re-assignment September 6.

Pfc. Monahan has served in Korea with the U. S. Army for the past 29 months. During his leave, he will spend a week with his mother, Mrs. John Dretched, in Pittsburgh. His father was the late Michael Monahan.

Children Likely To Jam Fairgo For Matinee

Shrine Transporting Many To Fair Grounds

More than 1,000 children from Cumberland and the surrounding area are expected to be at Fairgo this afternoon for the Children's Matinee of the 34th annual Cumberland Fair, today's feature at the weeklong exhibit.

The Ali Ghan Shrine Club has completed arrangements to take about 400 underprivileged and handicapped children to Fairgo this afternoon. About seven chartered buses will be lined up at the State Armory on South Centre Street about 1:30 p. m. to take the youngsters to the fair grounds.

Afternoon Show

"Stars on Parade" will be presented before the Fairgo grandstand at 2:30 p. m. This Shrine-sponsored entertainment features nine different acts and will last about an hour and a half.

The nine-act program was presented for the first time at Fairgo at 8 o'clock last night. It will be offered at the same time each night this week, ending with Saturday night's show. Today is the only day that a matinee show will be presented.

A 30-minute fireworks display follows the show each evening.

Most of the judging of exhibits was completed yesterday. The 4-H Dairy Calf Club exhibit will be judged today, beginning about 9 a. m.

Agriculture Department prize winners were announced yesterday afternoon by fair officials.

Sweepstake Winner

A $25 sweepstake prize, for the 10 best ears of corn in the show, was awarded to James Carder of Oldtown. This prize is donated in an effort to encourage more corn exhibits from more corn growers in the area served by the Cumberland Fair Association. Carder also was given a $7 first prize in one of the hybrid corn classes.

The Oldtown FFA received two $7 first prizes in classes of open pollinated corn. These classes were Reid's Yellow Dent and any other Yellow Dent varieties.

James House of Mt. Savage also won two $7 class first prizes. These were for two varieties of hybrid corn, U. S. 13 and Iowa 939.

Three of the six $6 class first prizes for potatoes were presented to Mrs. Lawrence George of Somerset, Pa. She won in classes of Smooth Rurals, Sequoias and other late varieties.

Marvin Hinkle, RFD 2, received the $6 first prize in the Irish Cobbler potato class. John E. Miller, RFD 3, was presented another $6 first prize for other early variety potatoes. Floyd Buser of Oldtown received the other $6 class first prize for his medium maturing potatoes.

Young Vegetable Growers Hailed

Young vegetable growers of Maryland have received the commendation of United States Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan.

The Secretary said support of the department's home garden and food preservation program, designed to increase the nation's food supply as a defense measure, "is greatly appreciated," according to Edward K. Bender, extension vegetable crops specialist, University of Maryland, and state chairman of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association, which annually conducts a vegetable growing and marketing contest.

Bender reported a "very encouraging response" to the contest program, in which thousands of young people all over the country compete for $6,000 in cash scholarship awards provided by A & P Food Stores, the sponsor, and which is open to any boy or girl in the state between 12 and 21 years of age.

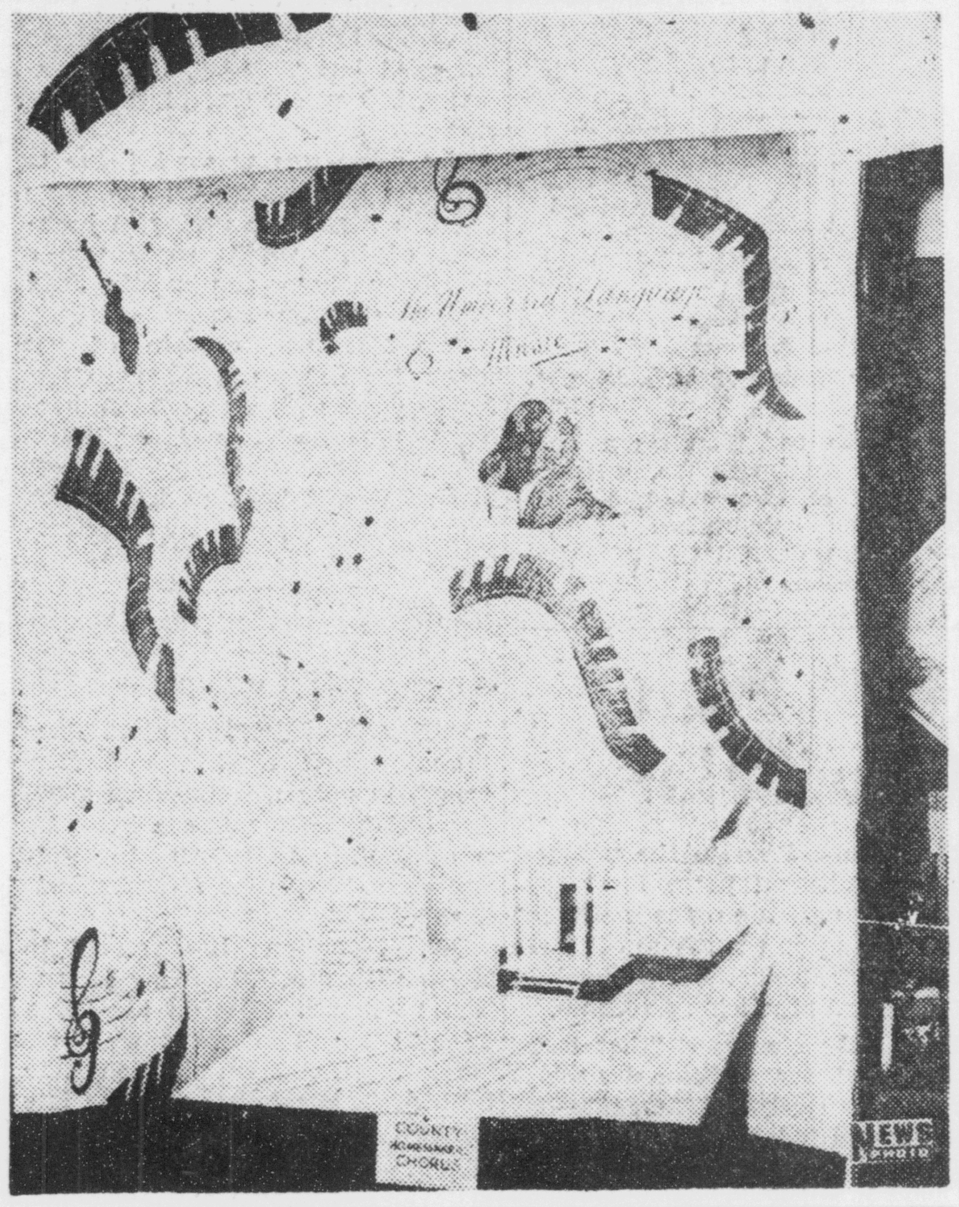
"This contest is a perfect supplement to the Department of Agriculture's program," Bender added.

Brannan sent his message in a letter addressed to Grant B. Snyder, University of Massachusetts professor and national adviser of the NJVGA.

Regester To Consult With City Officials

Robert T. Regester, Baltimore engineer, is slated to visit with city officials tomorrow to discuss progress on plans he is preparing for the city.

The projects include improvements slated at the Lake Gordon filtration plant and plans for this city's sewage treatment and disposal plant.



FAIR MUSIC—As a new project at the 34th annual Cumberland Fair, the Allegany County Homemakers Chorus is sponsoring a series of concerts each afternoon for four afternoons in the fair's Exhibit Hall. In the upper picture is shown the quartet from the Allegany County Junior Symphony which played yesterday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock in the first of the four concerts. Left to right are Dolores Rowley, pianist; William Babst, violinist; Ray Vernall, trombonist, and Norwood Edmondson, cellist. Other concerts are scheduled today, tomorrow and Friday afternoons. The programs are presented in front of the Homemakers Chorus booth, which is shown in the lower picture. This exhibit emphasizes that music is the universal language. Composers listed on the scroll include Chopin, Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Schubert, Schumann and Mozart.

20-Year-Old Man Stricken By Polio Here

Second Victim To Return Home Soon

A 20-year-old local youth who was stricken by polio suddenly yesterday morning was reported still unconscious in Memorial Hospital last night.

He is Gene H. Simpson, 15 South Lee Street, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said a definite diagnosis of polio has been reported.

A similar diagnosis, he added, was made in the illness of Evita Carder, 8, Oldtown, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital last Tuesday. She is slated to leave the hospital in the near future.

Simpson worked Monday night at the Kelly plant and was apparently in good health when he ate breakfast yesterday morning, the family said.

Shortly after he went to bed, he complained of a headache and later in the morning became seriously ill and was taken to the hospital. He was reported still unconscious early last night.

He is a son of Petty Officer First Class Frederick M. Simpson, who returned recently to California following a leave here after service in Korea. Petty Officer Simpson is expected to arrive home today.

The Carder child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Carder, is reported "doing fine" and is about ready to leave the hospital. There was no paralysis as a result of the attack.

It is understood that a child from nearby Pennsylvania was admitted to Memorial Hospital as a possible polio patient but the illness has not been fully diagnosed.

Police Seek Man Missing For Week

Police have been asked to look for Roy Sponaugle, 31-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman who has been missing from his home since last Monday.

Sponaugle's mother said he left his home at 509 Baltimore Avenue on the evening of August 13, driving his 1941 automobile. He took no extra clothing with him.

He was described as being five feet, seven inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, and was wearing a white shirt, light trousers and brown shoes. He is unmarried.

Cause Of Engineer's Death Unknown; Probe Continues

J. H. Gideon Dies After Train Stalls

The death of a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad engineer after his train stalled in a tunnel late Monday remained a mystery last night as medical authorities studied results of an autopsy.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said it may be several days before officials know what caused the death of Joseph H. Gideon, 52, of 5 East B Street, Brunswick.

Gideon's freight train stalled shortly before midnight Monday in Knobley Tunnel near Pattersons Creek, W. Va., about six miles from here. Gideon was overcome by fumes and Dr. Deming said the tentative cause of death was carbon monoxide poisoning. Railroad medical officials thought he may have had a heart attack.

With Gideon when the train stalled were Noel Williams, 24, 503 East Potomac Street, Brunswick, the fireman, and Earl M. Virts, 27, 811 East Potomac Street, Brunswick, who was brakeman.

Railroad officials said the 120-car train was about 10 to 15 car lengths from the east end of the tunnel. It was headed east at about three to five miles an hour on its way from Rawlings to Brunswick.

Gideon climbed down from the engine and sat on the ground. Williams said he and Virts alighted to help Gideon back on the locomotive. They uncoupled it from the train and ran it out of the tunnel, leaving the loaded coal cars inside.

Outside, Gideon revived and telephoned the Cumberland dispatcher to ask for relief. He said he would bring the locomotive into Cumberland. Just before reaching Pattersons Creek Gideon toppled from his seat. He was brought into the city by automobile, but was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital at 1:10 a. m.

Williams and Virts were treated at the hospital and released. They were listed as having been overcome by smoke.

Knobley Tunnel is on the Pattersons Creek cutoff, bypassing Cumberland on the B. & O's. main line from New York to St. Louis. Only two passenger trains use it and both are diesel-drawn.

Fishing Rodeo Plans Progress

Registration for Saturday's Fishing Rodeo is underway at city playgrounds, Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, announced yesterday.

Registration should be completed as soon as possible, he added, so adequate transportation can be provided.

Registration blanks will be available at the rodeo for children from other sections of the county. Only those who are registered will be eligible for prizes.

Hoey said sportsmen's organizations throughout the county are planning to provide transportation for youngsters in their area who wish to attend the fishing rodeo.

Local dairies have promised to donate milk and orange drinks as treats at the rodeo.

The Oldtown Sportsmen's Club, Hoey said, has done a magnificent job of preparing the Battie Mixon fishing hole in the C. and O. Canal for the event.

The channel, he said, has been dragged to remove vegetation and the surrounding area cleared of brush.

The club also placed a number of picnic tables at the site.

Plans Pet Show

Gephart Playground will sponsor a pet show at the playground tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Gephart Wins Arts And Crafts Exhibit Here

Judges Announce Results Of Contest

Gephart Playground won first place in the annual Arts and Crafts Exhibit sponsored by the City Playground Association.

Runnersup for playground exhibits were West Side, Thomas Post, Columbia Street and Ridgedale Playgrounds in that order.

Results of the contest, announced yesterday by Theodore P. Foote and Mrs Ethel Bruce, local art instructors, are:

Gimp—Tommy Richard, Mapleside; Judy Cooper, Gephart; Alan Kirk, Gephart, and Burchard Williams, North End.

Paper—Janise Twigg, Ridgedale; Mary Ann Rodda, Columbia; Sue Powers, Columbia, and Nancy Lueck, Mapleside.

Reed—Ott Utt, Gephart; Nancy Diehl, Ridgedale; Irene Drumm, Gephart, and Maureen Rudolph, Gephart.

Miscellaneous — Shirley Lynch, book cover, East Side; Coy Hare, well, Post Playground; Carol Berry, seed designs, and Emm Soethe, cloth rabbit, Columbia Street.

Cited for a prize was a covered wagon entered by Pine Avenue Playground. A collection of decorated eggs entered by Gephart Playground received honorable mention.

The varied exhibit has been placed in City Hall rotunda and will remain until Thursday afternoon.

Termed the best exhibit ever sponsored by the department, the variety, quality and originality of the articles indicate progress made in arts and craft classes during the playground season which is drawing to a close.

City Hall attaches said the exhibit was praised by all who viewed it yesterday.

Weather

The weather frowned over Cumberland yesterday as a gloomy overcast hid the sun most of the day. Although humidity was somewhat high, a stiff breeze kept temperatures at a relatively low level. Mermury climbed slightly toward late afternoon when the sun broke through for approximately two hours. The high temperature recorded by the weather station at Constitution Park was 88 degrees; low was marked as 60, and at 8:25 p. m., the thermometer leveled at 78 degrees. The weatherman predicts fair, cooler and less humid temperatures for today with the highest between 75 and 80 degrees. Slightly warmer weather is expected for the end of the week.

WILL TEACH—These two young men will teach at Bruce High School in Westernport when classes resume September 6. At the left is John W. Sleeman, 273 East Main Street, Frostburg, who is a graduate of the University of Maryland. The other new teacher is Donald S. Horner, 156 Center Street, Keyser, W. Va., an alumnus of West Virginia University. Both men were appointd to their positions by the Allegany County Board of Education last week.

North End Playground Plans "Last Roundup" Next Week

Baby Show Feature Of Western Festival

North End Playground is headin' for its "Last Roundup."

Come next Tuesday, members of the playground association will don boots and sombreros to become cowboys and cowgirls for the next four days.

Gun-totin' hombres will man the 18 concessions at the roundup, and all booths will be decorated in rustic frontier style.

A free show will be given each night, cakewalks will be held, and prizes will be awarded. There'll also be a "mystery man" roaming around.

Besides all the usual games, members of the association will man a couple of stationary chuck wagons for the customers.

Biggest event of the roundup will be a baby contest, to be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday, August 31.

Prizes will be awarded in two age groups, for toddlers under two and for tots between two and four. First prize in each age group will be a $10 cash award, and second prize will be $7.50 in merchandise. Other prizes will be given runners-up.

Contestants may register before noon of the 31st at the Jack and Jill Shop, or by phoning Mrs Charles Wiant, contest chairman, or Mrs. Ann Stein.

Committee chairmen for the roundup, besides Mrs. Wiant, are Frank Kaplon, concessions; Louis Hartung, booths, and Mrs. Peggy Mackert, publicity and entertainment.

Navy Mothers Club will have a picnic today at the home of Mrs. Florence Chandler, Braddock Farms.

Families of the primary department of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will have a basket picnic today in Grove 4, Constitution Park, beginning at 4 p. m. Miss Mildred Beck is in charge of arrangements.

Three Bids Received For Water Dept. Truck

Bids on a three-quarter-ton truck for the city Water Department were referred to Water Commissioner George Tederick at yesterday's council meeting.

The low bid, $1,313.86, was submitted by Gurley Brothers. Other bids were received from Eiler Chevrolet, Inc., $1,400, and the St. George Motor Company, $1,446.83.

Permits Sought

Two applications for alcoholic beverage licenses were filed yesterday at the Court House. They were by William J. Scarpelli, for a beer license for premises on Winchester Road, and by Roy Snyder, Fred Kyle and Henry Howell, for a beer, wine and liquor license at the home of Barton Hose Company No. 1, Barton.

Report Shows 3,000,000 Got Jobs Last Year

More than 3,000,000 men and women have been added to employment and to the armed forces during the past year, Veterans Administration said, on the basis of a special report prepared for the agency by the United States Department of Labor.

The report, which covers current developments in the industrial field, shows that more people are at work today, generally speaking, than at any time since the end of World War II.

VA makes use of material from the report as the basis for vocational guidance to disabled veterans to receive training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

In the automotive industry, according to the report, employment cutbacks may be anticipated as the supply of materials for passenger car production begins to show a drop, due to defense restrictions. Actually, between March and April employment (in this field) showed a decline of nearly 23,000 production workers. VA expects declines in some plants, however, to be offset by increased hiring of workers on tanks, aircraft parts and other defense production.

Electronics, the report says, is still converting from civilian to military production. Radio and television manufacturers reduced employment sharply, while military electronics manufacturers showed an increase. By late Fall, VA says, defense production may require an increase in the industry's total work force.

In gray iron foundries a steady upward trend since July, 1949 has slowed up in recent months. In agriculture, increased demand for food and fibre will call for farm machinery and tractors at or above recent postwar levels, VA said.

Tractor Firm Considers Move To Cumberland

The Tiger Tractor Corporation of Keyser, W. Va., may move its plant here if adequate quarters can be obtained at satisfactory rent, John F. Somerville, president, said last night.

Somerville said the company needs more working space, but at the same time would prefer to pay lower rent. The plant is now located at the old silk mill building in Keyser, where it opened 15 months ago.

He added that the Arnold Building in Keyser, formerly the home of a supermarket, also is under consideration. Somerville declared, however, that any move to Cumberland is extremely unlikely at present, since many details would have to be taken care of first. The firm employs 18 persons.

Firemen To Discuss Liability Insurance

The insurance committee of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday at McCoole Fire Hall to discuss plans for group liability insurance for member companies.

Joseph C. Stuckey, chairman, said the association now carries group accident insurance covering most of the 31 companies in the organization. Member companies, however, carry their own liability insurance.

Parsons Jury Says Exposure Caused Death

Six-Man Group Cites "Negligence"

PARSONS, W. Va.—A second coroner's jury yesterday decided that Robert Rexrode, 81, whose badly-decomposed body was found June 25 on a hill near here, "died from exposure due to negligence of parties that were caring for him."

That was all that the jury verdict, signed by Foreman Harold E. Barb, said. Other members of the jury were Mason Myers, Osee Bible, Ed Thomas, R. F. Carr and W. W. Myers.

Although it made no other statement, the verdict was an implied criticism of the rest home where Rexrode was a patient until April 7, after which date he never was seen alive again.

An earlier coroner's jury was discharged August 10 after failing to reach a verdict in the old man's death.

Justice of the Peace Stark Coberly, serving as acting coroner, presided at the meeting of the jury yesterday. The session was held behind closed doors with no newspaper representative allowed to attend.

Union Security Voting Is Heavy

Hundreds of Celanese workers lined up yesterday to cast ballots in a NLRB union security election that got under way early yesterday morning.

At stake is validation of union security clauses nagotiated in a recent contract.

Observers termed the vote as a heavy one, saying a good turnout is expected on each of the days.

Hundreds of the workers, members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), were seen throughout the city yesterday proudly displaying "I Voted" buttons.

Union officials, who are conducting an all-out drive for votes from all of the some 4,500 eligible voters, were busy yesterday arranging emergency transportation for members on furlough, sick, injured or not slated to work on any of the days of the election.

At least one disabled member is slated to be taken to the polls in an embulance and dozens have asked transportation to and from the plant so they might cast ballots.

Several members, the union said, delayed vacation trips for from one to three days so they might vote.

Polling places are at the plant in the main cafeteria, C. A. cafeteria and Textile cafeteria. Voting will be 1:30 a. m. to 4 a. m.; 10:30 a. m. to 1 p. m.; and 5 p. m. until 8 p. m.

On today and Thursday the union booth will be added as a voting place. Hours at the booth will be 6:15 a. m. to 7:30 a. m.; 2:15 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. and 10:15 p. m. to 11:15 p. m.

Three Properties Sold For $35,000

Three properties were sold for a total of $35,000, according to deeds filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Russell J. Wineland and Edith A. Wineland sold property near National Pike, about four miles west of Cumberland, to Lester J. Wilkinson for about $15,000, according to one of the deeds.

Charles S. Beamer and Loretta M. Beamer transferred ownership of another parcel in LaVale to Donald H. Black and Doris H. Black for about $10,500. Elinor B. Fink sold property at 606 Washington Street to Ralph B. Higgins, Jr., and Susan A. Higgins for about $9,500.

X-Ray Unit Schedule Changes Are Listed

A change has been made in the scheduled locations of the tuberculosis X-ray unit, according to Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association.

The X-ray unit will be at The Dingle circle today from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. Tomorrow, instead of Bowling Green, the chest unit will be located at Cresaptown from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. Friday, the unit will be at City Hall from noon to 5 p. m., and on Saturday, it will be located at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company from noon to 6 p. m.

Hereford Wins Butterfat Production Competition

A registered Hereford owned by Lester Raines, RFD 2, won the July butterfat production competition of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association, according to a report released yesterday.

The cow, "Elma Sprinker Star," produced 67 pounds of butterfat. She also gave 1,910 pounds of milk to take first place in milk production.

"Pearl's Delight of Ridgedale," a registered Guernsey owned by Brinker Brothers, Springfield, W. Va., was second with 65 pounds of butterfat.

Third place went to a registered Jersey owned by Andrew A. Schuller, New Creek Drive, Keyser, W. Va., with 64 pounds. A grade Hereford owned by John T. Mason, Cresaptown, was fourth with 63 pounds, but was second in milk production with 1,580 pounds.

Fifth place went to a grade Hereford owned by Shumaker Brothers, Rawlings, which gave 60 pounds of butterfat. Two grade Jerseys and a grade Guernsey owned by Paul E. Greise of Mason Road came in sixth, seventh and ninth.

Eighth place went to a grade Guernsey owned by James H. Weimer, Mt. Savage, and a grade Guernsey owned by Ernest Light, Pinto, was in 10th place.

Partially-Blind Boy Wins Handicraft Prizes At Fair

A 10-year-old partially-blind boy from North Branch won four prizes in handicraft competition yesterday at the 34th annual Cumberland Fair.

The boy is George H. Abbott, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Abbott. The youngster, who will reach his 11th birthday in December, has been enrolled in the Maryland School for the Blind at Overlea since 1948.

Young Abbott won a first prize for his bird house, received a second prize for his wooden necktie rack and second and third prizes for two leather belts.

His mother said that young George learned to do handicraft at the Overlea school and has his home filled with various useful and ornamental objects which he has made.

Mrs. Abbott said that George reads Braille. Although his vision is impaired he can read very large print and is able to see well enough to ride a bicycle in the daytime.

George attended Pennsylvania Avenue School in the first grade but his parents soon became convinced that his poor eyesight required special training. Each school year since 1948 he has attended school at Overlea. He spends his summers at North Branch.

The boy first entered his handicraft in the Cumberland Fair a year ago. That first time in competition his bird house also won a first prize.

Children Likely To Jam Fairgo For Matinee

Shrine Transporting Many To Fair Grounds

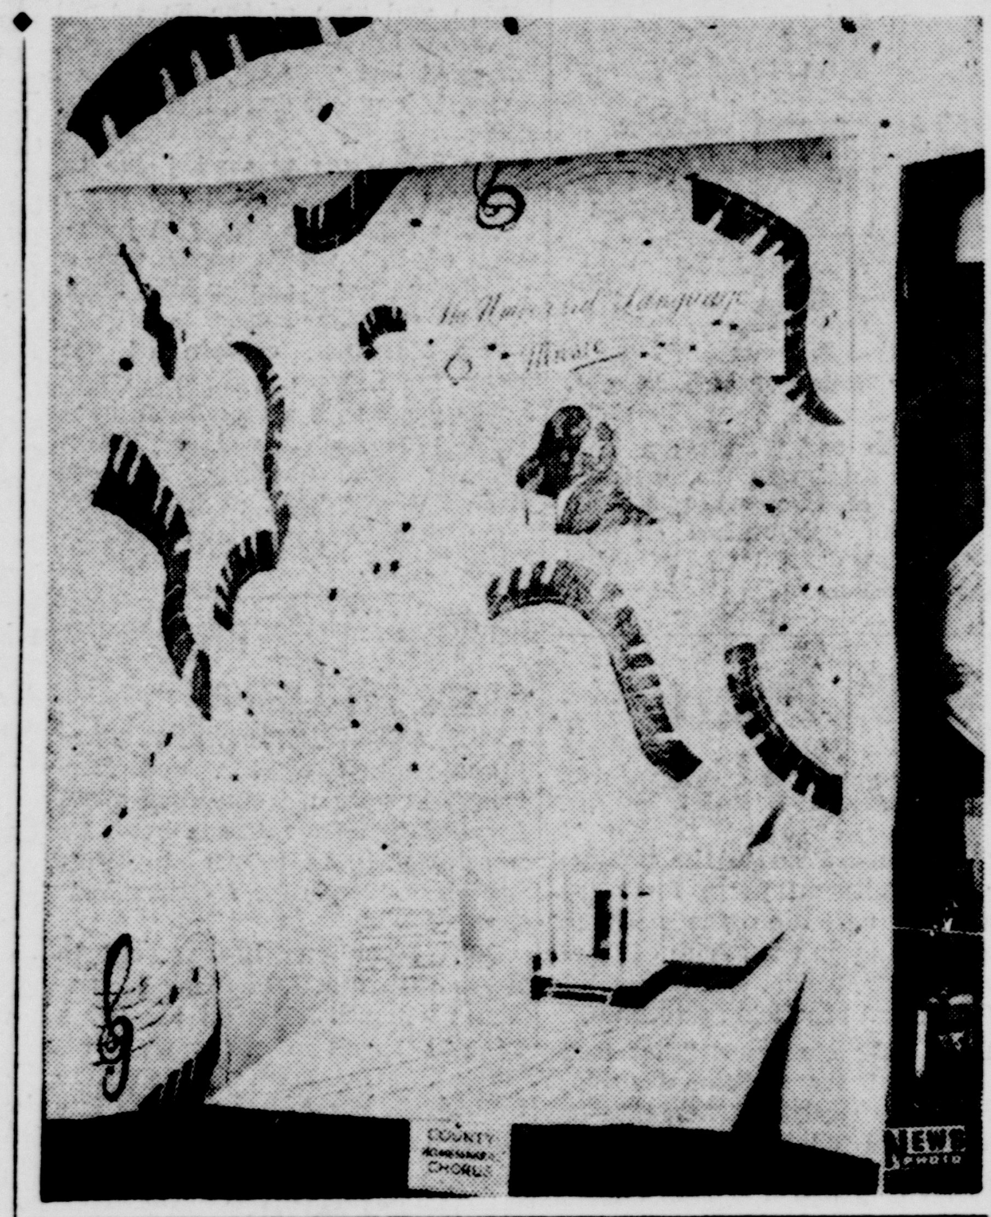
FAIR MUSIC—As a new project at the 34th annual Cumberland Fair, the Allegany County Homemakers Chorus is sponsoring a series of concerts each afternoon for four afternoons in the fair's Exhibit Hall. In the upper picture is shown the quartet from the Allegany County Junior Symphony which played yesterday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock in the first of the four concerts. Left to right are Dolores Rowley, pianist; William Babst, violinist; Ray Vernall, trombonist, and Norwood Edmondson, cellist. Other concerts are scheduled today, tomorrow and Friday afternoons. The programs are presented in front of the Homemakers Chorus booth, which is shown in the lower picture. This exhibit emphasizes that music is the universal language. Composers listed on the scroll include Chopin, Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Schubert, Schumann and Mozart.



20-Year-Old Man Stricken By Polio Here

Second Victim To Return Home Soon

A 20-year-old local youth who was stricken by polio suddenly yesterday morning was reported still unconscious in Memorial Hospital last night.

He is Gene H. Simpson, 15 South Lee Street, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said a definite diagnosis of polio has been reported.

A similar diagnosis, he added, was made in the illness of Evita Carder, 8, Oldtown, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital last Tuesday. She is slated to leave the hospital in the near future.

Simpson worked Monday night at the Kelly plant and was apparently in good health when he ate breakfast yesterday morning, the family said.

Shortly after he went to bed, he complained of a headache and later in the morning became seriously ill and was taken to the hospital. He was reported still unconscious early last night.

He is a son of Petty Officer First Class Frederick M. Simpson, who returned recently to California following a leave here after service in Korea. Petty Officer Simpson is expected to arrive home today.

The Carder child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Carder, is reported "doing fine" and is about ready to leave the hospital. There was no paralysis as a result of the attack.

It is understood that a child from nearby Pennsylvania was admitted to Memorial Hospital as a possible polio patient but the illness has not been fully diagnosed.

Police Seek Man Missing For Week

Police have been asked to look for Roy Sponaugle, 31-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman who has been missing from his home since last Monday.

Sponaugle's mother said he left his home at 509 Baltimore Avenue on the evening of August 13, driving his 1941 automobile. He took no extra clothing with him.

He was described as being five feet, seven inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, and was wearing a white shirt, light trousers and brown shoes. He is unmarried.

Hereford Wins Butterfat Production Competition

A registered Hereford owned by Lester Raines, RFD 2, won the July butterfat production competition of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association, according to a report released yesterday.

The cow, "Elma Sprinker Star," produced 67 pounds of butterfat. She also gave 1,910 pounds of milk to take first place in milk production.

"Pearl's Delight of Ridgedale," a registered Guernsey owned by Brinker Brothers, Springfield, W. Va., was second with 65 pounds of butterfat.

Third place went to a registered Jersey owned by Andrew A. Schuller, New Creek Drive, Keyser, W. Va., with 64 pounds. A grade Hereford owned by John T. Mason, Cresaptown, was fourth with 63 pounds, but was second in milk production with 1,580 pounds.

Fifth place went to a grade Hereford owned by Shumaker Brothers, Rawlings, which gave 60 pounds of butterfat. Two grade Jerseys and a grade Guernsey owned by Paul E. Greise of Mason Road came in sixth, seventh and ninth.

Eighth place went to a grade Guernsey owned by James H. Weimer, Mt. Savage, and a grade Guernsey owned by Ernest Light, Pinto, was in 10th place.

Cause Of Engineer's Death Unknown; Probe Continues

J. H. Gideon Dies After Train Stalls

The death of a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad engineer after his train stalled in a tunnel late Monday remained a mystery last night as medical authorities studied results of an autopsy.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said it may be several days before officials know what caused the death of Joseph H. Gideon, 52, of 5 East B Street, Brunswick.

Gideon's freight train stalled shortly before midnight Monday in Knobley Tunnel near Pattersons Creek, W. Va., about six miles from here. Gideon was overcome by fumes and Dr. Deming said the tentative cause of death was carbon monoxide poisoning. Railroad medical officials thought he may have had a heart attack.

With Gideon when the train stalled were Noel Williams, 24, 503 East Potomac Street, Brunswick, the fireman, and Earl M. Virts, 27, 811 East Potomac Street, Brunswick, who was brakeman.

Railroad officials said the 120-car train was about 10 to 15 car lengths from the east end of the tunnel. It was headed east at about three to five miles an hour on its way from Rawlings to Brunswick.

Gideon climbed down from the engine and sat on the ground. Williams said he and Virts alighted to help Gideon back on the locomotive. They uncoupled it from the train and ran it out of the tunnel, leaving the loaded coal cars inside.

Outside, Gideon revived and telephoned the Cumberland dispatcher to ask for relief. He said he would bring the locomotive into Cumberland. Just before reaching Pattersons Creek Gideon toppled from his seat. He was brought into the city by automobile, but was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital at 1:10 a. m.

Williams and Virts were treated at the hospital and released. They were listed as having been overcome by smoke.

Knobley Tunnel is on the Pattersons Creek cutoff, bypassing Cumberland on the B. & O's. main line from New York to St. Louis. Only two passenger trains use it and both are diesel-drawn.

Fishing Rodeo Plans Progress

Registration for Saturday's Fishing Rodeo is underway at city playgrounds, Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, announced yesterday.

Registration should be completed as soon as possible, he added, so adequate transportation can be provided.

Registration blanks will be available at the rodeo for children from other sections of the county. Only those who are registered will be eligible for prizes.

Hoey said sportsmen's organizations throughout the county are planning to provide transportation for youngsters in their area who wish to attend the fishing rodeo.

Local dairies have promised to donate milk and orange drinks as treats at the rodeo.

The Oldtown Sportsmen's Club, Hoey said, has done a magnificent job of preparing the Battie Mixon fishing hole in the C. and O. Canal for the event.

The channel, he said, has been dragged to remove vegetation and the surrounding area cleared of brush.

The club also placed a number of picnic tables at the site.

Plans Pet Show

Gephart Playground will sponsor a pet show at the playground tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Gephart Wins Arts And Crafts Exhibit Here

Judges Announce Results Of Contest

Gephart Playground won first place in the annual Arts and Crafts Exhibit sponsored by the City Playground Association.

Runnersup for playground exhibits were West Side, Thomas Post, Columbia Street and Ridgedale Playgrounds in that order.

Results of the contest, announced yesterday by Theodore P. Foote and Mrs Ethel Bruce, local art instructors, are:

Gimp—Tommy Richard, Mapleside; Judy Cooper, Gephart; Alan Kirk, Gephart, and Burchard Williams, North End.

Paper—Janise Twigg, Ridgedale; Mary Ann Rodda, Columbia; Sue Powers, Columbia, and Nancy Lueck, Mapleside.

Reed—Ott Utt, Gephart; Nancy Diehl, Ridgedale; Irene Drumm, Gephart, and Maureen Rudolph, Gephart.

Raffia—Herby Nesbitt, West Side; Alice Huster, West Side, and Sandra Sanners, Mapleside.

Plaster — Virginia Miller, Post; Vera McKenzie, Johnson Heights, and Larry Kifer, Post.

Bead—Ott Utt, Gephart; Nancy Diehl, Ridgedale; Pauline Schram, Post; Jean Leasure, Gephart, and Teresa Logsdon, Gephart.

Miscellaneous — Shirley Lynch, book cover, East Side; Coy Hare, well, Post Playground; Carol Berry, seed designs, and Emm Soethe, cloth rabbit, Columbia Street.

Cited for a prize was a covered wagon entered by Pine Avenue Playground. A collection of decorated eggs entered by Gephart Playground received honorable mention.

The varied exhibit has been placed in City Hall rotunda and will remain until Thursday afternoon.

Termed the best exhibit ever sponsored by the department, the variety, quality and originality of the articles indicate progress made in arts and craft classes during the playground season which is drawing to a close.

City Hall attaches said the exhibit was praised by all who viewed it yesterday.

Weather

The weather frowned over Cumberland yesterday as a gloomy overcast hid the sun most of the day. Although humidity was somewhat high, a stiff breeze kept temperatures at a relatively low level. Mermury climbed slightly toward late afternoon when the sun broke through for approximately two hours. The high temperature recorded by the weather station at Constitution Park was 88 degrees; low was marked as 60, and at 8:25 p. m., the thermometer leveled at 78 degrees. The weatherman predicts fair, cooler and less humid temperatures for today with the highest between 75 and 80 degrees. Slightly warmer weather is expected for the end of the week.

John Robb, attorney to the election board, will be guest speaker at the Lions Club's luncheon meeting to be held today at 12:15 p. m. in the Central YMCA. He will speak on the new system of permanent registration for Allegany County.

WILL TEACH—These two young men will teach at Bruce High School in Westernport when classes resume September 6. At the left is John W. Sleeman, 273 East Main Street, Frostburg, who is a graduate of the University of Maryland. The other new teacher is Donald S. Horner, 156 Center Street, Keyser, W. Va., an alumnus of West Virginia University. Both men were appointd to their positions by the Allegany County Board of Education last week.

North End Playground Plans "Last Roundup" Next Week

Baby Show Feature Of Western Festival

North End Playground is headin' for its "Last Roundup."

Come next Tuesday, members of the playground association will don boots and sombreros to become cowboys and cowgirls for the next four days.

Gun-totin' hombres will man the 18 concessions at the roundup, and all booths will be decorated in rustic frontier style.

A free show will be given each night, cakewalks will be held, and prizes will be awarded. There'll also be a "mystery man" roaming around.

Besides all the usual games, members of the association will man a couple of stationary chuck wagons for the customers.

Biggest event of the roundup will be a baby contest, to be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday, August 31.

Prizes will be awarded in two age groups, for toddlers under two and for tots between two and four. First prize in each age group will be a $10 cash award, and second prize will be $7.50 in merchandise. Other prizes will be given runners-up.

Contestants may register before noon of the 31st at the Jack and Jill Shop, or by phoning Mrs Charles Wiant, contest chairman, or Mrs. Ann Stein.

Committee chairmen for the roundup, besides Mrs. Wiant, are Frank Kaplon, concessions; Louis Hartung, booths, and Mrs. Peggy Mackert, publicity and entertainment.

Three Bids Received For Water Dept. Truck

Bids on a three-quarter-ton truck for the city Water Department were referred to Water Commissioner George Tederick at yesterday's council meeting.

The low bid, $1,313.86, was submitted by Gurley Brothers. Other bids were received from Eiler Chevrolet, Inc., $1,400, and the St. George Motor Company, $1,446.83.

Permits Sought

Two applications for alcoholic beverage licenses were filed yesterday at the Court House. They were by William J. Scarpelli, for a beer license for premises on Winchester Road, and by Roy Snyder, Fred Kyle and Henry Howell, for a beer, wine and liquor license at the home of Barton Hose Company No. 1, Barton.

Report Shows 3,000,000 Got Jobs Last Year

More than 3,000,000 men and women have been added to employment and to the armed forces during the past year, Veterans Administration said, on the basis of a special report prepared for the agency by the United States Department of Labor.

The report, which covers current developments in the industrial field, shows that more people are at work today, generally speaking, than at any time since the end of World War II.

VA makes use of material from the report as the basis for vocational guidance to disabled veterans to receive training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

In the automotive industry, according to the report, employment cutbacks may be anticipated as the supply of materials for passenger car production begins to show a drop, due to defense restrictions. Actually, between March and April employment (in this field) showed a decline of nearly 23,000 production workers. VA expects declines in some plants, however, to be offset by increased hiring of workers on tanks, aircraft parts and other defense production.

Electronics, the report says, is still converting from civilian to military production. Radio and television manufacturers reduced employment sharply, while military electronics manufacturers showed an increase. By late Fall, VA says, defense production may require an increase in the industry's total work force.

In gray iron foundries a steady upward trend since July, 1949 has slowed up in recent months. In agriculture, increased demand for food and fibre will call for farm machinery and tractors at or above recent postwar levels, VA said.

Tractor Firm Considers Move To Cumberland

The Tiger Tractor Corporation of Keyser, W. Va., may move its plant here if adequate quarters can be obtained at satisfactory rent, John F. Somerville, president, said last night.

Somerville said the company needs more working space, but at the same time would prefer to pay lower rent. The plant is now located at the old silk mill building in Keyser, where it opened 15 months ago.

He added that the Arnold Building in Keyser, formerly the home of a supermarket, also is under consideration. Somerville declared, however, that any move to Cumberland is extremely unlikely at present, since many details would have to be taken care of first. The firm employs 18 persons.

Firemen To Discuss Liability Insurance

The insurance committee of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday at McCoole Fire Hall to discuss plans for group liability insurance for member companies.

Joseph C. Stuckey, chairman, said the association now carries group accident insurance covering most of the 31 companies in the organization. Member companies, however, carry their own liability insurance.

Partially-Blind Boy Wins Handicraft Prizes At Fair

A 10-year-old partially-blind boy from North Branch won four prizes in handicraft competition yesterday at the 34th annual Cumberland Fair.

The boy is George H. Abbott, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Abbott. The youngster, who will reach his 11th birthday in December, has been enrolled in the Maryland School for the Blind at Overlea since 1948.

Young Abbott won a first prize for his bird house, received a second prize for his wooden necktie rack and second and third prizes for two leather belts.

His mother said that young George learned to do handicraft at the Overlea school and has his home filled with various useful and ornamental objects which he has made.

Mrs. Abbott said that George reads Braille. Although his vision is impaired he can read very large print and is able to see well enough to ride a bicycle in the daytime.

George attended Pennsylvania Avenue School in the first grade but his parents soon became convinced that his poor eyesight required special training. Each school year since 1948 he has attended school at Overlea. He spends his summers at North Branch.

The boy first entered his handicraft in the Cumberland Fair a year ago. That first time in competition his bird house also won a first prize.

Parsons Jury Says Exposure Caused Death

Six-Man Group Cites "Negligence"

PARSONS, W. Va.—A second coroner's jury yesterday decided that Robert Rexrode, 81, whose badly-decomposed body was found June 25 on a hill near here, "died from exposure due to negligence of parties that were caring for him."

That was all that the jury verdict, signed by Foreman Harold E. Barb, said. Other members of the jury were Mason Myers, Osee Bible, Ed Thomas, R. F. Carr and W. W. Myers.

Although it made no other statement, the verdict was an implied criticism of the rest home where Rexrode was a patient until April 7, after which date he never was seen alive again.

An earlier coroner's jury was discharged August 10 after failing to reach a verdict in the old man's death.

Justice of the Peace Stark Coberly, serving as acting coroner, presided at the meeting of the jury yesterday. The session was held behind closed doors with no newspaper representative allowed to attend.

Union Security Voting Is Heavy

Hundreds of Celanese workers lined up yesterday to cast ballots in a NLRB union security election that got under way early yesterday morning.

At stake is validation of union security clauses nagotiated in a recent contract.

Observers termed the vote as a heavy one, saying a good turnout is expected on each of the days.

Hundreds of the workers, members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), were seen throughout the city yesterday proudly displaying "I Voted" buttons.

Union officials, who are conducting an all-out drive for votes from all of the some 4,500 eligible voters, were busy yesterday arranging emergency transportation for members on furlough, sick, injured or not slated to work on any of the days of the election.

At least one disabled member is slated to be taken to the polls in an embulance and dozens have asked transportation to and from the plant so they might cast ballots.

Several members, the union said, delayed vacation trips for from one to three days so they might vote.

Polling places are at the plant in the main cafeteria, C. A. cafeteria and Textile cafeteria. Voting will be 1:30 a. m. to 4 a. m.; 10:30 a. m. to 1 p. m.; and 5 p. m. until 8 p. m.

On today and Thursday the union booth will be added as a voting place. Hours at the booth will be 6:15 a. m. to 7:30 a. m.; 2:15 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. and 10:15 p. m. to 11:15 p. m.

Three Properties Sold For $35,000

Three properties were sold for a total of $35,000, according to deeds filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Russell J. Wineland and Edith A. Wineland sold property near National Pike, about four miles west of Cumberland, to Lester J. Wilkinson for about $15,000, according to one of the deeds.

Charles S. Beamer and Loretta M. Beamer transferred ownership of another parcel in LaVale to Donald H. Black and Doris H. Black for about $10,500. Elinor B. Fink sold property at 606 Washington Street to Ralph B. Higgins, Jr., and Susan A. Higgins for about $9,500.

X-Ray Unit Schedule Changes Are Listed

A change has been made in the scheduled locations of the tuberculosis X-ray unit, according to Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association.

The X-ray unit will be at The Dingle circle today from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. Tomorrow, instead of Bowling Green, the chest unit will be located at Cresaptown from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. Friday, the unit will be at City Hall from noon to 5 p. m., and on Saturday, it will be located at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company from noon to 6 p. m.

Weather Forecast
Fair and cooler today. Less humid.

REDS REJECT U. N. AMBUSH PROBE

ITU Election Fight Looms At Convention

Randolph Attacked In Fund Dispute

ATLANTA, Aug. 21 (AP)—Printers' union president Woodruff Randolph today was accused of lowering an "iron curtain" about $16,444,683.

The accusation loomed as the major political issue in the forthcoming election by the International Typographical Union, now holding its 93rd convention here.

Earlier, the convention heard one of the top political experts of the American Federation of Labor, Joseph Keenan, declare that labor was uncommitted to any party as yet in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Keenan, director of labor's league for political education, said the support would "depend upon the candidate."

Attacks T-H Law

At the same time Keenan's attacks upon the Taft-Hartley labor law indicated that Sen. Taft (R-O) would not receive AFL support if he were nominated for the presidency by the Republicans.

This indication was reinforced by AFL President William Green's description of Taft as an "organizer for Communism" earlier in the convention.

Later, in an interview, Keenan observed that President Truman in his opinion would have no opposition to renomination if he chose to run, save possibly from the south.

The attack on Randolph followed the establishment of a caucus room here by the independent party within the ITU headed by Charles D. Tucker of Indianapolis. Randolph heads the progressive party.

Tucker's secretary, Alfred J. Whittle of New York City, in making the attack also announced that the independent party had named a slate of candidates for the referendum on officers.

Strike Issue Noted

C. G. Sparkman, president of the Detroit local, was elected to fight it out with Randolph for the presidency in 1952.

Tucker had no comment on the issues in the campaign, but Whittle declared the fight would be over "Unitypo, the squandering of union funds and failure of Randolph to submit a detailed accounting."

Randolph has said in the past that to give the membership a detailed financial report would play into the hands of anti-union publishers.

Unitypo is a separate corporation set up by the ITU to operate newspapers. There are nine such papers now in existence.

Whittle said another issue would be the failure to win strikes. He noted that there were now in progress some 57 strikes involving the ITU.

Gas Restrictions Effective Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Restrictions on new users of natural gas will go into effect tomorrow throughout much of the eastern part of the nation.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) has sought to prohibit, in 15 states and the District of Columbia, the extension of natural gas to new large-volume industrial consumers or to new central home heaters, except in a few specified circumstances.

But states affected by the order have power to discard it and set up their own regulations.

C. Pratt Rather, assistant deputy administrator, told a reporter only three states in the area have indicated that they will take over natural gas regulation.

Rather said Maryland is issuing an order almost identical with that of PAD.

Ohio plans a restrictive order but has not announced its details. Indications are that there will be a separate order for each major distributing company.

Virginia also has certified that it will exercise its authority. Indications are that an order identical to PAD's will be in effect in the Lynchburg area where shortages are anticipated.

Boy Catches Arm In Mail Box

SOUTHEND ENGLAND, Aug. 21 (AP)—Kevin Finnigan, aged nine, went to the mail box and posted (1) a letter and (2) his right arm.

Firmly wedged in the slot by the elbow, Kevin yelled.

Crowds of people came. A carful of policemen arrived. Somebody called the fire department.

A fireman finally got Kevin his arm back by greasing the elbow and giving a firm tug.

Union Shop Pact Without Election Passed By Senate To Validate Old Agreements

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate today passed a bill authorizing the signing of union shop agreements without a shop election, and validating union shop agreements which the Supreme Court recently declared invalid.

The measure was passed by a voice vote. It now goes back to the House, which had passed it in different version, for consideration of the Senate amendments.

Surprise Move

A union shop agreement allows the employer to hire non-union employes, but requires them to join the union after a stated time. The Taft-Hartley Law now provides that a union shop can only be set up after employes vote for it in an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) called the measure up for a vote in a surprise move. He said one purpose of the bill was to uphold the validity of union shop agreements signed before union officials had taken oaths of non-communist affiliation as required by the Taft-Hartley Act.

He said the Supreme Court had invalidated such agreements, and that without the act "several thousand union shop agreements would be invalidated, and the National Labor Relations Board would have to hold new elections" to set up new agreements. The result, he said, would be "costly disruption."

He said the Senate Labor Committee had unanimously approved the measure.

Groups Endorse It

Senator Nixon (R-Calif) told the Senate employer and employee groups both have endorsed it.

Humphrey emphasized that the measure would "not prejudge" pending cases involving contracts signed by unions whose officials had not signed non-Communist oaths. It validates such contracts only if they were made by the Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) prior to Dec. 22, 1949, or by the American Federation of Labor prior to Nov. 7, 1947.

Skyrocket Blast Hurts Small Boy

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—Two little negro boys somehow got hold a sky rocket or some such piece of fireworks and one of them was almost killed today when it exploded.

Mitchell Nathaniel Lee, 10, was badly mangled and attendants at Cambridge hospital did not expect him to live. His older brother was not hurt.

The woodshed in which they were playing was reduced to splinters and the explosion was heard all over town.

Benny Lee, father of the boys, said he did not know how they happened to have the explosive.

Fireworks are illegal in Maryland except for licensed public displays. Cambridge had a community fireworks program on the Fourth of July and a Fair recently shot off some during its stay here. Firemen said maybe the two youngsters came across a dud from one of these shows.

Farmer Wounds Wife, Kills Self

FREDONIA, Kas., Aug. 21 (AP)—A middle aged farmer broke up a divorce conference with gunfire today, seriously wounding his wife, killing her lawyer and ending his own life.

The lawyer, Larry McSpadden, also was county attorney of this southeast Kansas county.

Sheriff Bill Chamberlain said that the farmer, Johnnie Jones, about 40, climaxed an argument in McSpadden's office by whipping out an automatic, firing five shots into the lawyer, shooting his wife, Essie, twice and then firing a final shot through his own head.

Two Heart Patients Return To Normal After Operations

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Aug. 21 (AP)—Two heart patients released after rare operations today are eturning to normal living after years of invalidism.

Kern County General Hospital disclosed the story of the operations performed by Dr. Bert H. Cotton of Pasadena, Calif. In each case, he said, scar tissue from early rheumatic fever had caused partial closure of the heart valves. It was necessary to remove the heart, excise the scar tissue and replace the organ.

One patient, Mrs. Joyce Lee Owen, 24, wife of Everett Owen, a ranch hand near here, has returned to the ranch. She was operated on July 17 and left the hospital last Friday. She had been ill for 16 years and bedridden the last three or four years.

The other patient, Peter L. Pereida, 40, of Bakersfield, father of four children, was a tool-maker in a Detroit automobile plant for 10 years before coming here with his family in 1947. He had been unable to work except at odd jobs since then, his wife helping to support the family. He was operated on Aug. 3 and released yesterday.

"Mr. Pereida was particularly elated," Dr. Cotton said at his Beverly Hills, Calif., office today. "He is planning immediately to get going in the automobile repair business.

"It will take longer for Mrs. Owen to effect complete recovery, but I see no reason why both can not live normally now."

Tampico Ready For Hurricane Expected Today

Army Takes Over Cars And Trucks

TAMPICO, Mexico, Aug. 21 (AP)—The army took over all cars and trucks here today in preparation for a terrific hurricane whirling across the Gulf of Mexico toward this oil port and some of Mexico's richest oil fields.

Authorities estimated the number of persons to be moved to the center of the city on higher ground at "thousands."

The big storm is expected to hit this city of 100,000 population tomorrow before noon.

Center Is On Hill

The center of Tampico is built on a hill, but the outlying districts are on low ground subject to flooding. The refugees will be lodged in schools and the municipal palace.

News of the approach of the hurricane which swept across Jamaica last week, taking 155 lives, caused wide-spread alarm here.

Householders went to work tying down their roofs and reinforcing windows and doors against the wind.

The government oil company called out all extra workmen to throw up dikes around the oil installations on low ground. These have suffered severely in previous storms.

Ships in the port doubled their lines and called back their crewmen on shore. Small fishing craft, warned of the approaching storm by radio, streamed into port during the day.

All Ships Safe

Tampico is on the River Panuco five miles up from the coast. Rising tides on the seacoast today already had destroyed summer houses on the beach.

The port captain said all ships in the Tampico area are safe in port and he forbade any to leave until the big blow was over.

The hurricane, dubbed "Charlie" by the weather bureau, was born six days ago when it moved into the Caribbean from the Atlantic.

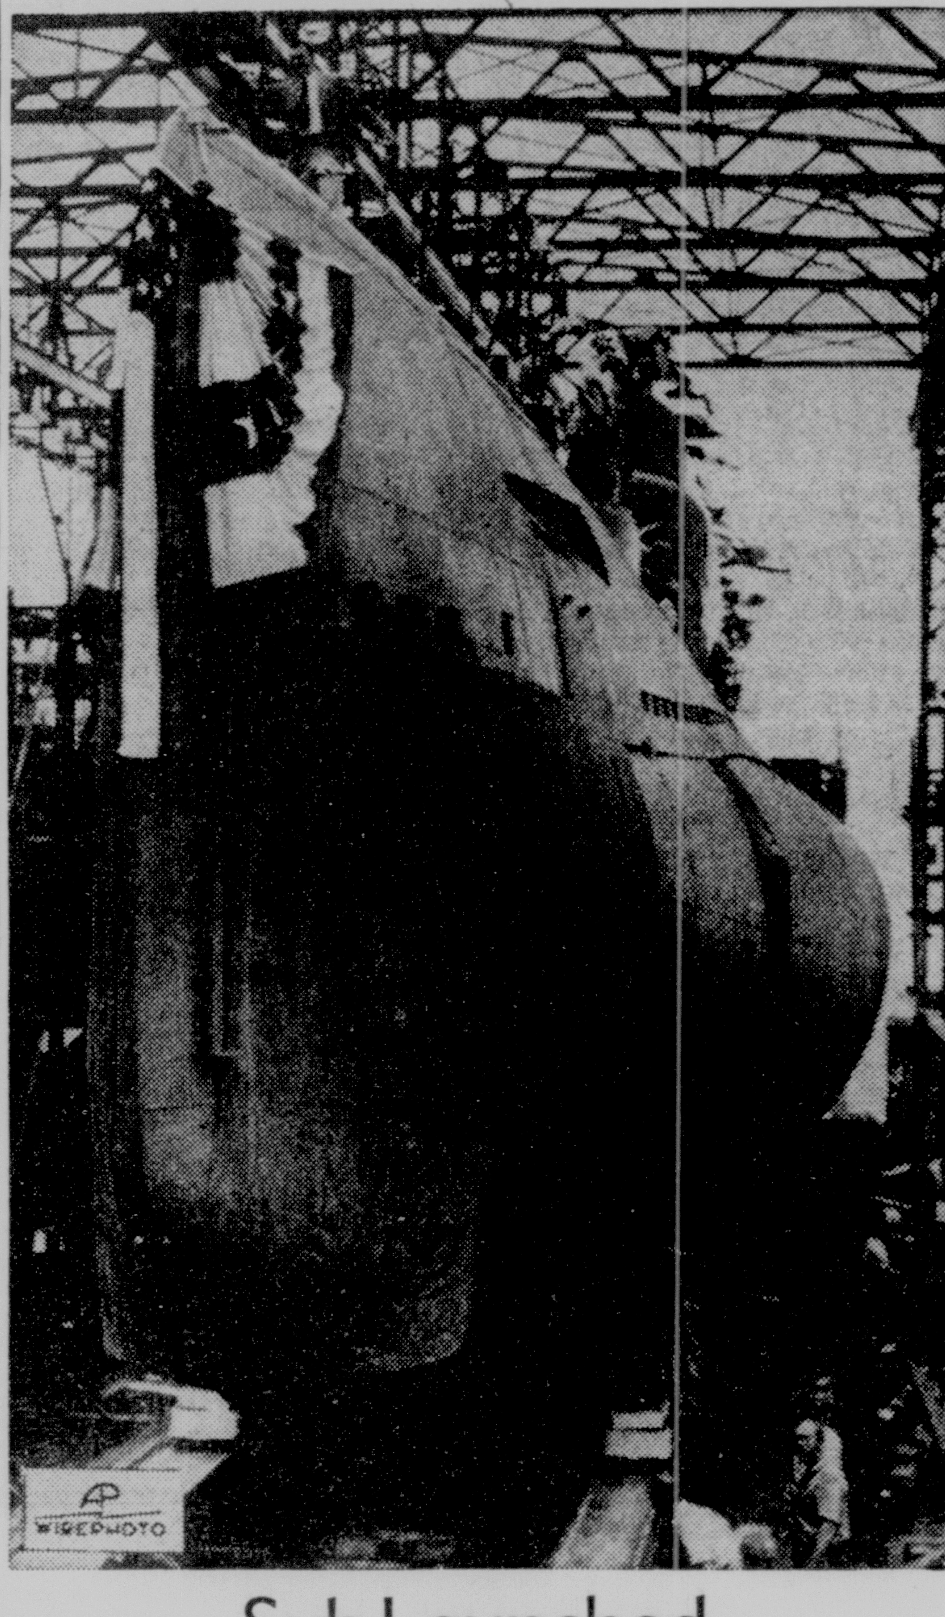
It has wreaked its greatest havoc so far on the British Island of Jamaica in the Caribbean. It raked the island Friday, taking 155 lives and causing $56,000,000 damage.

Committee Okays "Voice" Budget Of $63,000,000

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee voted $63,000,000 today to run the Voice of America this year. The sum is little more than half the $115,000,000 President Truman had asked and far below the $85,000,000 the House had allowed.

The allotment, however, is $7,000,000 more than a Senate subcommittee had voted. Sponsors of the subcommittee cut agreed to that rise but fought off a move to go up to the House figure.

The decision on the fund for the international news and propaganda broadcasts cleared out the last roadblock and the committee proceeded to approve a $1,022,000,000 appropriation for operation of the state, commerce, and justice departments in the year which began July 1.



Sub Launched

The USS Trout, third of a new class of six fast attack submarines being built for the Navy, is launched at Groton, Conn. The 1,600-ton craft is designed to travel at greater speed underwater than on the surface. The Tang and Trigger, two others in the class, were launched in June. The Trout was sponsored by Mrs. Mary Crane Clark, Monterey, Calif., widow of Lt. Comdr. Albert H. Clark who was lost when an earlier Trout went down during action off the China coast in 1944.

Stormy Protests Greet Possible New Fight For Price Controls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — President Truman touched off stormy protests on Capitol Hill today by indicating he will soon reopen the fight to obtain stronger price control powers from Congress.

Mr. Truman has denounced the present controls law — now about three weeks old—as inadequate to combat inflation under the rising pressure of multi-billion-dollar defense spending.

News ticker reports that Mr. Truman plans to renew his demands for greater authority over the nation's economy roused some lawmakers to quick wrath.

Challenges President

On the Senate floor, Senator Capehart (R-Ind) shouted:

"I challenge the President of the United States to send down his ideas of (any new) legislation. Let's have this thing out, once and for all."

The Indiana Senator boomed that "some people" apparently favor a "Marxist philosophy, a Socialist philosophy" in the pattern now being pursued in England.

Capehart also declared that none of the administration's controls chiefs had "courtesy enough" to sit down with members of Congress and point out what they thought were mistakes or weaknesses in the new controls law.

Joining in Capehart's protest, Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Banking Committee told the Senate that officials who are supposed to administer the new law are publicly criticizing it "even before the ink on it is dry."

Maybank said he was willing to listen to any proposals, but declared it was "only fair" to give the present law a fair trial.

Then, alluding to administration predictions that the new law may lead to higher prices, Maybank commented:

Defends New Act

"It does no good to tell the American people that prices are going up 10 per cent."

Capehart said price-control officials have practically "invited" the auto industry and other manufacturers to demand higher price ceilings.

"Of course we're going to have increases if the administrators say prices are going up," he said.

Capehart named Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and Price Director Michael V. DiSalle as "trying their case in the newspapers" without consulting Congress.

He defended the new act as "a good law that will prevent runaway inflation" if properly administered.

Army Private, Walking Post, Falls In Pool

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 21 (AP)—Pvt. John E. Cox, of Hodgenville, Ky., takes that army rule about walking a guard post "in a military manner" with reservations from now on.

It cost him a ducking last night at the military reservation here.

Cox was on guard duty at a swimming pool, walking his post with head erect and eyes straight ahead. He made a flank turn — and stepped into the pool.

A call to the corporal of the guard brought help. Fished out of the pool, the soaked private went back to walking his post.

Quake Causes Much Damage

KAILUA, Hawaii, Aug. 21 (AP)—One of Hawaii's most violent earthquakes today wrecked or damaged scores of homes on the famous Kona Coast, opened cracks in roads and sent giant boulders plunging into the sea.

Yet a preliminary survey of the sleepy resort district on the Island of Hawaii showed none injured seriously. The shock ran through the coast in the pre-dawn darkness and caught many in their frame homes. Only two residents were injured slightly, police reports said.

The plunging boulders in two big earthslides from Kona's cliffs churned up heavy surf. Frightened onlookers took to the hills, fearing a tidal wave. The surf quickly subsided.

First police reports listed 10 homes as destroyed and "several hundred" others suffering varying degrees of damage, mostly minor. Unofficial damage estimates ran as high as $150,000.

Three villages were hard hit. A serious water shortage threatened with from 50 to 60 wooden storage tanks destroyed and others damaged.

A frame school building and a store at the village of Honaunau were flattened. Villagers there and at Napoopoo took to the hills when the earthslides rumbled down. The third village damaged was Kealakekua.

Composer Dies

LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Constant Lambert, British composer, conductor, music critic and poet, died today after a short illness. He would have been 46 on Thursday.

Earl Succumbs

LUTON, Eng., Aug. 21 (AP)—The Earl of Orkney, Edmond Walter Fitzmaurice, died today. He was 84.

The aged peer had injured his thigh in a fall at his home in nearby Buckinghamshire July 23.

Senate Group Approves New Personal Tax

Measure Lightens Load Of House Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee wrote a new formula today for a personal income tax increase of $2,435,000,000. It lightens considerably the load the House's $2,847,000,000 plan would lay on bigger incomes, and committeemen said it hits a little lighter even in the lowest brackets.

In effect the new formula would apply the increase to what the taxpayer has left after paying the present levies. That cuts down the proportion of income affected in the higher brackets where the current rates already take away a big percentage.

First Senate Decision

It was the Senate committee's first decision on the $7,200,000,000 tax booster passed by the House. Action is yet to come on such sections as those on corporate taxes and excises. The reduction in personal income boosts seemed to bear out committeemen's predictions that the Senate committee would produce a smaller tax increase measure than the House passed.

Here is the committee's process for figuring higher levies on incomes:

Compute you tax as under present law.

Then subtract the amount of tax from your surtax net income, which is what you have left after exemptions and deductions.

Figure an additional defense tax of 3 per cent on that portion of the remainder up to $2,000 and 4 per cent on the portion above $2,000.

Add those defense taxes to the first figure, which is the amount you would pay under present law, and the result is your new tax liability.

Illustration Given

The committee staff gave an example to illustrate:

A single man with $5,000 gross income would have a surtax net income of $3,900 after taking out exemptions and deductions. On that amount his tax under present law would be $818.

Subsracting the $818 from the $3,900 he would have $3,082 subject to the extra defense tax.

He would pay 3 per cent, or $60 on the first $2,000. On the remaining $1,082 he would pay 4 per cent, or $43.28.

Thus his additional levy would be $103.28.

Lightning Kills Elderly Woman

ELKTON, Md., Aug. 21 (AP) — Lightning killed a 54-year-old woman tonight during a brief but violent hail storm that struck the Elkton area, felling trees and knocking out electric service for more than two hours.

Unofficial estimates were that the wind reached gusts of over 50 miles an hour.

Two automobiles and a half-ton panel truck were blown off U. S. Route 40. The truck was flipped over on its side.

Mrs. Emory Van Sant, 54, of Wilmington, Del., was struck by lightning and killed while lowering windows at the farm home of her brother-in-law, P. C. Van Sant, just north of here.

Relatives said lightning struck a big tree which fell against the chimney and crashed into the kitchen of the Van Sant home.

Mrs. Van Sant, visiting at the home, was in the kitchen closing the windows against hailstones.

She apparently was struck by the same bolt that struck the tree. She was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital here.

Chicago Woman Expects Birth Of Six Babies

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Chicago Herald-American today said "a Chicago area woman is about to make medical history by giving birth to five or six babies, according to obstetricians."

The newspaper said it had agreed not to use the name of the expectant mother or her physician.

"Top men in their profession honestly disagree on the number," the story set forth. Some, using stethoscopes, have detected heart beats from six babies. All have easily detected five heart beats.

"The babies are expected to be born late this month or early in September."

China Air Force General Ordered Back To Formosa

Dereliction Of Duty Charged By Nationals

TAIPEH, Formosa, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Chinese Nationalists today accused their Air Force representative in Washington of failing to account for $19,440,000 and ordered him and an aid eto come home.

A government spokesman said the funds entrusted to its representative, Lt. Gen. Mao Pang-Chu, was to buy equipment for the Nationalist Air Force and to train its personnel.

Shortly after this announcement, the Air Force reported the dismissal of Mao's executive assistant, Col. Hsiang Wei-Hsian. It ordered him home to face charges of dereliction of duty, corruption and suspicion of being a Communist agent.

It was doubtful if either would return to Formosa. They were expected to seek political asylum in the United States. The Nationalist government in that case may try to expedite them.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in a mandate accused Mao of "dereliction of duty and disobedience of orders." Mao also was deputy commander-in-chief of the Nationalist Air Force and was a delegate to the United Nations military staff committee. He has been stationed in Washington since the spring of 1943.

The government spokesman, Shehn Chang-Huan, said these five charges were levelled at Mao:

Lack of a clear statement of funds used for buying military equipment; dereliction of duties, impeding the air force's fighting power; espousing the cause of "disloyal" staff members; refusal to hand over public funds, and undermining the government's prestige by spreading rumors.

The spokesman said that after the Chinese Reds overran the mainland Mao's delays in buying equipment and gasoline hampered the training and the fighting power of the air force on Formosa.

Baseball Salaries Limit Is Proposed

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP) — A Federal salary stabilizer said today he favors letting organized baseball decide what its stars are worth.

There were suggestions, however, that any such free hand be coupled with a limit on baseball salaries—but on an overall league basis rather than man by man.

"We are dealing with a very responsible industry," Dr. Raymond B. Allen told a three-man government wage panel looking into professional sport salaries.

Dr. Allen, chairman of the Salary Stabilization Board, was against anyone in Washington setting salaries on a player-by-player basis.

"We're not that smart," he said.

Instead, he favored letting "the gentlemen who know their business determine what individual baseball salaries shall be."

Explorers Find Sudan Gold Field--But You Can Have It

LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Bearded John Goddard of Los Angeles, Calif., hit London today with news of gold down in the Sudan—but he is not worried about starting a big gold rush.

Goddard, going home after a 10-month exploring junket from the source of the Nile River to its mouth, says it is anybody's gold field so far as he's concerned.

He never wants to see it again.

All you have to do down there, he said, is get used to temperatures around 140 degrees, clouds of mosquitoes and other biting insects, flotillas of crocodiles, hostile natives who take anything in your camp that is not nailed down, and occasional sand storms.

The spot he described is 300 miles south of Egyptian-Sudanese border. The gold-bearing rock he picked up was along the Nile banks and up to two miles inland.

The 26-year-old Californian plans to sail for home tomorrow on the Queen Elizabeth.

His trip down the Nile was made with two French explorers, Andre Davy and Jean La Porte, in Eskimo kayaks. They gathered scientific data on rivers, animals, peoples and plants during the 4,000-mile trip.

Theirs, they claim, was the first complete exploration of the Nile from one end to the other.

The journey was sponsored by the French Explorers' Society, the French Geographical Society and the French Museum of Natural History.

Send Second Complaint To Allied Group

Truce Delegates Leave For Kaesong

MUNSAN, Korea, Wednesday, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Communists Tuesday rejected in advance the United Nations finding on an alleged neutrality zone shooting and fired a second complaint even before the first was fully answered.

An Allied spokesman struck back hard at the stubborn Red stand which threatened once more to upset the faltering Korean armistice talks.

Nevertheless, the Allied truce subcommittee left by helicopter for today's 11 a. m. session at Kaesong—the sixth attempt to break the deadlock on where to draw a buffer zone across Korea.

Today's U. N. delegates were Major Generals Henry I. Hodes and Lawrence C. Craigie.

Crisis Is Deepened

The continuing deadlock and the new Red charges deepened the crisis.

Resumption of full-scale war across Korea hung on the outcome. Peiping radio hinted at such a grim prospect and called the alleged shooting "murder."

The Red Pyongyang radio Tuesday night announced that the Communist top negotiator, Lt. Gen. Nam Il was "not satisfied" with a preliminary reply he had received from the Allies on a shooting incident Sunday.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, the chief U. N. negotiator, had informed Nam earlier that preliminary investigation "does not substantiate" the Communist charge that Allied troops ambushed a Red patrol leader inside the five mile neutrality zone.

Joy told Nam: "I will reply fully to you when I have received a complete report of the investigation."

It was this message that Nam brusquely turned down with a demand for "severe punishment of the violators of the neutral zone and a guarantee of the non-recurrence of such incidents."

The wording and phraseology of Nam's message was quite similar to the stinging rebuke Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway handed the Reds two weeks ago.

The U. N. commander was "not satisfied" then with the Red effort to minimize the presence of Red combat troops at Kaesong in full battle dress and carrying mortars and machine-guns.

Allies Called "Treacherous"

Nam's rejection was accompanied by loud North Korean and Red Chinese propaganda outbursts which called the Americans and South Koreans "enemies of peace," "treacherous," "ferocious" and "utterly shameless."

One Red truce delegate, Lt. Gen. Tung Hua, was quoted by the Red radio as saying:

"If we cannot win peace through negotiations, then we must win it by continued struggle against aggression."

In a new complaint, the Com-

Bootleg Outsells Legal Whisky, Newspaper Says

NEW YORK—(AP)—Bootleg is outselling legal whisky and more moonshine is being produced today than during the peak of prohibition, the Herald Tribune says.

The newspaper reached its conclusions from records collected by Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., an association of major liquor producers.

The Herald Tribune presents these figures:

A total of 19,644 stills were seized by authorities last year. They had a capacity of 677,179 gallons a day or —if they had operated on a five-day a week basis—176,066,540 gallons a year.

Last year, production by licensed distilleries amounted to 477,986 gallons a day, or 199,193 gallons less than the illegal output.

The high point of prohibition moonshining was only 170,000,000 gallons a year.

But, the Herald Tribune adds, most bootleggers work their stills round-the-clock, so that they could have turned out 247,170,335 gallons of illegal booze.

It adds that seizures of stills this year indicate a bootleg output of 20 per cent above last year's

The newspaper says the bulk of the moonshine is being sold in a growing number of present-day speakeasies, known as "bottle clubs."

Waxey Gordon Ill

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Waxey Gordon is very ill of pneumonia today, scarcely aware of a legal cat and mouse game going on around him.

Now 63, the kingpin beer baron of the roaring prohibition '20's, is prostrate in a federal jail cell with virus pneumonia, too sick to be moved. He is being treated every three hours.

MARK ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. William Browning, Flintstone, who celebrated the 61st anniversary of their wedding Monday, are seen reading a few of the messages of congratulations they received. Mr. Browning will be 82 on August 28 and Mrs. Browning the same age October 24. They were married at the Stonestreet Brothers farm on Murley's Branch by Rev. E. F. Pascoe, pastor of Flintstone Methodist Church August 20, 1890 and operated a farm on Murley's Branch Road until 1945, when they retired and moved to Flintstone. They are the parents of two children, Leslie Browning, who died some years ago, and Mrs. Louis Littlefield, Flintstone, and have two grandchildren, Mrs. Guy Stonestreet and Dorothy Browning, and a great grandson, Guy Stonestreet, Jr. Mrs. Browning, the former Delia Brotemarkle, is the only remaining member of a family of nine. Her husband has one sister, Mrs. Minnie Twigg. Browning still works in his garden and Mrs. Browning does all of her own work and occasionally pitches in to help her neighbors in time of need. She still keeps her reputation for fine quilting and fancy work.

Russians Also 'Pass The Buck'

MOSCOW—(AP)—Occupants of a Kiev apartment house, who have been trying vainly for six months to get their sewerage system repaired, have been taken for a "merry go round" ride, says Ukrainian Pravda.

The American term for such a situation presumably would be "passing the buck."

The Kiev paper said the breakdown is making the apartments unlivable. Not only the occupants but also their neighbors are suffering.

The paper, organ of the Communist Party in the Ukraine, described the procedure followed to correct the situation:

The complaint went to the house administration, district housing administration, state sanitary inspection authorities, chief state inspector, chief surgeon at the city sanitary and epidemic station, district sanitary station, district housing administration and back to the apartment building management. There it was filed wtihout action.

Another complaint went through the same channels, except that when it got back to the house management it was hidden in a desk. A third complaint is now being prepared.

A dependable source of high grade pulp

At Prince Rupert, in British Columbia, only a few miles south of the southernmost tip of Alaska and nearly 5,000 miles from Cumberland, Celanese Corporation of America has invested millions of dollars in a new pulp mill and "forest farm" operation.

The project is important to the Tri-State area, because it was designed to overcome the shortage of wood pulp that contributed to curtailments of production and furloughs at Amcelle and other Celanese plants.

We're in a fast growing business, and other manufacturers of chemical fibers have, like Celanese, been using increased amounts of wood pulp. So have paper and box-board manufacturers. World suppliers of wood pulp have been unable to keep up with the increasing demand.

The Prince Rupert operation will provide a substantial part of our cellulose requirements. Like the chemicals plant at Bishop, Texas, it is an example of long range planning to ensure adequate supplies of basic raw materials for Celanese plants.

The Prince Rupert project is a good example of financial and industrial teamwork in action. By investing money in far-off British Columbia, Celanese Corporation of America is helping to make Amcelle operations steadier and the jobs of its employees more secure. There's this to remember however . . .

Only the company that makes a profit can invest in the facilities, equipment and machines its employees need to meet the competition of other workers in the industry. That's why profit is just as important to employees, customers, and communities as it is to the company itself.

American Boy Scouts Show World Value Of Cleanliness

BAD ISCHAL, Austria—(AP)—European boys are marvelling at the standards of American health and cleanliness maintained at the recent seventh World Boy Scout Jamboree and at the lack of flies and mosquitoes at the camp.

Credit for the absence of insects and the fact that the jamboree escaped any serious epidemic goes to the Boy Scouts of America, the U. S. Public Health Service and the U. S. Army.

The high American health standards on which the American Boy Scouts insisted for the 629 boys who came here from the United States, worked for the benefit of all 15,000 Scouts attending the jamboree.

During the 10-day jamboree not a single American boy was hospitalized for sickness or treated for major injuries.

On the other hand, an average of 200 boys a day from other lands were treated in the camp dispensary—run largely by the U. S. Army—for sickness and injuries.

This figure might well have been more had it not been for the presence of American medical officers.

When Ray Bryan, Greenvale, Long Island, a member of the American Boy Scouts' executive staff, was sent here to make arrangements for the arrival of American scouts, he asked the U. S. Army to make sure the water supply was clean.

The Army set up a hydro-chlorinator at the source of the camp's water, so that the 350,000 gallons a day pumped into the camp was cleaned for the benefit, not only for American Scouts, but for all.

Bryan was followed by Alton M. Brown, Spartenburg, S. C., attached to the U. S. Public Health Service in Greece. Brown was loaned to the Scouts by the U. S. government to ensure adequate sanitation for the Americans.

Latrines and showers had been built only a few yards from the tents of many delegations, including the American. The Austrians, lacking supplies of modern disinfectants, had planned to use chloride of lime.

Considering this inadequate, Brown and the American Scout leaders placed at Austrian disposal large quantities of DDT and chlorodame. Brown made it his daily business to see that not only latrines, but water outlets and showers were kept from becoming breeding areas for infectious disease carriers.

"The Austrian public health people and hundreds of boys" Brown said, "told us it was the first time they had ever seen a camp without flies."

Margaret Rose Is 21

Margaret Rose, the younger of Britain's two "fairy-tale princesses" of yesteryear, was 21 years old on Tuesday. Her sister Elizabeth now is 25 and has two children. Margaret is the only member of the royal family who lacks a private income. On turning 21 she will be entitled to draw on the annual allowance of $16,800 voted to her by Parliament last month.

One of the surprises, to Americans at least, of Labor government in Britain has been the almost complete absence of attacks on the monarchy by Labor party left-wingers. True, a Scottish laborite moved in Commons to cut Margaret's allowance in half, but he explained that he was merely registering the will of his constituency.

Latest reports of Margaret are that she looks with particular favor on 24-year-old William Wallace, stepson of Herbert Agar, former editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. Young Wallace is sole heir to a $2,800,000 fortune left him by his father, a former British Minister of Transport. London newspapers report speculation in court circles that Margaret's engagement to Wallace will be announced soon after her 21st birthday.

Until Margaret reaches 25 she cannot be married without the approval of her father, the King. After 25, under an old British law which regulates these matters, she can marry without the royal assent, provided one year's notice has been given and the marriage has not been disapproved by both houses of Parliament.

Eyes On Mississippi

The runoff for governor in Mississippi on Monday is by all odds the most interesting electoral contest of the off-year 1951. The candidates are former Gov. Hugh L. White, an outstanding states-righter, and Paul B. Johnson, a warm supporter of the Truman Fair Deal.

White sees the issue as "States Rights Democracy vs. Trumanism." He led the Mississippi delegation out of the 1948 Democratic convention after the Truman civil rights program had been put in the party platform.

Johnson, son of a former governor, says the leading issue is social welfare and particularly the welfare of the state's older citizens. He advocates state pensions of $50 a month for all persons in Mississippi who have passed their 65th birthdays.

At present Mississippi's average old-age assistance payment is about $18.40 a month and the maximum that may be paid under state law is $30 a month. The national average payment is about $43.20. Mississippi has about 430 out of each 1,000 of its old folks on the assistance rolls, compared with a national average of about 225 per 1,000.

The response of Mississippi voters to Johnson's pensions-for-all program will be weighed with care by national party leaders. In recent Senate debate Democratic Leader McFarland said he believed all citizens should get federal pensions on reaching age 65, whether in need or not.

As long as two years ago Republican Leader Taft asked a Finance Committee study of the feasibility of a universal pension system. He doubted that the national economy could stand it, but thought there might be some merit in substituting flat-rate pensions without contribution for the present old-age insurance system.

Right To A Passport?

Paul Robeson, Negro singer, was an American delegate to a Communist-sponsored "peace congress" in Paris in April, 1949. When he wanted to go to another such conference in August, 1950, his passport was withdrawn. Now he is suing in the U. S. Court of Appeals to compel the State Department to give him a new passport for travel in Europe.

Robeson contends that he is being deprived of a constitutional right because the government disapproves of his political views. The Supreme Court has never passed on the question whether there is any such constitutional right as he claims.

Attorney Genral Knox said 50 years ago that there was "no law which gives a citizen a right to a passport" and that remains the case today. As long ago as 1869 Attorney General Hoar ruled that the State Department had full discretion in granting or withholding passports.

Hoar wrote: "Circumstances are conceivable which would make it most inexpedient for the public interest of this country to grant a passport to a citizen of the United States. For example, if . . . an avowed anarchist . . . were to make such application, the public interests might require that his application be denied."

In 1948 a left-wing member of Congress was refused a passport to attend a Paris conference of supporters of the guerrillas in Greece. The State Department said it was obvious that "the issuance of a passport for the purpose stated is not in the interest of the Government of the United States."

In Session Long Enough

The American people join the Senate and House Democratic leaders in the hope that Congress will be able to adjourn by October 1. It is difficult for anyone to think of a good reason why this goal cannot be attained. It is true that important bills are still to be enacted into law, but it is likewise the fact that Fair Deal proposals which stirred the most bitter controversy in the past — civil rights, Taft-Hartley repeal, etc. — are not on this session's agenda.

As was to have been expected, Vice President Barkley, Majority Leader McFarland of the Senate and Speaker Rayburn and Representative McCormack of the House deny that this has been a do-nothing Congress. Nevertheless, there are certain facts in the situation that cannot be washed away.

As of this moment only one of the 13 regular appropriation bills has been signed by the President. Most government agencies and departments, therefore, are operating on a stop-gap spending basis.

That is not unprecedented and not necessarily bad. If it means, as Senator McFarland says, that Congress is scrutinizing prospective expenditures more carefully than ever before, it can actually redound to the public interest. But if these bills are rushed through in the final hour in a reckless, helter-skelter manner, the country stands a good chance of running into an era of more governmental extravagance.

In any event, Congress has been in session long enough for this year. If it will now get down to business and forget the next election, it ought to be able to complete its work in the next six weeks.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Food Laxatives

Are you in need of a laxative? If so, two of the best are to be found in the kitchen or pantry—canned figs and plums. These items are tasty and inexpensive and can be used as a breakfast fruit or dessert.

Figs and plums are only two of the many foods that produce bulk. Dried prunes and apricots do the same, as well as most fresh fruits and vegetables, cereals, and whole wheat bread. However, the colon is likely to become used to one bulk producer after a few weeks or months and when it no longer responds, switching to another will provide a new stimulous.

On the first day that the individual takes prunes instead of figs, the stool will be bulky; by the second day it will be less so. Gradually, bulkiness disappears and stools become normal. The same thing happens with bulk producing medicines containing methylcellulose; they work well for a while and then seem to lose their efficiency. There are exceptions, however. Some persons have stayed with their old reliable for years and continue to keep regulated. Whether these substances retain their laxative effect or the bowel habit remains established is immaterial so long as the practice is harmless. But if a product like sauerkraut juice is employed it is advisable to take two or three glasses of water with it to help dilute the salt content. An alternative is to drink a glass of normal salt solution, made by adding one-third teaspoonful of ordinary table salt to a glass of water.

Other simple aids include suppositories and oil retention enemas. For the latter, one to three ounces of oil can be inserted into the rectum with a baby syringe before bedtime. This is reatined all night and expelled in the morning.

If knowledge of how the bowel functions were general, there would be less constipation. The stomach empties in from two to seven hours and digestion in the small bowel takes place in from two to four hours. The undigested residue enters the large intestine in a liquid state and during the remainder of the journey thru the intestinal tract, fluid is absorbed. This takes between one and five days. Exceptions are coarse foods such as corn, nuts, and seeds. They pass thru quickly without being digested.

When the material goes thru the body too rapidly the outcome is diarrhea; if too slowly, constipation. With the majority the process is normal tho occasional disturbances are not uncommon. If there is no movement on Tuesday, for example, undoubtedly regularity will be reestablished on Wednesday; but if a drug is used to clean out the colon, several days may elapse before the normal cycle returns. If another cathartic is taken, nature is not given a chance. A few weeks of such practices will place the individual on the road to constipation. The best plan is to eat sensibly by incorporating bulk producing foods in the diet. (For additional suggestions on an anti-constipation regimen, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Pain From Tonic

H. B. writes: I would like to know what is wrong. When I put on hair tonic that has a sweet smell I get a headache and pain in the neck.

REPLY

Your discomfort may follow applying the preparation too vigorously or twisting and turning the head to follow the scent.

Heart Symptoms

M. Y. writes: Could indigestion cause irregular heart beat? When I have digestive symptoms my heart misses a beat every now and then.

REPLY

Yes, but why not have the cause of your symptoms investigated? There are many types of irregularities. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on palpitation, extra beat of the heart, and rapid pulse.

Active Sleeper

H. J. writes: My roommate tells me I disturb her rest by talking in my sleep every night. I'm in good health and not nervous. What can I do about it?

REPLY

Little can be done unless your roommate wishes to use ear plugs or move elsewhere. You, in turn, might live alone or find a girl who sleeps so soundly that nothing arouses her.

Arm Pain

G. O. writes: Does pain in the arm, starting at the shoulder and going all the way down, always mean heart trouble?

REPLY

Not necessarily. Many structures in the arm, such as bursae and nerves, are capable of producing these symptoms. When arm pain stems from the heart it is usually accompanied by a somewhat similar type of distress in chest and neck and is not altered by movements of the shoulder or arm.

Infection And Cancer

W. K. writes: Can diseased tonsils cause cancer of the throat?

REPLY

In my opinion, this would be a remote possobility, even tho we do not know the cause of cancer.

High Commissioner McCloy Has No Influence In Handling Russian Escapees Anxious To Help U. S.; Counter-Intelligence Agents Alienate Them

EN ROUTE THROUGH EUROPE —Here are some spot observations gathered in various parts of Germany regarding one of the most important problems we face either in preventing war or winning a war after it gets started:

FRANKFORT — High Commissioner Jack McCloy, who is performing a remarkably fine job, is supposed to be the top man in Germany. He can and does set aside German court decrees. He can give or withhold American money, the life blood of Europe. He can order the American army to get out of this area or into that.

But when it comes to Russians escaped from behind the iron curtain, High Commissioner McCloy has as much influence with the American Army as a Communist youth demonstrator in the East zone of Germany. The American military flouts his orders and thumbs its nose at McCloy much like the above Communist youth-demonstrator at the West German police.

Perhaps because of this, the young socialite Central Intelligence agents of Gen. Bedell Smith and the amateur detectives in counter-intelligence do such a successful job of alienating these Russian escapees that a lot of them decide Soviet Russia is better than the much-vaunted West and return home.

Just outside Frankfort is a Russian refugee camp. Its name, its exact location, the number of Russians in it are supposed to be top secret. Not even McCloy knows how many Russians are in it. Nor has he ever visited it. If the Army is ordered by McCloy to let anyone into this camp, the Army says no.

In this camp at one time were about 2,000 Russian officers, who, disgusted with the Red Army, had fled to the American zone of Germany anxious to help the U.S.A. But for months they simply sat, ate, and were interviewed by young counterintelligence agents—ate, sat, and were interviewed; ate, slept, and were interviewed.

Some were flown to the United States amid a flurry of excitement to reoprt on conditions inside Russia to higher-ups in the Pentagon. Some were promised haven in the U.S.A. In the end all were reduced to sitting, waiting, and going to seed—thanks to the sterility, inefficiency and lack of imagination of the Army and Gen. Bedell Smith's amateur Dick Tracys.

Restless Red Army

BERLIN — Across the invisible iron curtain in the East zone of Germany are about 300,000 members of the Red Army. Living in Germany, a country with which they all too recently fought a bitter war, these troops long had to camp behind barbed wire.

This was not to keep the German population away from them, but to keep the Russians from deserting. Even so, many of them did desert—and more would desert if given encouragement or any kind of favorable treatment after their arrival in the West.

Obviously Moscow knows that these troops, living near the West and with no tight border control between East and West, constitute one of the potential weaknesses of the Red Army. It also knows that the same thing is true in Austria where Russian troops also live near the West and temptation is strong to drift over and sample Western glamor.

Undoutedly Moscow also remembers what many Americans have forgotten — that it was not the Kaiser's army that defeated the Czar in 1917, but the shrewdness of the German Staff in sending Trotsky and Lenin in a sealed train from Switzerland into Russia. Moscow certainly should remember it, for that was what started the Bolshevik revolution and put Stalin where he is today.

And remember it, Stalin certainly doesn't want it to happen—in reverse—again.

But the dapper young counterintelligence agents and Gen. Bedell Smith's cloak-and-dagger dicks are either too young or too dense to remember it.

Kerensky Unites

MUNICH—Dining in Munich the other night I discussed some of these things with gnarled, spritely Alexander Kerensky, father of the first Russian revolution, who, if not upset by Lenin, Trotsky and the German General Staff, might have saved Russia and the world the scourge of communism.

Kerensky had come to Munich to do a job that has needed doing for years—wrapping all the diverse Russian exile groups into one close-knit body in order to do to Stalin what Lenin and Trotsky once did to Kerensky.

In Munich with Kerensky were three other top Russians from the U.S.A.—Vladamir Zenzinov, Prof. I. Kurganov and Boris Nikolayevsky; also the League of Struggle for National Freedom, the National Labor Alliance, the Russian National Movement, the Union of Soldiers of the Liberation Movement, and the Union for the Liberation of the Peoples of Russia.

These groups and leaders are about as diverse and as difficult to get along with as some of the groups within the heterogeneous Union of Soviet Russia; and some, such as the Ukraines, want to solve all "New Russia's" problems even before the New Russia is created.

However, it seemed to me that this meeting of Russian factions in Munich is the most encouraging thing that has happened for a long time. For if and when they get together, they can do two things:

1. Beam propaganda into Russia that comes from Russians, not from Americans who have an ax to grind.

2. Work out a system for screening recent Russian escapees and getting them settled where they can help in the future; instead of going to seed in refugee camps under the amateur cross-examination of CIA and CIC boys.

NOTE — At present there is no more cooperation between Counterintelligence and Russians of the Kerensky type than there is between McCloy and Counterintelligence.

PREDICTION — If the United States arranged with Brazil, Paraguay, Kenya, South Africa and other unpopulated countries to set up a system for handling Russian refugees, and if word of this were broadcast to the Red Army in East Germany and Austria, I predict that it would be impossible for the Kremlin to keep an army in these two vital countries. Such a refugee resettlement plan could be a point four program which might save the peace of the world.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Someone might well offer a prize for a new name for the U. S. Navy.

Maybe the name should be the "U. S. Air Navy." For the latest announcement from the Navy Department reveals that hereafter even submarines will engage in aerial warfare.

Unfortunately, the Navy has been laboring under a handicap in post-war years. Members of Congress and some commentators still think of the Navy as primarily a ferry service or a patrol to guard the transportation of troops across the seas or just as a means of hunting down enemy submarines.

Actually the Navy today is set up to conduct offensive as well as defensive warfare by the use of the latest type of bombers and fighter planes. The Navy has just revealed, for example, that three more aircraft carriers will be modernized so as to handle bombing planes capable of delivering the atomic bomb.

For several months now it has been the policy of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to allow every one of the three armed services to use atomic energy for its weapons—each service adapting these to its own special purposes.

Hinges On Aerial Combat

The aircraft carrier, however, with its floating base is not the only ship that will engage in aerial warfare. Guided missiles will be fired from the decks of cruisers and battleships. The time is near when even a submarine will run close to an enemy shore and, coming to the surface, will discharge guided missiles which will do damage several hundred miles inland.

The so-called "carrier task force" is built around aerial warfare. The aircraft carrier of today gets a ring of protection from battleships, cruisers and destroyers, and all are equipped with rapid-fire antiaircraft guns. The whole concept of a modern navy turns primarily on aerial combat.

Before the Korean War broke out, the Navy had a hard time convincing its critics in other services that lots of aircraft carriers should remain in commission and not be put in "mothballs." In fact, money for modernizing aircraft carriers was withheld because of the belief that there wouldn't be much use for the navy's air arm as long as intercontinental strategic bombers could do the same job.

During the first weeks of the Korean war, fortunately, the aircraft carriers of the Navy transported some of the U. S. Air Force's fighter planes across the Pacific. This is because a fighter plane, as distinguished from a long-range bomber, cannot fly across long stretches of water.

Thus, not only was the aircraft carrier's use as a ferry in an emergency confirmed but an awakening took place at the same time as to the true power of naval aviation as an offensive force. The navy's fighters and bombers ranged up and down both coasts of Korea and its planes regularly gave close air support to ground troops, especially when fields in Korea were not available.

Has Become Air Navy

More and more, therefore, the U. S. Navy has become an air navy. There are very few officers today who think of the battleship and the cruiser as the backbone of the fleet any more. As the late Admiral Sherman used to say, the modern aircraft carrier is the new "ship of the line."

Incidentally, the Navy is happy about the evolution of its new large-sized carrier known as the "James V. Forrestal." A sister ship is likely to be planned soon. Louis Johnson, who was secretary of defense in 1950, revealed recently at Senate Armed Services hearings that he had promised Admiral Sherman there would be two new large-sized carriers. While this hasn't been brought before the Joint Chiefs as yet, it probably will be in due course. It is believed the new carrier will be named the "Forrest P. Sherman." Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee approves of the idea.

But, speaking of names, Congress has specifically recognized "naval aviation" in its statutes. Yet the "naval air arm" is no longer an adjunct by itself. With guided missiles and atomic bombs fired from all manner of naval vessels, the name "U. S. Air Navy" would now, as a term of identification, embrace the entire naval establishment.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Protecting The Middle Class

It is of importance that the income tax law which recognizes obsolescence in machinery and plant be revised to recognize obsolescence in human beings. In other words, those groups in our population who earn their livings as professional men and women, such as doctors, lawyers, architects, writers, etc., and who are their own employers and cannot benefit by pension funds, need the right to set aside a share of their earnings, untaxed, for the day when the eye grows dim and the hand shaky.

But here comes Irving Ives of New York with a proposal that is very bad. He is for setting aside untaxed savings, but he wants the last independent individuals in the country to be forced by advantage into the controlled proletariat which is so characteristic of our totalitarian-minded age.

Senator Ive's amendment to the 1951 Internal Revenue Act would require such self-employed professional men to pay a portion of their earnings, not exceeding 10 per cent of their yearly net income and not more than $7,500, into a restricted retirement fund, organized by a professional group to which they belong. In a word, to protect his old age, a writer or composer or doctor would have to join a union of his profession.

Why should this be necessary? Suppose he does not wish to join such a union or to be bound by its policities, why should he feel that he would have to? Furthermore, the Ives Amendment makes this a postponably taxable amount, which means that if he gets it at the age of 60, it can then be taxed when he may need it most.

What is required is not a postponed tax but an obsolescence arrangement, a reserve fund, similar to that allowed corporations for plant and equipment. For instance, if a man spends 10 years preparing for a professional service, a system should be devised to amortize that preparation. Doctors can amortize equipment, but what can a writer, who spends five years on a book, amortize? His knowledge, experience, wisdom?

This strikes me as one of those political acts which please the officers of various professional associations and gives to the politician whatever kudos that is worth. As many of these associations are situated in New York City, it is natural that some of them should have reached Senator Ives with this impractical and wrong proposal.

This is not merely a question of money. The middle class, the self-employed people are being squeezed to the wall by taxes and high prices. Most of them are so situated that it is difficult, if not impossible, for them to raise their fees. Doctors, for instance, are the last to be paid and often give as many hours to free service in hospitals and clinics as they do to their paying patients. They are having, as a group, a difficult time. We hear a good deal about the high cost of specialists, but very little of the general practitioner who still has to accept what he thinks the traffic will bear, which is often little enough.

The same is true of other professional and self-employed persons. The income tax law may produce the social revolution of forcing us all to work for corporations which have pension funds as the only way to save for old age or to provide for our families after we die. Senator Ives's alternative is to join a professional union and to save by paying into a postponed taxable fund.

In the Communist manifesto, Karl Marx offers the income tax as one of the most effective means for destroying the capitalist system. How right he was in 1848 is so clear today when we witness how this tax is destroying the capacity to save and thereby to develop new reservoirs of capital. The income tax is not only being used to raise revenue, but to redistribute wealth and to eliminate the self-employed elements in the population. It can produce a corporate state such as Mussolini fixed upon Italy and from which that country has not yet recovered.

It is the elimination of the middle-class, with its capacity to develop intellectual leadership, that paves the way everywhere for such movements as communism, fascism, nazism, and so on. The resistance to these movements is strongest among self-employed, home-owning, thrifty, investing people. This has proved so true universally that any contradiction is outside experience and must be attributed to some self-serving motive.

Spiral Advancing

By MARK SULLIVAN

A preponderance of the evidence, and a preponderance of the major forces at work, suggests that an advance in the wage-price spiral may be getting under way. The advance is made likely by official administration actions. The principal recent action is an order by the Wage Stabilization Board, made effective last week, raising the ceiling over wages which it had decreed seven months before. The order itself made an advance of the wage-price spiral extremely likely. The way it came about raises a disquieting question as to whether the Administration earnestly intends to arrest the wage-price spiral and inflation.

The part the Administration has in the wage-price spiral is illustrated by the way last week's new wage policy came about. Some months ago, the Administration, creating agencies to check inflation, set up among others a Wage Stabilization Board composed of 12 members, four each to represent labor, industry and the public. This board last January decreed a general ceiling over wages. The ceiling, with some qualifications, was 10 per cent above the level of the year before, January 15, 1950.

This ceiling was vigorously protested by organized labor. The four labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board withdrew. As a broader protest, a "Labor Policy Committee," composed of high officers of the large national labor organizations, formally protested the Administration's mobilization policy and set-up as a whole, declaring that labor was not sufficiently represented on the agencies composing the set-up.

Stated By Johnston

President Truman yeilded. Among other appeasements he appointed a new and larger Wage Stabilization Board. This board has now issued an order declaring a new policy and practice about wage ceilings. The new order permits wage raises under varying conditions, the total effect of which is estimated to be a raise of two to four per cent above the former 10 per cent standard ceiling which labor had protested. The new wage ceiling is a result of pressure by organized labor on the Administration and yielding by the Administration.

The effect of a general wage raise, the part it has in the wage-price spiral, is stated by Economic Stabilization Administrator Eric Johnston, in a statement he made in connection with the new wage policy: "We all know that wage increases are reflected in price increases and that price increases lead to wage increases." That is a clear and exact statement of a fundamental economic truth. Grasp of that truth is a step toward understanding the whole subject of the wage-price spiral and inflation.

An overall feature of the new wage policy sanctions are in general "escalator clauses" in wage contracts between employers and unions. The escalator clause ties wages to cost of living, under it wages go up automatically in proportion as cost of living goes up. Theoretically, wages also go down with cost of living, but who that has ever ridden in a literal escalator has seen it go downward? True, an escalator clause in a contract between General Motors and a union of its workers once resulted in a slight reduction of wages. But the overwhelming probability is that the effect of escalator clauses in contracts is likely to be made as a result of the new wage policy will be upward—upward in wages and upward in cost of living.

Automatic Mechanism

In short, the escalator clause is an automatic mechanism of inflation. As "The New York Herald Tribune" put it, "the government is deliberately building into the industrial economy and inflationary force which cannot be controlled."

The escalator clause is added to a built-in automatic mechanism of inflation that already existed. In the mechanism the active forces, working mutually and reciprocally, are wages and government price support of farm crops. As wages rise and prices of manufactured goods follow upward, the Department of Agriculture fixes higher prices at which it supports prices of farm crops.

Price support of farm crops is embodied in law and operated by the Administration. The escalator clause is wage contracts is authorized by an Administration agency. Both work as an advantage to large groups and are thereby supposed to appeal to large numbers of voters. Neither is likely to be terminated voluntarily by an Administration in office on the eve of an election year; the most that could be expected, and this not very confidently, would be some modification. Any effective check of the automatic mechanism of inflation, which the two compose depends upon the immense class to whom inflation works hardship, the consumers.

Progressive Party Leaders Split Over Outlook For Labor Support

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—A split over prospects for labor support of the Progressive Party in 1952 elections appeared today in the party's top ranks.

Vito Marcantonio, former New York congressman and a member of the Progressives' national committee, predicted at a news conference there would be a swing to the party in 1952, led by labor and negroes.

However, Elmer A. Benson, national chairman of the party indicated labor leaders are giving a cold shoulder to the party.

In a brief talk during a party-sponsored rally, Benson said, "I'm not as optimistic for the immediate present as other members of the national committee.

"I have absolutely no confidence in the present leadership of farm organizations and labor organizations," he asserted.

Benson added, however, "my thinking hasn't changed," and said he was certain for success "in the long pull."

Asked at the news conference to elaborate on his statement, Benson said:

"I can walk into the two biggest banks in Minnesota and get a better reception from the presidents or vice presidents than from labor leaders."

Marcantonio interrupted Benson and said it was only the "phoney labor leaders" who did not favor the Progressive Party program.

Benson did not comment further.

Benson is the former Farmer-Labor Party governor of Minnesota. He is now a farmer at Appleton, Minn.

"The rank and file of labor are going to be with us in '52," Marcantonio declared.

He predicted a "disintegration" of the Democratic Party would begin in 1952 and that out of this breakup "a stronger Progressive Party will arise."

A "statement of policy" on next year's elections said "despite the 'misleaders' of labor and farmers, the American people are finding their own ways for expressing their profound dissatisfaction with and opposition to the war program and its effects. x x x

"But the sentiment for peace, for civil liberties, for equal rights for the negro people and for a welfare economy can be effective only if given political expression."

The party's national committee, which held a two-day meeting here, said in the statement, "we shall at once strengthen our party organizations and take all necessary steps to prepare to run Progressive Party candidates for president and vice president.

"At the same time, we shall continue to work for and do everything in our power to bring about the organzation of an independent ticket, supported by a coalition of all groups and individuals who stand for a genuine policy of peace."

This four-point "minimum program" as a basis for such a coalition ticket was suggested:

1. An end to the war in Korea; United States initiative for good faith negotiations among the five great powers for the peaceful settlement of outstanding differences.

2. A return to a peacetime economy; a deep cut in armaments spending; genuine price and profit controls; an end to the wage freeze and an adequate welfare budget.

3. An end to discrimination against the negro people, with full legislative guarantees of civil rights

4. An end to "McCarthyism, McCarranism, McGrathism and Taft-Hartleyism;" repeal of the Smith Act and return to the Bill of Rights.

Two Damage Suits Filed For $6000

Two damage suits in which $6,000 is asked were filed in Circuit Court yesterday.

William D. Lambert filed suit for $3,000 damages from John W. Lang for the loss of his care and services of his wife, who was injured as a result of a highway crash May 20 on McMullen Highway at a point known as Burke's Hill.

Lang is charged with operating his machine negligently and crashing into Lambert's car.

Mrs. June O. Lambert, his wife, docketed suit for $3,000 for injuries suffered in the collision. Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., is attorney for the Lamberts.

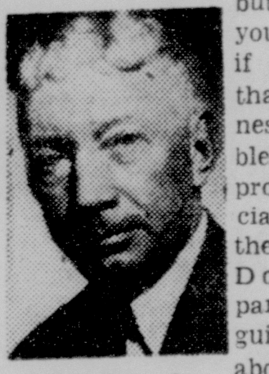
By JOHN N. WHEELER

The "Honor Code"

There used to be a gambler around the Tenderloin in New York named Honest John Kelly who looked profound and wore an iron hat, but would skin you on any bet if he could since that was his business. He resembled somewhat a prosperous mortician. A few of the boys at Jack Doyle's billiard parlor got to arguing one day about how he acquired his sobriquet. Said one authority,



John Wheeler

"He had a friend with a glass eye who got tight one night and lost it. Kelly found it in the saloon sawdust, washed it up, put it in his pocket, and returned the property to the man next day, because the gambler, with two good eyes, had no use for it. Ever since, he has been known as 'Honest John'."

"No, you're all wrong," volunteered another. "When a young man, he went into a room with a red hot stove in it one winter's day. He didn't steal the stove. That's how he got it."

Around New York, we have had a good deal of discussion of the honor code lately, since the West Point cadets gave it a lot of publicity, and by and large most of the debaters have a better reputation than the character described above. However, the question of expense accounts was one item on the agenda, and some of the moralists blushed when these were mentioned.

We had an auditor on the old New York Herald who would examine any bills rendered with a microscope and then ask you for vouchers. I guess he had never heard of the honor code or, at least, was not interested in it. As a result of his attitude, it became a game between him and the reporters to see what they could pull over. My eyes were opened the first time I was sent to Philadelphia on an assignment with an old hand who spent more time on his expense account than he did on the story.

Hype Igoe, now dead, went to Milwaukee to cover a fight for the New York World and decided about 2 o'clock one morning it was a good idea to buy a Shetland pony to expedite his progress to the camps which were located on the outskirts of town. He paid the man, who said he owned him, $50, including the halter and proudly led his new possession around to several saloons, showing him off. At last, he had to go to bed and brought the animal back to his hotel where he gave an accommodating horse holder $5 to take care of him while he went to the desk to consult the clerk. He explained his predicament and asked,

"If I give you $10 can I take a pony up to my room?"

"For $10 you can escort an elephant up," answered the man behind the desk.

Mr. Igoe went outside to find both his pet and the holder had disappeared without a trace. On his return to New York, he put the pony and contingent expenditures on his account, saying he needed the animal for transportation.

"Yeah," answered the editor in a not unfriendly tons, "and where is he? We could possibly use him hauling a delivery cart."

Hype shortly thereafter transferred his services to the Evening Journal, hoping for a more liberal attitude. A well-known correspondent started off for the last war with an advance of $25,000. When the magazine editor asked him for an accounting, he got a cabled reply as follows,

"Out of funds. Please send another $25,000."

The fancy restaurants in New York thrive on the expense accounts of big executives and smaller fry

Louise Swayne Is Honored At Announcement Shower Party

Is Fiancee Of J. M. Martinson

Miss JoAnn Stangel entertained in compliment to Miss Louise Swayne, fiancee of James M. Martinson, with a pre-nuptial shower and party, last evening at her home, 124 Greene Street, announcing the honor guest's approaching marriage.

Miss Swayne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Swayne, 300 Magruder Street, is to become the bride of Mr. Martinson, Greene Street, son of Mrs. Signa Martinson, Lisbon, North Dakota, August 23.

Their wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 2 o'clock in St. John's Lutheran Church, with Rev. Donald F. Brake officiating. Miss Betty Garton is to be the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. Sherwynn Martinson is serving as his brother's best man.

A wedding reception is being held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Harry S. Anderson, Jr., Narrows Park, following the ceremony.

The bride-elect attended Allegany High School. Her fiance was graduated from Lisbon High School in 1945 and attended the University of North Dakota and Radio Announcer and Technician School, Chicago. A veteran of two years service in the Navy with duty in the South Pacific, Mr. Martinson is program director at WDYK.

Miss Stangel carried out a pink and white color scheme in her decorations. A large pink and white umbrella, with matching streamers, concealed the shower gifts. The same colors were repeated in the miniature umbrella favors. A bride's cake centered the refreshment table.

Guests were Mrs. Cecil Swayne, Mrs. Paul Baker, Mrs. James Randolph, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Sam Huitan, Mrs. George Sokol, Jr., Mrs. John Stangel, Mrs. Earl Shank, Miss Betty Garton, Miss Barbara Fulton, Miss Jean Morton, Miss Mary Jo Rice and Mrs. Leslie Ford.

Mother Is Honored On 83rd Birthday

A surprise birthday celebration was held for Mrs. Isabelle Ashenfelter, in celebration of her 83rd birthday, Sunday at her home Ridgeley Route 1. Mrs. Ashenfelter, who is an invalid, has been unable to walk for the past year.

The entertainment program, planned by Darl Hinkle, Wiley Ford, grandson of the honor guest, consisted of accordion solos, poetry, Scripture, prayer and brief remarks by Rev. Vernon R. Beckman, pastor of the Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Twigg, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ashenfelter, Mr. and Mrs. Page Ashenfelter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ashenfelter, Janet and Lois; Mrs. Flossie Hinkle, Darl and Larry; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller, Miss Edith Oates, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ashenfelter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Seeders, Donna Rae and Larry; Ernest Ashenfelter, Cleal Ashenfelter, Miss Alta Cessna, Mrs. Ada Clay, Mrs. Pearl Ashenfelter, Wayne; and Roger Bender.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thomson, North Bay, Ontario, Canada, are visiting Miss Mary W. Thomson, 2 Grand View Terrace.

Miss Shirley Lorraine Friend

Shirley L. Friend To Be Bride Of Theodore Wirsing

Wedding To Be September 22

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest N. Friend, Friendsville, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Miss Shirley Lorraine Friend, to Theodore Wirsing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Wirsing, Harnedesville, Pa.

The marriage will take place in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Friendsville, September 22 at 2 o'clock.

Miss Friend was graduated from the Friendsville High School in June 1951. While there she was active in the Future Homemakers of America Club work and in sports. She also sang with the Glee Club, was chosen to sing with The All Maryland High School Chorus in Baltimore, and is a member of the Methodist Church Choir.

A descendant of the first permanent settlers of Garrett county, the bride-elect is a granddaughter of the late Leslie E. Friend, first president of the First National Bank, Friendsville and First National Bank, Bruceton Mills, W. Va.; and one of the first directors of the First National Bank of Oakland. A merchant, Mr. Friend was the town's first postmaster.

Her fiance is a graduate of Confluence, Pa., High School and served three years as a technical sergeant with the United States Army, 20 months of which was spent in the European Theatre of Operations. He is in the inactive reserves. Mr. Wirsing is employed as a foreman for the Altoona Construction Company.

J. A. Moberly To Attend Convention

John A. Moberly, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, will attend the 53rd annual convention of the American Hospital Association. A representative of the Sisters of Charity will also be among those attending, and will send a report of the convention to Allegany Hospital, Sister Angela, superintendent, said last evening.

The convention is being held in St. Louis, September 17 through 20.

Anthony J. J. Rourke, M. D., physician-superintendent of Stanford University Hospitals, will be inducted as president of the association. He succeeds Charles F. Wilinsky, M. D., director of Beth Israel Hospital, Boston.

Dr. Rourke is also an associate professor at Stanford University School of Medicine, San Francisco, a fellow of the American College of Hospital Administrators, member of the Federal Hospital Council, and has served on a number of the association's committees. He will take office at the banquet marking the close of the convention.

The convention program includes sessions on hospital topics, and will feature a Hospital Merchandise mart, composed of more than 500 technical and educational exhibits.

William V. Miller, corner of Williams Road and Murleys Branch, is very ill at Memorial Hospital.

Mary Maxine Reuschel Is Bride Of Randolph V. Nee

Rev. Baird Officiates

Miss Mary Maxine Reuschel, daughter of Mrs. Philip Reuschel, 611 Oldtown Road, became the bride of Randolph Vernon Nee, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nee, Bedford Valley, August 18.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in Trinity Methodist Church with Rev. Clarence Baird officiating. Mrs. Doris Tressler was the bride's matron of honor and only attendant. Roger Nave served as Mr. Nee's best man.

The bride chose a sheer pink net dress for her wedding. It is fashioned with a fitted bodice with rhinestone buttons up the front, a Mandrian collar and full skirt. With it she wore a small white hat and white accessories. A corsage of red roses completed her costume.

Her matron of honor wore an aqua colored dress, with white hat and had a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1944, where she was a member of the Glee Club and on the J. V. basketball team. She is employed by the G. C. Murphy Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Bedford High School, and an Army veteran, having served in the South Pacific Theater. He is employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Mrs. Resuchel entertained the bridal party and immediate families at a wedding reception in honor of her daughter, at her home following the ceremony. The bridal motif was carried out in the tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and repeated in the floral arrangements.

Honored On Birthday

A birthday party was given in honor of Mrs. Nace Bucklew in celebration of her 32nd birthday. It was held at her home, Braddock Road, Sunday evening. Games were played and the group danced. Refreshments were served.

Those present were Helen Holt, Ervin Bucklew, Lucy Martz, Laurence Kuhlman, Theresa Posial, Frederick Metzner, Mae Ward, Joseph Metzner, Mrs. Margaret Holt, Richard Hoit, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meerbach, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Metzner, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kamauf, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Metzner, Joseph Metzner, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Nace Bucklee, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Metzner, Mrs. John Pendergast, Mrs. Lawrence Starner, Mrs. Roger Holt, Mrs. Emma Bucklew, Mrs. Garland Posial, Mrs. Elizabeth Martz and Mrs. Bana Bean.

Reception To Be Aug. 31

Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Fayman, 519 City View Terrace, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Joyce Luella Fayman, to Cpl. Melvin Andrew Brant, son of Mrs. Florence Brant, 515 East South Street.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized August 16, in Southminster Presbyterian Church parsonage, with Rev. C. Herman Bailey officiating and Mrs. Bailey attending.

The bride was attired in a white street length dress, fashioned with a high neckline, short sleeves and full skirt. With it she wore a small white hat.

A graduate of Fort Hill High School, while there she managed the basket ball and volley ball teams. Mrs. Brant is employed at the Board of Education.

Cpl. Brant also is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and for the past year has been in the Marine Corps, stationed at Camp LeJeunne, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Fayman are entertaining with a wedding reception for their daughter and her bridegroom at their home, August 31.

For the present the bride is residing at the home of her parents.

Sub-District Picnic Rally Is Tomorrow

The August rally of the Sub-District Methodist Youth Fellowship is to be held Thursday in Constitution Park, Grove 2.

This rally is to be in the form of a picnic with each member bringing their own lunch. A soft drink will be furnished by the sub-district.

Schedule for the day begins with swimming and games from 2 until 5:30 o'clock. There will be an assembly from 5:30 until 6; and one and one half hours will be allowed for supper.

Group singing and a worship period will be held at 7:30.

Members having horse shoes, ball and bats are asked to bring them.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Miss Patricia O'Donnell and Miss Patricia Carney entertained with a surprise miscellaneous shower in compliment to Miss Eileen Carey, recently at the home of Miss O'Donnell, Stewart Avenue.

Miss Carey is the fiancee of Cpl. Thomas Carroll. Their wedding is to be performed September 8 in St. Mary's Catholic Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Carey, 14 Race Street. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon K. Carroll, 703 Montgomery Avenue.

A yellow and white color scheme was carried out in the flowers and shower umbrella. Canasta was played and prizes won by Mrs. Carey and Miss Theresa Malachowski.

Cousins Are Baptized

Two young cousins were baptized in Park Place Methodist Church, August 20, with Rev. L. W. Burton officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Kinser, Baltimore had their infant son baptized David William. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Riley, Green Point, named their son, Craig Armond.

Also attending the ceremony were Mrs. John Riley, the grandmother of little Craig; and the great grandmother of David William; and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dorsey, grandparents of David William.

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

In her 10 years as society editor on local papers, author of a nationally syndicated column, free lance magazine writer, and recently assisting in the running of Ted Mack's "Original Amateur Hour," Hope Miller still hasn't lost the enthusiasm of a school teacher from Texas, which she used to be. . . . Like the inside of her own pocketbook, she knows Washington and all its famous folk. . . . She's a piquant blonde with a heart as big as her home state. —AUSTINE

By HOPE RIDINGS MILLER

Cached away in one of my miscellaneous files is a parcel of notes about Washington notables who collect something besides photographs, newspaper clippings, experience, and fame. No better time than now to take it out, bring it up to date, and work it into a guest column.

HOPE MILLER

Some Capitalists are born collectors, some seduously acquire collections, and some have collections thrust upon them. Vice President Barkley belongs in the first class. "I just naturally like to accumulate antiques," he said.

His old Kentucky home is a veritable storehouse of early American furniture. His Washington apartment contains an extra-ordinary assortment of Meissen china. He owns a choice selection of canes, sent to him from all over the world. And gavels? Of course. Both he and Speaker Rayburn treasure a number of gavels, used to keep their houses in order on outstanding occasions.

Speaker Rayburn's favorite collection, however, is a smaller one—photographs of Robert E. Lee. They are hard to find.

Elephants—big and little; glass, wooden, china and bronze—are scattered all over the office of House Minority Leader Joseph Martin. About 30 in all . . . and all gifts from Republican friends. But the most spectacular elephant herd in Washington belongs to Mrs. William E. Borah, who lost count of the number when it reached 1,500.

She recalls that 30 years ago she had only one elephant—a teakwood specimen that stood on her mantel. Returning from an Idaho vacation one summer, she found a smaller one by its side. Shortly afterward, Mrs. Borah had a visitor—one of the parolees from St. Elizabeth's who frequently called on her. He asked if anything unusual happened during her absence.

"Yes," she said, "my elephant had a baby." The parolee looked at the newcomer; then at pint-sized Mrs. Borah, and dryly observed, "Hm . . . looks like his mother!"

Incidentally, "Little Borah" doesn't hold with the superstition that elephants with lowered trunks are unlucky. Years ago, in the Orient, a Chinese sage set her right on that. "A trunk down means the elephant is placid and companionable," he said. "A trunk aloft denotes anger and disturbance —a bad omen." But Mrs. Borah believes all elephants are lucky, and her collection includes every conceivable type. From Egypt came her latest and smallest acquisition. It is ivory, inclosed in a seed the size of a thumbnail; and its carvings can be traced only with aid of a magnifying glass.

Helen Hartness Flanders, wife of the Vermont senator, is a noted ballad collector and also an archivist of Vermont traditional music. Senator Edward Martin, of Pennsylvania, goes in for Currier and Ives prints; while Mrs. Martin acquires pitchers. She has thousands of them; more than you will find in any museum.

●—●—●

A choice selection of china—Dresden, Meissen, Sevres, and Chelsea—attests the exquisite taste of Mrs. John McClellan, wife of the Arkansas senator. Mrs. Eugene Cox is another inveterate china collector; and her husband, the Georgia representative, haunts antique shops and auction sales for unusual silver. Mrs. John Joseph Hearne, wife of the Irish ambassador, dotes on assembling silver, too. But only 18th Century Irish silver.

●—●—●

Senator Theodore Francis Green collects Chinese paintings; J. Edgar Hoover, bronze antiques; Senator John J. Sparkman, stamps; Cyrus Ching, pipes; and Justice William O. Douglas, mountain flora. Mrs. Floyd Ferris, naval captain's wife, owns 130 authentic foreign dolls. Mrs. Harold M. Stephens' library of Bible lore is a scholarly achievement. It includes a vast number of Bible histories, commentaries, and archaeological treatises.

Good manners are easy if you stick to those that are basic and skip those that are passing fancies!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Thumbing through an old etiquette book, a guide to manners published in 1848, I came across this little gem: "A gentleman always keeps his gloves on in a theatre." Judged by this standard, do you think you'd be able to find a single gentleman in a movie theater today?

But in the same book, I found this bit that time has not withered: "When addressing anyone, always look directly at him."

What's Polite

Why is it that one custom becomes outmoded while another prevails throughout the years? If more young people were taught the answer, there would be fewer irritated parents and fewer socially-awkward children.

True courtesy never changes because it is based on the eternal principle of consideration for others. But the fashions and foibles and manners are altered or disappear entirely with the passing of an era because they are superficial and become ridiculous and incongruous in changed settings.

The teen who keeps these facts in mind will avoid the pitfalls of both over-formality and over-casualness in everyday social situations such as introductions, punctuality, table manners or graciousness toward older people. It is not modern or good manners to be either stiff or careless in these matters. Those you know who follow either line are uninformed or unpoised.

For the easy approach that is admired alike by the gang and the grown-ups, see how you rate in the short quiz that follows:

The Courteous Thing

1. Do you introduce the younger to the older, the woman to the man? 2. How late can you be for an appointment—family dinner, a date, a meeting? 3. Should you begin eating before everyone is served? 4. When should you stand in the presence of older people?

If you are even slightly uncertain about any of the answers to the above, it's your cue to fill in the chinks in your social armor before the fall whirl begins. Go to your local library and check the answers in the etiquette book which you are sure to find there, if you haven't one at home. The chances are that you'll become so interested in the smooth way of dealing with people that you'll go right through the whole book. Then, watch your popularity-rating soar!

Reds Build Up Major Incident In Ambush-Death

Reasons Speculated By U. N. Observers

TOKYO, Wednesday, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Communist propaganda machine is working full blast to pump the death of a Chinese platoon leader near Kaesong last Sunday into a major incident.

It remains to be seen whether the Reds want to denounce the Kaesong armistice talks, blame the Americans and resume the war—or whether they are only trying to exert pressure on the U. N. command to yield on some of the deadlocked truce issues.

There is also a third possibility, The Reds may be making all the noise to cover some slip-up—or more sinister act—that caused the death of the young officer, 22-year-old Yao Ching-Hsiang.

But whatever the reason, Asia's air waves were filled for more than ten hours with passionate Communist cries against "American murderers" and vows that the dead man will be avenged.

Typical was this statement attributed to the deputy commander of Yao's company, Chia Wen Feng:

"If American imperialism continues with its arbitrary actions to break up the peace talks it will bear the responsibility."

A Communist delegate to the cease-fire meetings, Maj. Gen. Teng Hua, said:

"If we cannot win peace through negotiations, then we must win it by continued struggle against aggression."

Simultaneously, some Reds opened another full-scale propaganda offensive blasting at Japan. Radio Pelping told Japan that a separate Japanese peace treaty "without China and Soviet Union means a declaration of war against these two countries."

Russia will attend the San Francisco conference but is not expected to sign the treaty. Neither Communist China nor the Nationalist Chinese government of Chiang Kai-Shek on Formosa was invited to the San Francisco meeting.

House Votes Recess For Three Weeks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The House arranged today to take a three-week recess starting Thursday but the Senate—farther behind in its work—is not due for a breather until fall.

The representatives shouted approval of a resolution to quit Thursday and not come back until Sept. 12. Shortly afterward the Senate okayed the House vacation unanimously. Senate approval was necessary.

The Senate spent a good part of today debating how to finish up "must" jobs in time to quit for the year Oct. 1.

Charges Against Printer Probed

BALTIMORE, Aug. 21 (AP)—State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro declared today the Baltimore Grand Jury could find no ground on which to bring criminal charges against William C. Fedder, a Baltimore printer.

The prosecutor's statement was in answer to charges made in Washington yesterday by Senator McCarthy (R-Wisc).

McCarthy accused Fedder of swindling Senator Butler (R-Md) and his campaign organization in last fall's bitter Maryland Senatorial election in which Butler defeated Millard E. Tydings, veteran Democrat. McCarthy also accused Fedder of perjury.

"It is passing strange," McCarthy said, that the Baltimore prosecutor did not investigate Fedder. He said he wondered why Sodaro never found time to look into the matter.

Sodaro pointed out today that the Baltimore Grand Jury studied a transcript of the testimony taken by a Senatorial committee that investigated the Senatorial campaign.

"It was not a matter of time," Sodaro said. "The grand jury read the testimony and brought no charges against anyone but Jon M. Jonkel, the Butler campaign manager.

munists also charged that Allied warplanes Monday bombed and destroyed a liaison jeep bearing white flags.

A fifth session of the Communist and U. N. subcommittees failed Tuesday to make any headway on the stalled armistice talks.

The two-man subcommittees met around a tea table and pored over maps for two hours and four minutes Tuesday. There was no hint of progress on drawing a buffer zone across war-torn Korea.

Their talks were wrapped in strictest secrecy.

Contract Is Let For First Atom-Powered Submarine

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Navy announced today that a contract for the first atom-powered submarine—sometimes hailed as the answer to Russia's dread "Snorkel" subs—has been awarded to the Electric Boat Company at Groton, Conn.

The Navy's terse announcement gave no details.

A naval informant said, however, that research has obviously reached such a stage that actual construction of an atomic submarine is considered practical.

Experts said that theoretically such an underseas craft would be capable of cruising vast distances at speeds unknown to present-day submarines.

An inkling that an atomic engine may be nearly ready to go into the hull of a specially built submarine came recently from Sumner T. Pike, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Pike said in a speech at the University of Rochester last February that "the design of two practical (atomic) devices for submarine propulsion is practically completed, and one of them is partly built."

Reports circulated on Capitol Hill as long ago as July, 1950, that the Electric Boat Co. was already building the hull for an atomic submarine at Groton.

At that time, Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) of the joint Senate-House Atomic Committee, told newsmen that a group of AEC commissioners and high naval officers planned to inspect the hull for an atomic-powered submarine being built by the Electric Boat Co.

The company denied last Jan. 19, however, that it was building such a hull "at present."

In talking with newsmen, McMahon also commented that the "atomic submarine project" was significant because of its "immense military implications."

While work on the submarine is being pressed, the Air Force and Atomic Energy Commission are also laboring on another project of far-reaching implications—an attempt to achieve an atom-powered airplane.

10 Killed When Train Jumps Track

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 21 (AP)—A passenger train bound from Belgrade to the Hungarian border jumped the tracks tonight, killing 10 persons and injuring 30.

The Belgrade newspaper Borba said the accident was attributed to the train's high speed. The engine and five cars left the tracks, it said.

Oil Compact Again Renewed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The House completed Congressional action today on a resolution consenting to a four-year renewal and extension of the interstate oil compact, in effect since 1935.

Eighteen states now have subscribed to the compact, aimed at conserving oil and natural gas by preventing waste.

The compact has been renewed and extended five times previously with the consent of Congress. The new extension carries it to Sept. 1, 1955.

Members of the compact are Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia.

The House rejected, 58 to 6, a proposed amendment which would have instructed the Attorney General to make a continuing study of actions taken under the compact, reporting to congress at least once a year.

Ousted Cadets May Go To ND

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 21 (AP)—Any or all of the 90 recently expelled West Point Cadets can attend Notre Dame University with expenses paid, if they avoid all varsity athletics.

This offer, disclosed today by Notre Dame, was made by an anonymous person. He was quoted as saying he made it because:

"I feel with millions that in the American tradition a man who makes a mistake should have a reasonable chance to rehabilitate himself."

Notre Dame called the offer "in keeping with good christianity."

Among the 90 cadets dismissed from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point were almost all members of the Army football team. Army and Notre Dame, longtime gridiron rivals, haven't met since 1947.

The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame, announced the offer. in Addition to barring those who accept it from engaging in any varsity athletics at Notre Dame, it requires that they need the financial help.

Flame Thrower Burns Civilian Army Worker

ABERDEEN, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—A civilian employe from Baltimore was severely burned at the Army's Aberdeen proving ground today when a flame thrower went awry and its fire engulfed him.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Defense Department today announced eight additional casualties of the Korean War. The list (No. 381) included one killed, six wounded and one missing.

Bay Bridge Contracts Awarded By SRC

BALTIMORE, Aug. 21 (AP)—The State Roads Commission today awarded the final contracts for the Eastern approaches to Maryland's big Chesapeake Bay bridge.

Included was $275,596 project for repairing storm damage last winter to the causeway leading out from the Eastern Shore and for installing steel piling designed to keep it from happening again.

When the storm damage first became apparent, some critics of the bridge design estimated it would cost almost a million dollars to repair.

An officer of the J. E. Greiner Company, the engineering firm which is supervising the construction, said after hearing today's awards that the actual repairs would cost about $12,000 and rest of the money was for the protective measures.

The repair job went to Baltimore Contractors, Inc.

Jap Prime Minister Approves Peace Pact

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida has sent his thanks to the American people for the spirit and terms of the Japanese peace treaty soon to be signed at San Francisco.

In a letter to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander in Tokyo, Yoshida expressed on behalf of the Japanese government a "profound sense of gratification and gratitude" on learning of the terms proposed for bringing peace to the Pacific.

The exchange of letters between Ridgway and Yoshida was made public by the State Department. At the same time the department announced that 42 countries have indicated thus far they will send delegates to the treaty conference opening in two weeks, thirty-three out of the 51 invited have sent formal acceptances and nine others have indicated that they will attend.

Guard Company Sets Plans For Fall Recruiting Drive

A chicken dinner Friday at 6:30 p.m. at the State Armory will start members of Company C, local National Guard unit on an intensified fall recruiting campaign, according to First Lt. John R. Jackle, commanding officer.

Lt. Jackle stated that 100 additional members are needed to bring the present 48-man First Battalion outfit up to authorized federal strength.

Vacancies exist for qualified personnel from master sergeant down to corporal. Privates, he added, have ample room for rapid advancement.

The toastmaster for the dinner will be Thomas B. Finan, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, who was once a private in Company G. He rose to the rank of major during World War II.

Other invited guests, Lt. Jackle reported, are Associate Judge George Henderson; Col. Randolph Millholland, commanding officer of the 115th Regiment of which the company is a part; Lt. Col. Arthur Calhoun, of Silver Spring, commanding officer of the First Battalion, and Major Robert Matlick, executive officer of the battalion, all of whom spent years in National Guard activities here.

Also invited is the company's former commanding officer, Capt. William Vogle, a patient in an Army hospital at Phoenixville, Pa.

Lt. Jackle stated that the rifle company has adequate supplies of the latest equipment. As the unit's strength increases, up to 12 jeeps can be requisitioned for the motor pool, which now consists of two vehicles.

Those qualifying for the National Guard are released from regulations of the Selective Service, Lt. Jackle pointed out.

Present members of the company will receive cash bonuses for the recruits they bring in, the company commander concluded.

The award was presented for duty with Company F, Ninth Regiment, Second Infantry Division from August 8 to November 2, 1950.

Teamsters Union Get Drivers Wage Hike

Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL, has negotiated a new contract with the Central Trucking Division of the Celanese Corporation of America providing for an increase in the rate of pay of 45 drivers affected.

C. E. Stutzman, union business agent, said the rate for drivers has been raised from 4.25 cents per mile to 4.40 cents per mile. This was the limit under the Wage Stabilization Board's wage formula, he pointed out.

A rate of 6.25 cents per mile has been set up for a new category. This includes drivers who operate trucks on relay runs. Stutzman explained these relay runs will be in trucks with only one driver. The lower rate is for trucks which have a two-man crew and go through non-stop runs from Celanese plant to various shipping destinations.

James Bruce Advanced To Lieut.-Commander

James Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., 224 Fayette Street, has been promoted to lieutenant commander in the Navy. He is stationed at the Norfolk Naval Base.

He is a veteran of World War II and was recalled to active duty about two years ago. His brother, Major Oliver H. Bruce, 3rd, is serving with the Army in the United States after several years duty in Japan.

Liquor Dealers In County Complain Of Law Violations

Observance of the liquor laws by clubs and other licensees in Cumberland is almost 100 per cent in compliance with all regulations but in the Georges Creek section violations are common, according to statements to the Board of License Commissioners of Allegany County yesterday.

The statements were made during a discussion between a committee the Allegany County Liquor Dealers' Associaton and the commissioners. The liquor dealers had written to the board asking for a meeting so that mutual problems could be discussed in an effort to alleviate conditions affecting business in the county.

The dealers said they were satisfied with progress made so far, but there is still quite a large amount of whisky selling by operators of establishments which have only beer and wine licenses. There was mention also made of selling of intoxicants to teen-agers and the sales of intoxicants after hours.

Cite Westernport Clubs

In the discussion pertaining to the George Creek section it was stated that teen-agers were sold intoxicants, and that various clubs—especially in the Westernport section—constituted "unfair competition" to other liquor dealers due to the manner in which they are operating.

Walter C. Capper, chairman of the commissioners, said the board would act upon information furnished to the board or its inspectors.

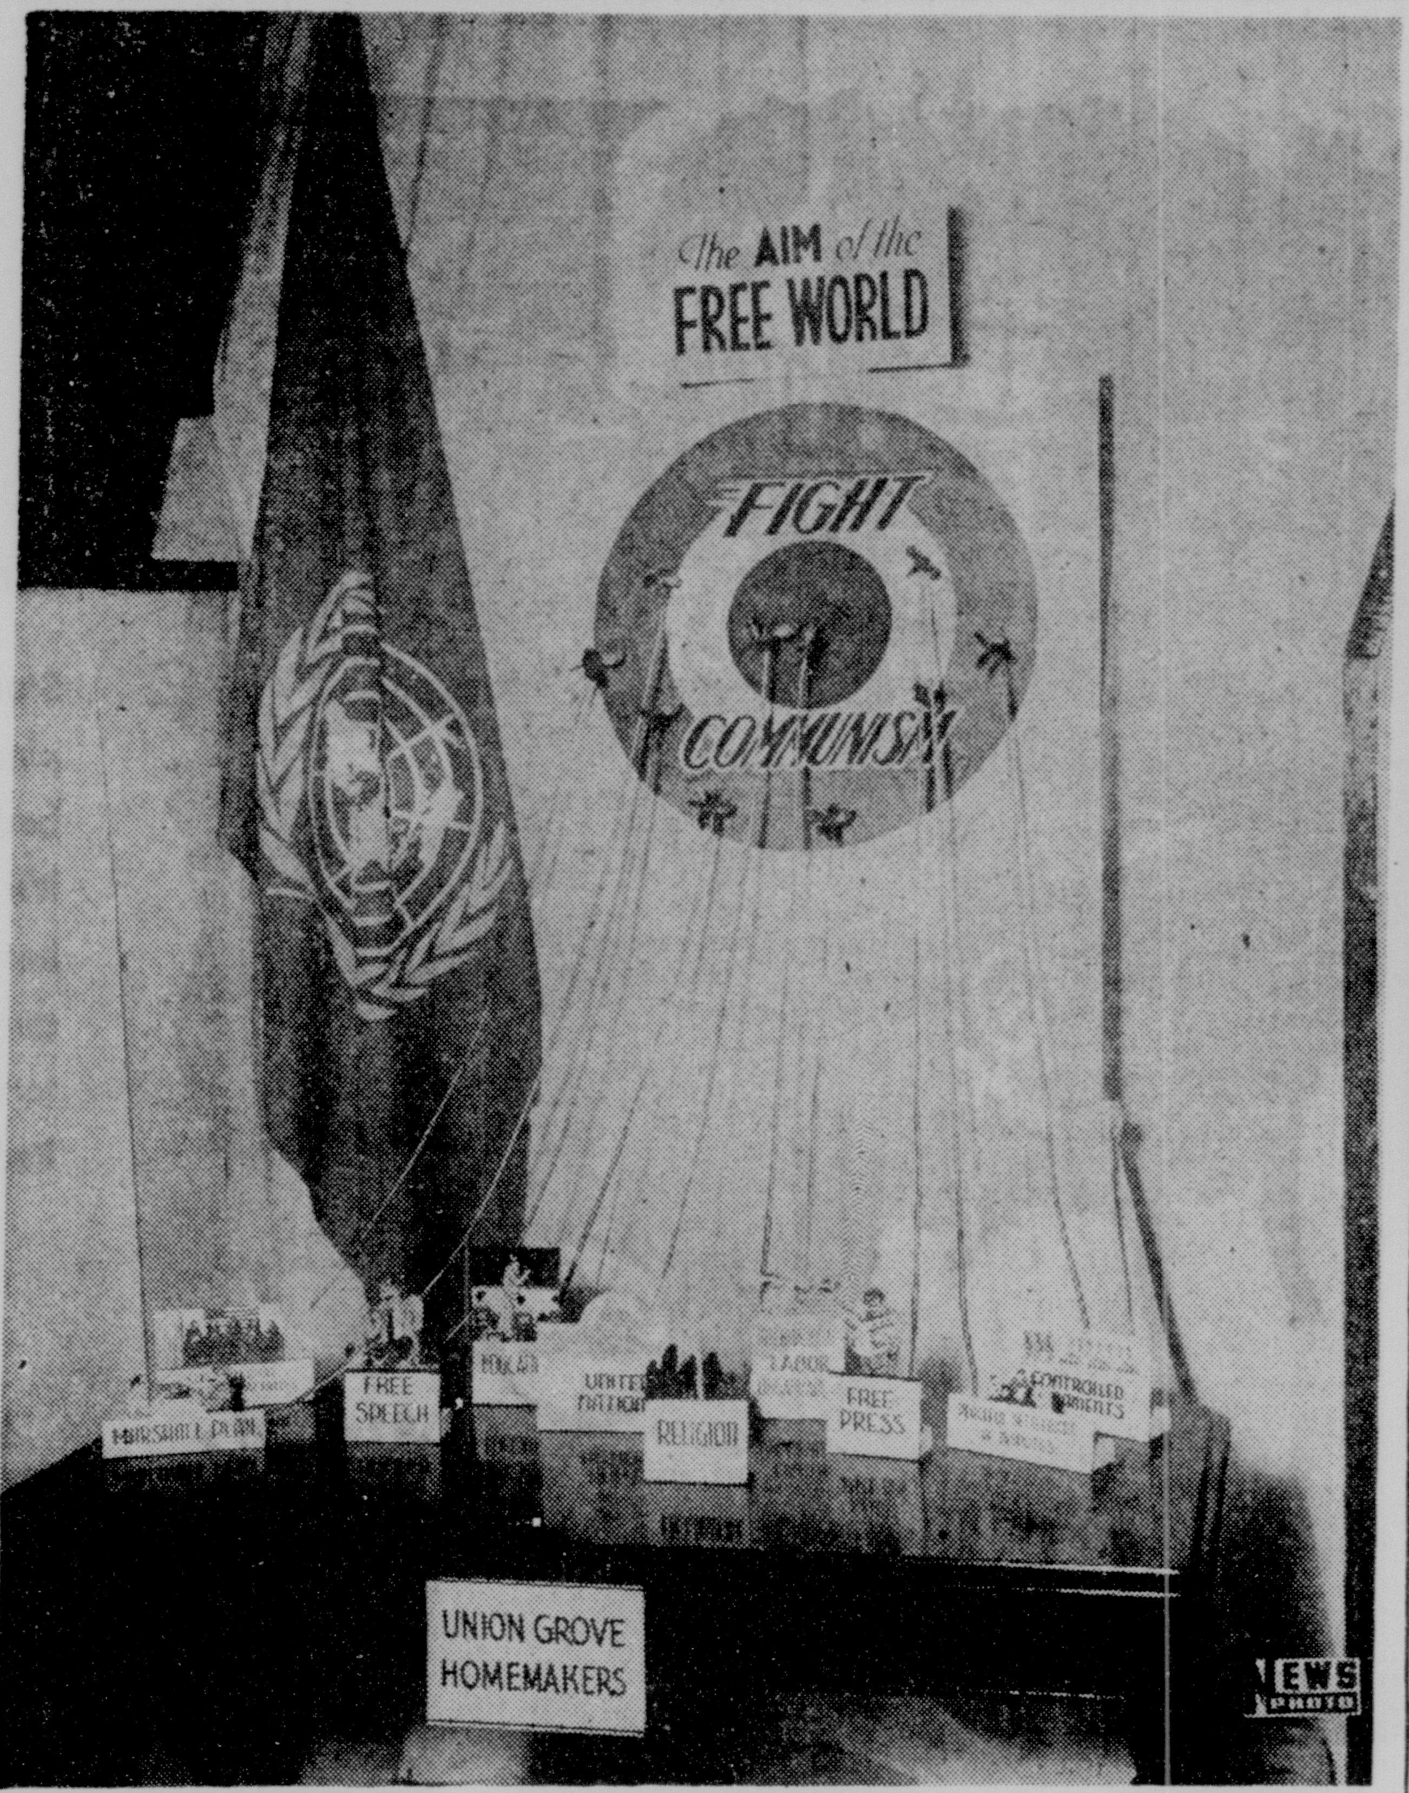
The Liquor Dealers also commented that their observations of the Kimble amendments to the liquor law regarding the drinking of whisky on premises of establishments which have only beer licenses is slowly having its effect on roadside taverns. Frequent visits of the inspectors of the board has resulted in general improvements in conditions at these establishments, the dealers said.

Check To Be Made

The board informed the dealers they would have their inspectors check closely on clubs in the Georges Creek section to determine if there is any foundation for conditions listed by the dealers.

Clubs in Cumberland were given a "clean bill of health" by the Liquor Dealers who said that as far as they could ascertain observance of the law is "100 percent good."

The board informed the Liquor Dealers that the small booklets of rules and regulations compiled by the commissioners and mailed to each licensee should be followed closely. If that is done the operator will be in full compliance with the law, according to the commissioners.



THEME BOOTH WINNER—This exhibit by the Union Grove Homemakers Club won first prize of $25 yesterday in the theme booth competition with 23 other Homemakers' Clubs in Allegany County at the Cumberland Fair. The simple display's effective message is that "The Aim of the Free World is to Fight Communism." Attached to each of the ten cards on the table is a ribbon leading to a dart which has been inserted in the target representing Communism. The cards list such institutions and programs as Committee on Un-American Activities, Marshall Plan, Free Speech, Education, United Nations, Religion, International Labor Organization, Free Press, Controlled Armaments and Peaceful Settlement of Disputes. Second prize of $22 was awarded to the Potomac Valley Progressive Young Homemakers for their display emphasizing the theme "Seek Ye First the Kingdom of God." The $20 third prize was received by the Mapleside Homemakers for their booth which emphasized the way that Allegany County has led all other counties in Maryland in support of the Rural Women's Short Course at College Park.

WAC Officer Assigned Here For Three Days

Women interested in joining the WAC or WAF can be interviewed today and tomorrow at the local Army and Air Force recruiting office in the Post Office Building by Capt. Jane L. Harrison of the Martinsburg, W. Va., main recruiting center.

The Army is also showing movies at its display at the Cumberland Fair this week. Sgt. George W. Goff, of the Martinsburg center, is in charge.

M-Sgt. Clarence Biehn, local recruiter, announced that the office is being inspected by First Lt. George E. Kenny, also from Martinsburg.

County Distributes Funds For Municipal Street Work

22 Fire Companies Also Get Checks

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday passed orders for the allocation of funds to incorporated communities for the maintenance of former county roads located within the towns.

A total of $19,174 was allocated to the communities. The City of Cumberland will received $7,630, Frostburg, $2,660; Lonaconing, $2,884; Westernport $2,020; Barton, $1,240; Luke, $1,190; and Midland, $840.

Commissioner James Holmes, who has served in his present office since early in the 1930's said the funds are levied each year under terms of legislation passed years ago when the various communities incorporated.

Prior to the incorporation of the communities, the county maintained the various roads which were bona fide county thoroughfares. When the towns incorporated they were to be paid on the basis of the mileage of the county roads within the confines of the community at the time.

The Loyal Order of Moose clinched a fourth place playoff spot in the Rocking Chair Softball League yesterday by winning a doubleheader from the Knights of Columbus at East Side Field. The scores were 6-5 and 2-0.

In the opener the Moose held a 6-0 lead until the fifth frame when the Knights jumped on "Fats" Weltman for five tallies and had the tying run on third base with one out. Russ Minnicks stopped the Knights in their tracks when he forced Palmer to hit into a double play.

Harry Minnicks smacked a pair of doubles to lead the Moose hitters while Jim Browning pounded a homer and double and LaNeve rapped two singles for the K. of C.

Claude Comer's first inning homer won the abbreviated nightcap. Harry Minnicks and "Buddy" Young of the Moose and Shaffer of the Knights had two hits each.

Sheetz Blanks Amvets

Al Sheetz marked up his 16th consecutive win of the season against no losses when he turned back the Amvets at East Side, 11-0.

Sheetz celebrated the arrival of a baby boy in his family by notching his 8th shutout triumph of the campaign. He issued only four hits, fanned five and extended his string of scoreless innings to 32—four full games and four innings.

Al passed out the cigars before the game then passed out goose eggs to the Amvets.

"Chug" Aman and Collins banged a double and single each while Elmer Lashley garnered three singles to head the Eagles' 15-hit assault. Lou Retina of the Amvets and "Doc" Summers, Eagles' third baseman, starred afield.

Underdonk Cops 17th

Bill Underdonk notched win No. 17 as the B. P. O. Elks took the measure of the Outdoor Club at Campobello, 5-3.

Jim Wilkinson was the game's hitting star. He batted in all of the Elks' runs with a homer and triple. Van Roby and Bob Pence had two hits apiece for the Elks and Aman larruped a double and single for the losers. Scores:

Lawrence Tech Changes Mind On Basketball

DETROIT, Aug. 21 (AP)—Little Lawrence Tech will play basketball this year, after all.

The school announced yesterday abandonment of intercollegiate basketball for next season.

But tonight President E. George Lawrence said, "I guess I blew a fast whistle."

"We are reinstating basketball at our college and will play a full schedule this season," he said.

Elbin Hangs Up Record

By C. V. BURNS

The management of the Savoy Bowling and Billiard Parlor is reconditioning its six alleys on the second floor of the Baltimore Street establishment and when the lanes are reopened next month the Brunswick unit control Tel-E-Foul will be included among the many improvements.

Tele-E-Foul is an "electric eye" that automatically signals whenever a bowler steps over the foul line.

A light beam is directed along the foul line from the light source floor unit to the photo cell floor unit.

When a bowler interrupts this light beam, the unit control Tele-E-Foul is activated, causing the foul bell to ring and the foul indicator to light up.

Each Tele-E-Foul is timed in such a manner that a slowly rolling ball will not activate the foul bell and foul light when passing through the light beam.

The Savoy is believed to be the first bowling alley establishment to introduce Tele-E-Foul in Western Maryland.

Chicago Retains Phil Cavarretta

Signs To Manage Cubs Next Season

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (AP) — Phil Cavarretta, praised by the Chicago Cubs high command as "a natural born leader," signed today to manage the team in 1952.

The 35-year-old outfielder-first baseman had proved to the Cubs management in one short month that their "snap judgment" selection of Cavarretta was no fluke.

On July 21, and also in Philadelphia, Frank Frisch stepped out as manager of the Cubs.

Wid C. Matthews, director of player personnel, said today, "that was at 5:30 and we had to have a manager for the next day. So we called Phil and asked him if he'd take over for the rest of the season."

"He has proved to our satisfaction," Matthews said today, "that he is a first rate manager. He has done a swell job since he took over."

Under Cavarretta they have played .471 ball, winning 16 and losing 18 to boost their percentage this morning to .447 on a 51-63 record for the season. The team is in seventh place, a notch above the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Cavarretta has spent his entire major league career with the Cubs, breaking in at the age of 17 in 1934. In 1945, when the Cubs last won the National League flag, Cavarretta led the circuit in batting with .355.

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 21—Petersburg's Merchants retained their two game lead over Medium Security Prison in the Alleghany Baseball League by taking both ends of a doubleheader from Bartow on Sunday. The scores were 9-2 and 8-0 and extended Bartow's losing streak to 15 games.

Waldo Eaton got credit for both wins and his season's record is now 8-1. He struck out nine in the opener and Dolly poled a homer in the 4th frame.

Marshall Combs, who pitched the last three innings of the nightcap after Eaton had assumed a 5-0 lead, rapped three hits in four trips, including a two run triple in the 5th.

Elkins registered a double victory over Parsons at Elkins by scores of 6-4 and 3-0. In the opener Earlie Godwin struck out six Parsons batsmen and notched his 5th consecutive triumph. Isner homered for Elkins in the third. Stalnaker pitched a four-hitter in the second contest.

Franklin suffered a 9-2 beating at the hands of M.S.P. at Huttonsville. The winners collected 13 hits, including Willie Jones' homer with two aboard in the 7th stanza.

The regular schedule winds up Sunday with Bartow at Franklin, Elkins at Petersburg and M.S.P. at Parsons, but the campaign will be extended another week due to postponed games. The league's Shaughnessy playoffs get under way Sept. 9. Sunday's scores:

Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, defending champion, and Mrs. G. William Bibby, spring champion, advanced to the semi-finals along with Mesdames Somerville Nicholson and W. Royce Hodges, medalist, in the championship flight of the women's fall golf tournament yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club.

Mrs. Bowie defeated Mrs. Fuller Whitworth, 2 up, 18 holes, Mrs. Bibby downed Mrs. Richard Trevaskis, 5 and 4, Mrs. Nicholson triumphed over Mrs. William Somerville, 2 and 1, and Mrs. Hodges won over Mrs. Robert Lacy, 4 and 3.

In the first flight, Mrs. Charles Helmrich defeated Mrs. Morgan C. Harris, 4 and 2, and Mrs. Frederic Eiler scored over Mrs. Wilton Young, 4 and 3.

Hart, Fry Take Doubles Crown

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 21 (AP)—Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., became the women's national doubles tennis champions while playing through a drizzle today at Longwood.

But when the moisture rapidly developed into a steady rain, the All-Australian men's final involving Davis Cup aces Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor with Mervyn Rose and Don Candy drew a second postponement until tomorrow.

Miss Hart and Miss Fry, runners-up here for the past two years, added the national crowns to their doubles string that includes the Wimbledon and French championships, by breezing for a 6-4, 6-2 win over Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Calif., and Nancy Chaffee of Ventura, Cal.

Giants Edge Yankees In Frostburg League

FROSTBURG, Aug. 21 — The Giants nosed out the Yankees in a Frostburg Little League game today by the score of 3-2 at State Teachers' College Field.

Pete Wilson of the Yankees struck out nine while Jack Fisher, Giants' hurler, whiffed eight.

Fisher homered for the Giants in the third inning. Groves pounded a double and single to pace the Yankee swatsmiths.

The final game of the second half race will be staged Thursday between the Pirates and Red Sox. The score:

YANKEES	101 000—2	4	4
GIANTS	001 20x—3	3	3

Wilson and Winfield. Fisher and Nolan.

Joey Maxim Risks Title Against Murphy Tonight

10,000 May Witness Light-Heavy Match In New York Garden

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Joey Maxim risks his light heavyweight title for the first time tomorrow night against powerful Irish Bob Murphy and the odds are 5 to 7 the champion will become the sixth boxing king to lose his crown this year.

Rising support for the strong, hard-hitting challenger may boost the price favoring the California redhead to 1 to 2 by the time their 15-round scrap starts at 9 p. m. (EST) in Madison Square Garden.

When the fight was first made Maxim was a big favorite. But that was before the tall Clevelander absorbed a thorough shellacking from Ezzard Charles May 30.

This is Joey's first outing since and he hasn't showed much improvement. He has looked very slow afoot in his camp drills and fast footwork is a must for the defensive-minded, counter-punching 175-pound boss. He'll need all his elusiveness to evade the bull-like rushes of the free-swinging San Diego sailor who has knocked out 55 of his 65 opponents.

10,000 May See Bout

Although the bout shapes up as a natural with the boxer meeting the puncher, only about 10,000 fans are expected to pay.

One reason for the probable small gathering is that the fight will be broadcast and telecast over the CBS networks. Another is the fanfare over Randy Turpin, British hoider of the middleweight title who meets Sugar Ray Robinson in a return bout here Sept. 12.

Turpin arrived only yesterday but there has been enough spontaneous chatter about the coming return fray that it has completely overshadowed the light heavy contest.

Maxim won the crown by knocking out England's Freddie Mills in London Jan. 24, 1950. He's put the crown jewels in a vault since then despite numerous threats by the various boxing commissions to declare the title vacant.

Thus Maxim may lose his title in his first defense just as welterweight Johnny Bratton and Robinson did this year. Lightweight Ike Williams, middleweight Jake La Motta and heavyweight Charles were the others to be dethroned in '51.

Bob Is Busy Warrior

Maxim has had only two fights this year. He stopped Hubert Hood in three heats in January and was beaten by Charles.

Murphy, on the other hand, has been active as a windmill in a gale. The socking southpaw has fought ten times, winning eight by kayos. He dropped a ten rounder to Harry Matthews and lost on a foul to Joe Rindone. He stopped Rindone in five in a return.

He's confident about adding Maxim to his list.

"I'm going to knock him out within seven rounds with a left hook to the body," said Murphy.

Win or lose, the champion will be getting a fat paycheck. In addition to collecting 40 per cent of the net of a gross gate expected to hit $50,000, he will cut in for the same percentage of the $100,000 fee for radio and televsion. Murphy gets 20 per cent.

Mrs. W. D. Smith Wins CCC Golf Tournament

Mrs. W. Donald Smith won the odd hole tournament held yesterday by the Women's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club with a net score of 31.

Mrs. Smith's odd hole total was 47 and her half handicap was 16.

Thirty players participated.

Chet Adams Quits

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21 (AP)—Chet Adams has quit pro football to take a job as salesman for the athletic goods company.

For many years, Adams was a tackle for the Cleveland Browns and the old Cleveland Rams. He also played for the Green Bay Packers, the Buffalo Bills and, last year the New York Yankees.

Boxer Loses Eggs

LONDON, Aug. 21 (AP)—A Ten-man American amateur boxing team arrived here today minus two dozen eggs.

Light heavyweight John Boultilier of Roxbury, Mass., nursed the eggs from New York to Southampton aboard the Queen Elizabeth, but he lost the box somewhere on the boat train between Southampton and London.

Eggs are rationed in England and scarce on hotel menus.

Giants Score 10th Straight Win Over Reds

Wes Westrum's 17th Homer Decides, 7-4

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—The red-hot New York Giants got the game tieing and game-winning home runs with two out in the eighth inning today and went on to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 7-4, and stretch their winning streak to 11 straight games. The winning streak is the longest for the Giants since Leo Durocher became manager.

Coming from behind for the second straight game, the Giants exploded for three home runs in the eighth inning with Wes Westrum capping the rally with a three-run wallop into the upper left field stands. The blow came after Whitey Lockman had tied the game by lofting a circuit drive against the face of the upper right field stands with Monte Irvin on first.

Knuckleballer Willie Ramsdell of the Reds, was breezing along with a tidy three-hitter and a 4-1 lead when Eddie Stanky opened the eighth with his 13th home run of the year. Apparently undisturbed, Ramsdell disposed of the next two batters, but Irvin singled and Lockman followed with his 10th circuit clout of the year.

That was enough for Ramsdell and Frank Smith, Cincinnati's sidearm relief ace, replaced him. Willie Mays beat out an infield hit, Bobby Thomson walked and, for the second time in a week, Westrum won it with a roundtripper. It was his 17th of the year and first since he beat the Dodgers 3-1 last Wednesday.

The Reds also walloped three home runs. Bobby Adams and Connie Ryan hit successive homers to open the fourth inning and send the Reds ahead, 2-1. It was Adams' fifth and Ryan's 14th of the year. Johnny Pramesa sent the margin to 4-1 in the next inning when he clouted his fifth of the year with Virgil Stallcup on base. Box:

Lions Trounce Times-News By Score Of 13-1

B'nai B'rith Loses 3-2 Tilt; Senators, Phillies Play Today

The Lions Club trounced the Times-News by the score of 13-1 and the Optimist Club nosed out B'nai B'rith by the score of 3-2 in the opening games of the Hot Stove Baseball League playoffs yesterday at Penn Avenue Field.

In the opener of the twin bill, the Lions slugged three Times-News pitchers for 11 hits and the winners had two big innings, the second and the 6th, in which they scored 11 of their tallies.

Trailing 2-1, the Optimists rallied for two runs in the final stanza to eke out a decision over B'nai B'rith.

Lewis Bests Conroy

Joe Conroy and Bobby Lewis hooked up in a pitchers' duel in the nightcap and both pitchers yielded only two hits in five innings.

The first run of the game was a homer by Bobby Lewis in the second inning. B'nai B'rith, however, took the lead at 2-1 in the 3rd when Kline tripled to right after Eaton and McKenzie drew passes.

In the 6th Bobby Lewis led off with an infield hit to third. Billy Fair pushed a perfect bunt toward third and Lewis raced to third on the play and sprinted home with the tying run on an overthrow. Kelly singled over second, advancing Fair to third and the latter scored the winning marker as the ball hopped over the centerfielder's shoulder.

Lewis yielded two hits and Conroy gave up four. Lewis fanned 13 and Conroy mowed down eight.

Dawson Whiffs Ten

Bobby Dawson scattered seven hits and struck out 10 Times-News batsmen. Widdows, Landis and Rohe headed the Lions' attack with six of their team's 11 hits. Widdows got a two-bagger and Landis rapped a triple. Hudson, Page and Johnson shared six of the Times-News seven safeties.

The second games of the best-of-three series will be played Thursday at Penn Avenue. The Optimists meet B'nai B'rith at 6:15 while the Lions and Times-News tangle at 7:45.

Phillies Play Senators

Today at 6:15 at Penn Avenue, the Little League's round robin series resumes with the Phillies meeting the Senators. A loss would put the Phillies out of the series as they dropped the opener on Monday to the Dodgers by a 4-2 count.

The fifth and deciding game of the Queens Softball League championship series will be staged today at 6 p. m. at East Side Field.

Turpin Expects To Repeat Win Over Robinson

British Negro Here For Fight Sept. 12

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Middleweight Champion Randy Turpin said today he wasn't surprised when he beat Ray Robinson the first time and he expects to do it again at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 12.

He didn't say it in a boasting fashion. He was shy but confident. Newsmen, at a series of press conferences from the time the Queen Mary landed and through an afternoon session, had to prod him to say more than a few words at a time.

"I intend to be 100 per cent fit and I have every intention of winning," said the broad-shouldered, 23-year old British negro.

"Robinson is very dangerous and I shall be prepared for him," he said as hot Kleig lights were turned on for the television and newsreel cameras covering the scene in the international boxing club offices.

A reporter told Turpin that Robinson planned to go after him from the opening bell and knock him out quickly

"It takes two to make a bargain," said Randy with a smile. "We shall see."

Asked whether he intended to press Robinson as he did in their first meeting in London July 10, Randy said, "I'll make my fight when I get in the ring. Robinson may change his style and I can change mine, too."

Turpin, who scored the biggest boxing upset in 25 years when he outpointed Robinson, said he now weighs 164 pounds, four over the middleweight limit, and "feels fine. I worked out on the ship and I'm in good condition.

The questioning and the hot lights made him a little nervous. He had been answering questions since newsmen on a cutter met the boat at 6 a. m.

"Going through these interviews is a lot tougher than fighting," he said with a rueful grin.

In discussing the London fight, American newsmen who had seen movies of the bout, said it appeared that Turpin had used the rabbit punch (behind the neck) in the clinches. That rabbit punch is illegal in the U. S.

"No, I didn't hit him in the neck," said Turpin. "I hit him on the side of his face."

Injured Jockey Dies

VANCOUVER, Aug. 21 (AP) — Jockey Terry Sullivan, 24, who suffered a broken neck in a spill here, died Monday in a hospital.

The English-born jockey was injured Saturday when his mount Alice Walker stumbled in the back stretch during the sixth race, throwing him to the track.

Sullivan came to Canada two years ago. The widow and one child survive.

Harridge Refuses Contract To Gaedel

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP) — The American League today banned playing midgets.

Will Harridge, president of the league, ruled that the St. Louis Browns could not use the three-foot, 7 inch Eddie Gaedel in future games. The 50-pound mite was inserted into the Browns' lineup as a "pinch batter" again the Detroit Tigers at St. Louis last Sunday.

Harridge did not approve Gaedel's contract for the best interests of baseball.

In St. Louis owner Bill Veeck of the Browns said he was "grieved" by the ruling but that he would not make a protest — although he was "baffled by all of these rules."

Added Veeck: "I assume they feel that Gaedel provided unfair competition. I might humbly suggest that Ted Williams also provides unfair competition as far as St. Louis is concerned.

"I presumed that ball clubs tried to win the best way they could, provided they stayed within the rules. There are no rules on height and weight."

Veeck concluded that Gaedel's professional baseball career was short-lived but that the midget would not soon be forgotten.

In his appearance, Gaedel, 26, was given a base on balls as the first batter in the first inning for the Browns. He was given a base on balls by Detroit pitcher Bob Cain. The midget was immediately replaced on the base lines by Jim Delsing as a pinch runner. But Cain got the side out without a run and the Tigers won, 6-2.

Club Owners Hope To Name Commissioner On Sept. 20

Candidates' List Whittled To Five

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—(AP)—Major league club owners whittled the list of candidates for commissioner of baseball to five today and said they hoped to pick their man at a joint meeting in Chicago, Sept. 20.

"Every one of the five men has told us he is available," said Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees and chairman of the group of owners who met in an all-day screening session at the Waldorf Astoria.

He declined to identify any of the remaining candidates but it is believed Warren Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former superintendent of West Point, are high on the list.

Asked if he expected a successor to A. B. (Happy) Chandler to be named at the Chicago meeting, Webb, spokesman for the club owners, said: "that's our purpose."

He said the executive council would send out notices tonight to all club owners to be represented at the Sept. 20 meeting. This is routine.

A joint meeting, requiring a 30-day notice, is necessary for formal action on a new commissioner.

"This should be it," Webb added. "Our other meetings have been exploratory strictly. This one should get the job done—at least, we all hope so."

The "big five" who merged from today's minute screening session were all included in the 11 names presented after a meeting of owners here Aug. 7.

Lou Perini of the Boston Braves said some of the candidates in the original list of 11 eliminated themselves.

Gens. Dwight Eisenhower and Douglas MacArthur are believed among those who asked that they not be considered. Former Postmaster General Jim Farley and George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, are also out of the picture, according to information received by the Associated Press.

In the original list and possibly still in the running are Ford Frick, president of the National League; Gen. Clifton B. Cates, Marine Corps commandant; and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, commanding general of the air force.

Frostburg Plans To Resurface Several Streets

Hourly Workers To Punch Time Clocks

FROSTBURG—Meeting in official session Monday evening, the Mayor and City Council decided to resurface several streets in addition to those for which contracts have already been let.

City Attorney Edward J. Ryan was instructed to draft an ordinance for the resurfacing of Water Street from West Main to Ormond Street, and Broadway from Steyer to Mechanic Street.

An ordinance was also approved for the resurfacing of Lemmerts Alley from West Main Street to Centennial Street.

City Clerk Alex. G. Close reported that while the contractors are engaged in the resurfacing of Center and High Streets, they will be asked to submit an estimate on the cost of patching Mechanic Street from Broadway to Maple Street, and Green Street from Washington to the corporate limits near Hanna's Service Station.

The Mayor and Council instructed City Clerk Close to order 500 feet of heavy duty four-inch cast iron pipe which, with 300 feet on hand in the city warehouse, will be used to replace smaller water mains beneath the streets to be resurfaced. The pipe will be ordered from an Altoona firm which can make immediate delivery.

Following a suggestion of Mayor Jesse Jacobs, the city decided to install a daily time card system for city employes who are paid by the hour, effective September 1, in the city water and street departments. Each hourly employe will be required to sign a daily time card, which must be also signed by Street Supervisor Rees Bevan, who will deliver the cards to City Clerk Close every Saturday morning. Each employe must report the location of his work and time spent on each job.

The Mayor and Commissioners also discussed a proposal by Commissioner Arthur Thomas to have larger water mains laid from the Savage River Pumping Station to the reservoirs on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain.

Mayor Jacobs said he believed that a larger line from the Savage Mountain reservoirs to the city's distribution system might be of greater importance, especially in time of drought and in the event of a big fire in the town. No action was taken.

City Clerk Alex G. Close reported that water was pumped into the city water system 10 days in July and that pumping from the same source was started again August 15.

Reed To Head Water, Street Departments

Succeeds Glass In Westernport Post

WESTERNPORT—William Burt Reed was appointed water and street superintendent of the Town of Westernport at the regular meeting of Mayor George P. Kight and City Commissioners Monday afternoon.

Reed is now a street employe. His appointment becomes effective September 1 at a salary of $230 per month. He succeeds Francis D. Glass, who resigned August 1 to take a position at Savage River Dam.

James Grove, who was appointed temporarily August 6 to fill Glass' vacancy, will continue in that capacity to September 1.

Percy White and George Elias asked that Morrison Street be improved. The Mayor and Council inspected the street after the meeting.

A letter from John J. Long, director of plant personnel at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, stating that Monday, September 10, would be suitable to show a motion picture in the Westernport Library at 7:30 p. m. was red by Mrs. Katherine G. Dailey, city clerk. Long was advised the date would be agreeable.

The next meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners will be held Tuesday, September 4, because of Labor Day.

Tri-County Fair Is Scheduled In Petersburg

Parade Planned During Exhibition

The 31st annual Tri-County Fair, largest yearly event in the South Branch Valley, will swing open at Petersburg, W. Va. on Wednesday, September 12, for a four-day stand—an innovation in the exposition, which heretofore has been held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Officials of the fair have announced that hundreds of premium catalogues have been mailed out to exhibitors and farmers throughout the area, and early indications are that this year's event will surpass any of the past.

The W. J. Ranch rodeo has been booked for the fair, and will give afternoon and night performances on Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday afternoons and nights. Friday afternoon and night will see the riding horses stealing the spotlight and some of the finest thoroughbreds of the east are expected to be shown in front of the big grandstand.

Another innovation this year will be a mammoth parade on Friday evening at 6 o'clock, when fire companies, veterans organizations, marching groups, floats and commercial and private entries will parade through Petersburg's main streets as a semi-climax to the big four-day holiday. All organizations in the area have been invited to attend and take part in the parade, and liberal cash prizes will be awarded by those judging the event. The best appearing fire apparatus, best appearing drill team, outfit coming the longest distance, best band in the parade, and the best drum and bugle corps will each receive $25, and the best ladies' auxiliary will be awarded a cash prize of $20. Friday has been designated as Firemen's day at the fair, and fireaters from all points of the compass are expected to be on hand for the parade, which will be sponsored by the Petersburg, Franklin and Moorefield companies as the host outfit.

Wednesday has been designated as children's day at the fair, and as usual, a holiday will be declared by school authorities so that children can attend free as guests of the fair association. All children under 10 years of age will be admitted free when accompanied by a responsible adult, and will be admitted free to the grandstand for the big afternoon rodeo show.

Piedmont Pool Proceeds Reach $2,000 For Year

State Tax Group Okays New Levy

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—Admissions at Piedmont Swimming Pool this season totaled $2,000, Mayor Allen Hill told the City Council at a meeting Monday afternoon.

The figure includes $400 carried over from June, which fell in the last fiscal year. Salaries totaled $350.

Mayor Hill also reported the State Tax Commission has approved the 1951-52 budget and levy.

Parking meter receipts in the past two weeks totaled $172.32, Hill declared.

The Council ordered Mrs. Lilyan Cole, city clerk, to write a letter to C. T. Williams, Cumberland Division superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, to protest unnecessary train noises.

Mayor Hill said several residents have complained that engineers blew their whistles or diesel horns longer than is necessary while passing through the town.

The Council authorized Hill to appoint an extra policeman while Chief of Police James Harrison is on vacation September 3-9.

Lafayette Lodge No. 3, Knights of Pythias, was granted a permit to alter a building on Ashfield Street occupied by the Style Shop and Tri-Towns Flower Shop.

Judge Harris Will Announce Verdict

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris said yesterday that he will announce his verdict at 10 a. m. today in Allegany County Circuit Court in the case of Robert Duckworth, 31, Keyser, W. Va., charged with assault.

Duckworth was tried last Friday before Judge Harris on a charge of assaulting Cecelia Eversole, 65-year old Keyser widow, near Westernport. At that time Judge Harris withheld his decision to give him an opportunity to investigate the background of both parties.

However, Judge Harris last Friday did issue a strongly worded warning against further acts of violence in Allegany County.

Miss Nancy McGreevy First 18-Year-Old WAVE Recruit

NANCY M. McGREEVY

The first 18-year-old girl from this area to enlist in the WAVEs since the change in the age requirement, was sworn into the service in Baltimore yesterday.

Miss Nancy Marie McGreevy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Owen McGreevy, 240 North Mechanic Street, will go to the WAVE Recruit School, Great Lakes, Ill., for training.

A graduate of Girls Central High School, Miss McGreevy is a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. One of her brothers, Pfc. Robert McGreevy, is listed as missing in the Korean war. He was fighting with the 1st Infantry Division, 3rd Army. Pfc. McGreevy enlisted in the U. S. Army in May 1950, and was listed as missing November 2, 1950.

Miss McGreevy has three other brothers who were in the armed forces during World War II. Eugene McGreevy served three years in Europe with the U. S. Army. He is now employed at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Paul McGreevy served about two years with the U. S. Marine Corps, and was assigned for a time in London and Scotland. Edward McGreevy was in the U. S. Navy during the war and served for more than one year. Both are now living in Jeannette, Pa., where they are employed by a railroad company.

The young woman also has three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Haywood, Westernport; Mrs. Agnes Kienhofer, this city; and Miss Helen McGreevy, at home. Helen will continue to attend Girls Central High School next month.

Miss McGreevy's father is a barber, located on North Mechanic Street.

Research Farm Tests Grasses

Field Day Is Held Near College Park

During the Field Day at the University of Maryland Plant Research Farm near College Park on August 16, farmers had an opportunity to see new varieties of grasses and legumes that were tested, according to Dr. A. O. Kuhn, head of the Agronomy Department.

Maryland agronomists determined which varieties of birdsfoot trefoil, red clover, alfalfa, Ladino clover, orchard grass, timothy, and brome grass make the best yield in this area.

In these tests all birdsfoot trefoil varieties have proved disappointing, Williamsburg and Atlantic alfalfa have looked quite promising, southern types of brome grass have been superior to northern types, and the Kenland and Pennscott varieties of red clover have been most productive.

Many of these promising varieties have not yet been grown by farmers in the State. Seed of several will be available in the near future. A visit to the Plant Research Farm on August 16 offered farmers an opportunity to make actual comparisons and to judge which may suit the individual's particular need.

City Dinner Club Lists Speakers For New Season

Six Monthly Programs Set

Programs of the Cumberland National Dinner Club have been completed, according to Ivan C. Diehl, president.

The monthly dinner meetings, starting in October and continuing until April, are held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club and will include such programs as Latin America, Africa, psychology of oneself, humor, illustrating and music.

Diehl said the first meeting will be held Tuesday, October 9 at 7 p. m. All meetings are generally held on Tuesdays. However, this year in order to include two entertaining personalities, two meetings will be held on different evenings—one on a Saturday and the other on a Friday.

Don Bolt Comes First

The Cumberland Club is affiliated with Associated Clubs, Inc., a clearing house for platform personalities.

The speaker lineup as announced by the local club includes: Tuesday, October 9—DON BOLT, whose topic will be "Latin America, The Powerful Unknown." Bolt, an authority on Latin America, spent years as a newspaperman in the section. He is a former Chicago commentator for NBC.

Saturday, December 8—GEORGE BAILEY, "The Man With The Photographic Mind," presents four acts in his show. He'll pay $5 to any member of the local club whose name he fails to remember and he will pay any lady member $5 whose first as well as last name he cannot remember. Bailey's show includes beside his memory act, magic, musical glasses and a violin concert, a la Jack Benny.

Movie On Africa

Tuesday, January 15—JAMES T. MONESMITH will present "Action in Africa." An all-color motion picture with up-to-the-minute scenes and commentary will be offered. Monesmith returned from his latest expedition to Africa in August, 1950. Members of the local club will have a seat alongside Monesmith in the cabin of the truck as he films through the windshield the chase and capture of many animals. Monesmith is a professional hunter and conductor of tourists through African game fields.

Tuesday, February 5—ED STEVENSON, "From Fables to Funnies." He is a cartoonist, illustrator and lecturer who draws as he talks. He takes a fresh sheet of newsprint spread on a 9 by 3-foot easel and with chalk in his hand, presents an evening of entertainment. Known for his wildlife and outdoor magazine illustration, Stevenson has been called "one of New York's most versatile artists" because his work has led him into many diverse channels of illustration and painting. Formerly the artist for a King Features syndicated page called "Ted Towers," a jungle adventure color feature by Frank Buck, Stevenson is currently doing the newspaper cartoon feature, "Dog Oddities." A serious artist as well as cartoonist, his illustrations have appeared in Liberty Magazine, Outdoor Life and other national magazines. He served with Navy in both world wars and in the second one commanded a minesweeper in the South Pacific and a big sea-going tug in the Caribbean.

Dr. Fishbein To Speak

Friday, March 7—DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN on "Doctors and Specialists." He was editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association for 25 years. At present he is Professor of Medical History at the University of Chicago and the University of Illinois. He lectures but three weeks each year and is considered by many as the "best platform humorist in America."

Tuesday, April 15—GEORGE FARNHAM discusses "Psychology of Self-Discovery." He approaches this age-old subject from a slightly different angle. His remarks are said to be timely and witty. He served four years in the Connecticut legislature and is author of "Fifty Years a Fool" and "Beginning at the Beginning." He is the founder of the John Mason Country School for Boys.

Other officers of the Club besides Diehl, are Lewis J. Ort, vice-president; Winfield H. Adam, secretary-treasurer; and Robert Little Ebert, Mrs. Douglas Smith, and Mrs. Harry Teter, directors.

Kiwanis To Hear Ballistics Expert

Richard Winer, head of the ballistics section at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Pinto, will address the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA. He will speak on guided missiles.

Green Spring Briefs And Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Allen and children and Mrs. Herman Rawlings and daughter spent the weekend in Frederick with Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rawlings.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Allen and daughters, of Texas, and Mrs. Lillian Allen spent Sunday with Mrs. Mary Kline in Corriganville.

Roy Whetzel is a patient in a Grafton, W. Va., hospital.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Allen Sunday were Rev. Petry and family, Miss Fawn Whisner, Great Cacapon, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bell, Jr., and daughters and Miss Nellie Faye.

An open-air meeting will be held Thursday at 7:45 p. m. at Frye's Store.

City Water Officials Attend Conference

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, are attending the 24th annual conference of the Pennsylvania Water Works Association.

The three-day meeting at State College, Pa., which ends today, included discussions on water supplies and atomic bombing and operation of water plants.

The body of Marie Antoinette was buried in a pine coffin that cost 7 francs.

Mapleside Group To Meet

A special meeting of the Mapleside Playground Association is being held at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Mapleside Methodist Church.

Plans will be completed for the Fall Festival, August 30.

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21 (INS) — If you read the national magazine story about Ursula Thiess, beautiful German model, it will be of particular interest to learn she has been signed for "Monsoon," Forrest Judd's thriller to be filmed in Bombay.

For the past 12 weeks, Ursula has been in Hollywood on an RKO contract learning English from Drama Coach Florence Enright. Before Howard Hughes puts her in a picture, she'll do this loan for Judd.

Even if you have not heard the German beauty's story — it is a fascinating one:

At 15, as all German girls were forced to do, she spent a year at compulsory farm labor required by Hitler's Nazi government. Returning to Hamburg, she was bombed out of her home and in May, 1945, fled from advancing Russian troops in North Germany. When "peace" came — Ursula became a model, the most gorgeous in Germany.

Van Johnson

It won't be Robert Walker with Dorothy McGuire in "R. S. V. P." In fact, it won't be "R. S. V. P."

Title of the MGM picture has been changed to "The Invitation" and the hero is our old friend, Van Johnson, returning to the field of romance and sentiment.

This is Van's fifth assignment in a row. He completed "When In Rome" last Friday and starts this new picture for Producer Larry Wingarten on Monday. Gottfried Reinhardt directs.

During his "time off," Van and Evie and the children are vacationing at Coronado.

The welcome the fans gave Robert Mitchum and Jane Russell in Chicago was a thrill. But, Bob got more of a thrill just before he left Hollywood. RK0 renewed his option and his salary now jumps into a bracket which should delight the Treasury Department.

When Bob and Jane complete their personal appearance with "His Kind Of Woman," he leaves immediately for Colorado Springs to begin "The Korean Story" for Eddie Grainger.

Chatter in Hollywood:

What's with Dan Dailey and Irene Wrightsman? They have dated several times — which is more than she's accepted from any other escort since her long time romance with Kirk Douglas chilled.

The other night, Dan and Irene were leaving the Captain's Table (a cafe, not a table) when Steven Crane drove his new Munta Jet (an automobile, not a plane) up under the awning and parked on the sidewalk. That's how small it is.

Irene and Dan were so enthused about the midget motor that Steve gave them a ride down the sidewalk for a block or so.

Hollywood in shorts:

Betty Hutton and Pete Rugolo at Ciro's, but so blase about it, people hardly will say they're in love — again.

Joan Crawford still leads the field in the Russell Nype sweepstakes.

If Fred MacMurray accepts Bert Friedlob's invitation to tour with "Millionaire For Christy," it will be Fred's first personal appearance jaunt.

Mickey Rooney's latest crush is tall, dark and beautiful Anita O'Brien. Yep, she towered over him as they walked into the Sportsmen's Lodge.

Lina Romay is really drawing them in at the Cocoanut Grove — including her ex-husband, Jack Adams, who sat ringside with Lex Barker's ex-wife, Doris.

The WACs at Fort Dix voted Vic Damone "favorite pin-up boy" and he couldn't be more embarrassed.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

It is reported Toots Shor, the restaurant man, when recently discussing the honor code as practiced in South Philadelphia during his youth, said,

As far as I know Emily Post has never given her views on this topic. After reviewing the situation, it seems to me the words Finley Peter Dunne, the author, put into the mouth of Mr. Dooley apply. He said.

Mirror Of Your Mind

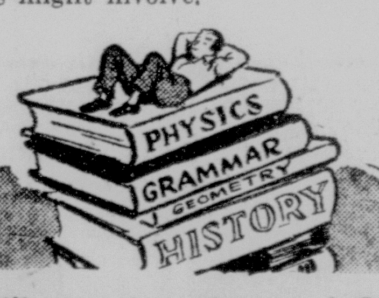
By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

May you tell the same friends the same story?

Answer: Yes. One of the most brilliant early students of psychiatry in the United States, Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Sr. tells how he caught himself on several occasions making a certain humorous remark to people to whom he had made it before, though he had not used it elsewhere. He rightly explains this by the force of "association," through which being with certain people tended to bring back the train of thought which he had previously followed in their presence. You're always a little more apt to tell Bill the same story that you told him the last time you saw him than one which your mind associates with Joe.

Can mental suffering make you unconscious?

Answer: Yes, though in a slightly different sense from that in which physical pain does. Extreme physical pain may cause you to "black out" entirely, while with mental suffering like fear or shame only the source of pain—or part of it—is bloted out so that you cannot recognize it. The process is what is called repression, and is what makes the unconscious mind unconscious. In the relatively simple instance of a phobia, for example, you are able to endure the knowledge that you dare not go out alone, but could not bear the shame of recognizing your desire for the "temptations" this might involve.



Will education raise your I. Q.?

Answer: Psychologists are still arguing this question. Intelligence tests of nearly 1,000 Danish army recruits made by Dr. G. Rasch showed that young men from the upper socio-economic levels usually had considerably higher I.Q.'s, which he believed was due to their having had more education. But Dr. S. A. Tordrup replies that tests of fifth grade school children in Copenhagen show in advance which ones are ligely to go on to high school and college, and this cannot be attributed to education which they have not yet had. I suspect that you will find the highest I.Q.s in children of well-adjusted parents.

Salisbury Cleans Up After Flash Storm

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Residents of Salisbury yesterday cleaned up the debris left by a flash storm which tore down television antennas, felled trees and disrupted telephone and power service.

The storm, lasting about an hour Monday, dumped .8 inches of rain on the city and brought hail and winds of 40 miles per hour.

Between 300 and 400 local telephones were knocked out of commission and long distance service to Baltimore and Washington was out for about an hour and a half.

At the height of the storm, firemen from both Salisbury companies were called out to battle a fire in a warehouse on the east side of the city.

It is a bad habit when playing poker to hold a side card when drawing to a pair. It lessens the chance of making three of a kind.

County Distributes

The commissioners also ordered a total of $15,675 paid to the 22 volunteer fire companies in the county. Each of the companies is allocated a portion of the total fund for its services to their respective communities.

During the discussion on allocating funds to several organizations, such as the Red Cross, Allegany County League for Crippled Children, Cumberland Community Chest, Allegany County Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Allegany County Cancer Control Fund and Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association, it was brought out that at the last session of the Legislature a bill was passed permitting an increase of the donations total from $5,000 to $6,000.

Law Covers Contributions

Commissioner Holmes raised a question of the distribution when the amounts for each organization were read.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, checked into the matter and found the law provides that the total amount to be $6,000 with not less than $600 to be paid to the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association. The balance of the extra $1,000 in the legislation is to be donated to other agencies at the discretion of the commissioners.

The Red Cross is given $250 annually, and it is apportioned among various units in the county. The Allegany County League for Crippled Children gets $1,000 as provided by law, and the balance of the monies is then distributed among the other agencies.

There was some talk that the Community Chest appropriation of $3,000 for this year would probably have to be cut next year in order to give some of the other agencies more money.

The Red Cross was listed as not getting enough in view of the increase in the requests for assistance for servicemen and their families.

The Charm of The Hayeses and The Tonsils Of Mel Torme

John Crosby

The charm of Peter Lind Hayes and his wife Mary Healy has captivated a lot of people in New York, Hollywood, Las Vegas, Detroit and—well, pick any city where they have played the night-club circuit. I'm among the victims. I'm also a friend of the Hayeses, so you can regard the rest of this critique with some suspicion if you like.

Their three prior ventures into television — "Inside U. S. A.", the "Stork Club Show" and "The Peter and Mary Show" — were not entirely happy ventures, generally due to circumstances beyond their control. Their newest program, "Star of the Family," has a few kinks in it, but it seems to me the most fortunate enterprise so far, chiefly because the Hayeses can relax and be themselves. The gimmick in this show — there has to be a gimmick, junior, or how would we manage?—is that the Hayeses interview a member of the family of some entertainer, digging out pertinent information about how, say, Mel Torme got that way.

• — • — •

In the case of Mr. Torme, it was the wife who was interviewed and, bless me, if she didn't bring along an X-ray shot of his tonsils. You see Mr. Torme had his tonsils removed but they half grew back. And that half-tonsil, neighbors, is what created a voice which has been widely admired as "the velvet fog." That is the gimmick on this show and it's a good one. It could lead to all sorts of fascinating revelations about famous people. I, for one, would love to see an X-ray of Frank Sinatra, the whole Frank Sinatra, to see if he has any bones at all. The fan magazines never probe into the really significant parts of an actor's background like a man's tonsils and how they influenced his life. I was flattened by a tonsil operation myself once, and it was while I was lying there, waiting for them to half grow back, that I decided that I'd better not be a crooner anyhow (there was already one Crosby doing pretty well at it) and decided just to write about crooners. Been doing it ever since, a horrible mistake.

Let's get back to business. After Mrs. Torme, a very pretty girl, explained about the origin of the velvet fog, the fog itself appeared and demonstrated how that half-tonsil worked on a song called "Behold How My Lover Loves Me." Worked fine. But I don't think Torme's voice is entirely to be blamed on that tonsil. He's a good craftsman and has learned a lot about singing in the last couple of years.

• — • — •

Between guests, Peter and Mary contribute my own favorite portions of the show, generally singing duets of a satiric nature. A scene, for example, from all the Jeanette McDonald and Nelson Eddy pictures which, I thought, summed up that pair as expertly as possible. I'm also rather fond of another of their songs, "A Peony Bush In My Garden," a delicately malicious study of all the songs of that genre. At various other times, they have transformed themselves into Ethel Merman and Russell Nype in the duet from "Call Me Madam," a song that may just possibly be a little overworked, and into Mario Lanza and Judy Holliday engaged in the most improbable duet of our times.

The guests with a few exceptions have been pretty wonderful, especially Joe Frisco. Mr. Frisco unburdened himself of his lament for horseplayers. For your real horseplayer, this is the funniest comic routine in the world — the funniest and also the most tragic, since it may easily be the story of their lives.

• — • — •

I have a few small complaints as usual. Some of the guests, notably a comic named Gene Boyles, are not exactly out of the top drawer. The member of the family in his case was his sister-in-law, who explained that all the members of his family kept telling him how funny he was, that he should be a professional comedian, he really should. Well, I don't know. I sort of wish they hadn't urged him so hard. Also, the Hayeses' wisecracks about their own marriage sometimes reach a degree of archness wihch is trying.

Incidentally, the production and lighting (especially the lighting) are extremely handsome. Sometime, I think they know more about lighting at CBS than at all the other networks put together.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

P R E H N Q Q L C V P T C Z L V J P Q Q C E
O B C J T L Z C V N H H P O C. — D N D C.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: A PLACE THERE BE FOR SOULS WITHOUT A STAIN, WHERE PEACE IS PERFECT.—SWINBURNE.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Ammie E. Howser, who departed this life 7 years ago, August 22, 1944.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There is not a day, dear Mother,
We do not think of you.
Peaceful be thy rest, dear Mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Sadly missed by the Children

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

EVERYTHING JUST RIGHT

EVERYTHING has to be done just right in order for certain contracts to be made. At the very beginning of play, your opponent must make a particular lead—or at least not a particular other lead, which would ruin you. Then his partner must ruff a particular trick and be over-ruffed. You then must immediately lay down the ace of trumps. Shortly afterward you must take the top two cards of a side suit before ruffing any of it in the dummy. Change any of these and you are licked.

You can readily see North's purpose in using 5-Clubs as his mild slam invitation—not only to disclose his 5-5 length of suits, but to inhibit a club lead, perhaps causing a heart. It succeeded in the latter purpose, since West opened the heart 8.

Then the declarer, not only one of New York's most brilliant advertising men, but one of the famous Cavendish Club's most capable all-round bridge players, Charles H. Whitebrook, made the best possible use of his good fortune. He won the opener with the heart Q, took in the A and led the K. East ruffed with the spade 10 and was over-ruffed by the Q. Now the first key play was the spade 2 to the A, which killed the K. The heart 10 brought a discard of the club K, the club 3 was ruffed by the spade 3 for entry, the diamond A and K scored, the diamond 4 ruffed by the spade 6, club 5 by the spade 5, diamond 7 by the spade 9 and with the contract safely home, the last two tricks were conceded to West's spade 8 and J.

The main points, as Mr. Whitebrook points out, were to "play one round of trumps after over-ruffing East's 10, or the hand cannot be made, as West will have two spade tricks at the end and cashing the diamond A-K before the cross-ruff. Of course, if West cashes the club A on the opening lead, I can make it only if the defense goes to sleep. But it's pretty tough to lead the club A after North's two club bids." Truly a cute hand.

Bar Association Hits Plan To End Federal Court Here

The Allegany County Bar Association went on record Monday opposing the suggestion by U. S. Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor (D-Md.) that sessions of the federal court be discontinued in Cumberland.

Earlier this month Senator O'Conor, fourth ranking member of the Judiciary Committee, said he may ask the senate to change laws which require federal judges to hold regular court terms here and at Denton, Md.

Requirement Long Ignored

Actually, the Maryland Federal Court has ignored this statutory requirement and for years has limited its sessions to Baltimore.

Investigation has shown that "only on a few occasions has there been any need for the Federal court convening in either Western Maryland or on the Eastern Shore," Senator O'Conor said.

He noted also that "some years ago, a committee of the judicial conference of the United States recommended that authority be vested in the judges to abolish such requirements."

He added that "no facilities have been provided on the Eastern Shore for the holding of judicial sessions."

Senator O'Conor made it known that his opposition to the proposal for an additional judge for Maryland was based on the need for economy and on the advice of members of the bench, bar-association officials and practicing attorneys.

It was the consensus "that there is no need for additional district judges," he stated. (The State has two Federal judges.)

Nineteen Judgeships

Under proposed legislation, nineteen additional judgeships will be created, comprising one circut judge and eighteen district judges. A circuit judgeship will be added to the Court of Appeals of the Fifth Circuit, increasing the number from six to seven, and judgeships will be provided for the following states:

Arizona, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Nevada, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Washington and Alaska.

Colleagues serving on the judiciary committee invariably respect the wishes of a senator concerning his own state, according to official sources.

Albert A. Doub, president of the Allegany County Bar Association, emphasized last night that the group voted unanimously in opposition to Senator O'Conor's plan.

"The association believes that such a move is false economy," the president explained. "We already have a Federal courtroom here in Cumberland that is quite modern and adequate and one of the best Federal law libraries in the section, all of which is paid for. The cost of maintaining a clerk here is a nominal expense in view of the convenience to lawyers of this area in being able to file suits here. It would benefit not only Allegany County, but all of Western Maryland."

Vo-Ag Students Seek Fair Prizes

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—The Vo-Ag class of Petersburg High School will have the entries at the State Fair at Lewisburg, W. Va. this week.

They include 12 pigs, 10 exhibits of corn, 10 of potatoes, two of barley, three of wheat, two of oats and three of eggs.

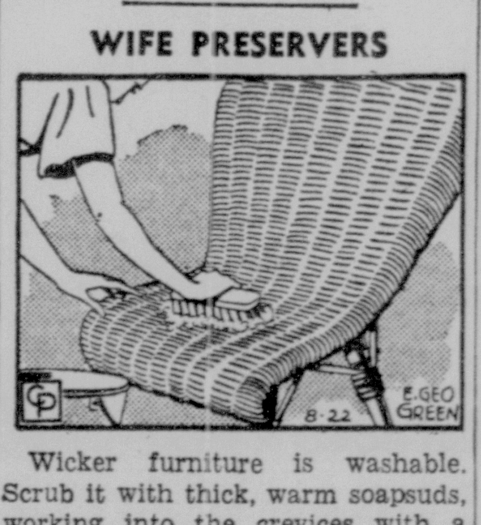
Junior Stark left by truck Sunday, taking the exhibits and L. G. Stark, vo-ag teacher, and 20 of his students will go to Lewisburg today and stay until after the judging is completed.

Lonaconing Continues Battle On Dogs

LONACONING—The Mayor and Council made provisions at their meeting Monday evening to employ a dog catcher to pick up stray and unlicensed dogs in the town. Notices have been posted throughout the town warning that stray and unlicensed dogs will be picked up and if not called for in a period of time, will be destroyed.

The council also made plans to have repairs made to the creek wall along East Main Street.

WIFE PRESERVERS



Wicker furniture is washable. Scrub it with thick, warm soapsuds, working into the crevices with a stiff brush. Rinse with a fine spray of water and set in the sun to dry.

Kiwanis Club Begins Drive

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — The Petersburg Kiwanis Club is beginning its third annual National Kids Day Fund Drive. The drive was originated by Jimmie Fidler, who presented the idea to Kiwanis International three years ago.

They accepted the plan and funds derived from this drive have been able to accomplish much for the "kids."

Fidler is a member of the Hollywood Kiwanis and international chairman of the National Kids Day Fund Drive. The drive closes September 22, and the local Kiwanis club is putting forth every effort to make this drive a success.

T. G. Sites, president of the club, named the following committee for the drive, R. P. Thompson, chairman; Herbert Newman and Dr. L. M. Hutson.

Petticoat-Pants Game Will Be Continued

KEYSER, W. Va.—The Petticoat-Pants baseball game, played by the women and men of the East End Playground on Armstrong Street Extended last Tuesday, will be resumed Friday evening at the same place.

The game was suspended due to darkness last week with the score 14-14 in the fourth inning. A highlight of last week's game was a grand slam home run by Miss Jean [illegible], scoring four runs.

Roy Hartman, captain of the men's team, wore a yellow street length dress with a foundation garment underneath and a brown shoulder bag, necklace, earrings, black hat and hose, at last week's game. There may be some other surprises Friday.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Frances L. Howard vs. Robert Howard, No. 22326 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce, divorcing the Plaintiff from the Defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states that the parties were married on the 13th. day of December, 1948. That the defendant deserted your oratrix on the 15th. day of January 1950, without just cause or reason and that such desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since that date and is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of any reconciliation; that the Plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County, for more than two years and that the defendant is a non resident of the State of Maryland, and his present whereabouts is unknown to your oratrix.

It is thereupon this 14th day of August 1951, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 15th day of September 1951, giving notice to the non resident defendant of the object of this suit warning him to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 1st day of October 1951, to show cause if any he may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Children Likely To Jam Fairgo For Matinee

Shrine Transporting Many To Fair Grounds

More than 1,000 children from Cumberland and the surrounding area are expected to be at Fairgo this afternoon for the Children's Matinee of the 34th annual Cumberland Fair, today's feature at the weeklong exhibit.

The Ali Ghan Shrine Club has completed arrangements to take about 400 underprivileged and handicapped children to Fairgo this afternoon. About seven chartered buses will be lined up at the State Armory on South Centre Street about 1:30 p. m. to take the youngsters to the fair grounds.

Afternoon Show

"Stars on Parade" will be presented before the Fairgo grandstand at 2:30 p. m. This Shrine-sponsored entertainment features nine different acts and will last about an hour and a half.

The nine-act program was presented for the first time at Fairgo at 8 o'clock last night. It will be offered at the same time each night this week, ending with Saturday night's show. Today is the only day that a matinee show will be presented.

A 30-minute fireworks display follows the show each evening.

Most of the judging of exhibits was completed yesterday. The 4-H Dairy Calf Club exhibit will be judged today, beginning about 9 a. m.

Agriculture Department prize winners were announced yesterday afternoon by fair officials.

Sweepstake Winner

A $25 sweepstake prize, for the 10 best ears of corn in the show, was awarded to James Carder of Oldtown. This prize is donated in an effort to encourage more corn exhibits from more corn growers in the area served by the Cumberland Fair Association. Carder also was given a $7 first prize in one of the hybrid corn classes.

The Oldtown FFA received two $7 first prizes in classes of open pollinated corn. These classes were Reid's Yellow Dent and any other Yellow Dent varieties.

James House of Mt. Savage also won two $7 class first prizes. These were for two varieties of hybrid corn, U. S. 13 and Iowa 939.

Three of the six $6 class first prizes for potatoes were presented to Mrs. Lawrence George of Somerset, Pa. She won in classes of Smooth Rurals, Sequoias and other late varieties.

Marvin Hinkle, RFD 2, received the $6 first prize in the Irish Cobbler potato class. John E. Miller, RFD 3, was presented another $6 first prize for other early variety potatoes. Floyd Buser of Oldtown received the other $6 class first prize for his medium maturing potatoes.

Young Vegetable Growers Hailed

Young vegetable growers of Maryland have received the commendation of United States Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan.

The Secretary said support of the department's home garden and food preservation program, designed to increase the nation's food supply as a defense measure, "is greatly appreciated," according to Edward K. Bender, extension vegetable crops specialist, University of Maryland, and state chairman of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association, which annually conducts a vegetable growing and marketing contest.

Bender reported a "very encouraging response" to the contest program, in which thousands of young people all over the country compete for $6,000 in cash scholarship awards provided by A & P Food Stores, the sponsor, and which is open to any boy or girl in the state between 12 and 21 years of age.

"This contest is a perfect supplement to the Department of Agriculture's program," Bender added.

Brannan sent his message in a letter addressed to Grant B. Snyder, University of Massachusetts professor and national adviser of the NJVGA.

Regester To Consult With City Officials

Robert T. Regester, Baltimore engineer, is slated to visit with city officials tomorrow to discuss progress on plans he is preparing for the city.

The projects include improvements slated at the Lake Gordon filtration plant and plans for this city's sewage treatment and disposal plant.

Hereford Wins Butterfat Production Competition

A registered Hereford owned by Lester Raines, RFD 2, won the July butterfat production competition of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association, according to a report released yesterday.

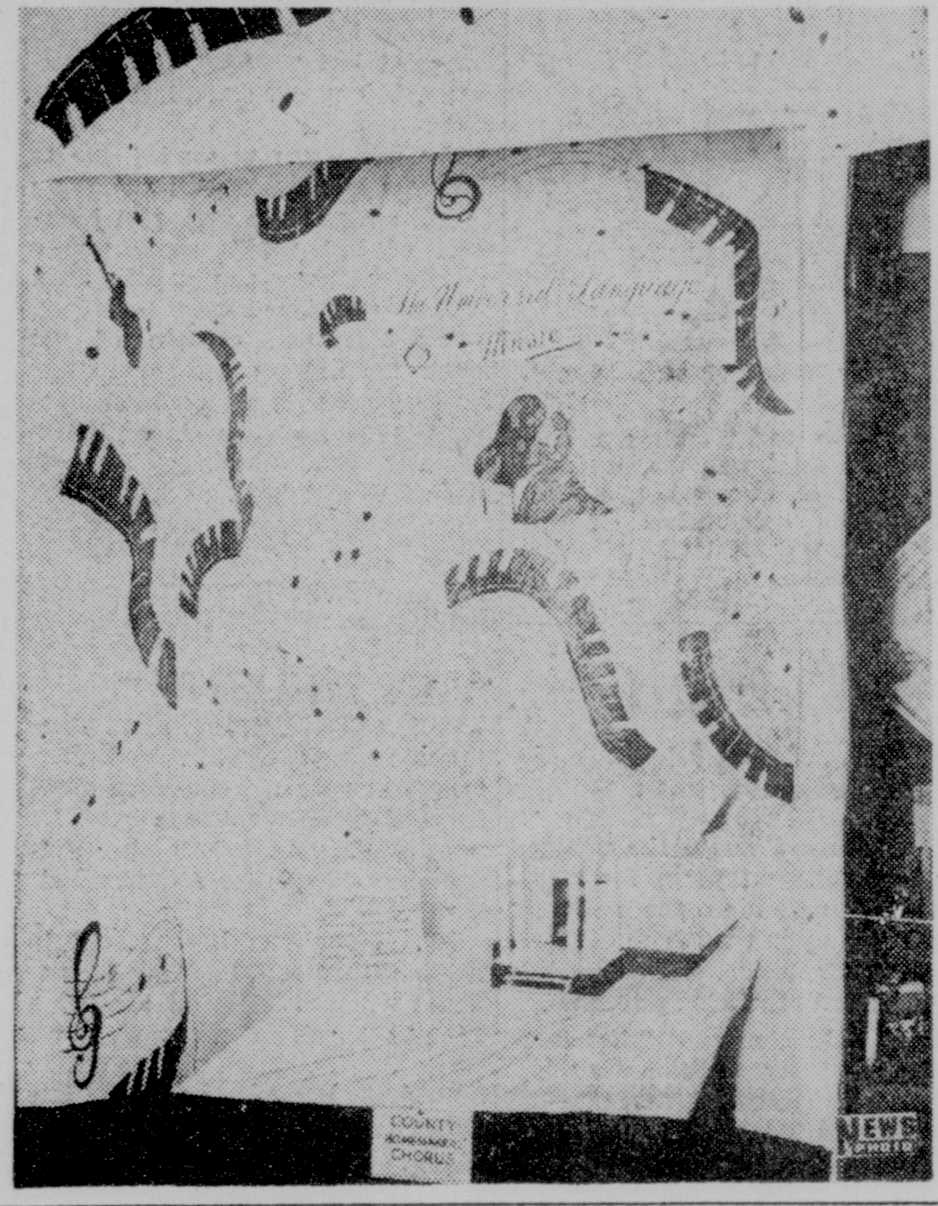
The cow, "Elma Sprinker Star," produced 67 pounds of butterfat. She also gave 1,910 pounds of milk to take first place in milk production.

"Pearl's Delight of Ridgedale," a registered Guernsey owned by Brinker Brothers, Springfield, W. Va., was second with 65 pounds of butterfat.

Third place went to a registered Jersey owned by Andrew A. Schuller, New Creek Drive, Keyser, W. Va., with 64 pounds. A grade Hereford owned by John T. Mason, Cresaptown, was fourth with 63 pounds, but was second in milk production with 1,580 pounds.

Fifth place went to a grade Hereford owned by Shumaker Brothers, Rawlings, which gave 60 pounds of butterfat. Two grade Jerseys and a grade Guernsey owned by Paul E. Greise of Mason Road came in sixth, seventh and ninth.

Eighth place went to a grade Guernsey owned by James H. Weimer, Mt. Savage, and a grade Guernsey owned by Ernest Light, Pinto, was in 10th place.



FAIR MUSIC—As a new project at the 34th annual Cumberland Fair, the Allegany County Homemakers Chorus is sponsoring a series of concerts each afternoon for four afternoons in the fair's Exhibit Hall. In the upper picture is shown the quartet from the Allegany County Junior Symphony which played yesterday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock in the first of the four concerts. Left to right are Dolores Rowley, pianist; William Babst, violinist; Ray Vernall, trombonist, and Norwood Edmondson, cellist. Other concerts are scheduled today, tomorrow and Friday afternoons. The programs are presented in front of the Homemakers Chorus booth, which is shown in the lower picture. This exhibit emphasizes that music is the universal language. Composers listed on the scroll include Chopin, Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Schubert, Schumann and Mozart.

20-Year-Old Man Stricken By Polio Here

Second Victim To Return Home Soon

A 20-year-old local youth who was stricken by polio suddenly yesterday morning was reported still unconscious in Memorial Hospital last night.

He is Gene H. Simpson, 15 South Lee Street, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said a definite diagnosis of polio has been reported.

A similar diagnosis, he added, was made in the illness of Evita Carder, 8, Oldtown, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital last Tuesday. She is slated to leave the hospital in the near future.

Simpson worked Monday night at the Kelly plant and was apparently in good health when he ate breakfast yesterday morning, the family said.

Shortly after he went to bed, he complained of a headache and later in the morning became seriously ill and was taken to the hospital. He was reported still unconscious early last night.

He is a son of Petty Officer First Class Frederick M. Simpson, who returned recently to California following a leave here after service in Korea. Petty Officer Simpson is expected to arrive home today.

The Carder child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Carder, is reported "doing fine" and is about ready to leave the hospital. There was no paralysis as a result of the attack.

It is understood that a child from nearby Pennsylvania was admitted to Memorial Hospital as a possible polio patient but the illness has not been fully diagnosed.

Police Seek Man Missing For Week

Police have been asked to look for Roy Sponaugle, 31-year-old Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman who has been missing from his home since last Monday.

Sponaugle's mother said he left his home at 509 Baltimore Avenue on the evening of August 13, driving his 1941 automobile. He took no extra clothing with him.

He was described as being five feet, seven inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, and was wearing a white shirt, light trousers and brown shoes. He is unmarried.

Cause Of Engineer's Death Unknown; Probe Continues

J. H. Gideon Dies After Train Stalls

The death of a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad engineer after his train stalled in a tunnel late Monday remained a mystery last night as medical authorities studied results of an autopsy.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said it may be several days before officials know what caused the death of Joseph H. Gideon, 52, of 5 East B Street, Brunswick.

Gideon's freight train stalled shortly before midnight Monday in Knobley Tunnel near Pattersons Creek, W. Va., about six miles from here. Gideon was overcome by fumes and Dr. Deming said the tentative cause of death was carbon monoxide poisoning. Railroad medical officials thought he may have had a heart attack.

With Gideon when the train stalled were Noel Williams, 24, 503 East Potomac Street, Brunswick, the fireman, and Earl M. Virts, 27, 811 East Potomac Street, Brunswick, who was brakeman.

Railroad officials said the 120-car train was about 10 to 15 car lengths from the east end of the tunnel. It was headed east at about three to five miles an hour on its way from Rawlings to Brunswick.

Gideon climbed down from the engine and sat on the ground. Williams said he and Virts alighted to help Gideon back on the locomotive. They uncoupled it from the train and ran it out of the tunnel, leaving the loaded coal cars inside.

Outside, Gideon revived and telephoned the Cumberland dispatcher to ask for relief. He said he would bring the locomotive into Cumberland. Just before reaching Pattersons Creek Gideon toppled from his seat. He was brought into the city by automobile, but was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital at 1:10 a. m.

Williams and Virts were treated at the hospital and released. They were listed as having been overcome by smoke.

Knobley Tunnel is on the Pattersons Creek cutoff, bypassing Cumberland on the B. & O's. main line from New York to St. Louis. Only two passenger trains use it and both are diesel-drawn.

Fishing Rodeo Plans Progress

Registration for Saturday's Fishing Rodeo is underway at city playgrounds, Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, announced yesterday.

Registration should be completed as soon as possible, he added, so adequate transportation can be provided.

Registration blanks will be available at the rodeo for children from other sections of the county. Only those who are registered will be eligible for prizes.

Hoey said sportsmen's organizations throughout the county are planning to provide transportation for youngsters in their area who wish to attend the fishing rodeo.

Local dairies have promised to donate milk and orange drinks as treats at the rodeo.

The Oldtown Sportsmen's Club, Hoey said, has done a magnificent job of preparing the Battie Mixon fishing hole in the C. and O. Canal for the event.

The channel, he said, has been dragged to remove vegetation and the surrounding area cleared of brush.

The club also placed a number of picnic tables at the site.

Plans Pet Show

Gephart Playground will sponsor a pet show at the playground tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Gephart Wins Arts And Crafts Exhibit Here

Judges Announce Results Of Contest

Gephart Playground won first place in the annual Arts and Crafts Exhibit sponsored by the City Playground Association.

Runnersup for playground exhibits were West Side, Thomas Post, Columbia Street and Ridgedale Playgrounds in that order.

Results of the contest, announced yesterday by Theodore P. Foote and Mrs. Ethel Bruce, local art instructors, are:

Gimp—Tommy Richard, Mapleside; Judy Cooper, Gephart; Alan Kirk, Gephart, and Burchard Williams, North End.

Paper—Janise Twigg, Ridgedale; Mary Ann Rodda, Columbia; Sue Powers, Columbia, and Nancy Lueck, Mapleside.

Miscellaneous — Shirley Lynch, book cover, East Side; Coy Hare, well, Post Playground; Carol Berry, seed designs, and Emm Soethe, cloth rabbit, Columbia Street.

Cited for a prize was a covered wagon entered by Pine Avenue Playground. A collection of decorated eggs entered by Gephart Playground received honorable mention.

The varied exhibit has been placed in City Hall rotunda and will remain until Thursday afternoon.

Termed the best exhibit ever sponsored by the department, the variety, quality and originality of the articles indicate progress made in arts and craft classes during the playground season which is drawing to a close.

City Hall attaches said the exhibit was praised by all who viewed it yesterday.

Weather

The weather frowned over Cumberland yesterday as a gloomy overcast hid the sun most of the day. Although humidity was somewhat high, a stiff breeze kept temperatures at a relatively low level. Mermury climbed slightly toward late afternoon when the sun broke through for approximately two hours. The high temperature recorded by the weather station at Constitution Park was 88 degrees; low was marked as 60, and at 8:25 p. m., the thermometer leveled at 78 degrees. The weatherman predicts fair, cooler and less humid temperatures for today with the highest between 75 and 80 degrees. Slightly warmer weather is expected for the end of the week.

North End Playground Plans "Last Roundup" Next Week

Baby Show Feature Of Western Festival

North End Playground is headin' for its "Last Roundup."

Come next Tuesday, members of the playground association will don boots and sombreros to become cowboys and cowgirls for the next four days.

Gun-totin' hombres will man the 18 concessions at the roundup, and all booths will be decorated in rustic frontier style.

A free show will be given each night, cakewalks will be held, and prizes will be awarded. There'll also be a "mystery man" roaming around.

Besides all the usual games, members of the association will man a couple of stationary chuck wagons for the customers.

Biggest event of the roundup will be a baby contest, to be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday, August 31.

Prizes will be awarded in two age groups, for toddlers under two and for tots between two and four. First prize in each age group will be a $10 cash award, and second prize will be $7.50 in merchandise. Other prizes will be given runners-up.

Contestants may register before noon of the 31st at the Jack and Jill Shop, or by phoning Mrs Charles Wiant, contest chairman, or Mrs. Ann Stein.

Committee chairmen for the roundup, besides Mrs. Wiant, are Frank Kaplon, concessions; Louis Hartung, booths, and Mrs. Peggy Mackert, publicity and entertainment.

Report Shows 3,000,000 Got Jobs Last Year

More than 3,000,000 men and women have been added to employment and to the armed forces during the past year, Veterans Administration said, on the basis of a special report prepared for the agency by the United States Department of Labor.

The report, which covers current developments in the industrial field, shows that more people are at work today, generally speaking, than at any time since the end of World War II.

VA makes use of material from the report as the basis for vocational guidance to disabled veterans to receive training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

In the automotive industry, according to the report, employment cutbacks may be anticipated as the supply of materials for passenger car production begins to show a drop, due to defense restrictions. Actually, between March and April employment (in this field) showed a decline of nearly 23,000 production workers. VA expects declines in some plants, however, to be offset by increased hiring of workers on tanks, aircraft parts and other defense production.

Electronics, the report says, is still converting from civilian to military production. Radio and television manufacturers reduced employment sharply, while military electronics manufacturers showed an increase. By late Fall, VA says, defense production may require an increase in the industry's total work force.

In gray iron foundries a steady upward trend since July, 1949 has slowed up in recent months. In agriculture, increased demand for food and fibre will call for farm machinery and tractors at or above recent postwar levels, VA said.

Tractor Firm Considers Move To Cumberland

The Tiger Tractor Corporation of Keyser, W. Va., may move its plant here if adequate quarters can be obtained at satisfactory rent, John F. Somerville, president, said last night.

Somerville said the company needs more working space, but at the same time would prefer to pay lower rent. The plant is now located at the old silk mill building in Keyser, where it opened 15 months ago.

He added that the Arnold Building in Keyser, formerly the home of a supermarket, also is under consideration. Somerville declared, however, that any move to Cumberland is extremely unlikely at present, since many details would have to be taken care of first. The firm employs 18 persons.

Firemen To Discuss Liability Insurance

The insurance committee of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association will meet at 2 p. m. Sunday at McCoole Fire Hall to discuss plans for group liability insurance for member companies.

Joseph C. Stuckey, chairman, said the association now carries group accident insurance covering most of the 31 companies in the organization. Member companies, however, carry their own liability insurance.

Parsons Jury Says Exposure Caused Death

Six-Man Group Cites "Negligence"

PARSONS, W. Va.—A second coroner's jury yesterday decided that Robert Rexrode, 81, whose badly-decomposed body was found June 25 on a hill near here, "died from exposure due to negligence of parties that were caring for him."

That was all that the jury verdict, signed by Foreman Harold E. Barb, said. Other members of the jury were Mason Myers, Osee Bible, Ed Thomas, R. F. Carr and W. W. Myers.

Although it made no other statement, the verdict was an implied criticism of the rest home where Rexrode was a patient until April 7, after which date he never was seen alive again.

An earlier coroner's jury was discharged August 10 after failing to reach a verdict in the old man's death.

Justice of the Peace Stark Coberly, serving as acting coroner, presided at the meeting of the jury yesterday. The session was held behind closed doors with no newspaper representative allowed to attend.

Union Security Voting Is Heavy

Hundreds of Celanese workers lined up yesterday to cast ballots in a NLRB union security election that got under way early yesterday morning.

At stake is validation of union security clauses negotiated in a recent contract.

Observers termed the vote as a heavy one, saying a good turnout is expected on each of the days.

Hundreds of the workers, members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), were seen throughout the city yesterday proudly displaying "I Voted" buttons.

Union officials, who are conducting an all-out drive for votes from all of the some 4,500 eligible voters, were busy yesterday arranging emergency transportation for members on furlough, sick, injured or not slated to work on any of the days of the election.

At least one disabled member is slated to be taken to the polls in an embulance and dozens have asked transportation to and from the plant so they might cast ballots.

Several members, the union said delayed vacation trips for from one to three days so they might vote.

Polling places are at the plant in the main cafeteria, C. A. cafeteria and Textile cafeteria. Voting will be 1:30 a. m. to 4 a. m.; 10:30 a. m. to 1 p. m.; and 5 p. m. until 8 p. m.

On today and Thursday the union booth will be added as a voting place. Hours at the booth will be 6:15 a. m. to 7:30 a. m.; 2:15 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. and 10:15 p. m. to 11:15 p. m.

Three Properties Sold For $35,000

Three properties were sold for a total of $35,000, according to deeds filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Russell J. Wineland and Edith A. Wineland sold property near National Pike, about four miles west of Cumberland, to Lester J. Wilkinson for about $15,000, according to one of the deeds.

Charles S. Beamer and Loretta M. Beamer transferred ownership of another parcel in LaVale to Donald H. Black and Doris H. Black for about $10,500. Elinor B. Fink sold property at 606 Washington Street to Ralph B. Higgins, Jr., and Susan A. Higgins for about $9,500.

X-Ray Unit Schedule Changes Are Listed

A change has been made in the scheduled locations of the tuberculosis X-ray unit, according to Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary of the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association.

The X-ray unit will be at The Dingle circle today from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. Tomorrow, instead of Bowling Green, the chest unit will be located at Cresaptown from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. Friday, the unit will be at City Hall from noon to 5 p. m., and on Saturday, it will be located at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company from noon to 6 p. m.

Partially-Blind Boy Wins Handicraft Prizes At Fair

A 10-year-old partially-blind boy from North Branch won four prizes in handicraft competition yesterday at the 34th annual Cumberland Fair.

The boy is George H. Abbott, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Abbott. The youngster, who will reach his 11th birthday in December, has been enrolled in the Maryland School for the Blind at Overlea since 1948.

Young Abbott won a first prize for his bird house, received a second prize for his wooden necktie rack and second and third prizes for two leather belts.

His mother said that young George learned to do handicraft at the Overlea school and has his home filled with various useful and ornamental objects which he has made.

Mrs. Abbott said that George reads Braille. Although his vision is impaired he can read very large print and is able to see well enough to ride a bicycle in the daytime.

George attended Pennsylvania Avenue School in the first grade but his parents soon became convinced that his poor eyesight required special training. Each school year since 1948 he has attended school at Overlea. He spends his summers at North Branch.

The boy first entered his handicraft in the Cumberland Fair a year ago. That first time in competition his bird house also won a first prize.
